ACADEMY COURT SEASON PRODUCED GREATEST UPSET IN LOCAL HISTORY

Better late than never seems to fit perfectly into the case of the Academy basketball team of the past season.

A short glance at their record will tell the reason why.

Their great spurt the last month in which seven games were won, Plainfield, Coast Guard Jr. Varsity, Crosby of Waterbury, C. F. C. (twice), and Taftville Crescents doing the falling, made local fans completely forget their work for the rest of the season and this is probably as it should be.

Brilliant in Last Month

In that last month the Wildcats were a vastly different club than for the first two months. They did everything right and came pretty near comparing with the best in the state during that time. It sure was some change.

Eleven games were placed on each side of the ledger during the year. Prominent among the wins were those over Crosby, Deep River, C. F. C., twice for the city title, and the Crescents for the town title, and the Coast Guards.

The locals finished last in the eastern Connecticut-western Rhode Island interscholastic league race, but only because that race wasn't run in the latter part of the season. The Red and White played just fair basketball during this league season, whereas they would have had little trouble copping the title had Chapman Tech and Stonington, the remaining members of the loop, been met while the Wildcats were at the top of their game.

Several combinations were tried by Courtland C. Whitney, who was coaching a high school court team for the first time, but the one essayed late in February proved to be the winning one. That was Les Pingree and Lloyd Jarvis at the forwards with Joe Viau at center and Capt. Jim Kelly and Buck LaCroix at the guards. All of these boys made bang-up good games during this time.

LaCroix Elected Captain

Aime (Buck) LaCroix was elected captain for next year at a meeting of the lettermen this week. LaCroix will probably be the only regular to return although it is not yet sure whether Les Pingree, star forward, will be available. However, the prospects for next year are not so bad when it is considered that practically the entire second team will be available, including Fagan, Stevens, Henschel and Swartzburg.

The following is the record:

CALIFORNIA CREW BEATS WASHINGTON BY HALF-LENGTH

SEATTLE, Wash., April 6—(AP)—In a thrilling race over a three mile course, the University of California varsity crew defeated the University of Washington in their annual regatta on Lake Washington today. The time was 18:10:02.

A last minute spurt by the Washington crew came too late to avoid defeat. The Californians crossed the line holding a half length margin, gained at the two mile mark.

CARR CREEK FALLS BEFORE FAST VIENNA, GA., QUINTET

CHICAGO, April 6—(AP)—Vienna, Ga., with one of the greatest passing combinations ever to play in the national high school basketball tournament, tonight defeated the scrapping Carr Creek, Kentucky, five, 22 to 11. Vienna meets Ashland, Ky., winner over Carr Creek in four overtime periods in their state tournament, tomorrow, in the semi-final round of the University of Chicago classic.

Carr Creek gave Vienna its hardest game of the tournament. It was the first time the Cotton State champs had been held to less than 40 points. The boys from Knott county, where railroads, telegraph and telephones are unknown, went down fighting. The Carr Creek type of basketball, which consists merely of following the ball and shooting, had the boys from Georgia worried in the first period, which ended in a one-all tie. Then the 40-point team, led by a 15-year-old forward by the name of Horne, cut loose and soon the five mountaineers were left in the rear.

The scoring at the half was 13 to 3.

Horne led the Vienna offense with five field goals and four free throws, while Madden carried the burden of the Carr Creek scoring with two field goals and one free throw.

A great passing basketball team from Ashland, Ky., won its way into the semi-finals when it eliminated the heretofore powerful Morris, Ala., five, 29 to 16.

The Kentucky champions had a lead of 7 to 3 at the quarter and 14 to 6 at the half.

Naugy Wins

Three eastern teams and one midwestern five will meet tomorrow in the consolation flight. Wheeling, W. Va., who defeated Purdy, Tenn., 36 to 24, will meet Wilmington, N. C., who defeated Rock Spring, Wyo., 38 to 25. Naugatuck, who today eliminated Portsmouth, Va., 37 to 25, will oppose Englewood, Chicago, conqueror of Everett, Mass., 28 to 22.

Semi-final games in the championship flight will be played tomorrow afternoon with the finals and the play off for third and fourth place set for tomorrow night.

Canton, the Illinois hope in the national high school basketball tournament today fought its way into the semi-finals, defeating Dixie high of St .George, Utah, the west's lone remainin gentry 22 to 17.

BOSTON WONDERING ABOUT SLATTERY'S DEPARTURE

BOSTON, April 6—(AP)—A skeptical Boston fandom today tried to solve the baseball mystery which caused Manager Jack Slattery of the Braves to leave the club on the eve of the National league opening and put Rogers Hornsby temporarily in charge.

Slattery, who left Nashville, Tenn., last night, was expected here early tomorrow morning. Soon after his arrival he was due to confer with President Emil Fuchs and Vice President Charles F. Adams of the Braves. This conference, they said, concerned prospective trades which the Braves' directors believe should be made to aid the team in the National league race.

Never before has a major league manager ever been called away from his club five days before the opening of the season and this led to rumors that Slattery was coming home to be deposed and that Hornsby, who led the St. Louis Cards to a pennant and then to victory over New York Yanks in the 1926 world series, would take his place.

President Fuchs has denied that any such move would be made. "I have called Slattery to Boston," he said, "because I have some trades in mind which I want to talk over with him and I want to have his opinion relative to helping the Providence club of the Eastern league. As the Braves are playing only minor league games until the opening of the National league season, I felt that I had a fine opportunity to talk with him and, therefore, I asked him to come to Boston. From there he will be able to rejoin the Braves in New York before the opening game on April 11."

Judge Fuchs left the city late this afternoon for Providence to watch his Eastern league farm go through its training session.

ALL STANLEY CUP GAMES SLATED FOR MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Que., April 6—(AP)—Following a conference between officials of the New York Rangers and the Montreal Maroons here today, President Frank Calder of the National Hockey league announced that all Stanley Cup games will be played in Montreal.

NEWARK PROMOTER WANTS TUNNEY-PAULINO BOUT

NEWARK, N. J., April 6—(AP)—Nick Kline, local boxing promoter today announced he wired Gene Tunney world's heavyweight champion a guarantee of $600,000 to box Paulino Uzcudun at the Newark baseball park some time next September. Tunney is at Miami Beach, Fla.

Kline has obtained a lease on the park for boxing shows and said he would arrange for a seating capacity of 75,000.

HIGH SCHOOL PROSPECTS

Weaver High (Hartford).

Weaver High has five regulars from last year upon which to build. They are Tepper, a pitcher, Skiar and Slossberg, infielders and Finnegan and Goldberg, outfielders. The outlook is fairly good, although Weaver cannot very well hope to be a state title contender.

Last season, this team won the championship not only of Greater Hartford, cleaning up all the teams in that section with ease, but also succeeded in trimming them all this side of the Connecticut until the Academy was met. The details of that slaughter probably ought not to be mentioned here.

Weaver will miss its big catcher and captain, Frankie Orefice, and with only half of a fairly good infield the going also ought to be rough for Coach Fred Stone's boys. Kilray, the temperamental third baseman, ought to be a loss for although he was a visibly bothered by an unfriendly crowd, still he was a good ball player, at times.

Weaver ought to make a strong bid for its sectional title and should also make it tough for just about all its opponents, which includes the Academy again here at the campus.

Monday—Bulkeley High Hartford.

'BOUT SPORTS

Riverview will hold its first game today but it will be unlike previous openings. It is "all home" talent that will appear today, and it is said that this also holds good for the entire year. Riverview does not expect as fast a club this season as that which easily made off with the state title for the past two years but still they have some good material and expect to be able to cope with the play of all their usual rivals.

It is just one week to the opening of the Academy's season. It ought to be one of the best, that is, it will be if that gang of promising rookies come through to give Jarvis, Greene, Goldblatt and the other few veterans some help.

The Eastern Connecticut baseball season, which bids fair to be the most pretentious in some time, opens today with the Chapman Tech-Deep River clash at New London. A good many of the schools of this section have made baseball their big sport this school year, Bulkeley and the Academy being outstanding in this respect.

This is rather unique for in many other schools baseball is not given much more attention than track and in some places less, football and basketball being the chief athletic endeavors.

BASKETBALL BRIEFS

There seems to be a lot of interest manifested in the big basketball night at Willimantic next Wednesday, the All-Heller-Hartford Yanks and Academy-Windham Independents games.

The season of the New Britain Guards will be history after their game tonight with the Original Celtics.

The Plainfield Pros expect to close in a week or so, with the Celtics probably furnishing the final game.

Both the Pros and Buddies have had long and successful seasons and fans have been presented some nice basketball up at the Community House.

The Willimantic Y Emps, champs of eastern Connecticut among the Intermediates, beat Joe Belair's Mystic team in two straight games this week.

Mystic defaulted to Willimantic in the semi-finals at the Y tournament.

And so, basketball fast slips into history for the 1927-28 season.

Before the Tilden triumph, John Hennessey vanquished Ricardo Tapia, 6-2, 9-7, 6-1.

Miss Maued Slater, daughter of a clothing merchant. Announcement of the forthcoming marriage was made by the bride's parents today.

MERCEDES GLEITZ CLAIMS GIBRALTAR STRAITS SWIM

GIBRALTAR, April 6—(AP)—Armed with a jagged fragment of rock from Morocco, a handful of Moroccan sand and signed testimonials from nearly 70 witnesses, Mercedes Gleitz, a London typist, came back from the African coast today with the announcement that she had swum the Straits of Gibraltar.

Miss Gleitz said she started from the Spanish side yesterday morning and battled with the currents for 12 hours and 50 minutes.

This was Miss Gleitz's fourth attempt at the straits, which are especially difficult because of the strong currents that swirl back and forth between the Pillars of Hercules.

Last October Miss Gleitz was reported to have swum the English channel on her eighth attempt, but the Amateur Swimming association of England refused to take cognizance of her feat because the swim was not certified by newspapermen or officials of any swimming club.

Miss Gleitz' Gibraltar swim yesterday was escorted by fishing smacks and rowboats carrying approximately 70 persons all told. All of the witnesses were Spaniards.

She was suffering today from swollen lips and a blistered face, but said that otherwise she felt fine.

"I did a lot of feeding en route on sandwiches, omelettes, oranges, tea and coffee," she said.

KEECH TO MAKE RECORD TRY TODAY: LOCKHART LATER

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 6—(AP)—Ray Keech, Philadelphia race driver, after making two test runs on the beach here one at an average speed of 75 miles an hour and another at 100, decided to postpone his attempt to lower the world's record of 206.9 miles an hour, until tomorrow.

Driving the huge 36 cylinder Triplex car of J. M. White, Philadelphia manufacturer, Keech said he found beach conditions unfavorable for a record run today.

American Automobile association officials viewed the test runs today and gave their approval of the Triplex as it now stands, which automatically will sanction any record broken. Installment of a reverse gear removed the disqualification of the Triplex which was placed on her in February.

Wilbur Shaw will try to break the world four cylinder speed record next week with a Whippet which was shipped from Toledo today.

Frank Lockhart, who narrowly escaped death when his Stutz Blackhawk shot into the ocean during his February attempt to break the Free for All speed record, has announced in Toledo that he will make another try within two weeks in the same machine.

FULL GAME WINDS UP HARVARD'S GRID TRAINING

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 6—(AP)—Jimmy Knox's Army team defeated Eddie Casey's Navy eleven, 13 to 0, here today in the inter-squad football game which wound up Harvard's spring training. Though mid-summer temperatures prevailed, a full four period game was played.

Harper, a letterman, scored first for the Army team by intercepting a pass and running 40 yards for a touchdown early in the first period. In the second and third periods each team intercepted passes which resulted in touchdowns but both were ruled illegal because of off-side play. Wise, Army squad back ran 65 yards for a touchdown in the fourth period and Morris drop-kicked for the extra point.

WANTTINEN LEADS INTO GROOM, N. M.

GROOM, Texas, April 6—(AP)—Oili Wanttinen, diminutive Finn runner of New York city, was the first of the 48 surviving athletes in the cross country footrace to reach Groom today. He covered the 40.8 miles from Amarillo in 3:56.

PIRATES PICKED TO WIN IN N. LEAGUE

(By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who gave the experts a severe scare before staggering home in front of the National league pack last season, are again the choice of the critics in the front line, by a margin that is high, wide and convincing.

Thirty-two of the fifty-two newspaper experts around the major league circuit who contributed to the annual poll of the Associated Press elect the Pirates to win the 1928 race, with the St. Louis Cards as their principal rivals, picked by 12 writers to win but by most of the others for second place.

The Chicago Cubs and New York Giants complete the first division choices as revealed by this comprehensive poll of expert opinion and make-up what the critics regard as the "big four" pennant contenders, the Cubs are picked by five and the Giants by three observers to get under the wire first.

The heavy preponderance of opinion in favor of the Pirates not only reflects a stronger regard for their chances than a year ago but is noteworthy in view of the widespread belief that the 1928 National league race will be even more hotly contested than last year. There is no room for doubt that the big majority of boys who have been scanning the clubs in training think that the batting punch, experience and speed of the Pirates makes them top heavy favorites.

Had Close Margin Last Year

Last year, for instance, the Pirates led the Giants by the narrowest of margins in the selection, 19 to 18, with the Cardinals and Reds picked as the other outstanding contenders.

Outside of the stronger support for the Pirates the chief feature of the consensus is the rise of the Cubs and Braves to higher state. Picked to do no better than fifth last season the Cubs were the sensation of the race for a good share of the season. They are a good third this year, in the predictions, but they may again upset the dope, if their brilliant spring performances are a criterion of the pace Joe McCarthy's hustlers will set.

The addition of Rogers Hornsby and other satellites to the Braves has boosted the Boston club from seventh to fifth. Picked to beat the Reds by a narrow margin, but the Brooklyn Robins and Phillies by a more decisive distance.

The concensus reflects an unusually wide range of opinion except in the case of the down trodden Phillies who are a unanimous choice for last place outside of Philadelphia, where optimism is mingled with local pride.

The Cubs and the Giants, for instance, are placed anywhere from first to sixth in the selections. Ranging in the lower depths, the Braves and Reds each find themselves scattered from third to eighth on the list. Even the Pirates and Cardinals feel this wave of variety with one ballot each for a second division berth, fifth.

Here is the "box score" on the Associated Press National league concensus, showing the selections by positions, with points figured on a basis of eight for first place, seven for second place, etc.:

Club	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Pts.
Pittsburgh	32	15	3	0	1	0	0	0	352
St. Louis	12	22	15	2	1	0	0	0	324

New York	3	4	8	23	11	1	0	0	262

Cincinnati	0	0	3	6	11	16	11	2	144
Brooklyn	0	0	0	0	7	15	24	2	123

BOXERS MUST SHOW PRIZES TO A. A. U.

NEW HAVEN, April 6.—(AP)—Boxers who supposedly competed for prizes on amateur cards staged by Bridgeport organizations, will be required to exhibit their prizes before the registration board of the Connecticut A. A. U. at a special session here tomorrow, or stand suspended. More than 200 amateurs have already been suspended as a result of the investigation into amateur boxing in this state, which followed the death of Horace Aliff, of Meriden, following a bout at Red Men's hall, Bridgeport.

During the course of the investigation, witnesses testified that amateurs were paid by the Bridgeport clubs which staged weekly cards. The boxers stoutly contended that they fought for prizes, and the A. A. U. officials then declared that the boxers must either stand suspended or else produce their prizes.

JIMMY QUINN NOT LISTED IN SUSPENDED BOXERS

Contrary to the published report in the evening paper it is impossible to find the name of James Anthony Quinn, local boxer, in the list of suspended boxers. The only Anthony was Vincent Anthony of Bridgeport. Quinn once having fought under the name of James Anthony. However, the names of Frankie Adams and Johnny Copp appear on the list, two local boxers, who appeared on the card at the Red Man show in Bridgeport, both registering from Norwalk. Quinn when he fought at Bridgeport received a watch which he gave to his father for a Christmas present.

THIS V-TYPE IS THE ULTIMATE IN 8-CYLINDER SIMPLICITY

THE two outstanding performance benefits resulting from the employment of the ninety-degree, V-type Eight principle are equally spaced and generously overlapping power impulses, features chiefly responsible for the smooth, velvety flow of eager power that is the dominant characteristic of every Cadillac and La Salle. This illustration shows why the ninety-degree angle between the Cadillac cylinder blocks effects these results.

IT HAS always been Cadillac's unique privilege to hold price down while it pushed quality up.

This it has been able to do because of its ever-increasing command of the highest fine-car market.

The only way that others can even seem to compete with Cadillac and La Salle is to indulge in compromise and surrender—with the inevitable result that eventually they drop out of Cadillac and La Salle's class forever.

Wherever volume is small, sacrifices must be made. Costs must be cut out somewhere, for there is no opportunity to spread them over a large volume.

Cadillac's extraordinarily large following therefore enables it to accomplish results impossible to others.

Chief among these results is a power plant found only in the new Cadillac and La Salle in its most highly developed form.

This power plant is the most famous Eight in the world. For automobiles there are two ways of designing an Eight. One is to align the eight cylinders one after the other. The other is the Cadillac V-type way.

Cadillac's reputation for superior performance has grown from its application of the V-type principle—the mounting of two blocks of four cylinders each, each block set opposite the other at a V-shaped angle of 90 degrees.

There is no other power plant just like this and for this reason there is no other car that has so simple an engine, such perfect carburetion, such lack of vibration, such delightfully smooth performance.

It is such plain and obvious superiorities as these that have won for Cadillac and La Salle their commanding following in the highest fine-car field.

Cadillac welcomes an opportunity to prove these statements. A phone call will bring a demonstrator at your convenience.

New lower La Salle prices, $2350 to $2875. Cadillac prices, $3295 to $3950. Exclusive Fisher and Fisher-Fleetwood custom-built bodies up to $5500. All prices f. o. b. Detroit.

WESTERLY, R. I., April 16—Judge Oliver H. Williams held a brief session of the third district court Friday hearing the complaint of Corp. James E. Norman, state police vs. Clary V. Palmer of the Green Hill coast guard station, charged with operation of an automobile without proper registration. Judge Williams again made a three months' continuation of the case.

Other court business disposed of was as follows:

Tax complaints. James M. Pendleton, Westerly town treasurer and collector vs. Harry Markoff, John W. Burrell, Clyde Burrell, William M. Champlin, Michael A. Vacca, Samuel J. Murrill and Michael Digangi, the amounts of the unpaid taxes averaged about $2.50 each. Other new writes entered were Bacrach, Inc. vs. Mrs. John Williams, alias and Benjamin S. Boss vs. Paul Schueller.

Civil docket; Stephen J. Casey, trustee vs. Egbert L. Blacklock, continued one week and Tesseltore's Chemical Manufacturing company vs. Michael A. Vacca and Harris P. Hillman vs. Clyde Sherman to April 13th.

Past Grand Sachem George Emerson of Massachusetts was present Friday evening at the largely attended meeting of Misquamicut tribe, No. 19, Improved Order of Red Men, at their wimwam in Stillman hall. The subject of Great Sachem Emerson's talk was "Redmanship, Its Principles and Its Teachings." A large number of the great chiefs of the Great Council of Rhode Island were present also. Refreshments were served.

In Avondale Thursday evening soon after 6 o'clock a Chevrolet sedan owned and driven by Mrs. Ida Young of Summer street from a driveway leading to the home of Charles H. Gavitt into the road through Avondale and an Oldsmobile coach coperated by Harold Q. Moore, returning from Westerly to his home at India Point came together head on. The front left axle of the Chevrolet and both front wheels were dished and the front springs twisted. The Oldsmobile had a broken front bumper, bent spring and twisted headlight.

Moore not realizing the necessity of leaving his auto at the place of collision, when Officer Frank Knight was called to investigate he found that the Moore car had been removed to its garage. Investigation also showed that Mrs. Young was unable to produce an operator's license as her application had been returned by the R. I. State Board of Public Roads because she had printed and not written her name. Marks on the highway showed that the Moore auto had proceeded a distance of 30 feet before it had moved over to the left of the roadway, forcing the forward end of the Chevrolet into a stone wall at right angles with the highway. No one was injured.

A man about 50, giving his name as Charles Brown and thought to be a patient at Norwich State Hospital, at Brewster's Neck, was taken into custody when he acted peculiarly on the streets about 3 o'clock Friday morning. • MADE AT NIAGARA FALLS •

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Eli A. Rogers was elected foreman of the old volunteer hose company, Norwich Hose Co., No. 4, fifty years ago this week. G. H. Wilbur was elected secretary and William Noss was chosen treasurer. The same week the old Lorenzo Blackstone Hose Co. held an invitation supper at their quarters. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Norwich Bulletin of April, 1873, are as follows:

Monday, April 1, 1878—Mrs Patrick Shugrue, a woman of nearly 50 years, living at No. 58 Yantic street, was terribly burned in her apartments, Saturday evening, and died before 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Smoke was seen issuing from the cellar of the house where Shugrue lives, soon after 9 o'clock and Officer Denison, with others, hastened to learn the cause. Bursting in the door they found the cellar filled with smoke and Mrs. Shugrue, whose clothing was still aflame, in an insensible condition. Her clothing had evidently taken fire from the lamp as she descended the stairs.

Everybody was out Saturday enjoying the mild atmosphere and welcoming the advent of spring weather. Farmers and gardeners were actively engaged in preparing the ground for the summer crops.

James Fenton, a boy seven or eight years of age, caught his foot while playing about the turntable near the New London Northern depot, about a week ago, and though the accident was deemed slight, it is proving a severe injury.

Tuesday, April 2, 1878—The attempt of several young men at Norwich Town to have a little sport, Saturday evening, resulted in one of their numbers James Caffrey, receiving a dangerous stab wound. It seems they were following and deriding a boy of not very bright parts, living in the neighborhood, as he was going home with several bundles from the corner of the green. When they were in the vicinity of Williams blacksmith shop, he turned on them and with a p

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY
MOTHER'S WINDOW

This was mother's window,
Where she always sat
In the late afternoon;
Tired, perhaps,
But smiling;
Always smiling.

Here her plants flourished;
Fuchsias and red geraniums,
And a sturdy little lemon tree
That blossomed for her.
On the darkest days
This was a sunny window.

The young elm at the curb
Has grown tall and leafy;
The curtains of the ivy
Almost hide the casement;
But mother's memory makes this still Home's brightest spot.

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?

Thy neighbor? It is the whom thou
Hast power to aid and bless,
Whose aching heart or burning brow
Thy soothing hand may press.

Thy neighbor? Tis the fainting poor,
Whose eye with want is dim,
Whom hunger sends from door to door:
Go thou, and succor him.

Thy neighbor? Tis that weary man,
Whose years are at their brim,
Bent low with sickness, care and pain:
Go thou, and comfort him.

Thy neighbor? Tis the heart bereft
Of every earthly gem;
Widow and orphan, helpless left;
Go thou and shelter them.

Thy neighbor? Yonder toiling slave,
Fettered in thought and limb
Whose hopes are all beyond the grave:
Go thou and ransom him.

Whene'er thou meet a human form
Less favored than thine own:
Remember 'tis thy neighbor man,
Thy brother or thy son.

O, pass not, pass not heedless by:
Perhaps thou cans't redeem
The breaking heart from misery:
Go share thy lot with him.

LIFES REWARD

I have run it over
I have run it through
I have trod the clover
Under skies of blue

I have heard the thunder
Seen the lightning flash
Seen my hopes go under Heard my castles crash

But from every sorrow
And from every pain
Always some tomorrow
Smiles at me again

Bitter days and lonely
I have had to face
Days when anguish only
Seemed to rule the place
But the storm abated
And I rose to see.

Orchards blossom—freighted
Birds on every tree
Sunbeams dancing round me
Joy beside my door
And the care which bound me
Fretted me no more

I have run it over
All that life has meant
I have played the rover
Dreaming as I went Laughed and loved and neighbored
Wept and suffered pain
With the throng I've labored
With them shared the rain
But for all the trouble
And for every tear
Life has paid me double
In fellowship and cheer

THE DRUNKARD'S DAUGHTER.

Go, feel what I have felt,
Go, bear what I have borne;
Sink 'neath the blow a father dealt,
And the cold world's cruel scorn;
Then suffer on from year to year,
Thy sole relief the scorching tear.

Go, kneel as I have knelt;
Implore, beseech and pray;
Strive the besotted heart to melt,
The downward course to stay;
Be dashed with bitter curse aside,
Your prayers burlesqued, your tears defied.

Go, weep as I have wept,
O'er a lov'd father's fall;
See every promised blessing swept;
Life's sweetness turned to gall;
Youth's fading flowers strewn all the way
That brought me up to woman's day.

Go, see what I have seen—
Behold the man bow
With gnashing teeth, lips bathed in blood,
And cold and livid brow;
Go, catch his withered glance and see
There mirrored his soul's misery.

Go to the mother's side,
And her cherished bosom cheer;
Thine own deep anguish hide,
Wipe from her cheek the tear.
Mark the worn frame and withered brow,
The gray that streaks her dark hair now,
The fading form and trembling limb,
And trace the ruin back to him,
Whose plighted faith, in early youth,
Promised eternal love and truth.

But who, forsworn, hath yielded up
That promise to the accursed cup,
And led her down, through love and light,
And all that made the future bright;
And chained her there, 'mid want and strife,
That lovely thing, "a drunkards' wife?"
And stamped on childhood's brow so mild
That wither blight, 'drunkard's child.'

Go, hear and see and feel and know
All that my soul hath felt and known,
Then look upon the wine cup's glow,
See if its beauty will atone;
Think of its flavor you would try,
When all proclaim, 'tis drink and die.

Tell me I hate the bowl—
Hate is a feeble word:
I loath, abhor my very soul

SCENCE CAFE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I get The Norwich Bulletin every Saturday to read your letters; they are so nice. We had a very pleasant meeting here March 1. I think after a few meetings I will know them all. I want to get all of the names in my book, as I have only a few.

Last Rose of Summer: Saw by your letter you are better. Hope you will be at our next meeting.

Thistle: Hope you will try and get out to our meetings in you can. Think you will like them.

Aries: How are you? Do you remember me? Wonder if you belong to my branch of the family?

I am giving you a rule for Sponge Cake given me by Irma. We like it very much:

Sponge Cake: Three eggs, separated, beat yolks well, add 3-4 cup cold water, beat well again, then add 1 1-2 cups sugar gradually, beating all the time, then 1 1-2 cups flour with 1 level teaspoon baking powder; beat whites well, add vanilla and pinch of salt; then fold into mixture; bake in moderate oven 50 minutes.

Fan-Tan: Called on you Tuesday afternoon but found you out. Thought probably you had gone to the farm.

LOTUS (Club No. 4).

PALM SUNDAY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Readers: This is Palm Sunday, the next Sunday in Lent, so called from the bearing and strewing of palm branches along the way by the multitudes who went to welcome the Lord as he rode into Jerusalem the sixth day before his crucifixion.

"In Rome upon Palm Sunday
They bear new palms,
The cardinals bow reverently
And sing old psalms.
In other climes the psalms are sung
Mid olive branches,
The holly boughs supply their place
Amid the avalanches."

In places where the palms do not grow, the early catkins are substituted. Palm Sunday has also been nicknamed "Pig Sunday" in some parts of England by an old custom of eating figs on that day. In Wales it is known as "Flowering Sunday" because people assemble and strew fresh flowers on the graves of their dead. In America it is also the custom to decorate the churches on Palm Sunday with palm leaves and branches. Most of the palms used for this purpose in the north grow wild.

Now I must tell you about my sword palm. It is now over two years old, is two feet tall, and has two buds on it, which we are watching carefully. I am sure they will be open for Easter morn.

It has been said "Spring has come," but I haven't seen a robin or a pussy willow yet.

Paisley: I must thank you for your kind thoughts of me by offering to send a car for me to have me over to G. A. hall for the next meeting.

Zulicka: Three cheers for you! You certainly ought to have a yellow slip for your letter last week entitled "Home."

Do all readers find a little time each day for reading something good? By good is meant broadening. Ten minutes a day makes hours in a year, and it means a growth of the mind that keeps a woman young. Women used to do this. It is a duty owed to themselves and to their families. Only that which we assimilate is a part of the mind and is the only treasure we carry into that beyond that awaits us all. A poem today over which we think, a sentence tomorrow which makes our duty clearer, a little here and there, and our minds are growing richer, and our lives broadening, and helping others to reach out for the best.

SPRING

Dear Socia. Corner Sisters and Editor: Doesn't feel much like spring, but let us hope she is on her way and then it will be only a few weeks we will be saying: "My! how hot it is!" But such is human nature—never satisfied; it is either too hot or too cold, too wet or too dry. What a blessed good thing it is we can't control the weather, or I fear we should make an awful mess of it.

Well, Lular Wylie, are you coming to Danielson the 5th, or let Biddy bring home the news and all about the good times? If you come, perhaps you can have some scalloped corn. We have your number, so you might as well come out in the open.

Was glad to see Tildy's letter last week. I had made up my mind she had either lost her pen or was too busy threading needles. You are a good guesser.

I think Soma must have stood on his head when he wrote his name.

Did the wind blow too hard for you, Mrs. Dan, last Wednesday? It did for me. I stayed at home; there were only two faithful ones. We'll have to do a lot of work next time to make up.

Cheer up, None-So-Pretty, we may get that slide yet. You know it snowed a number of times yesterday.

Miss Breakneck: I'm so glad I thought to ask you in regard to the location of the old church. Where is that long-promised letter, or has it been written and I don't recognize who's who? You will have to look out for Twice Twenty; you know she is pretty shrewd at guessing.

I think if that sister would look for a begonia called Glorie de Lorraine, she might find what she is looking for.

Artificial Flowers: I have read those verses and think I have them somewhere in the house.

Mary Gusta: My brains got to working after a while and got the puzzle except one word and Dido suggested that one. Come in again. I forgot to treat on cake; had some pretty good.

Was glad to see May B's letter; she has been silent a long time.

Twice Twenty: My cactus has blossomed for the second time; first it had over forty blossoms and this time over twenty; am wondering if it will blossom again as it did three times last year. Robert had a mishap yesterday and broke a lot of leaves off my pretty plant.

PIECED SEVERAL BED QUILTS

Dear Corner Editor: It has been a long time since I have written a word but seeing in my last Bulletin a request, will say to sisters the piece you have mentioned is not the title (The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere, found in Winona hymn book, page 51.) I do love to read the sisters' letters. I have pieced several bed quilts, pattern the little red schoolhouse. If sisters are interested in that, address Mrs. Grace E. Potter, 82 Spring street, Willimantic, Conn.

SPENDING MONEY

Dear Social Corner Editor: I believe one of the most serious ailment in the world is to the effect that money ought to be kept in circulation, no matter for what it is spent. There are people who will argue to the last breath that money spent is better than money hoarded—they always call said money hoarded, because it is in circulation, and the thing to keep business lively is to keep the money passing around rapidly. Oh, of course, they will except poisons and liquors and such things in speaking of spending money, but everything that is not harmful they insist is the thing to buy and to keep the money in motion. And it is the acceptance of the doctrine that causes so much misery in the world not to say the downright suffering and trouble.

Take, for example, the wasted money at Christmas time. To many thoughtful people it is a wonder how workers and their families, living on moderate wages, get through the season at all. For them all the talk about "peace and good will" is irony, because they must scrimp and save and pinch and turn and "do without" in order to meet the increased demands upon the purse.

And then the money wasted at funerals where the services are private and semi-private, but in the country and small cities where all the kinsfolk and friends—and friends of the friends—are expected to send flowers. And not only flowers are sent, but elaborate wire devices to hold the flowers, that make the grave a few days later look very much like a garbage heap. Just why a rose mounted on a "Gates Ajar" or "Broken Wheel" wire frame is sweeter than a rose laid on the casket no one but the florist who makes up the design is able to figure it out. And the florist only admires it because it brings in more money than the rose unmounted. Not long ago a man died in a small city and people who had never seen him, except perhaps in a passing glance on the street, sent flowers to his funeral. It required two automobiles to cart them to his grave. The school children who went to the same grade as his children "clubbed together" to send a design; his lodge, his neighbors, his friends, the people who did business with the people who worked for him, the people in a plant in which he was financially interested, his wife's club, the washerwoman and so on to the end of the chapter, all sent flowers, most of them mounted on wire, and the house was full of them. A woman who saw the display remarked to a friend that it must be a great comfort to the family, for at least it showed how popular they were; but there are people who care nothing for popularity when their relatives die. The family now is in dire circumstances.

Another great leakage in these days of high prices comes from the foolish and absurd habit of providing prizes for every social gathering, from the bridge party down to the donkey-tail contest. Even the babies cannot attend a party nowadays without expecting a useless "souvenir" of some sort. "What is the prize?" is the great cry, and it usually proves to be something that represents the waste of money. The children come from the party with a tin whistle or a paper cap or a toy turkey or a pumpkin filled with candies, and in ten minutes it is forgotten. The grown folks returning from the party exhibit similar trophies, all of which cost a great deal of money and amount to nothing. The souvenirs are expensive. Many a woman would like to entertain her friends with a simple supper, but the thought of candlesticks with petticoats, bonbon boxes, ice cream cases, flowers and prizes for the games that follow shut her out of the world entirely. And many who do entertain have to run in debt to do so, or cut down the food for the family for days before and after to meet expenses. And when all is said and done, the money is simply thrown away since no one values the "prize" or finds it useful afterwards.

If all the money so wasted could be diverted into legitimate channels, it still would be in circulation and not cheat a single soul out of employment. The people engaged in the manufacture of perfume cases and manicure sets would soon engage in making something beautiful and useful. And the Christmas season would be one of delight. Housekeepers could spend more for good nourishing food and substantial raiment, and there would be more money in the savings banks. And, by the way, it is the duty of every good citizen to help educate the public on the subject of saving, and convince them that money saved is not money lost to circulation unless it is buried or carried about on the person.

One party told me her husband wanted an automobile; he had been four years buying his home; he mortgaged it to buy the automobile. It cost them so much to run it they were in debt about $200 for groceries, meat, and had to keep up the payments on the house.

Then another party bought a radio. They mortgaged their home for a radio, and she wanted a fur coat that cost $400 and her son wished for a fur-lined coat with Persian collar. No wthey are in an "awful fix," as Mr. Mack says in the "Two Black Crows."

These people are from out of town, but I presume there are others just the same who want a thrill.

Everyone can teach me something—I feel, and I have acquired knowledge that has benefited me very much talking with these two parties. If you live with this attitude of mind you seem to attract knowledge to yourself.

This letter to the sisters is to learn if I am in the wrong concerning the ideas I have written. Mind you, I don't mean people who are well able to spend their money in that direction, but those who just have a small income.

PLEASANT TRIPS

Dear Editor and Sisters: I enjoy very much reading about the trips the sisters write about. I enjoyed some very pleasant ones when I was visiting my daughter in Massachusetts. I don't know as I ever saw such a beautiful display of lilacs as I did when I rode up through Winchester, Concord and Lexington—over fences, stone walls, even grape arbors. They did look pretty. Memorial day, which came on Sunday. That year we took a trip to Arlington cemetery. As we entered we saw beautiful beds of tulips, all colors, in different beds; they were lovely. The next day there were three auto loads. We had our lunch a little ways from the road; then we took a trip to see the much talked of Plymouth Rock—all enjoying a pleasant trip, all arriving home earning a much needed rest. Fourth of July we took a trip to Gloucester; had our lunch afterwards. We took a [illegible] to the beach [illegible] Corner [illegible] charges Poe [illegible] reminds o[illegible] the time when he and I were schoolmates and when he hung me a May basket. He was, of course, very innocent. Edward Hinckley was our teacher in the schoolhouse down by the brick church.

Silver Locks: I enjoyed your letter very much of Lebanon, my old home. Elder Cunningham was pastor there then. I have enjoyed many happy days there, going to donation parties, socials. I remember many who lived there, many I knew quite well.

Kitty Lou: I look for your name every Sunday in the Boston Sunday Post.

Peggy Anne: Do you remember the little glass basket you gave me filled with home-made candy one Christmas?

Neighbor: I know you and friend M— will enjoy your new radio. I hope you will have good success at your fair and make a big lot of money. Give my love to Phoebe. I wish when you see her.

Well, I think I have written a long letter for me.

Best wishes to all, including the editor.

USES FOR CLOTH BAGS

Dear Social Corner Friends: Did you ever stop to think of the many and useful ways you can use up cloth bags? I have a few on hand, so decided to do something with them. The small ones that hold graham flour and salt, about 2 1-2 pounds size, I rip them open after they have been washed thoroughly, sew two together for face cloths and the others, not so good, make over into dish cloths. Then I have large size salt bags holding 50 pounds which are so good for dish towels and many other good uses. I had one extra good one that was so much like linen that I hemstitched it for a center table, and it looks beautiful when done up.

Then I have several good bags that were cement bags which when ripped open and cut at the side and bottom and made with little hems were put into good use for rollertowels and they wear like iron.

You can dye some pink or brown and cut out aprons for the kitchen; trim with braid or make little rompers out of some for the little tots that creep around. The stamps on these bags are a little hard to come out, but if you boil them a few times they will disappear.

And the useful flour bags, too, can be made into so many useful things—underwaists, bloomers. I have renewed them over and made good pillow cases with two inch hem in them. Have put two together and made crib sheets, and they are very good for dish towels also. The cement bags are very hard to get, now they use the large paper bag instead, but you can get flour bags most any time.

With best wishes to all and my sympathy for those sick or shut in.

POSTPONES HOUSECLEANING

Dear Friends of the Social Corner: What nice weather we are having at last. A few days ago it looked as though we were just starting to have a wee bit of winter. I had already started to clean. Now I have postponed it a while longer. I wish to thank the editor for the yellow slip; it makes one more for my collection. I have had two inquiries this week concerning rugs; guess it pays to advertise in The Bulletin. I heard a party say they didn't believe I make any such rugs. I wish anyone who would like to see my rugs would call at my home; will be only too glad to show them at any time. I would no more think of writing such an article if it wasn't so than I would think of flying in an airplane.

B. E., Susie, Annette and Mayfayre: Was pleased to see you as well as others from Club 2 and 5 at Westerly. What a nice trip we had home.

Melissa: I am sorry to hear you have been on the sick list, as well as Idalene. Had not heard of it till club day.

Ready: We are still waiting. Maybe after Easter, eh?

Eliza Jane: I was much pleased to see an article recently from your pen. It seems so nice to hear from the earlier writers.

Rural Delivery: I see you are still spreading ink. Keep the good work up. It helps keep the mind in other channels. I see by the paper where you enjoy motor rides occasionally.

Biddy: Where art thou? You knew you were the first sister I met. Do you remember? and when I told you I was a Corner sister you asked me to produce my color. Married and Happy was with you and told me about her "wet wash" and "dry iron." Do you remember what a laugh it created when she demonstrated it? and when I tried to guess your pen name the shrill cackle you gave, and then we could not guess from that until Polly Wintergreen told us. Those earlier days were some happy ones, especially the days we met at Coventry lake, and what fun we had on the trolleys, going and coming. I remember I met "Brownie" once and was delighted when she came to me and shook hands at one of Club No. 6 meetings, telling me that now she was Noahk Brownie.

Best wishes to the members of all clubs.

CLUB NO. 2 MEETS APRIL 10TH

Dear Cornerites: On April 10th Club No. 2 meets in Buckingham Memorial. Black-Eye is our hostess. She and her willing workers will serve you all in her cheerful manner.

Those who promised beans and salads, please don't forget them. If you forget, call me up, for I have the list promised. We have been having such wonderful entertainments, dinners and attendance, we just want to keep it up. One hundred and seventy came to the anniversary dinner, and that's no dream, for I surely did some stepping; also my assistants. Guess we were all tired but happy.

Red Rose and Sister Ready: You two surely put over a good entertainment by the crowd guess they all enjoyed it, and the old time songs; it just peps them all up.

J. J. B.: You have the sympathy of the clubs and writers in the loss of your dear husband.

Aunty No. 1: Was sorry to learn Uncle No. 1 was so sick. Tell him to go slow; not to get out too soon.

Iola: Had a lovely ride Sunday over Hampton hill, through North Windham, by the cemetery where those people we write of are laid away.

May B.: Make yourself known next time at the meeting of Club No. 2.

Stranger in the City: Often think of you. Where is the daughter I know?

Ann Tenna: You miss a lot of good music on the radio by going to sleep so early. We are night owls at my home and hubby and son up at 5 and 5.30 a. m. to go to work. A call at 11 p. m. on phone don't stop my friends, as they know I'm not in dreamland then.

See you all who can come April 10th. Best wishes.

CALLA LILY (Club No. 2).

JOINS THE CORNER

Dear Editor: I have attended two meetings of the Social Corner Club No. 1 and have enjoyed them very much.

The birthday entertainment was very good.

I should like to become a member and shall take for a pen name

CONSTANT READER.

Dear Editor: As I once lived in Norwich, when I was a girl, I have been very much interested in and I do think a lot of the Social Corner page and would like very much to join the Corner. I will take for my pen name

EASTER GREETINGS FROM BLACK EYED SUSIE

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Friends: Easter greetings all. Well what a perfect day it was for Club No 5's meeting. No doubt they had a good crowd and plenty of everything good to eat.

Now as next Tuesday, the 10th, is Club No. 2's meeting day I hope all that can will come and those that promised beans and salads please don't forget, and all others that come can bring pies, cakes, etc.

I hope for a pleasant day, but it makes no difference what the weather is, we always have plenty of cheer at the Social Corner gatherings.

It seemed good to see so many at the anniversary meeting that we had not seen in a long time.

My sympathy goes out to K. J. R. in the loss of her husband, and to all others that have sickness or misfortune.

Gretia: Thank you. The milestones are flying, eh! No it was not sickness that kept us away but the inclement weather. I was just as disappointed as you were as I had looked forward to it too. Never mind, perhaps in May if the weather man is good we may take the trip.

Wittwych: What a fright I got to see the death of someone of the same name. My heart certainly skipped a beat. Hope it was no relative of yours.

Suppose people have been wondering about me, too, these last few weeks. But thank goodness I can say "nothing like that in my family." A similarity in names causes a great deal of embarrassment, sometimes.

Bonie: Remember the shock you got one time. I often laugh over that.

Zulieka: I missed you so much. Hope it was not sickness that kept you away.

Kitty Lou: Your letter about hat styles of other days set me to thinking of some of the lovely (to me anyway they were lovely) creations I wore and not so long ago either.

But I really think the styles of today are better, because they are so simple.

Gloria: Did I see you at the window when I passed this week or did my eyes deceive me. I was pleased to think you were there anyway. I think of you often.

Now don't forget sisters, brothers [illegible] and uncles. Tuesday the 10th and I'm to be hostess, I hope to meet you all.

BLACK EYED SUSIE

FIRST SUMMER PICNIC

Dear Social Corner Circle: My last letter to the Corner was lost, so I lost courage until Viola so kindly inquired. Doesn't it give one a thrill to have "somebody somewhere" put a message in the page taht way?

I think my letter went astray because I put it early in the week with the news letter. I won't do it any more.

Two weeks ago I found two letters in the Corner I was much interested in. One was from Starlight about Prudence Crandall. We have advanced some I should say in the last hundred years. Church history of that date was full of quarrels and narrowness in so many cases.

Then Marjory's letter went straight to my heart. It is wonderful to have had such happiness and to feel so sure that all is well and that "love never fails". I still have my dear ones, but feel often like the heroine in Daddy Long Legs. She had been an orphan and when she became engaged said that at last she had someone to worry about! Did Antenna hear Cheerio's story of the woman who was worrying so hard because she had forgotten what it was she was worrying over?

My pen name seems funny now. I copied Twice Twenty and gave my age when I began to write. That was eight years ago and soon I shall be "twice twenty" also.

We all piled in with the man of the family on a business trip to Woonsocket this morning and had lunch by the roadside by a stream. It was the first picnic of the summer. As the children went down to dip their fingers in the water they found Skunk Cabbage poking up their heads. I wanted some, but we decided not to disturb them. Their odor protects them from molestation as well as Jimmy Skunk himself.

Last Rose of Summer is one of the very few people I love to telephone to. How much personality can carry by the voice alone. I very seldom visit by phone, but when I want to know some Corner secret badly I know she is an authority and she always satisfies me.

I have not been able to attend any meetings since last October, the Halloween party. I haven't called on Buffalo yet, but hope to sometime.

With best Easter wishes to all

THIRTY TWO

THE BANSHEE

Dear Social Corner Editor: The lady suggests the members gave the origin of their nom de plumes.

The Banshee is the emblem of my native land. As the eagle is to America, the thought of which alone raises the wonderful courage, ardor and zeal that has built and protected the land and homes, where rich and poor can share alike the land of liberty and freedom of soul and body, the banshee represents to all the people of my native land the sorrows and cares which have been thrust upon them.

They have been conquered, their hard-earned homes have been torn from under them, they have boarded ships with their large families, fleeing from starvation and potato famine, only to find death from ship's cholera and cast overboard to prevent contagion on a six weeks voyage, the time it took in those days to travel to America. And as they passed on to that bourne whence no traveler returns the wail of the banshee is heard.

And today when sorrow comes to us, when suffering and pain comes that we know is endless for some poor soul on this earth, when those we love dearly are so near death that death itself means a release from agony, in the dark of night comes around the cabin the wail of the banshee and a soul is wafted to God. 'Tis all true.

THE BANSHEE

TYING THE THIRD KNOT

Dear Social Corner Editor: An eminent surgeon had just completed a difficult surgical operation. A group of eager-eyed students followed with close attention every movement of the quick, sure fingers. One student noticed that in stitching up the wound the surgeon tied three knots, while the custom is to tie only two. On asking the reason for this, he received an answer he never forgot. Gently and impressively the surgeon replied: "I always tie a third knot, it may not be necessary, but it makes things that much safer, and I find I sleep better for it."

I read the above in a paper and I thought the third knot is a symbol of everything which makes for finer living. It is the little extra of precaution, of service, of courtesy, of kindness and attention what is actually demanded of us.

I have read down in Louisiana they have a charming custom which they call lagnappe, a trifle [illegible] given by the shopkeeper [illegible] gracious extra added to the purchase. The thirteenth roll wrapped up with the dozen the buyer has ordered is lagnappe. It may be a few raisins, a handful of candy, an apple, or a couple of potatoes tucked into an already filled basket. If I remember right this lagnappe is tying the third knot. It does not cost much but it mellows the atmosphere and introduces a friendly sentiment into business.

The employe, who keeps his eye on the clock and fears to expend more of his duty, but he does nothing more, a his duty, but he does nothing more, a deeper interest, the spirit which prompts more than his actual duty ties the third knot and incidentally increases the likelihood of advancement.

I know a young man who was working in a large publishing house in Chicago with about 50 men, they were all extra help, this man included. When their work was completed they had orders to discharge all but this one man. They said he did not seem in a great hurry to leave until everything was seen to. I think this was tying the third knot.

Stern Justice sees only the offense and the broken law; mercy recognizes these, but goes beyond them. She is tenderly conscious of our proneness to slip and fall under special strain. With sympathy and understanding; she ties the extra knot; she adds comprehension and love to justice. She gives the offender another chance.

Much of the pain and sorrow of life is preventable; slowing up an automobile when nearing a grade crossing; a more frequent inspection of brakes; a little less speed in turning corners; a little extra thought for pedestrians would be the third knot of prevention, eliminating casualties.

What may seem like over-anxious care to deaden the live match; a better knowledge concerning the origin of fires and fire prevention; greater vigilance in building inspections would keep the shadow of loss and grief from thousands of homes.

What is true of material things is equally true of the mind. In such a thing as looking up a telephone number, we may act heedlessly. Taking up the receiver to make our call, we may find we are not sure of our number. Seeing to it that we receive the vivid, first impression which makes us absolutely sure, ties a third knot in our concentration.

In following the printed page we may be tired or worried and find we have read mere words which do not form any real ideas. It may take some effort to visualize what we are reading, but this third knot of concentration increases our pleasure and our profit. It is a wonderful aid to clear thinking.

The importance of tying the third knot is demonstrated in every activity of life. The more ambitious and worldly while we are, the less likely we are to be satisfied, with the bare necessities of living. Like Oliver Twist we want "the little more". It is right that we want it and struggle to get it. It is this hunger for bigger and better things which has raised mankind to the heights of civilization.

Extras, the little things over and above the absolute essentials, trifles of comfort, convenience, beauty and luxury, add so much to life! They provide charm, vitality, sparkle, they give us greater capacity for enjoyment and make it easier to share our enjoyment with others.

In asking a favor, there is a glow of pleasure if it is granted gladly, freely, with an expression of the givers delight in the privileges of service and the giver ties the third knot in his act of kindness by which he performs it.

The third knot in the words of the distinguished surgeon, makes one sleep the better. Tying the third knot, if it should become an established habit, would metamorphose the home, humanize business and transform the community.

KITTY LOU

GREETINGS FRM NONSOPRETTY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: Well, I saw a few blades of green grass yesterday, so I think spring must be within a thousand miles of us now.

Kansas Lily and Providence Rose: Haven't you got thawed out like the peeping frogs?

Skipper: You said in one of your letters you used to know me. Now you just send a letter to me, then you will know me twice.

Ann Tenna: Hope you could attend the meeting this week. Wish I could have but there'll be a time.

Rural Aunty: It is 13 instead of 11 mats the gentleman has made and he is now working on another.

Ma of Green Gables: How about those squash pies this winter?

Peggy Alden: Glad you are improving. Get well so that time is true.

Aries: Have you any chicks out yet? I suppose hubby will be home soon and help with the housecleaning.

L. T. H.: Hope you are well. Any chicks out yet?

Rural Delivery: Give us another of your good letters. Look for one every week. I think this the coldest April I ever saw.

Best wishes to all

NONESOPRETTY (Club No. 4)

CHOOSING MY PEN NAME

Dear Editor and Sisters: Isn't this the loveliest spring day. The hylas are singing down in the pond and I hope they are here to stay. The grass in front of the house is green and yesterday I saw buds on the daffodils and a crocus in blossom. It all makes me feel I should be cleaning house, but I have a lot of sewing to do and two more rugs to make. I washed all my windows and laundered the curtains last week, so I guess we can stand it a while longer. I have paint ready to put on the walls and ceiling of my kitchen, but will wait until the kiddies can stay outside more before attempting it.

I want to thank all the sisters who sent me cards on my birthday. I received seventeen, and enjoyed them very much. I think B Natural covered the anniversary meeting pretty thoroughly, but I will say I think the entertainers enjoyed themselves as much as those looking on. That square set was certainly exciting while it lasted. We were sorry O. D. could not be with us, I hope her mother is better. I heard someone say they never would have known E. L. M. if she hadn't spoken.

I have been interested in the letters describing Fort Ned and Woodchuck Hill and I wonder if someone couldn't tell us about the early days of North Stonington village (it used to be Milltown). I lived there about 30 years ago and even then the old mill was falling down.

Rebecca: You have my sympathy.

These are some of the things I do with my four-sided grater. There are two sizes of graters, a shredder and slicer. First to clean grater a tooth brush is just the thing. Pieces of hard cheese can be used by grating, the rind of orange and lemons, apple for making apple-whip, and hard bread can be quickly converted into crumbs by this method. The slicer is good when making potato chips. But I use the shredder more than either of the other sides. For preparing vegetables for soup, cabbage for either the 10 minute method or slaw or salad, apples for apple pie, or carrots for salad it is equally useful. It doesn't crush the cabbage like the food chopper does but [illegible] several in mind, but my husband said they were too long, why didn't I find a shorter one. As I was looking at a bunch of bob sumac at the time with its velvety red berries I decided that would be a name short enough to suit anybody. So please don't think I'm the poison kind [illegible] luck everyone.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS AND HINTS

Dear Social Corner Sisters: What an enjoyable time you had at the last meeting of Club No. 5.

If Saturn gave such an interesting report I could almost imagine myself there.

Rubina and Rebe: I get your pen names somewhat mixed, although your correct names I know O. K.

I am sending a few household suggestions and also a few helpful hints which may help some of the sisters:

Suggestions: Instead of lifting your cookies one by one into a pan, spread the fluff dough there, and then cut. You will have only the trimmings to remove.

Never wrap your bread in a cloth. This absorbs the moisture and sometimes even leaves a taste that is unpleasant.

A little vinegar in the wash water makes cottons and linens whiter.

If the copper teakettle is tarnished an application of salt and lemonjuice will restore its original burnish.

Never use a damp cloth on "gold furniture" or picture frames. Dust them with a soft flannel cloth.

Helpful Hints: Rub the rust spot on the nickel with a cloth dampened in kerosene.

To remove perspiration stains from a garment by washing in warm soapy water and sponge with alcohol.

To remove mildew, soak the article in a mixture of a heaping teaspoon of chloride of lime and a quart of water. Soak 20 minutes, wash and hang in sun.

To remove peach stains, cover spot with cream of tartar and let stand for a while or a few minutes. Then wash.

To clean white shoes, make a thin paste of ordinary laundry starch and water, using one tablespoon of starch to one ounce of water. Apply like any shoe cleaner and let dry before wearing the shoe.

When flypaper gets stuck to an article, lard or vaseline will remove it.

Many thanks to Milky Way and Sumac for birthday cards I received.

Lucille Drew: Have you thrown your pen away? I enjoy reading your letters, so do write again soon.

Lighted Candle Salad: One slice of pineapple, one-half banana placed in pineapple with pointed end up. Place a cherry on point with toothpick, then drop salad dressing or whipped cream on it to make it represent tallow. Place on lettuce leaves and serve.

Clarinda: Hope to see you at the next meeting at North Stonington, as that is where I first met you.

RAVENA (Club No. 6).

SEVERAL HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Dear Editor Social Corner: Many thanks for forwarding letter sent you. You certainly have your hands full and I appreciate it all. To sisters who pickle hard boiled eggs. Did you ever put them in the vinegar where you have had pickled beets. It makes them pink, so pretty on a salad. When you make sugar kisses, bake them on the paper the jello comes in. They are waxed and kisses are so much easier to take off of paper. When making a sponge cake, take the waxed paper from bread and put in tin. Much easier to slip out. Have used them also for layer cake. Saves greasing the tin. Pie crust of course greases its own tins. Poor pie crust that wont. I also use the paper to wrap lettuce in. It keeps it crisp. In baking the cookies; when you take them from oven lift out with griddle cake turner into a paper that has been around the bread. They are not so apt to stick; also cakes or muffins. Then the paper can be burned; as I like to clean up as I go along. There has been a lot said about rug making. I used to braid rugs, crochet them, also knit them, but haven't done any in over 30 years or more. My hobby now is birds canaries. I raise some every year and sell them. I see where Sister Bee True had more than fifty at one time. I never have had as many as that. I really wouldn't have room for as many. Have had 11 or more; have six now. A young pair I am mating. I just love my birds. I never could have enough of them, but lack room and it takes money also. Would have liked to had a pair of blue and white canaries this year, but they come high out of my reach. Best wishes to all for a bright and happy Easter.

TAFTS.

A TRIP THROUGH THE COUNTRY

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: When I wrote my second letter to the Corner three weeks ago and asked about Woodchuck hill I thought I had done my duty for some time. There have been so many nice letters in reply that I am taking this way to thank all who have answered my letter.

E. C. Peck wrote a splendid article about Woodchuck hill, published in The Norwich Bulletin March 24th.

Before the summer is over I hope I shall be able to thank him personally. I also want to thank Kochia for directions how to reach Mt. Misery. The last time I saw Kochia I was searching for robins. I didn't find any that day. It was almost too early and the road was very muddy, but have seen several since then, however.

In my last letter I said as soon as the roads were passable Winter Robin and I were going to explore. Well, we couldn't wait; so last Thursday we started out. I had seen in the paper that there was to be an auction on Pudding hill, in Scotland, and that notice made an excuse for the trip. First we went over to Jewett City, stopped there a little while, then drove up to Plainfield. When we reached Plainfield we thought it would be nice to try the new road through Westminster to Scotland. It is a splendid ride over this new road. I wish every member of the Corner might have the pleasure of going over this road at least once this summer. The road takes one over beautiful hills; from the tops you will get a wonderful view of the surrounding country.

I think I have a feeling somewhat akin to Iola—I love the hills but do not care for the seashore. If you want to get an idea of the country and lay of the land, now is the best time in the year, before the leaves are out on the trees.

To go on with our trip, we arrived at the Pudding hill road about 1 o'clock. As the road looked pretty bad, we stopped and decided we better eat our lunch before we went to the auction. We stopped on top of the hill, where we could get a wonderful view over the country, while we ate our lunch, which consisted of hot beef stew we had taken in Thermos bottles.

While we sat there several cars came out of the road loaded with things from the auction. We stopped a young man and asked him what he thought of the road he had just traveled over. It would not do for me to express his thoughts to you, but he did say we better not try the road. Then we decided to go to Windham. From Windham I thought I would take a short cut; drove up this road about two miles; the ruts were pretty [illegible]

From Willimantic we went to Hampton hill, expecting to call on some friends, but didn't find them at home. I think Hampton is a beautiful place and I always like to go there.

COALITION OF DEMOCRATS AND "FARM BLOC" REPUBLICANS WIN IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—A coalition of democrats and "farm bloc" republicans in the house today rejected by a record vote of 141 to 130 the Newton bill to permit American importers to form buying pools to combat foreign government monopolies in rubber, potash and sisal.

Opponents of the measure struck swiftly as soon as its consideration was commenced by the house, when Representative Laguardia, republican, New York, offered an amendment to strike out the measure's enacting clause. It was accepted, having the effect of killing the bill.

The two days debate on the measure was featured by the injection of the name of Secretary Hoover, who is aspiring to the republican presidential nomination, and who had appeared before the house judiciary committee to urge its enactment.

Democrats and two republican representatives, Dickinson of Iowa and King of Illinois, the latter supporting Frank O. Lowden for the republican nomination, assailed the commerce secretary for his approval of the measure, which they characterized as creating an American rubber trust. Advocates of the measure, however, lauded Mr. Hoover's efforts in combatting the British rubber monopoly.

The contention that farmers would benefit from the proposed buying pools, especially in potash and sisal, was advanced by proponents of the measure, including Acting Chairman Dyer of the committee in charge of the bill, and its author, Representative Newton, republican, Minnesota. But this benefit was denied by La Guardia, Dickinson and Representative Bowling, democrat, Alabama. Dickinson also declared that the republican party "should guard against supporting legislation to aid big interests."

Representative Michener, republican, Michigan, together with several other republicans, including Stobbs of Massachusetts, Kurtz of Pennsylvania, and Hersey of Maine, emphasized that no monopoly was formed but that American business needed this "weapon to fight the British rubber and Mexican sisal combines."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theater.

A glimpse into the "Invisible City" within New York, that strange manifestations of social life known as "the underworld" is afforded in a graphic and enthralling play in Lon Chaney's latest contribution to the screen, "The Big City," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's thrilling mystery romance of night life, which comes to the Palace theater for three days starting tomorrow.

Chaney again gives a masterful demonstration of his many-sided versatility; he has given the screen "Mr. Wu" and "Quasimodo," as well as many other strange characters; in his new vehicle he invades the present, and plays a New York gangster leader of modern times, in a compelling characterization.

The story, essentially a love story, teems with thrills and abounds in mystery. Chaney and his gang, in conflict with a rival gang; a sensational holdup of a popular night club, battles with the police and duels of wits with the detectives; these are all breathlessly exciting backgrounds for a charming love idyle of a boy and a girl — parts played by pretty Marceline Day, who was never more charming than as the little shopgirl in the play, and James Murray, King Vidor's "discovery," who leaped to fame in "The Crowd."

LON CHANEY

Tod Browning directed the picture, a story of his own, by the way, scenarized by Waldemar Young, with all the skill that has marked others of his Chaney features such as "The Unholy Three," or "London After Midnight." Miss Day, as the shopgirl, innocently enmeshed in the plot of the gangsters, has some remarkable scenes, many of them with Betty Compson, who is convincing as the gangster's feminine accomplice. This is the first time, incidentally, that Miss Compson and Chaney have appeared together since "The Miracle Man," in which both were launched to fame. Among the spectacular details are the beauty ballet in the night club, a colorful spectacle.

Breed Theater.

Flanders' fields of poppies, the teeming East Side of New York, the trenches and barbed-wire entanglements of No Man's Land, New York cabarets, boxing arenas and night life, and field hospitals behind the front are all in First National's big spectacle, "The Patent Leather Kid," which opens a week's engagement at the Breed theater tomorrow night.

Every resource of the production department at First National was called into service for this great film epic, starring Richard Barthelmess. Months of research work were required by the crew of technical experts employed for the picture.

Advisors from the U. S. army, former war correspondents, physicians and surgeons and others were drafted for the purpose of advising Director Alfred Santell during the production.

Every minute detail was checked so that the picture might be absolutely true to life.

Veterans of the World war played bits in the picture, each member of the cast was carefully chosen and actual happenings on the front in the big drives of September, 1918, were reproduced during the filming of the war scenes.

The result is one of the greatest war pictures ever made. In addition, the story of "The Patent Leather Kid," the East Side boxer, who was drafted against his wishes and who emerged from the war a hero, is one of the greatest stories ever written with a war background.

Rupert Hughes wrote the original soon after the war. Adele Rogers St. John wrote the adaptation and Winifred Dunn the scenario.

Molly O'Day, who plays opposite Barthelmess is acclaimed a screen find as the result of her work in this picture.

Next Week at Park Church

The Young People's society will give an Easter program in the church at seven o'clock. Because of this service, the usual meeting in the parlors will be omitted.

TODAY'S EVENTS

Considerable public anxiety attends the practical close of the political campaign in Chicago today, preliminary to the primary election.

Batter up! Play ball! Only a few days more for the baseball fans to wait until this cry will be heard around the big league circuits.

Which serves as a reminder that John J. McGraw, veteran manager of the New York Giants, is in line for greetings today on his 55th birthday anniversary.

Eighty years old today is the Most Rev. Randall T. Davidson, archbishop of Canterbury and holder of the most historic church office in England. To mark the anniversary the Canterbury corporation today will confer the honorary freedom of the city on the primate.

Strand Theater.

Showing tonight at the Strand is a double feature program which everyone should see. Charlie Chaplin, the King of Laughdom shuffles into much trouble with his pup, in "A Dog's Life." "When do we eat?" was the burning question which Chaplin and the mongrel pup kept asking and around which the story centers. They were just two vagabonds living in the great open places of a great city and wandering hither and yon gazing bakeries and hot-dog stands. Edna Purviance supplies the romance. In this picture Chaplin has a new bag of tricks and gags that will send you into spasms of laughter.

"Tentacles of the North," the other feature picture is from the pen of James Oliver Curwood. It is the story of a great love in the mighty Arctic and tells how Arctic madness turns men into beasts more vicious than wolves. The stars are Gaston Glass and Alice Calhoun. The story is a dramatic narrative of a whaler, frozen in during the long night. The men go Arctic mad and there is a lovely woman who is likewise overcome by the brooding mystery of the northern lights and the silent gloom of the waste.

A friend who is never in need is a friend indeed.

Eastern Conn. Bond & Mortgage Corp.

In an interview with Shepard Palmer, president of the Eastern Connecticut Bond and Mortgage corporation, Mr. Palmer said: "The response of the public in investing in the capital stock of our corporation and the demand to date for our funds is sufficient proof of the need of such an institution to assist the people of this section to realize their inherited desire, a home of their own. This company, with its reservoir of funds, where the average man may obtain loans at standard rates and terms is bound to prove a valuable adjunct to the development of this territory.

"Today there are innumerable persons of good earning power who have insufficient capital to purchase a home outright. These we help with our plan by furnishing the necessary capital and amortizing the mortgage on a rent paying basis. That is why we style ourselves a 'financial institution of service.'

"As it is an undeniable fact that home-ownership tends to better citizenship, we trust that every public spirited man in this locality will join us as a stockholder in this worthwhile enterprise."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theater.

"Motherhood," the photoplay which has aroused nationwide interest and discussion was given a special screening before a distinguished group of New Haven clergymen, doctors, nurses, editors and social workers at the Hyperion last week and practically unanimously these leading citizens proclaimed it as a film of outstanding merit and an exceptional and dignified treatment of the subject.

The picture was made with the co-operation of leading members of the medical profession and of the Knickerbocker, Bellevue and Allied hospitals of New York. As a result it gives important and well authenticated advice that should have a powerful effect upon present and prospective fathers and mothers. THREE MONTHS IN JAIL FOR WIFE-BEATER ALLEN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 6—Joseph E. Allen, 20 Shaw street, a mason, was in the police court today charged with breach of the peace in striking and abusing his wife. He said but little excuse to offer for his conduct and was sentenced to three months in jail. Allen was arrested yesterday afternoon after Mrs. Allen had made complaint that her husband beat her Wednesday. On the witness stand, Mrs. Allen testified that her husband frequently arrived at his home intoxicated and when in that condition he abused her. She also testified that Allen often gave her only $5 and $10 weekly for the support of herself and the home. She said that she was tired of the abuse her husband meted out to her and that she intended to obtain a divorce. When Judge S. Victor Prince inquired if Mrs. Allen could get along without her husband's support she replied in the affirmative. In view of the fact that Mrs. Allen could obtain her owne livelihood and because Allen had been in court several times for abusing his wife, the jail sentence was imposed.

A former resident owner of one of the fine estates on Ocean avenue, New London ,now the Catholic chaplain at Yale, a son of the Washington banker, Rev. Lawrason Riggs delivered a most interesting and enlightening address on "The Individual and the Church," at the open house meeting of the Hartford Council of Catholic Women recently. Father Riggs stated that since the middle ages there has been a steady growth in individualism in every phase of human life. This is more true in this modern age than in any other period. Catholics believe that the church is an authoritative organization to which the individual is subordinate. The salvation of individual souls is the all important work of the church, and the church organization exists as a means to that end. The church safeguards the rights of the individuals. It does not invent new ideas ,but applies old principles, he said.

Mrs. Oska notified the police and Patrolmen Albert Iverson and William Riordan arrested Haberek and Comisky. Because of the nature of the testimony, which showed that Haberek was the instigator of the fight, he received the more severe penalty.

John Sullivan was charged with vagrancy and was sent to jail for 10 days. Sullivan was loitering about the Union station last night and there arrested by Martin.

Morris Greenblatt, of Waterbury, was charged with reckless driving. His case was continued to the 11th inst. CARELESS DRIVER LEFT CAR WITH BRAKES NOT SET

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 6—An automobile owned by Fred J. Leonard, 601 Elm street, New Haven, was damaged and Enard Wiese, 25 Moore avenue, was injured, this afternoon, when the automobile started up on a grade and collided with a building. The car was parked on North Bank street, without the brakes being set when the owner left it. When it became in motion it took a course to Atlantic street, where a steep grade exists, and was headed through the thoroughfare where other cars were parked when Wiese observed the driverless car approaching. Wiese seized one of the wheels and diverted the course of the auto in order to prevent its striking other cars or pedestrians. The doors were locked and the emergency brake could not be reached. When the auto's course was changed the car climbed over the curb and came to a stop against the building of the W. S. Ailing company. The bump damaged the auto so that it had to be towed to a garage and Wiese was injured. He went to the office of a physician, where his wounds were dressed. A short afterwards, Leonard appeared at police headquarters to report the loss by theft of the auto and then was informed of what had occurred. Wiese paid the physician's bill and then went to the garage and made arrangements for the repair of the car.

I., April 6—The special Westerly financial town meeting was called to order at 7:30 this evening in the town hall by Moderator Stanton to take action on the voting of a tax levy for specific purposes as required by the Old Colony Trust company of Boston, before it would register the town bonds, which purpose, it was claimed, the call for the regular February meeting failed to recite.

With twenty freemen and one woman present, the necessary votes were passed, empowering the town treasurer to hire money and issue his notes in payment of the various town accounts. Treasurer Pendleton, on request, explained at length the financial procedure of hiring money in anticipation of taxes to be collected. James O. Lynch asked concerning the first call for the financial town meeting and Solicitor Ferguson explained that the meeting was called under the statute of 1919. Edwin Sawyers inquired if the February meeting was legal and was informed that all the acts were legal, and this meeting was to pass a vote which would be satisfactory to the attorneys representing the Old Colony Trust company, of Boston.

Thursday, about 10:30 a. m., a brush fire swept down on Westminster. The wind was blowing a gale and for a time it seemed that the Hill section was doomed. Frantic efforts were made over the telephone to get help. Most of the men were away from home but the women and children and what few men there were fought valiantly. The church bell was rung but the wind was so strong it could be heard only a short distance. The fire was brought under control only a few feet from the garage and barn of A. T. Macleod and the house of Alec Holstrom.

The Young Crusaders Mission band of the Third Baptist church met in the chapel on Monday afternoon with a large number of children present. Mrs. Albert Haydon had charge of the meeting and in the absence of the secretary, Miss Elsie Laycock, who was detained by sickness, Miss Marilyn Lund gave both the secretary's and treasurer's reports. The children pasted on scrap-books during the afternoon and a collection was taken. The Crusaders are filling mite boxes with their spare pennies and it is hoped that they can make a donation toward the church mission budget. Miss Doris Lund and Miss Elinor Howard assisted Mrs. Haydon during the afternoon.

The World Wide guild girls of the Third Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Bruce Blackstone, of Eighth street, on Friday evening. The president, Mrs. Laura Sebastian, had charge of the meeting and after a short business session, the girls sewed on linen napkins for the Backus hospital. At the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

A number of the members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Baptist and Congregational churches are planning to attend a union C. E. rally at Hanover on April 11. There will also be a supper and rally at the Central Baptist church on April 23, with a noted Scotch speaker as the attraction of the evening meeting.

DR. MARSHALL BRINGS LENTEN SERIES TO CLOSE AT Y. WITH INSPIRING ADDRESS

Unusual and exceedingly inspiring was the final service of the lenten Friday noon series at the Norwich Young Men's Christian Association, when the parlors were crowded with business men who had come to listen to the address by Dr. Benjamin T. Marshall of the Connecticut college on the general theme of the series, "Taking Jesus Christ Seriously." Judge Allyn L. Brown presided, and Rev. Myron E. Genter, district superintendent of the Methodist church, offered an earnest prayer. Hugh Kinder rendered with tenderness the hymn, "There is a Green Hill Far Away." Judge Brown announced the special topic for the day, "Immortality," and Dr. Marshall read the nineteenth chapter of John, the story of the trial and crucifixion of Christ. It was evident from the beginning of his address that the speaker's words were making a profound impression on his hearers who listened with noticeable attention to every word. A few of the sentences of Dr. Marshall follow: "Jesus words were a guide to his life, and should be a guide to our lives. One feels so inadequate to speak of this great mysterious event on a day like this; in fact one is always inadequate to convey the principles of Jesus to another. How fully Jesus gave himself for others. To make a free, honest, ungrudging investment of our lives as Jusus did is the very thing we should attempt to do.

Jesus knew full well that he was coming to victory, but he also knew how he must suffer to accomplish his mission. When he went away to rest, he was often interrupted, and gladly gave yet more of himself; He was always pouring out his life for others. You may cut across his life anywhere and you will always find the strain of sacrifice there. It is pathetic to notice those whose habit is to be selfish, as they try on some wave of enthusiasm, to help others; they appear so awkward, because of their habits of indifference and selfishness. What loving unselfishness Jesus always manifested; his stories of the lost coin, the lost sheep, and the story of the lost boy, which is really a parable of a father's love, all indicate the quality and quantity of God's love and sacrifice. Jesus always thought of others; never of himself. The heartache he showed over the errors of mankind was tremendous; he demonstrated his love by giving all for his people. No one can explain the sacrifices of Jesus satisfactory to himself or to others. I know that he often revealed this; that he must needs suffer, and can we follow him and avoid suffering. I believe that immortality is secured through suffering; in a sense, it must be earned; we must follow Christ in every way. Jesus is tremendously interested in your soul. Don't commit slow suicide by stinting the soul. Most of the great characters of history have cut their lives short by sacrifice. We are heirs of all the sacrifices of the ages. Jesus was supreme in the matter of sacrifice; truly he is the Son of God.

Men, let us, like Him, give ourselves in service for others, and as we bow in prayer shall we not open our lives wide to him; shall we not more than ever before, take Jesus Christ seriously.

Dr. Marshall closed his impressive message with a touching prayer of consecration. It was announced that Dr. Marshall had consented to deliver the address at the Anniversary service of the Y. M. C. A. to be held on Sunday evening, April 15th, at the Central Baptist church. The entire audience rose in expression of their thanks to Dr. Marshall for his messages of the lenten series and all joined heartily in singing one verse of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds, Our Hearts in Christian Love", and the series of spiritual uplift was brought to a fitting close.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

Rev. John J. Reilly read the mass of the pre-sanctified, at 8 o'clock Good Friday at St. Patrick's church, when there was no consecration, the celebrant consuming the species consecrated the day before. Rev. Father Reilly read the prophecy, lesson and the lengthy Scriptural passages which narrate the Passion of the Saviour. During the procession to bring the Blessed Sacrament back to the high altar from the repository, where it had remained since two sacred hosts were consecrated Wednesday, there was unaccompanied singing of the hymn "Vexilla Regis," by the organist, Henry J. LaFontaine.

At the close of the mass the members of the great congregation moved up the center aisle to the sanctuary rail, where each kissed the crucifix as presented by one of the priests. This annual Good Friday practice signifies sorrow for sin and for the sufferings which the Redeemer endured through the sins of mankind. In this ceremony of the veneration of the cross Father Reilly was assisted by Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May and Rev. Myles P. Galvin.

Good Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock another large congregation assembled for the stations of the cross, or the Way to Calvary.

In the evening again there was veneration of the cross, recitation of the rosary, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Throughout the day the altar hangings were violet, the hue of penitence and statues and crucifixes were draped in the same violet. Many persons visited the church during the day and evening, commemorating the anniversary of the death of Christ.

BAPTISM AND PAGEANT AT CENTRAL BAPTIST

At the Central Baptist church Easter day will bring two beautiful services. At the morning worship hour at 10:30 the ordinance of baptism will be administered to a group of boys and girls. Easter envelopes have been sent to the members of the church, who will bring their annual Easter offering in the interests of the world-wide task of the Christian church and place them in the special box in the vestibule. The pastor will take as his theme, "The Gospel of Good Friday and the Easter Morn," and there will be an Easter story for the boys and girls of the junior church.

At 7:30 a pageant, "Darkness and Dawn," adapted from the pageant by Frederica Lefevre Bellamy, will be presented by 16 young people, a chorus of 17, assisted by the choir. This is in three episodes, The Darkness, Night and Dawn. It is being given under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Gildersleeve, with Miss Ruth Hamilton and Miss Ellis as the committee on costumes.

WILL OFFICIALLY OPEN NORWICH PROGRESS EXPOSITION

Announcement was made Friday that Mayor Milo R. Waters has accepted an invitation to officially open the Norwich Progress Exposition to be held next month at the armory under the auspices of the Norwich chamber of commerce.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Mildred Durocher, a student at the Academy of the Holy Family, in Baltic, is spending the Easter recess at the home of her father, Moise J. Durocher and family of Providence street.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. Wood are spending the Easter holidays in New York where they are the guests of Baron J. De Herczegh.

Miss Lillian Laramie of North B street has returned from a few days stay in Attawaugan where she visited at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stone and family.

Mrs. Raymond A. Pingree and her daughter, Miss Louis Pingree, have returned to their home in Saylesville, R. I., after a week's stay at the home of Mrs. Pingree's father, Axel L. Aberg and her sister, Miss Helen C. Aberg of North Third street.

The Good Friday services at Sacred Heart church began with the mass of the pre-sanctified in the morning. At this mass the host consecrated on the preceding day was consumed by the celebrant. The tabernacle door stood ajar as a sign to the congregation that the Blessed Sacrament was absent from the altar. Lights and music were omitted from all the services of the day. This (Saturday) morning preceding the mass of the day, there will be the blessing of the Paschal candle, the Easter water and the new fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood of North B street have returned from a short stay in Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Linderson and Wilfred Linderson are spending several days at Pine Tree cottage in North Stonington.

Shame seldom comes to a man unless he invites it.

LODGE STRIKES FROM ROLL NAME OF THIEF-TREASURER

Hugh Henry Osgood lodge, No. 6920, I. O. O. F., M. U., is short $908 of its funds and it is believed that the money was misappropriated by Thomas Addison, treasurer of the lodge, for whom a warrant has been issued charging him with taking funds from the treasury of the Taftville Mule Spinners' union. Addison has been missing for some days and the police are checking up on his whereabouts.

A special meeting of the lodge was held Thursday night in order to ascertain the condition of the treasury. At the meeting it was found that on March 24, Addison drew a check on the Norwich Savings society for $500, forging, it is alleged, the names of three of the lodge trustees, Sterling Nelson, Hugh Finlayson and James Johnson. It was also discovered that he overdrew the lodge account at the Uncas National bank to the extent of $10.39. The remainder of the missing funds was cash on hand and the balance of a checking account.

The lodge voted to strike Addison's name from the roll. Earle M. Wood of Taftville was elected treasurer to succeed him. Addison was a past provincial grand master of the Manchester Unity lodge, state of Connecticut.

Revelations, coming to light Friday, showed that Addison secured from Lee Clegg, local jeweler, a diamond ring, valued at $150 before he left Norwich. He is said to have paid nothing for it. Addison, it is alleged, went to the jewelry store the day of his disappearance and told Mr. Clegg that he had been appointed a committee by the Central Labor union to purchase a diamond to be presented to a state official of the union at a convention to be held in the western part of the state. On the strength of this claim, he is said to have secured the ring.

It is understood that Addison also took $800 from his savings bank account and has left his wife without means.

UNIVERSALIST YOUNG PEOPLE STATE CONVENTION COMING

At the annual meeting of the Y. P. C. U., held at the Church of the Good Shepherd (Universalist), the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, William Mitchell; vice-president, Sherman Barber; secretary, Alice Parsons; treasurer, Bertrice Mitchell; assistant treasurer, Helen Hanigan.

On April 21 and 22, the 39th annual convention of the Connecticut Y. P. C. U. is to be held in Norwich and committees to take care of the many guests were appointed, as follows: House, Villa Bussey; banquet, Bertrice Mitchell; dance, Alice Parsons and Thelma Bjurstrom; orchestra, William Mitchell; luncheons, Betty Pike; decorating, Hattie Fowler; reservations, Helen Hanigan.

The annual Easter sunrise service is to be held Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock, the president leading the devotional meeting. A breakfast will be served in the social rooms following the service of worship.

New Haven Road Stock Certificates

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company has issued a circular to stockholders stating that definitive engraved certificates for preferred stock will be issued on and after April 19 in exchange for the temporary printed certificates issued since October 1 last. At the same time holders of the old capital certificates and those now stamped as common stock are requested to exchange the certificates which they now have for permanent common stock certificates.

Girl Slightly Hurt

Betty Eagles, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Everett Eagles, of 16 School street, New London, sustained slight injuries early Thursday night when she was struck by an automobile operated in Pequot avenue, New London, by Asa H. Perkins, of Groton. Mr. Perkins brought his car to an immediate stop and took the child to the hospital, where she was treated for minor lacerations, after which she was taken to her home.

Examination For Teachers.

Examinations for state teachers certificates will be held at Nathan Hale Grammar school, in New London, simultaneously with eight other towns and cities in the state on April 14, 21 and 28, according to an announcement by the state board of education.

All holders of temporary licenses or of limited certificates, having credits due by July 1, are requested to appear for the examinations, it is announced.

Examinations will be held also at the state capitol, the state normal school in Willimantic.

Realization without hope loses half its charm.

PREACHES ON SIGNIFICANCE OF GOOD FRIDAY

With clearness of spiritual vision and the beauty of diction for which he is well known, Rev. Dr. S. H. Howe preached at the 10:30 a. m. Good Friday service at Park Congregational church from the text Matthew 27,45; They sat down and watched him there.

He spoke in part as follows:

The crucifixion of Christ is the one black crime of all history. We call our anniversary Good Friday. It was the great "Black Friday" of all time. It was plotted for in the night. The malignant cabal could only work its devilish deed in the night. The thousands camping about Jerusalem would have torn our Lord out of the grasp of his fiendish murderer but it was a night tragedy and they carried it out by a midnight arrest and trial. Before His friends were aware He was nailed to a cross.

The deed was done and there were watchers of the scene. The most effective crucifixion scene has been painted without the sight of the crosses. Their shadows only are thrown on the ground but the faces of the watchers tell the story. All humanity, all heaven and earth are portrayed as watchers.

1. There were the executors. The soldiers sat down and watched. Crucifixions were a commonplace. Criminals were executed without chronicles. But this was exceptional. They had found no such victim as this. No railings and upbraidings here, but pity and prayer for forgiveness. "Father forgive them, they know not what they do."

2. His deadly foes were watching. Pharisee and Sadducee, scribe and sandhedrists, and they looked the malignants that they were. Thou that destroyest the temple, save thyself. While they were beaten in argument, they had won by force. They flung insult and mockery in His face but He flung no answering missiles. They were failing and not He, and smitten and beaten they went away beating their breasts in conscious defeat. They thought the tragedy was ended, but it was only begun.

3. And the disciples watched Him there. Conscious of the failure of their materialistic dream of empire and power they turned away in momentary despair.

4. But there were friends watching. John was there, the great mystic, the reader of the heart of Christ, the friend whose heartbeats were those of his friend—a congenial soul who had entered a little way into the great secret. You have friends who understand you, to whom you can make self-revelations that you cannot to others. To this responsive soul, this visioned man, Jesus in the old closeted interview had revealed His program. Peter could not understand. Be it far from thee, when Jesus told him He must go to Jerusalem to be crucified, but John read his Master's deepest thought and did not share the disappointment of the rest of the disciple band. So he stood silent but believing while the others were despairing.

And His mother watched the scene. Artists have portrayed her overwhelmed with grief. Not so. Had she forgotten the angels' song or the angel of the annunciation, or the prophecy of Simeon, or her own majestic Magnificat? Had He not communed in the Nazareth home with that beautiful soul of the career which lay before Him? Was it a closed book to Mary? She was in anguish, no doubt, about His physical suffering, but hopeless, despairing? No! The true artist is yet to paint her portrait among the watchers.

5. And all the celestials were watching this scene. Were not the twelve legions standing with hands on their swords in wrath, like Milton's angels, ready to strike the fatal blow? But they were under restraint and when the tragedy ended they saw the seals broken and a whole world redeemed.

6. But what Jesus himself saw is a deeper truth. He saw the travail of His soul and was satisfied, saw the completion of His task planned in eternity, the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. He needed not to look into the faces of His revilers. He saw the great company of the redeemed, the glorious company of the apostles, the noble army of martyrs, the unreckonable multitudes who would defile before His face, a vast procession that would grow and augment in the great epochs and aeons of history. He saw the acclaiming hosts that would satisfy the heart of God and fill the universe with a new glory.

7. And we are the watchers. This old world is bad enough and unbelieving enough, but to its credit be it spoken it has never been able to keep its eyes off that cross. We may beat down all the creeds and confessions of history with our little wooden mallets but we cannot beat down the snowy Alps to a level plain. The great and the small of all ages have defiled past the cross and let fall the burden of their sins and like Bunyan's pilgrim have seen that burden roll away into a sepulchre to be seen no more.

And so the tradition is true. The one "Black Friday" has been turned into Good Friday, which we commemorate, the one blessed day of all history and of eternity.

NORWICH TOWN

MRS. JAMES H. MOFFITT OF EAST TOWN STREET DIES

Following serious illness for a number of weeks and having been confined to her bed the last four weeks Sarah J. Kempfield, 73, widow of James T. Moffitt, died Friday morning at five o'clock, at her home 37 East Town street. Her death came as a shock to her friends, although they have known for some little time however, that her health was impaired. Born in Deering, New Hampshire, January 27th, 1855 Mrs. Moffitt, was the daughter of Amos and Sarah Ring Kempfield. About 1880, in Manchester, N. H., she was united in marriage with James T. Moffitt, both at that time residents of Weare, N. H., where they made their home for a number of years after their marriage. Later Mr. and Mrs. Moffitt gave up their New Hampshire home and located in the south for several years, in South Carolina.

Since the death of Mrs. Moffitt, it has been recalled that it was during their residence in South Carolina that the big earthquake took place. Moving from Ashwelot a small place near Keene, N. H., between thirty and thirty-five years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Moffitt took up their residence in Norwich Town, eventually having purchased an attractive little home on East Town street, where since the death of her husband about twenty years ago, Mrs. Moffitt has continued to reside.

Her nearest surviving relative is a cousin, Mrs. Grace Whittemore, of Hudson, Mass., who at present is in Norwich Town to remain until after the funeral.

Mrs. Moffitt was a member of the Eastern Star of Norwich, also has served as chaplain and has held other offices in the order. She was a devoted member of the First Congregational church, Norwich Town and while her health permitted, took keen interest in its various activities. She was a most capable woman and loyal friend, firm in her convictions, she was dependable and earnest.

Dorcas Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church observed Good Friday afternoon by holding a special Lenten service to take the place of its March meeting. The president, Mrs. William Weaver opened the meeting by reading the eighth Psalm, after which all repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Albert G. Miner conducted a Lenten program which included responsive reading, hymns, etc. During this part of the service, Mrs. George L. Randall offered prayer.

In the First Congregational chapel Wednesday, April 11th at four o'clock, there is to be a children's service. Russell Blair of Massachusetts will be the special speaker. The children of Norwich Town Methodist church, are to unite in this service and all other children interested. Mr. Blair will speak in Hanover, later, before the C. E. union.

Copies on the indictment returned in New York, March 30, was served on Phillips yesterday at the hospital where he is recovering from an operation. Details of the case were not available here but the amount involved was said by officers to approximate $1,000,000.

PRIMARIES TUESDAY IN ILLINOIS AND NEBRASKA

Only District Delegates Will Be Selected in Illinois—Hatreds Over Local Political Issues Are Giving the Campaign in Chicago a Touch of Actual Warfare—Hoover is Leading in the Number of Republican Delegates Landed to Date—Al Smith Has Most of the Democratic Delegates Elected Thus Far.

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—More than 100 delegates to each of the national conventions in June will be selected this week, but the men directing the campaigns of a dozen or more presidential aspirants for the most part are looking ahead to states where the show-down on delegations will come later.

Ohio, Indiana and Massachusetts, together with a group of states in the south and west, are regarded as pivotal by republican leaders, who also attach much importance to the line-up, when convention balloting begins, of the huge uninstructed delegations from New York and Pennsylvania.

From the democratic standpoint, the May 1 primaries in California will afford the first out-and-out test of the vote-getting ability of Smith, Reed and Walsh. The three contenders, who were entered in the recent Wisconsin primaries but not on the same basis, also will fight it out in the Oregon primaries May 18.

Two states—Illinois and Nebraska—will hold primaries Tuesday, and then there will be a two weeks lapse before the voting in Ohio, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. The Indiana primaries, where Hoover is pitted against Senator Watson, are on May 8.

Only district delegates will be selected Tuesday in Illinois, where bombs and bullets, brought into play mostly as a result of hatreds over local political issues, have given the campaign a touch of actual warfare. Fifty delegates to each convention will be named, with 11 republican delegates-at-large and eight democrats, representing the entire state, to be selected at conventions later.

Hoover, who is out ahead in the number of delegates actually landed to date, is making no direct bid for Illinois delegates. Managers of Lowden, a former governor of the state, are claiming at least 30 of the 50, predicting the only districts in which they will be beated are in Cook county, where "Big Bill" Thompson, mayor of Chicago, who has been agitating for another term for Coolidge, is a power.

Smith supporters lay claim to most, if not all, of Illinois' 61 convention votes.

In Nebraska, former Senator Hitchcock is entered in the democratic primary and is conceded the "favorite son" support of the state's 16 delegates. In the republican primary there are two slates of delegates, one of them pledged to Senator Norris, of that state, who last week gained 16 uninstructed delegates, from Wisconsin.

During the week delegates to the Kansas City convention also will be selected in Rhode Island, Idaho, North Carolina and New Mexico. Friends of Senator Borah are planning to give him the 11 votes of his home state of Idaho, while, led by Senator Metcalf, the Hoover forces are seeking to get an uninstructed delegation of 13 from Rhode Island. They are also hopeful of landing New Mexico's nine, while in North Carolina, where the state convention will be held Wednesday, there is a lively fight on between the Lowden and Hoover factions.

Lowden drew first blood there by getting the instructed delegate from the first district, but yesterday the Hoover forces came back, claiming the support of the two delegates named from the ninth. The stand of the four delegates-at-large will be determined Wednesday.

Followers of Governor Smith, who has most of the democratic delegates actually selected thus far, are hoping this week to land Utah's eight, Washington's 14 and the six to be chosen to represent Porto Rico. As for Oklahoma, where the democrats will hold a convention Tuesday, there have been evidences of activity on behalf of Senator Reed of Missouri, whose nearby home state is back of him with 36 delegates. The Smith adherents have been placing Oklahoma's 20 in the doubtful column.

PREPARING FOR TUESDAY'S PRIMARY IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—Chicago's primary election campaign today took on the aspect of an airport on the eve of a trans-Atlantic flight. The pilots of the two republican factions had retreated to headquarters to snatch a brief rest before the take-off Tuesday. Only the mechanics remained on the field to give a few final finishing touches to the machines that are to carry either the group headed by United States Senator Deneen, or their opponents, captained by Mayor Thompson and Governor Small, to victory.

The outstanding late development in the fight was an announcement by Chief Justice Harry Olson of the municipal court that a special elections branch of the court would be established. Judge Olson, who will preside over the court, an innovation in the city's history, has issued orders to bring before him all persons arrested for election frauds.

His decision followed charges made by County Judge Edmund Jarecki, in charge of election, that the boldest attempt ever made by lawless forces to steal an election will mark Tuesday's election.

"Our investigation has disclosed the existence of plots to stuff ballot boxes, to vote thousands of floaters under fictitious names which were fraudulently registered, to make false counts, to intimidate election officials and voters and to commit other political frauds," Judge Jarecki said.

Two hundred members of the Chicago Bar association have been appointed assistant attorneys of the board of election commissioners, with authority to maintain legal surveillance over the polls.

Because the balloting will include the nomination of a United States senator, the federal government also will have an interest in prevention of frauds. A special United States grand jury has been instructed by Judge James H. Wilkerson in their duty regarding election frauds.

Thousands of volunteer watchers, members of civic organizations, will be on duty at polling places, which also will be guarded by at least one policeman, and in precincts where trouble is expected by at least ten.

From the candidates came the usual expressions of confidence in the outcome of a campaign, described as the most invective and vituperative in the city's history. A series of bombings of the homes of candidates, machine gun slayings and gangsters' activities during the contest has attracted attention in all parts of the nation.

There are virtually no contests for nomination in the democratic ranks. The leaders have confined their activities to urging followers to record their votes as an indication of the party's strength.

Meanwhile committees in 800 churches of the city have obtained from the poll lists the names of members of their churches, who are registered voters. Every voter will receive a telephone call tomorrow urging them to vote.

TO UNVEIL STATUE OF GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE

ATLANTA, Ga., April 8—(AP)—A distinguished assembly gathered here tonight to witness the unveiling tomorrow on Stone mountain of the equestrian figure of General Robert E. Lee, whose bas-relief by Augustus Lukeman will dominate the central group of the huge memorial to the Confederacy. Thousands of motorists, taking advantage of the brilliant Easter day, crowded the roads to the mountain today, but the carving was shrouded in the white veils which will not be loosed until the little great-grandson of the Confederate chieftain gives the signal tomorrow.

Only the nearly completed head of Lee, the outline of his body and the tracing of his famous horse, "Traveller," will be seen when the curtain falls 200 feet to the bottom of the declivity, but the project calls for a group which includes the figures of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, and Stonewall Jackson, the great strategian.

Representatives of the various states, the nation, the army, navy and dozens of patriotic bodies arrived here today and tonight, ready for their part in the ritual of the day which begins with a great parade of military units through the streets of Atlanta.

SINCLAIR TRIAL TO OPEN IN WASHINGTON TODAY

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—With prospects of a legal skirmish to determine the method of selecting a jury, Harry F. Sinclair, wealth oil operator will go on trial for the second time tomorrow in the District of Columbia supreme court on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government in the Teapot Dome oil lease.

The opening controversy will be over whether the court shal follow a rule adopted last January of questioning the veniremen or whether counsel will be permitted to do the questioning.

Justice Jennings Bailey, who will preside, was expected to follow the rule recently adopted and use the Texas plan of selecting the jury members by questioning them himself. Under this rule any question which counsel for either side wishes to put must be asked through the court.

The defense will oppose this method, George P. Hoover, counsel for Sinclair, said today, and will insist upon questioning the veniremen. If, however, Justice Bailey rules against the defense, an excention will be noted and the work of choosing the twelve who will decide Sinclair's fate will go ahead under the court's wishes.

Plans of the defense and prosecution have indicated that the chief question the jury will have to decide will be whether the $33,000 in liberty bonds which Sinclair will admit he gave Fall, were for a legitimate one third interest in the New Mexico ranch of the former cabinet officer, as contended by the oil man and Fall, or whether it was a bribe Sinclair gave the interior secretary for the Teapot Dome lease, as contended by government.

FISHING BOAT RAMMED OFF LONG BRANCH, N. J.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP)—The coast guard cutter Cahoone reported to headquarters here today that she was proceeding to New York with survivors of the fishing vessel Bettina, rammed off Long Branch, N. J., in a fog and sunk.

The report gave few details. It did not bring out clearly whether the cutter had rammed the Bettina or whether some other vessel had collided with it. The suggestion was, however, that the Cahoone and Bettina were in collision.

The report came from the division commander at New York who said complete detail's would be forthcoming as soon as the Cahoone put into port.

The Bettina was a 126 ton motor powered fishing vessel hailing from Gloucester with a crew of 18.

SIGNED A STATEMENT CONFESSING MURDER

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 8.—(AP)—Charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Merritt Manning, of Hammond, Saturday, Howard Bishop of the same village, has signed a statement, according to District Attorney William B. Ingram, of St. Lawrence county, admitting the shooting.

Bishop is held in the county jail at Canton. He was arraigned Saturday before Coroner L. F. Cleland at Lisbon and held on the coroner's warrant. Bishop, in his statement according to the district attorney, said he shot Manning in a frenzy of jealousy when he found Mrs. Bishop and Manning together in the Bishop home on returning from a dance.

Mrs. Bishop, in another signed statement, the district attorney said, denied irregular relations with Manning. Another statement signed by Mrs. Manning said she had suspected questionable relations between her husband and Mrs. Bishop.

Bishop will be held for grand jury action, pending an investigation by Mr. Ingram and Sheriff H. F. Staver.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 8—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the treasury, has arrived in Bermuda for an Easter vacation.

ROME, April 8—(AP)—The Friends of Israel association, an organization designed to facilitate the conversion of Jews to Catholicism, has been abolished by a decree of the congregation of the holy office.

ROME, April 8—(AP)—The Woonsocket Rhode Island publication, "La Sentinelle," has been placed on the index by the congregation of the council, the Osservatore Romano, official Vatican organ, announces. The publication and reading of this paper are prohibited.

EASTER FASHION PARADE ON FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—Greeted by fair skies and sunshine, with a not too cooling breeze, New York and its guests today threw off the depression engendered by the weather man's prophecy of showers and went to church en masse—then flocked to Fifth avenue for the annual Easter fashion parade.

The more famous houses of worship were unable to accommodate those who sought to attend services. St. Patrick's cathedral was filled with 7,000 while as many more were unable to attend the pontifical high mass celebrated by Patrick Cardinal Hayes. More than 4,000 attended the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. Other churches, particularly about Fifth avenue, were crowded.

The balmiest Easter weather in recent years made the fashion parade, after the services, unusually large and interesting. Moving picture cameramen, newspaper photographers and amateurs flitted here and there. Sightseers loaded the busses in an effort to get a better, more comfortable view of the top-hatted, frock-coated, bright-bonneted "parade" than could be secured in its milling midst.

A crowd estimated at 300,000 thronged Coney Island, first comers appearing as early as 11 o'clock. By mid-afternoon the boardwalk crowd resembled mid-summer with most of the concessions open, while special police details were called to direct the mass of motor traffic.

The Fifth avenue spectacle reached its height soon after one o'clock, when the throngs from St. Patrick's cathedral and St. Thomas' church poured onto the avenue.

UNFAVORABLE EASTER WEATHER IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—Overcoats, ear muffs and galoshes hid from view whatever part of her Easter finery Miss Chicago dared to wear in the Easter parade on Michigan boulevard today.

The hoped for balmy spring weather was conspicuous by its absence. Instead a raw, cold day, brightened by the sun for an hour or two, greeted the early church goers. About 11 o'clock, the skies darkened and a heavy, wet snow began to fall, which continued intermittently into the afternoon.

Temperatures at church time were near the freezing mark. The cold wave that gripped Chicago also held the whole of Illinois, Indiana and the northwest in its icy sway.

At the Fourth Presbyterian church on Lake Shore drive, usually the scene of the gayest portion of the Easter parade, worshippers arrived in their limousines, instead of on foot. Silk toppers, which on sunny Easters dot the drive, were replaced by winter fedoras. The women wore their fur coats.

THOUSANDS OF EASTER VISITORS IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, April 8—(AP)—Gilded by brilliant sunshine, Washington spread her beauty for thousands of Easter visitors today and for the officialdom which makes the city its transient home.

Except for seasonal services in all of the churches, no special celebrations had been arranged but the throngs of sightseers who crowded the streets and boulevards, found ample diversion in new and interesting sights to reward them.

The sun had not been up long before the first promenaders invaded Sixteenth street—avenue of presidents—Meridian hill, gay with masses of yellow forsythia, and Potomac park, where beneath windblown cherry blossoms, a group of young women, robed as Geisha girls danced under the trees from Japan while Puccini's "Butterfly" was played softly.

For the most part, however, the morning was given over to worship with the usual large crowds drawn to the old red brick First Congregational church where President Coolidge attended. The brilliant colors of new hats and gowns made a bright background for the president as he alighted from his limousine and entered the church with Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, white house guests.

ROME CELEBATED EASTER WITH POMP AND GLORY

ROME, April 8—(AP)—Easter was celebrated in the Italian capital today with all the pomp and glory that the Roman Catholic church could bestow.

Pope Pius XI, despite his seventy-one years, which he will complete next month, rose very early today, and, instead of saying mass in his private chapel adjioning his bedroom as he usually does, celebrated it in the Pauline chapel, which is the parish church of the vatican. The chapel which takes its name from Paul III, a Farnese, who had it built in 1540 by Antonio da Sagallo, the younger, seemed to have a special atmosphere today, emphasized by the floral decorations which threw up in strong relief the sombre beauty of Michel Angelo's frescoes representing the conversion of St. Paul on the right and the crucifixion of St. Peter on the left.

Pius XI, in his gorgeous pontifical robes, himself administered holy communion to a limited number of persons specially invited.

TRAIN WENT THROUGH BRIDGE; TWO MEN ARE MISSING

QUEBEC, Que., April 8—(AP)—Two men were missing today after the engine and baggage car of a Canadian-National passenger train crashed through Drummondville bridge, weakened by flood waters.

The missing men, both believed to have killed, were Joe Robins, 45, of Montreal, baggagemen, and a man named Herbert, an express employee. All other employes and all passengers were accounted for.

Because of crippled telephone service, details of the wreck and flood conditions in the Drummondville district were not available here. A relief train was sent to the scene of the wreck. Advices received here said that but one person, John Hetherington, of Chany, Quebec, was injured. He was taken to the Drummondville hospital.

Thousands of Acres Flooded in Michigan

Heavy Rain and Melting Snow Are Swelling the Northern Streams.

DETROIT, April 8—(AP)—Heavy rain and melting snow fell tonight and today continued to swell northern Michigan streams, almost to flood stage, and inundated thousands of acres of low farmland.

The worst in the vicinity of Midland where the Tittabawassee river is on a rampage was the hardest hit. Bottom farmland for a stretch and nearly [illegible] miles between the town of Saginaw was under water. At places the backwater was a mile wide. More than a score of homes in one section of Midland were flooded and all roads leading into the place were under water.

At Sanford, Mich., on the Tittabawassee, similar conditions prevailed with backwash flooding homes along the river and cutting off road communication.

Scores of farmers in the vicinity of Saginaw were marooned in their homes today but chose to remain at their posts in order to care for their stock. The Saginaw river, in which the Tittabawassee empties, was swelling rapidly tonight and fear was expressed that if the rise continues much damage will be wrought in the residential section of Saginaw through which the river passes.

The Boardman river in the vicinity of Traverse City and the Muskegon river also continued on the rise tonight. Scores of persons worked throughout the day bolstering the levees, but numerous breaks resulted in additional stretches of lowlands being flooded.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSED FLOOD IN NORTHBAY, ONT.

NORTHBAY, Ont., April 8—(AP)—Swelled by heavy rains and a week of thaw the Chippewa creek has overflowed and caused considerable damage in Northbay.

The creek, ordinarily only a few yards wide, has reached a width of 200 yards or more and a depth of seven to eight feet. Occupants of a score of houses on the banks of the creek have been forced to abandon them.

In the south end of the city most of the cellars and basements are flooded.

MORE THAN 100,000 PERSONS IN ATLANTIC CITY PARADE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 8—(AP)—More than a hundred thousand persons participated in Atlantic City's annual Easter parade on the boardwalk. They surged back and forth beneath a clear blue sky and a warm sun.

It was a perfect day from a weather standpoint and it lured a crowd of unusual dimensions to the shore. Every hotel in the resort was crowded, restaurants turned people away and many visitors grabbed a bite to eat, wherever they could find it.

The crowd on the walk continued in undiminished numbers until late in the afternoon. It was a colorful array with tans and grays predominating in the color scheme. The ensemble was the prevailing mode and many women and girls appeared in three-piece suits, effectively set off by a fox scarf draped over the shoulder.

Late this afternoon, the crowd began to move homeward. Railroad terminals were congested and trains pulled out at intervals of every few minutes. Traffic over the White Horse pike from Philadelphia and the New York road was reported the heaviest since last Labor day. State police from all sections of the state were stationed along the two roads to regulate traffic.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 8—(AP)—Iowa's delegation to the national democratic convention in Houston in June is virtually assured to Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, the "favorite son" candidacy of Edwin T. Meredith of Des Moines, former secretary of agriculture, having drawn comparatively little pledged support in county conventions.

Sufficient instructions were given to delegates to assure Smith the support of six congressional districts, out of 11 in the state, and this, assuring in turn control of the state convention, gave him the prospect of gaining the state's 26 delegates, under the unit rule.

LUMBER LADEN FREIGHTER IS AGROUND OFF WATCH HILL

British Steamer Ellaston Grounded in a Fog—Was Bound From Vancouver, B. C., to New London—The Vessel is Not Considered in Any Danger—The Ellaston Carried a Crew of 35 Men—Her Cargo Comprised 3,500,000 Feet of Lumber.

WESTERLY, R. I., April 8.—&—The British freighter Ellaston, bound for New London, Conn., from Vancouver, B. C., with a gargo of lumber, went aground off Watch Hill point in a fog at 7 o'clock this morning.

The fact that the vessel had grounded was not known here until the fog lifted at 10 o'clock. Members of the Watch Hill Point Point Coast Guard station had received no signal from the ship.

Two coast guard boats and two tugs from the Merritt-Chapman-Scott Wrecking company came to the assistance of the Ellaston and found that she was in no danger of sinking.

The Ellaston carried a crew of 35 men, and was in command of Captain William Morgan. Her cargo comprised three and a half million feet of lumber.

The vessel went on the rocks a short distance from the spot where the steamer Onandaga grounded in 19?? after, it was reported at the time, she had been pursued by a submarine. The ship had been on the reef since that time and her hull is visible from the short.

While at first it was believed the vessel had sustained a break in her bow, reports received from revenue cutters on the scene indicated that she was tight and had shipped no water. Efforts were being made to dislodge her from the reef tonight.

THOUSANDS OF TOURISTS SAW YAQUI INDIANS DANCE

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 8—(AP)—The golden sun of a new Easter peeped over the purple mysticism of Superstition Mountain today on a small group of exhausted Yaqui Indian dancers who ended their weird movements of "Dia de Gloria" and tottered off to their Wickiups and Hogans.

The colorful spectacle, which reached its climax just before dawn, was witnessed by thousands of tourists and residents of Phoenix. Police, with double-barreled shotguns, stood guard by the throng of spectators as the dance neared its end.

Again and, again the dance steps were done, casting a fascination over the witnesses as well as the Indian performers. In the early hours of the morning, the tempo of the music was changed, adding to the exhilaration.

Rattlesnake rattles, bound close to the ankles of the participants, increased the furious frenzy and the Indian conception of a tambourine kept perfect time while a dancer whirled in savage gyrations.

Tom-toms beat a vibrant tattoo in a deep and solemn chant. As the rites progressed, bronze figures flashed in the light of smoked oil lamps. Strained muscles told of the indomitable will of the dancers, while the grotesque head-dress of the dancers nodded and toppled.

When the tribal dance ended, the Indians moved away from a bank of smouldering embers, all that remained of fire kindled at sundown yesterday, and the scene shifted to a little abode chapel nearby.

In the chapel, covered with twigs from a thousand mesquite bushes, services for the penitent Indians were held. The self-confessed sinners—wrapped in blankets and prostrate before a shrine—prayer since sundown Saturday.

Hung on a huge cross in the little chapel, was a goat's head, symbol of evil from the Christian world to the Indians. As the sun wheeled its way up from the east this morning the head of the goat was burned and the sins of the penitents were wiped out.

Members of the family in the funeral party included every relative except Mrs. Kate Strang, a sister, who is ill at her home in Pelham. The others are his widow, his son, Chauncey M. Depew, Jr., and several nieces and nephews.

HANDCUFFED WATCHMEN AND BLEW OPEN A SAFE

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 8.—(AP)—Thieves today seized and handcuffed two watchmen in Hens and Kelly's Main street department store, blew open a safe with nitro-glycerine and escaped with $20,000 in cash.

When Martin Hall, a porter, went on duty at 9 a. m., he found the two watchmen, Peter Shea and William Walter, manacled to a bannister and a few feet away a smouldering fire in rugs used by the thieves to muffle the sound of the explosion when the safe was blown open. Beside the burning rugs was a bottle of nitro-glycerine, apparently forgotten by the thieves in their hurried ight. The fire in the rugs was within two feet of the explosive when Hall arrived. The heat from the fire would have exploded the nitro-glycerine in a short time, police experts said and probably would have killed the watchmen.

BOATS WERE IN DANGER OF GOING OVER NIAGARA FALLS

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 8—(AP)—High winds swept huge floes of ice from Lake Erie into the Niagara river today, endangering small craft, and permitting only intermittent service on ferry boats.

The crew of the launch succeeded in working a channel to the Canadian shore and the two men in the rowboat were picked up by a tug.

BAND HAD PLANNED TO KIDNAP MANY CHICAGOANS

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—Confessions obtained by police today from three of the seven men arrested in connection with the kidnaping of Thomas Gaynor, wealthy automobile dealer and hotel owner, showed the gang had definite plans for abducting scores or more Chicagoans for ransoms totaling $1,000,000.

This information came from William (Big Bill) Lewis, identified by police as a gambler, former saloon keeper and the "go-between" in negotiations for Gaynor's ransom of $100,000.

Admissions from three cleared not only the Gaynor case, authorities said, but several in Detroit.

Three more members of the ring are being sought, chief among them Harold Conlife, gangster, believed to be the ringleader. The fugitives are of desperate character, heavily armed, and carrying a supply of dynamite, police were told. Detectives searching for them are armed with machine guns.

Gaynor, captured last Sunday, was rescued by police in a small summer cottage at suburban Crystal Lake, 40 miles northwest of here yesterday. He told a gruesome tale of the terrors he suffered from blindness and constant threat of death.

At his home today, under the care of physicians and a police guard, he said: "This is as happy an Easter as anyone ever could wish for."

Gaynor appeared on the verge of a nervous collapse as he told his dramatic story to the police.

"I was driving home on Palm Sunday," he said. "Three men in an automobile crowded me to the curb, entered my car and, overpowering me, carried me away in their machine.

"They changed me to another car, and after a time taped my eyes shut and put a sack over my head."

When found, his eyes still were taped shut and it was several minutes before he was able to see his rescuers.

RANGERS RESCUE GIRLS IN THE YOSEMITE VALLEY

YOSEMITE, Cal., April 8—(AP)—Caught at nightfall on a precipitous ledge bordering on the towering walls of Yosemite valley, Miss Edna May Wilbur, daughter of Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, and a companion, Miss Ona E. Ring, were rescued just before midnight Saturday by rangers. Neither of the young women was injured.

The two young women explained to the rangers, William Reymann and John Bingham, how they strayed off the Glacier Point trail while making their way from the point to the floor of the valley.

Miss Wilbur said she left Glacier with her companion at dark and started down the steep ledge trail. They wandered off onto a ledge and were unable to make their return without assistance.

Residents of the valley heard cries for help coming from the trail and called the rangers. The young women left the valley today for Lindsay, Calif.

ARRESTED AS THE OWNER OF 1,000 GALLON STILL

MERIDEN, April 8—(AP)—Following a twenty-four hour investigation which began yesterday with the discovery of a 1,000-gallon still in a secluded section of this city, Charles Kitmire, 51, of this city, was arrested this afternoon by the local police on charges of keeping liquor with intent to sell and manufacturing. He was released under $1,000 bonds.

Kitmire, according to the police, is the owner of the building in which the still was found.

The police began dismantling the giant still this morning and worked through the entire day. They expect to finish the job tomorrow.

When arrested, Kitmire disclaimed any connection with the illicit industry. He told the police that he had rented the barn to two New Jersey residents last October and that he had been paid five months rent in advance.

The local police expressed the opinion today that the distillery found here was part of a state-wide bootleg system.

A DIVORCE HAS BEEN GRANTED DOROTHY PARKER

HARTFORD, April 8—(AP)—The Hartford Courant says today that a divorce has ben granted to Dorothy Parker, writer and contributor to several magazines, from Edwin Pond Parker, 2d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Parker, of West Hartford and grandson of Rev. Dr. Edwin Pond Parker, who for 60 years was a Congregationalist clergyman in this city.

Mrs. Parker whose maiden name was Dorothy Rothschild, appeared before Attorney William E. Egan as a committee of the superior court at a private hearing and recited episodes in her married life on which Attorney Egan recommended that she be granted a divorce, on the ground of intolerable cruelty. The divorce was granted by Judge Arthur F. Ells on March 31.

Frieds of the couple, according to the Courant, say that one cause of their trouble was Parker's aversion to his wife's friends. He is also said to have been displeased by her trip to Europe last year.

MAN IS BEING HELD IN DANIELSON AS SUSPECTED SLAYER OF POLICEMAN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 8.—Picked up as a suspect in the widespread search for the men that killed State Officer Irving H. Nelson, a man giving his name as John Robinson, 25, of Lawrence, Mass., is being held at the state police barracks here tonight as an automobile thief. Robinson, the name believed to be fictitious, stole the car in Brooklyn, N. Y., just after midnight and drove it into Rhode Island. The machine is the property of Mrs. Delia Doris of 11 Ryerson street, that city. Robinson was coming west with the car just before noon today when it stalled in the Providence highway about three miles east of here near South Killingly. Robinson, after tinkering with it, abandoned the machine and left a poorly dressed man who afterwards said that Robinson was just giving him a ride, to walk while he walked back to a filling station to get some one to fix the car. Robinson, however, headed east toward the Rhode Island line. George Gates, who lives where the car was abandoned became suspicious about the whole affair and notified the state police barracks. Officer Emil Castagna was sent out and picked up Robinson near the Rhode Island line. After denying that he knew anything about the car or having had anything to do with it and giving several statements about himself that were later checked up as false, Robinson went as dumb as an oyster, but the state officers have two witnesses who sawf him operating the car. The machine was towed to a local garage.

300 ARMED MEN SEARCH FOR MURDERERS OF NELSON

WORCESTER, Mass., April 8.—(AP)—Three hundred armed men today continued their hunt for three bandits who on Friday night shot and killed State Trooper Irving Nelson, of New Haven, Conn., after exchanging shots with police of five cities as they sped away from Springfield where they had perpetrated a series of robberies.

While more than 100 state policemen of three states, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut searched the woods over a large area of the Moanexit valley, other details guarded all roads leading into the valley, stopping automobiles and questioning occupants.

Airplanes were pressed into service late today to aid in the man hunt. A plane piloted by Lieut. R. C. Barrows of Hartford accompanied by two sergeants of the Connecticut state police as observers left the Worcester airport to circle over the territory where it is believed the men are in hiding.

Joseph Krupinski, a Dudley farmer, who was accidentally shot when he was mistaken for one of the bandits was reported in a serious condition at City hospital here tonight. Krupinski was sleeping in his barn Friday night because of the heat, and ran away in fright when he awoke to find two tropers with drawn guns standing over him.

The hunt for the bandits centered tonight in East Douglass where there are extensive wooded areas, following a report from two young women that three hatless young men resembling the description of the bandits had accosted them while they were walking on a lonely road. Walter E. Schuster, former of the legislatude and wealthy manufacturer had his mill whistles sounded and the employes who responded formed a posse to search the woods. State police were notified at Webster and a detail was hurried to East Douglas to assist in the search, which was still on as darkness fell.

The young women said they were walking along when without warning the young men, unkempt and with clothes dishevelled, suddenly emerged from woods and attempted to stop them. They screamed and the men ran.

MANSFIELD REFUSES TO PAY FOR POSTGRATUATE COURSE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 8. — The Mansfield town school committee is again "on trial" for its refusal to pay full tuition charges for a Mansfield student of Windham High school. While the present controversy had no bearing on the difficulties encountered over tuition fees some two years ago when the Windham school board was involved, it again involves the refusal of the Mansfield committee to pay a tuition and transportation fee. Richard M. Wilkinson, son of Albert E. Wilkinson, of Storrs, is now in his fifth and presumably final year at the Windham high school, having failed to graduate at the end of the fourth year. The elder Wilkinson asked the Mansfield board to pay the tuition fee and transportation charges, amounting to about $150 for the fifth year. The board balked, pointing out that it was legally obliged for only the four year term. Mr. Wilkinson said that his son, who is well known here as a star in the Windham football squad backfield, had been confined by illness to such an extent that he could not complete his studies in four years. With the information the board agreed to stand for one-half of the year's expense but Mr. Wilkinson held out for the entire amount. The result of this was a hearing held in the poultry building at Storrs Saturday morning at 10 o'clock over which George R. Sturges, member of the state board of education presided. Attending the hearing were, Secretary William F. Kirkpatrick, Carleton P. King, James J. Kerwin and Parker Wildes, Jr., of the school committee, School Supervisor Levi T. Garrison and Mr. Wilkinson. The committee's side of the case was presented by Mr. King while Mr. Wilkinson pleaded fir himself. It is claimed that Mr. Wilkinson became somewhat heated in his argument and he openly charged that the Mansfield grammar schools did not provide the necessary elementary education to equip pupils for a successful high school course. A reply to this charge was made by Supervisor Garrison, who stated that although he was not supervisor at the time your Wilkinson attended grammar school, the Mansfield schools had a good rating. He offered proof that the supervisor five years ago was capable by pointing out that the man has been retained by the state board of education. In an interview today Secretary Kirkpatrick said that the committee strongly resented Mr. Wilkinson's charge. Records show that Mansfield pupils have been successful in high school studies. There were 12 Mansfield students in the high school graduating class of 1926, 15 in 1927 and this year there are 14 in the senior class, over ten per cent. of whom appeared on the honor roll at the close of the last semester. At the close of Saturday's hearing, Mr. Surges reserved his decision and informed the parties concerned that he would render a written decision within a few days.

STAR GIRL ATHLETE OF WINDHAM HIGH DEAD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 8. — Miss Grace Margaret Palmer, 18, daughter of Theron T. and Eliza Manville Palmer and star of the Windham High School Girls' basketball team died St. Joseph's hospital Saturday morning at 2.30 o'clock following an operation Friday for an internal ailment. The girl who was establishing a record at the high school for scoring on the basketball court was injured in a game about six weeks ago. She had apparently recovered when she was taken ill a short time ago and there is indication that her injuries proved the ultimate cause of death. The deceased was born in the town of Scotland, January 13, 1910. Besides her parents she leaves three brothers, Stephen Palmer of Fortress Monroe, Va., James Palmer of New York city and Mason Palmer of Windham.

A special town meeting will be held in the town hall next Friday night at eight o'clock, according to a call issued today by the selectmen. Ernest J. Chesebro, C. Arthur Keeney and Jeremiah C. Guild and 53 others to determine if the town will appropriate money for the completion of the state aid highway between Windham Center and North Windham, a distance of about three and one-half miles, the appropriation being with the understanding that the state would refund three-fourth of the expenditure incurred by Windham, from future state funds. It is estimated that the state refund would leave but little more than $3,000 as the town's share of the work. A stretch seven-eights of a mile long of the road was surfaced through state aid two years ago.

The funeral of John L. Lach was held from 32 Jackson street Saturday morning with a service at St. Joseph's church at ten o'clock. Rev. Charles M. Kelly officiated, and Mrs. E. R. DANIELSON

SEARCH FOR SLAYERS OF OFFICER NELSON CONTINUES

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 8—Grim as death itself, and determined, state officers from the Danielson barracks under the command of Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart, continued to participate today with other Connecticut and Massachusetts troopers in the unrelenting search for the slayers of State Officer Irving H. Nelson, who gave up his life Friday night in an effort to apprehend the occupants of a bandit car at Pomfret. Today's search covered a big area of Massachusetts and Rhode Island territory, Rhode Island troopers carrying on the search in their own state. Up to mid-afternoon today the search that had continued for nearly 45 hours had been fruitless, but the officers engaged in the man hunt remained as set as ever in their purpose to get the killers of a fellow officer. Scores of clues were run down without success and several thousand miles ridden by the patrols, numbering scores of officers, in covering a range of territory of hundreds of square miles.

The reaction hereabouts to the cowardly murder of a brave officer is one of extreme bitterness. The public mind is so outraged by the utter brutality of the killing that one may imagine what would happen to the bandits should they be captured and not sufficiently guarded. Nothing just like the public's attitude in this section of the county, particularly Danielson, can be called to mind. Officer Nelson was a popular officer. He had made a host of friends all through this section and their attitude since the killing has been one of vengeance craved.

An angle of the case that is interesting is the fact that many people who have never given much thought to the subject before have come to realize that a state officer leads a hazardous existence, that his is no picnic appointment, but involves instant response to calls of duty that may end in his death. Officer Nelson's sad death has had the effect of driving this home in many a mind. It has brought about a vastly greater appreciation of the state police department and of what it means to the people of the state.

The majority of the officers stationed here were worn haggard today. Several of them were continuously on duty for over 40 hours, and they have had little or no rest since Friday morning. Again today they were on duty, and with no prospect of early relief. Lieutenant Streamen and his squad of men from the Groton barracks, on duty here and at Webster since Friday night, were released from further activities here at noon today and left at once for their home station.

There is the spirit of mourning and death at the Danielson barracks today. As many as possible of the local group will go to New Haven Monday to attend Officer Nelson's funeral, among them Officer Donald J. Geddes, who usually was paired with Officer Nelson on duty trips, and who is to be one of the bearers.

It is a strange fact that these two officers started to leave the barracks together Friday night to hunt the bandit car, but Officer Geddes' car, with its cold motor, stalled and flooded, delaying the getaway for a minute or two, during which Officer Nelson took his motorcycle and set off at top speed. Officer Geddes arrived at Pomfret with his car within a very few minutes of the time Officer Nelson was killed.

Mrs. Rosa Ross Warren, 69, died early Saturday morning at her home on Hawkins street after an illness that has been very critical for a fortnight. There has been practically no hope for her recovery for the past ten days.

Mrs. Warren, the widow of Frank P. Warren, prominent citizen of Killingly for many years and a former representative from this town, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, natives of England, and was born in Willington, this state, June 1, 1858. Practically all of her life had been spent in this section, the majority of her years in Killingly, though she was a resident of Oshkosh, Wis., for a time and was married to Mr. Warren in that city in 1878.

Mrs. Warren's interests centered largely in her family and her home, but for years she was actively interested in the grange and in the affairs of the Baptist church. At one time Mrs. Warren was a member of the Killingly town school committee. She leaves one son, Ernest Ross Warren, principal of Killingly high school.

A death this morning at Uncas-on-the-Thames was that of Mrs. Rose Barry Boulais, 21, wife of Raymond Boulais, of School street. Mrs. Boulais had been ill a long time. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker L. E. Kennedy and brought to Danielson, being taken later in the day to the home of Mrs. Boulais' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Barry, in Wauregan, where the deceased had lived the greater part of her life.

Patrick Gibbons, who for more than 50 years was engaged in the grocery business, starting first in Wauregan, died the past week-end in Pawcatuck, in his 77th year. Mr. Gibbons was born in Ireland and came to this country with his parents as a small child. The family located in Wauregan, where Mr. Gibbons obtained his rudimentary education, later attending college in Canada. After completing his collegiate work he returned to Wauregan and established a grocery business. Later he had stores in Millville, Providence and Philadelphia.

He had been a resident of Pawtucket for the past 21 years, and during that period conducted a store until his retirement from active work seven years ago.

Mr. Gibbons leaves two daughters, Miss Erminie Gibbons, with whom he made his home, and Mrs. Frank A. Martin. There is also a son, George E. Gibbons, of Detroit.

Duties of citizenship, where the seriousness of this duty is felt, will require residents of the borough to participate in Monday's annual election and business meeting. The polls open in the town hall building at 4 p. m., and the business session is to be in the evening. In addition to fixing the tax rate for the ensuing year and attending to other routine matters, the business meeting will concern itself with a proposal pertaining to the building of a sewer through all or any part of Oak street.

Daily patrol of all the state-leased trout brooks in this section was inaugurated at the week-end and will be regularly maintained from now until July 1. Snake Meadow brook is the only state-leased stream in the immediate vicinity of Danielson, and Deputy Game Warden Gurdon E. Withey is on duty there, as for the past two years. Observers report that the water in trout brooks is unusually low for this time of year.

Beginning next Sunday morning a novel service will be established in the Sunday school of the Westfield Congregational church. This has to do with the establishing of a kindergarten during the church hour in order that parents who desire to attend the morning service may do so. Mrs. Wilfred J. Pluze will be in charge of competent helpers.

The coming week-end brings the re-opening of dance resorts hereabouts for the 1928 season. Manager P. J. Crowds gathered at the station to see the body of the officer who was killed in the discharge of his duties, sent from Putnam for the last time to his home in New Haven. PUTNAM EXCITED OVER MURDER OF POLICE OFFICER

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 8—Crowds that gathered at the Citizens National bank Friday evening to obtain the latest police dispatches, concerning the progress that was being made by the police in running down the automobile gunmen who killed the Danielson state police officer brought to mind the stirring days of the summer of 1924 when the First National bank failed. Shortly after the news of the officer's death had gained circulation hundreds gathered before the banking house to be near the police sub-station that is located between the bank and the adjoining building. Officers from state police barracks in neighboring cities poured into Putnam after the tragedy had been committed to report for duty. The brass of the state officers' uniforms was sending out its reflected rays of light from every visible corner of the city. Crowds that assembled in the business section of the city remained until the early hours of Saturday morning each hoping that some news of the bandits being trapped could be obtained.

Saturday Captain William J. Jarvis of the local police enlisted the services of every man who is assigned to special duty on the police force. The special officers were stationed at the junction points of the highways and others were working with state officers on the railroad. Every train that passed in a southerly direction Saturday was thoroughly searched.

The members of the Putnam fire department were called out Saturday at 3:15 p. m. to combat a brush fire in the Manhassett village that was started by boys who were having a frankfurt roast in a near by wood lot. Sparks from a camp fire that they were using to cook with started the brush burning. The members of the hook and ladder company succeeded in keeping the flames from spreading to a house near the lot. The fire was extinguished after many gallons of chemicals were used.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS PRAISED BY CAPT. JARVIS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, April 8—Among the things that contributed in an important way to aiding officers in seeking the slayers of State Policeman Irving H. Nelson Friday evening, was the splendid service given by the operators of the Putnam telephone exchange. Commending the work of the girls at the switchboard Captain William J. Jarvis of the Putnam police said today, "The telephone service rendered by the operators of the Putnam and Danielson telephone exchanges was one hundred per cent efficient and that the police work accomplished by officers Friday evening is due to the fast work rendered by the local operators." Captain Jarvis further stated, "I wish at this time to take the opportunity as head of the Putnam police department to thank every every member of the telephone company, both local and distant for the valuable and capable service that they rendered in connection with the seeking of the slayers of Officer Irving H. Nelson.

The excellent telephone service performed by the operators of the Danielson and Putnam exchanges also greatly aided The Bulletin in getting the first story of the killing of the officer.

The first electrical storm of the season was recorded Sunday morning when it started to rain. Officials of the Gamewell system makers of fire alarm apparatus have inspected the Putnam fire alarm system and have reported the system to be in perfect working order according to a statement issued Saturday by Charles T. Thayer, superintendent of the Putnam system. Superintendent Thayer stated that the inspectors came to Putnam recently and observed the condition of the system unknown to any of the city officials and later made their report. The report now in the office of the superintendent shows that every box on the circuit is in perfect condition and working order.

Superintendent Thayer is now commenting upon the use of the telephone in fire signalling. Mr. Thayer stated Friday after the telephone was used to call the firemen of one company to fight a dangerous brush blaze on Gilman street that threatened property. "The telephone should be used as a secondary means of communication to send a fire alarm." Superintendent Thayer is now completing a statement to be issued soon outlining the many reasons why the fire alarm box should be used before a telephone call. The adding of new boxes to the system by the city is gradually raising the rate of efficiency of the local fire department.

FLOOD CONTROL LEGISLATION

When the flood control bill was adopted by the senate there was surprise over the fact that it was so quickly done and received not one opposing vote. The inference was that everything had been included in it that had been asked by any of the senators so that there was nothing to oppose. It was a composite bill and the comment of Congressman Tilson of Connecticut was that the senate had not passed a flood control bill, it had passed the buck.

Now that the house has begun to inquire about the provisions of that control measure it is finding out some interesting facts. Among them it learns that there is no telling what the project will cost but it would be several times as much as the senate bill mentions. It would in fact be about what might be expected from the fact that there was not a single voice raised in opposition in the senate.

But the house is also made aware of the fact that the bill does not meet with the approval of President Coolidge. From all indications he looks upon it as a political measure instead of a business undertaking. While only $325,000,000 is mentioned in the senate bill, that would cover only a part of the work intended and the sum required to complete all the work along all the tributaries might go to a billion and a half and cover a long period of years.

Such inquiry as the house has made is sufficient to cause it to pause and give consideration to what is being undertaken. There is a desire for the control of floods in the Mississippi valley, but it should be done in a businesslike manner. It should not be made the avenue for a huge raid on the federal treasury and that is one of the points which is emphasized by the president.

The intimations are that the president is prepared to apply his veto in case the senate bill is also voted by the house. Thus should the representatives give heed to their responsibilities. The flood control bill should be enacted at this session. Whether a bill could be passed over a presidential veto is a question, and certainly this is not the year when members of congress want an extra session. Let the matter be handled in a sound manner without giving encouragement to extravagance and waste.

THE POMFRET TRAGEDY

The tragedy at Pomfret where State Policeman Nelson was killed by those he was pursuing, and who by their very act indicated that they were the ones he was seeking, indicates the peril that surrounds an officer of the law on more occasions than is suspected.

Unsuspecting the desperate character of the persons sought and putting himself in a position to be picked off by anyone who could handle a gun, the state policeman disregarded his own protection and gave his whole attention to the performance of his duty, an act which from all accounts was characteristic of the man. His loss in the performance of duty marks the first instance where any of the state police have been killed in such a manner.

This case will serve not only to call forth every possible effort to locate those who were responsible, but to direct attention to the steadily increasing number of those criminals who are infesting the highways by using automobiles to carry on their nefarious work or to escape from pursuers after having become involved in the violation of the law.

Numerous are the instances where law breakers who are using the highways for a variety of purposes are caught. How many others escape without the knowledge of the authorities no one knows, but between speed, flying bullets, reckless driving and holdups those who drive are experiencing rapidly increasing dangers. The situation is one which calls for the prompt capture and conviction and effective penalization of those who have respect for public nor established authority. The public will be subjected to a serious menace just as long as the killers of State Policeman Nelson are at large.

GIVE IT A LITTLE THOUGHT

Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are furnishing reports of woodland fires which threatened country estates, stock farms and other valuable property and which made necessary the services of hundreds of men to fight them.

How these fires started is not disclosed but they furnish the same menace regardless of the cause or the locality as they might in any state. Prevention is the most effective method of dealing with them and yet it is one of the hardest things to impress upon people.

There are those who can understand and who often criticize what others do in the causing of fires, but too many of those same ones join the army of persons in disregarding the precautions which ought to be observed.

It is always possible through personal experience for lasting lessons to be obtained, but it ought not to be necessary for everyone to throw a lighted match into a basket of shavings, to cast a lighted cigarette into a bed of leaves, to leave a fire burning from which sparks can be scattered, to start fires that will spread rapidly under a high wind, or to do countless other similar acts, in order to know that all the havoc that is so often wrought from such conduct can easily be prevented by thinking of the possible consequences and avoiding the commission of such acts.

If everyone must get his lesson by personal experience it would be a hopeless outlook. Such is not necessary. There are the acts of others from which it is possible to realize the danger of heedless acts and to avoid repetitions.

Inasmuch as the great majority of the woodland fires is caused by human beings it is evident that humanity must assume much responsibility if they are going to be prevented. It is necessary to give heed to the menace which the too frequent acts of others cause. A little thought at the right time will do it, and if there is a prevention of certain common, but thoughtless acts there will be action which will prevent many of the needless woodland, as well as other fires.

THE THOMPSON THREAT

Among other things going on Tuesday there is to be a primary at Chicago when some important nominations will be made. This directly concerns the Windy city but interest prevails outside because of the campaign that has been waged there and the conditions which exist.

As a sort of a climax to the campaign Mayor Thompson has made the announcement that if his very close friend and supporter State Attorney Crowe is not renominated he will resign. Whether this chance to kill two birds with one stone will be adopted by the people of Chicago will be eagerly awaited. That threat or a promise gives Chicagoans something additional to work for, but it is suspected that it was made solely for the purpose of causing the Thompson henchmen to buckle down to the work in earnest and make it impossible for Crowe to lose.

But there is also the possibility that it will serve to spur on those who are desirous of ending the Crowe administration. If they can put an end to Thompson and all his combination there is certainly an added incentive. Thus it would appear that the Thompson threat is bound to have the effect of intensifying the contest tomorrow.

No one can seriously believe that Mayor Thompson has any serious idea of getting out of office. He doesn't want to see Crowe slip up on the renomination and perhaps he could not emphasize that fact more than by declaring that he would resign if Chicago failed to back Crowe, but Thompson is only one of the bearings in the political machine and should he do the unheard of thing of resigning he would be endangering the future of many others who are relying upon his crowd for their support at the propert time.

It is all well enough for Mayor Thompson to say that he would resign but we have our doubts if he is serious in his statement. At least it is believed that he is making no plans to such an end, but is simply using it for the purpose of rallying greater support to Crowe, about whose renomination he may have some question.

RHODE ISLAND AFTER REVENUE

There is always more or less joke legislation at the sessions of every legislature. Just now the limelight is being turned upon the efforts that are being made in Rhode Island to license all the swimming pools in that state. That of course would mean the collection of license fees, the setting up of a retinue of employes to do the work, a corps of engineers to look after the sanitary features, another to test the water in the pools, another to see that the soap used is of the proper beauty giving requirements, while there would of course be certain regulations as to the depth of water, the fixing of the temperature for the water and perhaps the placing of a limit on the number of dives that could be taken.

But what is a swimming pool? Would it include the bath tub in the boarding house, for which the line forms on the right every Saturday evening? Would it involve the brooks, the rivers and the beaches? Would it involve the numerous bird baths which are erected for the convenience of the feathered songsters? Would it mean the posting of all those swimming holes where so many youngsters find relaxation and real sport in limited aquatic stunts? Would it mean that the bathtubs in the hotels and residences would have to get their registration numbers and undergo a series of inspections in addition to those given by the housekeepers?

Perhaps Rhode Island is ready to go into such a method of taxation for the purpose of increasing revenue, but if it is it may also be ready to require a license from all those who use the various kinds of swimmings pools.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Japanese trays should be cleaned with clear olive oil, applied with a flannel cloth.

Add a little more liquid to the dough, if doughnuts crack when they are frying.

Tarnished metal brocaded slippers may be cleaned by brushing lightly with alcohol.

Finely chopped pineapple mixed with cream cheese, makes an excellent sandwich spread.

Place a few drops of lavender in your inkwell and it will impart a pleasing fragrance.

A scrap bag of mosquito netting will let one see at a glance the piece of material wanted.

Squeaking of a door may be stopped by rubbing a little vaseline or soap on the hinges.

Chopped cabbage, celery, green peppers and raw carrots make a fine combination for a salad.

One egg will be enough for pumpkin pies, if you stir in a tablespoonful of ground cracker crumbs.

If a garment is held in front of an electric fan when being cleaned with gasoline no rings will be left.

Substitutes for pattie shells can be made satisfactorily from biscuits, by cutting out most of the center before baking.

To prevent cabbages or greens of any kind boiling over, add a piece of butter the size of a walnut and they can be left quite safely.

Cook cauliflower in as little water as possible. Use the water for soup by adding thickening, butter, seasoning and a little cream.

Never make tea with water that has been standing in the tea kettle.

Use the corn popper for washing currants, raisins and other small fruits.

Animal crackers dipped in valinna or chocolate icing will attract the kiddies at the children's party.

To polish steel mix equal parts of sweet oil and turpentine with sufficient emery powder to form a thick cream. Apply with a soft cloth and polish with a leather.

When making an apple pie, simmer the peelings and the cores together until they are soft then strain the juice into the pie plate, making the pie in the usual way. This greatly improves the flavor.

WHEN TO ADD SALT

Salt should not be added to the water in which delicate green vegetables are cooked until they are almost done. To preserve the color, greens should be cooked in an uncovered pan.

CUTS THROUGH CENTER OF LOAF

One housewife always cuts her bread and cake through the center of loaf and serves the middle slices from each side first. She then presses the two cut ends closely together and she never has a dry slice of bread.

BRASS ANDIRONS

To clean brass andirons, scrub first with hot suds and soda and then scour with bath brick moistened in kerosene. When dry, use any commercial polish.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

If your feet get chilled easily, bathe in cold water to which has been added a cup of solution of rock salt dissolved in boiling water.

Candy, which has always been maligned as a menace to children's teeth, is no worse than soft foods, according to the latest investigations of dentists and dietitians.

The tendency of parents is to allow their children to eat too much soft food. Plenty of course food will prevent much of the damage that heretofore has been laid to sweetmeats, in which all children delight.

Crusts of bread and zwieback should be given children as soon as they can eat them, as they will harden the teeth and cause them to grow healthily.

MOTHS AND FURS

Moths may be kept out of furs easily by occasionally airing them in the shade and whipping them with a small, round, pliable rod or a small whip. Furs do not lose their luster as rapidly when they are worn in the sunlight by a person who is moving about as when they are left hanging, but he has found that it is usually more convenient to hang them in the shade and there is less danger of destroying the luster.

When furs are to be stored from one season to the next they may be safely kept in an air-tight box or sack after they have been aired and whipped. If the container is not air-tight it may be made so by pasting strips of paper over the cracks and openings to prevent the entrance of the moths.

FOR JUICY PIES

To prevent the juice of pies running out, cut clean pieces of muslin or cotton cloth into one and a half or two-inch strips, long enough to go around the outside of the pie plate, wring them out in cold water, spread half on top of the outside of the plate. It is not necessary to double the pie crust, just press the crust down with finger or fork.

CAMEL'S HAIR RUGS

Today nearly every woman is a traveler. And when one travels at this time of year, whether by train, or car or steamer, one must make adequate preparations against chill and damp. To this end has been developed a camel's hair rug which is both light and warm and which folds compactly into a flat leather bag. The rugs and bags are almost as expensive as a camel's hair coat.

HEALTHY FERNS.

Never keep ferns in glazed earthenware. They should be raised from the bottom of their pots by putting pebbles or broken crockery under the dirt. Give them a shower bath once a week. Never let them stand in a dish or water.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

Coats with self scarf collars have fur-trimmed sleeves.

The two-piece model continues in popularity for sports.

Jabots, scarfs and cape collars are stressed for trimmings.

Frocks with scarfs of self material are identically trimmed.

Bodices are molded to the youthful figure in the new mode.

Small rings, of colored composition in two or more colors are used to hold the large 'kerchiefs in place.

A black faille ensemble has cream Alencon lace inserts up its sleeves, fashioning a neck yoke and a jabot.

A few elbow sleeves are noted, but for the most part daytime dresses sponsor the long tight sleeve.

A new sports suit has its gored skirt of tan woolen, cross-barred in brown and its short jacket of brown.

A color that has recently appeared upon the horizon is one of the beige family, with an unusual tinge of red through it.

Stiff moires, in dark shades, fashion some of the smartest spring frocks. Stiff bows or flounces emphasize the material's character.

Paris is now using the wrong side of transparent velvet for diversity. An absinthe green gown has its side drapes reversed.

A flame georgette gown, embroidered all over in a lace design, has its hem scalloped to enhance further the illusion of lace.

Pleated one-piece frocks, with long sleeves and shirt collars, are good sports styles this spring. A maize crepe de chine one has brown incrustations.

Satin dotted pearl gray mousseline, with the infrequent figure almost the size of a dollar, fashions an uneven hemlined gown for spring evenings.

Tuck treatments mark new imported hats as unusual. The brim of a large drooping natural bakou has two-inch tucks from the crown. Flowers trim it.

The most becoming sports coat imaginable are made of chamois in its natural color. They come either long or short and have a pinkish beige tinge that is exceedingly effective.

TWO-BUTTON JACKETS.

The spring suits would be lonesome just now if the knitted costumes were not included. The fashioning of these fabrics is more efficient than ever before. They are so constructed as not to stretch unduly or to lose shape. In fact, they preserve their pleats even better than the woven fabrics. A light wool and all-silk mixture is extremely popular, especially in the blue shades flecked with white. The jackets are fastened with two buttons near the bottom.

GAY SPRING SCARFS.

Gay scarfs are due to make their appearance this spring about the same time as the first violets. They will be of material assistance to the spring suits by providing a touch of color to those rather severe costumes. One of the newest type is of taffeta in a large square, of which two sides are fringed and two plain. The ends of the folded scarf are slipped through a small amber ring and hang over the left shoulder.

LAUNDRY HINTS

A little salt added to the gasoline for cleaning purposes will do away with any objectionable ring.

Dress shields can be scrubbed perfectly if laid flat and scrubbed gently with a brush dipped in warm suds. Rinse in ammonia water and do not wring.

Soap combined with bluing will cause rust spots.

Soap that contains impurities when combined with starch will yellow the clothes.

If any element is used to loosen the dirt, such as washing soda, and if not rinsed out well, the heat of the iron will weaken the fiber of the clothes.

Colored clothes will never have a clear, clean look if they are not rinsed until the water is clear. White clothes will have a gray look if not rinsed very thoroughly.

WASHING AND DRYING GLOVES

How can one get gloves dry overnight is a question often asked in this day of washable chamois. After the gloves are thoroughly cleansed by washing them on the hands in lukewarm water with pure soap, they are removed and rinsed in lukewarm water, then wrung until quite dry. By wringing, one does not mean twisting, but rather squeezing. Next place the gloves in a bath towel and vigorously squeeze again. The towel absorbs all superfluous moisture. This is the secret of fast drying. Next place the third finger in every finger of the gloves and thus remove all wrinkles. Blow in them, then put in a warm place to dry, but not on the radiator. Next morning the gloves, fresh and dry, may be donned, says the Christian Science Monitor.

ONE AT A TIME

Never break eggs directly into a cake or omelet. This is a dangerous practice, as eggs are not always what they seem, no matter how much has been paid for them. Break each one first into a cup and add, one at a time, to the other ingredients and thus save many a catastrophe.

KEEP JAR FOR CORKS

A glass jar containing corks of various sizes is a handy thing to keep on the kitchen shelf. A clean new cork may be used to replace corks which have been broken while extracting them from bottles.

CARE OF ICEBOX

The most important requisite for an efficient icebox is cleanliness. Instead of wrapping vegetables in paper or towels, they should be kept in china or glass containers. Strongly flavored foods, such as cheese, should always be on the top racks of the icebox.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

A national child welfare service is to be established in Cuba for the protection of mothers and infants.

Three women, all residents of Atlanta, Ga., are seeking the office of county treasurer of Fulton County, Georgia.

Miss Alice V. Halpen is an expert judge of pig iron and purchases all the pig iron used in a Newark, N. J., foundry.

Miss Katherine Jackson has just entered Maine University to take up a four-year course in chemical engineering.

English women live longer on the average than American women, according to recent statistics compiled in that country.

The Catholic Daughters of America, with a membership of more than 200,000, will this year celebrate its silver jubilee.

Miss Enrica C. Dillon of Denver, Colo., claims the distinction of being the only woman director of grand opera in this country.

MAHOGANY POLISH.

Warm, strong, black coffee, used in equal parts with olive oil, makes an excellent polish for mahogany furniture.

READY TO POUR.

Use a large pitcher in which to mix hot cake or waffle batter. It is much easier to make uniform cakes and evenly baked waffles by pouring the batter than by ladling it out with a dipper or spoon.

RECIPES.

Winter Fruit Salad—Dissolve a package of lemon jello in a pint of boiling water. While it is cooling prepare one small can or six medium slices of canned or cooked pineapple diced, two tart apples diced, two bananas diced. Mix the fruit, place it in a mold and set the mold in a pan of cracked ice. When jello begins to thicken pour it over the fruit. Serve with fruit salad dressing.

Fruit Salad Dressing—Beat together two eggs, one-half cup sugar, one and one-half teaspoons flour, and juice of one lemon. Add one cup of pineapple juice and cook until it thickens. Cool. When ready to serve fold in one cup of whipped cream.

YOUR HEALTH

CANCER OF THE SKIN IS PREVENTABLE.

By Joseph C. Bloodgood, M. D., Baltimore, Member of Gorgas Memorial.

Some individuals are born with skin defects. Other individuals acquire them. In a few, the skin lesion is forced upon them by injury or infection.

Cancer never begins in a healthy spot. There is always some defect there first which is not cancer. Anyone who can see or feel will know of this skin lesion, which may have been present since birth, or may have been observed but recently, or which has formed since an injury or a pimple.

These little skin defects are black moles, warts, areas of scaly skin with or without scabs, little nodules like shot or peas, or definite sores, upheaved ulcers. Cancer does not begin in everyone of these skin defects; but these skin defects are like mushrooms, some of which are dangerous to eat; others are good food.

If you wish to eat mushrooms without danger of death, they must be picked by one who can tell the good mushroom from the bad. If one wishes to be protected from death or cancer of the skin, one should consult one's medical adviser and find out whether the skin defects are of the dangerous kind. If so, they should be removed properly and in this way one is protected from cancer.

It is quite possible that among one hundred individuals examined for congenital or acquired skin defects, in not more than five or ten will the dangerous kind be found, but these ten individuals will be protected from cancer, and the others will be assured of the innocence of their skin lesions and receive proper instruction regarding what to do if these little lesions should begin to grow or new ones appear.

This message was given to the public in 1913 by Samuel H. Adams and since then, through the efforts of the Society for the Control of Cancer, this information has been widely distributed through the press and by lecturers. Today every hospital clinic in the country has the records of many individuals whose lives have been saved by this little bit of correct information.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Appomattox Day

Mr. Editor: "Appomattox day", April 9th, 1865 is one of the greatest days in the history of this nation and every effort should be made to bring it before the attention of the American people. Too little notice has been taken of this crowning day of war.

Appomattox day should be as dear to every true American as Memorial day. It is a day that belongs to us exclusively, a day which no other nation shares, and a day on which the rebirth of our nation took place. It should be a day of great rejoicing, of deep joy and celebration, remembering all it cost, let us dedicate ourselves anew to freedom's cause. Let us swear loyalty to the nation and to its flag.

Let Old Glory fly on that day. Let this beautiful banner proclaim to the world that we have not forgotten the day, on which victory was made possible to us, by the sacrifices of the "boys in Blue". Let us stand by the Stars and Stripes and may we ever cherish the memory of those heroes of '65."

CHILD TRAINING

Free Time for Children

Viola Woodville

No mother ever loved a child better than Mrs. Winter loved Margery, nor tried harder to give her every advantage. That was the whole trouble. She tried too hard. "She stood up so straight that she leaned over backwards," as my dear father used to say. Well, Mrs. Winter nearly killed Margery, and I'll tell you about it, just as she told me after Margery had become a rosy-cheeked high school freshman.

"Margery grew so thin and listless," said Mrs. Winter, "though she was faithful to all her work, that I saw she wasn't well. Yet considering the scientific care that I gave her, I couldn't understand it. One morning she wouldn't get up to do her practicing and there was nothing for it but to call the doctor.

"Dr. Stevens was as much like an old-time family physician as exists nowadays, and I had known him all my life. He scarcely knew Margery, though, because she had always been so well. When he came he merely had a little visit with the child and then talked with me out in the hall.

"'Is your daughter usually an active child?' he asked.

"'She used to be a little dreamer,' I answered, 'until I trained her out of it. I wanted her to get the full use of all her time, and now she accomplishes a great deal.'

"'I meant, what exercise does she get.'

"'Her play time is supervised at school, and I see to it that she has a walk very often. I go with her myself, and we study birds and plants. With her extra lessons I want her to have plenty of outdoors.'

"Then I told him how much talent Margery had for drawing and music and how I saw to it that she had opportunities that very few children enjoyed. 'She has accepted a very high standard,' I added, 'as the goal she is working towards, and I feel that she will be creative in one or both of these lines.'

"When he questioned me about her diet, I could tell even to the number of calories she had in her well balanced meals. 'Can you wonder, Doctor,' I asked, 'that I am surprised that with all my care she is now in bed with nothing much the matter?'

"'Nothing but nervous prostration!' he burst out, 'a ridiculous condition in a child with a mother as intelligent as I thought you were, Caroline. Poor little thing! Even her walk a study period. No time to herself. A little slave to her mother's ambition.'

"'Careful, Doctor!' I had to throw in.

"'Now, Caroline, you are going to let your old friend tell you that no good intentions are going to alter the fact that you have put this child to a program that few grown people could stand. Her whole nature has rebelled. No matter how exactly you weigh her food, it isn't going to nourish her body if her spirit is in a cage.

"'Children need time to dream, time to plan their own games, time to do nothing at all. They may have little duties—should have them—but not the large responsibilities that you have put on your child. Think it over and you'll know I am right. Give Margery wholesome food, but let her choose for herself what she likes, and how much, for a time. Stop so many extra lessons while school is in session, and above all let the child alone. Because her mother loves her, she'll be all right soon. Let me see her again before long.'

"The good old doctor took himself off, and I brought out a book of fairy stories that I had hidden and gave it to Margery," concluded Mrs. Winter.

And I will say for her that she used the same intelligence in relaxing her vigilance that she had used in holding Margery to her system.

COULD NOT DO HER WORK

Strengthened by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Berlin, N. H.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was in a family way because I was run-down and falling away every day. My food wouldn't digest and I could not do my work. I had to have a hired girl all the time. I took several medicines before I tried yours but none would help me. A friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and told me to try it as it would help me a lot. Your medicines have done me a lot of good and I cannot praise them enough. I will answer any letters that ask me what Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines have done for me."—Mrs. Willie Poor, 627 Burgess St., Berlin, N. H.

A Difference in Tails

'Tis just as well that it should be
That what suits you will not suit me.
—Bobby Coon.

If there is any one who is really clumsy, it is Prickly Porky. He shuffles along and doesn't know the meaning of the word hurry. Whether he is walking or climbing, he does it in a clumsy fashion. You see, he has a big body and short legs, and no one with a big body and short legs can be graceful. Prickly Porky is this way, because he has never had occasion to run from danger. None of his family has had any occasion since way back in the days when the world was young. If they had had to run from danger often, they wouldn't have grown into such clumsy, slow-moving folk as all Prickly Porky's relatives are in the Green Forest.

"Did some one mention my name?" grunted Prickly Porky, as he came shuffling along where Bobby Coon and Boomer the Nighthawk were talking.

Bobby Coon chuckled. "I did," said he. "I told Boomer I was 'aughing to think how funny you would look with a long tail. And you would!'

"Of course, I would," replied Prickly Porky. "So would you. You've got quite a tail, but it isn't exactly what I should call a long tail. You certainly would look funny if you had a tail like that of Puma the Panther. And you would look equally funny if it were as short as that of Yowler the Bobcat. As it is, Bobby Coon, you have a very good-looking tail. But what earthly good such a tail as yours can be, I fail to understand."

"It's of just as much use as your tail," replied Bobby, rather crossly. "And certainly it is a better looking tail."

Prickly Porky nodded in agreement, and that is something very unusual for Prickly Porky to do. It is his usual rule to disagree. "Yes," said he, "you've got a better looking tail than I have. But what good is it? I ask you. I would just as soon have no tail at all as to have one that was of no use. I've got a tail that commands respect, but who respects you for your tail? No one."

"Pooh!" said Bobby Coon. "I don't think your tail is so much. Hello, here comes Old Man Coyote! It is me for a place in a tree." No sooner said than Bobby had scrambled up a tree.

But Prickly Porky didn't scramble up a tree. He poked his head under an old log and that is all he did do.

"I wonder if he thinks he is hiding," said Bobby Coon to Boomer the Nighthawk. "He can climb a tree, so I think it is a perfectly silly thing for him to simply put his head under that old log."

Now, as he stood there, Prickly Porky was not showing his little spears to any extent. Old Man Coyote saw him and he saw that those many little spears in Prickly Porky's coat were not standing on end. In fact, Prickly Porky was a very harmless looking person. Old Man Coyote wondered if he could get near enough to try Buster Bear's trick of upsetting Prickly Porky and getting him on his back. If he could do this, he would have no trouble in killing Prickly Porky without getting any of those little spears fast in his own flesh. He stole nearer and nearer. He would take a step and then stop and watch. Then he would take another step. All the time he was careful not to rustle so much as a leaf; and all the time Prickly Porky acted just as if he knew nothing at all about the approach of Old Man Coyote.

Old Man Coyote was approaching from behind and a little to one side. Nearer he crept, and nearer. He wanted to get near enough to slip a paw under Prickly Porky and toss him on his back. Bobby Coon was so excited that he forgot all about the discussion in regard to tails. Would Old Man Coyote get Prickly Porky after all?

CONGREGATIONS FILL NORWICH CHURCHES FOR EASTER SERVICES

Ushered in by a morning thunder shower about 4 o'clock, Easter Sunday became an ideal day by the middle of the morning, with bright sunshine and balmy air. Under such favorable conditions, the churches of the city had unusually large congregations for their services at which the special music and the floral decorations contributed to the devotional spirit and were in harmony with the inspiring messages from the pulpits.

Park Congregational Church

I am the Resurrection and the Life, was the topic of the Easter morning sermon delivered by Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., at Park Congregational church. An especially attractive musical programme featured the service and was attended by an unusually large congregation. The floral decorations were beautiful. In his sermon from the text, I am the Resurrection and the Life, Rev. Dr. Howe said:

The supreme question about our Christianity is what Jesus Christ says about Himself, not what men say about Him, what the creeds say about Him, but what He Himself says about Himself. You may follow your chosen Masters, but if you follow Jesus Christ you must give heed to what He declares about himself and what He is here to do. When He says I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, I am the way to and the embodiment of all Spiritual Reality. I am the Light of the World, and I am the Resurrection and the Life, I am the judge of all men. I am to assign to every man his destiny. I am the Revelator of the Father and the sole way to the Father and a hundred similar claims we are to believe and act upon our faith.

Among these tremendous claims which no other can appropriate, that of my text is the most colossal. He is here not speaking about His own personal resurrection, but of his own resurrection power. He is standing before a grave wherein a dead man lies and He says I am the resurrection power that can call the dead to life. If He is not that power He is the great charlatan in the world's history. And if He can do this then He is the colossal figure that you cannot classify and put into any of the catexories of time. And He is not speaking of a dead man of four days, but His word is sweeping out unto al humanity for its complete fulfilment.

We have been basing our faith on other foundations. We have been listening to Plato who based faith in immortality on the universality of the soul and on John Fisk's postulate of the sanity of the universe. Or we have been founding our hope on the inherent worth of our ethical integrities, our refinements, our exceptional culture, but the New Testament and Jesus himself drives us back on the one solitary dynamic agency which is the resurrection power of Jesus Christ himself. He alone has the gift of eternal life, and if I turn my back on Him and reject Him I have no hope of immortality. This is my personal faith and I have the whole of the New Testament to confirm me in that faith. If others base their faith on other than this foundation it is their risk not mine.

Man was created capacious of faith and of sonship and of eternal life, but we must give the will its function and choose. They are thrust on no one. If man was created by evolution or by fiat he comes face to face with this option. Redemption takes up the soul where the creation fiat ends in either case. To eat of the forbidden tree of sin is to stop the soul's progress. We must choose between these parting ways. The issues of the creative power of parenthood are not immortal souls, but soul's capacity for immortality, and when redemption is chosen Jesus Christ reaches forth this hand of resurrection power and lifts the soul into the life eternal.

We see hints of this in this life. Jesus Christ raised men out of evil life into a life worth immortalizing, raised dead consciences, dead affections, impotent will to a new functioning power, transfigured fishermen into apostles, wastrels into models of virtue, demon-possessed men into saints, men stalled in static life into flaming propagandists of the new faith, unbelievers and false believers into men of vision and great spiritual teachers, till we say of such men that they assure us of immortality; He turned a dead age into an epoch of great and aggressive spiritual activities, made a new world out of a world of dying and dead faith. What will He do for us when he adds eternity to time and gives us a chance to live and grow and greaten in the long seasons of the coming time.

We can see all this reflected in our own time, and best of all, in our personal experience. We are new men in Christ Jesus, new creations. The creative power of God returning in redemption and sending us forward to greater and greater becomings. Eye hath not seen nor ear heard the full might of the resurrection power. We know not what we shall be, but we know we shall be like Him for we shall be like Him when we see Him as He is.

St. Patrick's Church

Statues and crucifixes freed from the Lenten shrouding of purple for penitence and grief, the sanctuary lights glowing and the adornment stately palms, ascencion lilies on their tall palms, ascension lilies on their tall other flowers of spring, St. Patrick's cathedral-church held large congregations at the four masses of Easter day. In the triumph of the church of Christ in the resurrection others were not forgotten; and the day's offerings were for diocesan charities.

At the first mass of the day, read by the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May, there was a great congregation, with many at Easter holy communion. The other services also drew out hundreds of worshipers. The climax of the Paschal season was the high mass at 10:30, sung by Rev. Myles P. Galvin. Following this, Rev. Father Galvin gave benediction of the blessed sacrament.

The organist, Henry J. LaFontaine had arranged a varied and appealing program for the 9 o'clock children's mass, the junior chorus singing well and Mr. LaFontaine giving Mendelssohn's beautiful Easter hymn, Miss Beatrice Gadbois was the accompanist. At 10:30, Mr. LaFontaine's choruses interpreted the Kyrie of Mozart, Credo and Sanctus by Korman, Bizet's Agnus Dei and the majestic festival chorus of Lambillotte in a smooth, flexible, understanding way indicative of painstaking rehearsals and expert directing. Such portions as "Quoniamtu Solus," "Et Incarnatus," "Et in Spiritu," "O Salutaris," by Cottone, were remarkably good. An effective solo was by Miss Sadie A. riscoll. It is doubtful if any other volunteer choir in the diocese attempts and interprets such ambitious music and with such noteworthy success.

The soloists were Mrs. Bernard M. Coyle, Miss Sadie Driscoll, Miss Blanche LaPre, Mrs. Thomas J. O'Rourke, Roderick F. Sullivan, Walter F. LaFontaine, Horace Corning, John Kelly and William Shannon. Mrs. Coyle sang the beautiful "Alleleuia."

The sermon was by Rev. John J. Reilly, who chose as the basis of his forceful Easter appeal the dramatic episode of the Resurrection as narrated in St. John's account of the first Easter—the search of Mary at the empty tomb, the appearance of the Risen Lord, His salutation, "Mary" and her response, "Rabboni."

Rapidly the preacher sketched the conditions of existence which have held ever for man the warning of death—the effort of the Egyptians to cheat this death by their embalming, of the Hebrews with the same aim in winding the bodies of their dead in precious linens. But a corpse is still a corpse and it was only when Christ triumphed over death in bursting the bounds of the tomb that man could find solace in the conviction that this dreaded death is, after all, merely the gateway to another life for bodies which shall rise, as did Christ, glorious and immortal.

Father Reilly made most effective the texts from Joh. XX which he quoted: And she turned and saw Jesus standing—and knew not that it was Jesus. Jesus saith unto her Woman, why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou? She supposing him to be the gardener, said unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away. Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself and saith unto him, Rabboni, which is to say Master.

He depicted the woman who had been a sinner as contrasted with the Son of God, who had promised her forgiveness of sin. The same Saviour calls to sinners on Easter day; and the preacher expressed the hope that those in the congregation who heard Him could answer "Rabboni."

There had been a wonderful manifastation of faith and repentance during the devotion of the Forty Hours held the previous week, when eight priests in one evening were occupied hearing the confessions of those contrite for sin and animated by the purpose of amendment. He trusted that this resurrection from sin was not simply temporary, after he had pointed out that sin is the death of the soul, from which the resurrection comes only through true contrition, and the effort to model one's acts upon those of the Master. "Lead a devotional, Catholic life" he admonished his hearers—"so that when Christ shall call you, as He did Mary, you, too, may respond "Rabboni.'"

Central Baptist Church

Declaring that the doctrine of the Resurrection is fully as important for this life as it is for a future existence, Dr. David A. Pitt spoke on the theme "The Gospel of Good Friday and Easter Morn," before a large audience at the Central Baptist church Sunday morning.

Dr. Pitt discussed the three chief tenets of the Christians regarding Good Friday and Easter, and commented on them. They were, the fact that Christ died, the purpose, to remove the sins of the world, and the issue, His Resurrection on the third day.

The speaker touched on the important place that the death of Christ assumed throughout the Christian religion, "It is found in the ordinances of baptism and communion," he said. "Many of the most beautiful hymns of the church have the cross as their theme. One third of the gospels is devoted to Christ's last week, and this despite the fact that the Bible scarcely ever speaks of the death of other persons who move across its pages."

Dr. Pitt also mentioned the old Jewish philosophy, that the good were rewarded in this world and the wicked made to suffer for their sins. "This scheme of life was destroyed on the cross when an ideally good man suffered an ideally bad end," said the speaker.

The purpose of Christ's death on the cross, said the speaker, was to atone for the sins of the world. No one has yet been able to comprehend all that this sacrifice meant. Dr. Pitt scored the old belief that Christ suffered incarnation and infamy to persuade God to love the world. He advanced the idea rather that it was with God's approval and design that the supreme sacrifice was made.

"The atonement was formerly regarded as staged in a courtroom where God was the judge and the sinner the poor defendant before the bar of justice," said the speaker. "We get much nearer the original thought of Christ if we regard the matter in the light of the family, where Jesus assumed the sins and disgrace of the entire home."

Dr. Pitt then discussed the fact of Christ's resurrection, the evidence in support of this belief and the effect which it should have on the lives of all Christians. "The followers and disciples of the Master never expected to see Him alive on earth after the crucifixion," said the speaker. "Yet after Easter Sunday they were all convicted that he was truly risen from the grave. The greatest proof of this fact was in the changed lives which they led from that time on. It was their lives and activity that started the Christian church that has grown steadily stronger with the passing of the years. In like manner, our acceptance of the resurrection must also be expressed in changed lives, if it is to really amount to anything."

Preceding the sermon there was a baptismal service at which Lloyd Chapman, Robert Tongren, David M. Tongren, Milton Jerry, Mary Strong, Jean Wigley and Phyllis Oat were baptized.

The special Easter offering for missions taken at the church services amounted to over $400.

United Congregational Church

The United Congregational church received nine new members at the Easter morning service Sunday. Those received into membership were as follows: By confession, Miss Dorothy May Edwards, Miss Doris Elizabeth Kennedy, Miss Isabel Clara Kennedy, Miss Marie Marsh Spicer and William F. Hill; by letter, Miss Louise H. Bragg, Miss Mary C. Hill, Miss Frances M. Hill and C. E. Fitch. Following the morning service there was a special Easter service of the church school.

"The Preparatory Christ" was the topic of the sermon delivered by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the church, at the morning service. His text was John 14:2—"In my Father's house are many abodes; were it not so, would I have told you that I was going to prepare a place for you."

In part Rev. Mr. Abbott said:

These words confront us with an alternative. They are either true or they are not true. They are either the perpetration of a hoax by a man about to die, or they are the expression of a warranted faith. They are either a ghastly joke by a man in the shadow of his own death, or they are the assertion of a spiritual achievement.

The vast majority of Christian believers have never found anything in the life and teaching of Jesus to warrant considering this verse a hoax, a joke, the gesture of bravado or of delusion. Rather, have they steadied their own faith by believing their truth.

Now to get the truth. We must find something about Christ's own mind, and then we must find out the effect of that on our own.

Certain things we find in Christ's mind. We find that whenever he thinks of the meaning of any event or of any thought. He thinks by means of pictures. Such a method is not the abandonment of logic, of definitions, of maps; rather is it the supplementing of these processes which work in a restricted area, by other processes which work in subtler and larger areas. Whenever He thinks of God, He has the picture of a Father.

On the basis of that thought, that picture, we find in Christ's life a relationship with God such as no other life has displayed. It is the secret of all His deeds, of all His words, of all His sacrifice, of all His death.

On the basis of such pictured meaning to the fact of God, with whom Jesus had such intimate relationship, we find Him conquering death in advance of His own death. A striking achievement this, to win supremacy over death before it comes.

These glimpses into the mind of Christ lead us to consider their effect on ourselves.

First, they affect us deeply because we see that with all that Jesus ever did, he never destroyed the autonomy of the individual man. It was the abiding places of God He would always care for; but man He knew, must win his own way to them. It was as if God was always making the universe available; but that many of the abodes, splendid and spacious, would remain empty because of the wilfulness of men.

Second, Christ keeps coming to the man with all the preparatory power to make life, God and immortality more available; hoping that each man would come to his full spiritual stature and find his great abiding place in the economy of life.

Christ Episcopal Church

The early communion at 8 a. m. at Christ Episcopal church was celebrated by the rector, Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong. At the 10:30 service choral eucharist was preceded by a solemn procession around the church singing Easter carols. The altar brilliantly lighted with many candles and the chancel steps were banked with green potted palms and plants of many beautiful colors. The rector took for the text of his sermon, "Then the angels said He is risen," and his keyword was Emphasis. The theme dwelt upon the thought of just what has each one personally and more especially emphasized in their lives this past year. Is it their spiritual and religious nature or their social intercourse or their ideal moments. If He, the Christ, is truly risen do Christians emphasize all that those words mean in not what they say, but by the atmosphere they create in their daily living. There were special singers from out of town as guests of the two choirs who sang the Easter carols and chants heartily and were enjoyed by a large congregation who came forward to make their Easter communion.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock Bishop E. Campion Acheson confirmed a class of 17. The processional hymn was He Is Risen and before the class came forward to be presented for confirmation the whole congregation sang, kneeling, the hymn, Breathe on Me Breath of God, Fill Me With Life Anew, That I May Love, What Thou Didst Love, and Do What Thou Wouldst Do. The bishop took as his text for his sermon, Ye shall be chosen witnesses unto me. He spoke of the great characters of the Old Testament that witnessed to the power of the ever present God and His love. The apostles were witnesses of the great devotion of the Saviour of the world who longed for the bodies and souls of humanity. So with Christians today they are chosen witnesses to convert mankind to accept the Master as their redeemer; also Christians each have witnesses unseen in the spiritual world that are witnessing how they are fulfilling their mission of life here on earth.

The church school presented its Lenten offering at this service.

Trinity Episcopal Church

At the morning service at Trinity Episcopal church, the rector, Rev. J. Eldred Brown, spoke from the text, I Corinthians 15:45, 46: The last Adam became a life-giving spirit. Howbeit that is not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; then that which is spiritual.

Mr. Brown said, in part: From the standpoint of Holy Scripture, the race of man has had two federal or representative heads, called respectively "the first Adam" and the "second" or "last" Adam. The first Adam is supposed to be the first man, the original ancestor, whose nature we all in-

ACADEMY HAS BRILLIANT DIAMOND RECORD FOR PAST TWO SEASONS

There are few schools in the country its size that can claim the record that the Academy has run up in late years and especially the past two. And this, coming after several seasons of drab fortunes is probably more noticeable.

In the past two seasons the Academy has won 33 games and lost but five on the baseball field. In 1926 the Red and White won 17 and lost three, while last year 16 games were won and 2 lost. In 1925 12 games were won and six lost, while in 1924 ten games were won and six lost. This makes 55 games won and 17 lost in the past four years. Although fairly good work had been done up to that time, many are convinced that the real fire was not fanned into flame until that memorable 8 to 6 victory over Bulkeley here in 1925. Since then the Wildcats have ruled supreme in eastern Connecticut.

Earle E. Brigham has coached the teams during this time and of course most of the credit goes to him. For a school of less than 1,000 pupils, ranked as Class B, the mark set by its baseball representative is certainly a hefty one. During the last two years the locals have scored 322 runs against 124.

Last year, for the first time in over 40 years, the Academy annexed the state title, although many thought that in 1926 the bunting should also have come here. Last Memorial day settled the issue for once and all when Warren Harding of Bridgeport fell at the campus by a 4 to 3 score.

Many of the victories during the last four years have been Class A schools, ones that have a much wider field from which to select candidates.

Now, the season of 1928 is dawning, and, although five regulars were lost by graduation hopes run high among the student body that the title will remain within N. F. A.'s walls.

The following is the local's record for the past two years:

PAYNE, OKLAHOMAN LEADS RUNNERS INTO HOME STATE

TEXOLA, Okla., April 8—(AP)—Andrew Payne of Claremore, Okla., led C. C. Pyle's cross-country marathoners into the control point here today. Payne received a typical southwestern welcome when he completed the 35 mile lap from McLean, Tex., in 6.15.40. His elapsed time for the 1303.4 miles from Los Angeles was 221.29.37.

Arnye Suiomenin, of Detroit, who this morning held the lead in elapsed time for the trek from the coast, pulled a tendon twenty one miles out of McLean and was brought in by a patrol wagon for medical attention. He later returned to complete his day's distance.

Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England, finished second in today's jog in 5.30.41 for an elapsed time of 224.04.02. John Salo, Passaic, N. J., was third in 5.31 flat and his elapsed time was 242.18.14.

RANGERS TO HAVE OUTSIDE GOALIE FOR REST OF SERIES

MONTREAL, Que., April 8—(AP)—The New York Rangers will have a goal keeper from some other pro hockey club to replace Lorne Chabot, regular net guardian, who sustained a serious injury to the left eye in the second Stanley cup game with the Maroons here last night.

Directors of the Maroons said today they will ask President Frank Calder of the National Hockey league to waive the rule on substitution of injured goalkeepers and stated they would confer with the Rangers' officials to reach an agreement as to the relief player to fill the Ranger net for the remainder of the series.

The Maroons interpret the rule to mean that only a player under contract with a club can be substituted for goalkeeper. Manager Lester Patrick of the Rangers replaced Chabot in last night's clash.

KENNEY'S VICTORY GIVES WILLIE HOPPE FIRST PLACE

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—Willie Hoppe of New York went into undisputed first place in the National three cushion billiard tournament tonight when John Layton of St. Louis was defeated by Ben Kenney of Chicago, 50 to 47, in 61 innings.

GENO PECHEENI

Pecheeni takes this bout on short notice but, realizing that a win will be a great boost, intends to show the Bay State fans some real work.

ASHLAND, KY., SHOWED FINE FORM IN WINNING CHI. TITLE

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—In addition to its fame as the state of beautiful women and blue-blooded horses, Kentucky today boasted another appellation—the home of the best high school basketball team in the United States.

Coming to the University of Chicago's tenth annual national interscholastic basketball tournament last week unheralded and unsung, its state champion, Ashland, eliminated one state champion after another and last night climaxed its spectacular record by defeating the strong Canton, Ill., team 15 to 10, for the national title.

The tourney, which attracted 40 of the nation's best high school teams, was a great victory for the blue grass state. Not only did it produce the new champion, but it provided the most picturesque team ever to participate in the 10-years of tournament play in Carr Creek. This fighting band of mountaineers, which learned basketball without a paid coach and on a vacant lot and without gym suits, was the sensation of the week's play. Going to the quarter finals the team defeated representatives of cities that could place the tiny settlement of Carr Creek in one of their square blocks and not even notice it.

Defeat of Canton by Ashland was due to fouls and the pretty stalling game played by the Kentuckians in the last quarter. Ashland played errorless basketball for not one personal foul was called against a player either last night or during the entire tournament.

This was Ashland's path to the title:

Ashland 20, Naugatuck, Conn., 13.
Ashland 41, Oregon, Mo., 22.
Ashland 29, Morris, Ala., 16.
Ashland 20, Vienna, Ga., 19.
Ashland 15, Canton, Ill., 10.

Wheeling, W. Va., won the consolation finals by defeating Naugatuck in a close game, 29 to 28, while Grand Forks, North Dakota, won third place in the championship round by downing Vienna, 22 to 17.

SHOCKER REINSTATED, EXPECTED BACK TO YANKS

CHICAGO, April 8—(AP)—The lure of the baseball diamond has proved too much for Urban Shocker, veteran pitcher of the New York Yankees.

Several weeks ago, he decided he would devote his time to his radio store in St. Louis and subsequently handed in his resignation to the Yankees. Yesterday, at his own request, Commissioner K. M. Landis reinstated him.

He is expected to again don the Yankee uniform.

U. S. WINS FINAL SINGLES WITH MEXICO DAVIS CUP TEAM

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—&—The United States Davis cup team, by winning the final two singles matches from the Mexican players today, made a clean sweep of the round, having turned back their opponents in two singles events Friday and in the doubles Saturday. John Hennessey and Wilmer Allison were the United States victors today, the former defeating Robert T. Kinsey 6-2, 6-0, 6-3, while Allison was carried through four sets before conquering Alfonso Unda, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6, 7-5.

HAROLD TALBERT ON PASTIME CARD

Amateur boxing returns to Norwich this week Friday with the Pastime A. C. show at Olympic hall. Several fast bouts have been lined up with many promising all kinds of action.

Harold Talbert, the car barn champion, returns to the war with this show, meeting Al Carpenter of Willimantic. In this boy, the local favorite is meeting no set-up but on the other hand a real stiff puncher and one that promises to furnish a real battle through the entire minutes. However, Talbert's many admirers are not worrying for Harold has gone through some stiff training during the last few days and starting tonight will hit the final grind that leads up into the ring on the week-end. This will be Talbert's first ring appearance since his affair with Farmer Steve, about a month ago.

Capt. McLean of Willimantic has another boy, weighing 220 pounds who will in all probability meet the Westerly woodchopper, who may be a relative of Steve Brody, cause he is willing to take a chance.

The Sub Base team will also be on hand and "Pop" Connelly's boys are rarin' to go against them. Of course the Norwich boys will also be present including Vic Darr, Mush Moriarty, Young Mara, Young Hagen and Frankie Foster. It is also fairly certain that Westerly will have a team for this show.

ACADEMY STARTS HARD WEEK OF WORK TODAY

The Academy will get into their last five days of practice before their opening game this afternoon at the campus. The season today will start at 1 o'clock and is expected to be a long one. Capt. Goldblatt will be in charge, Coach Brigham not being slated to return until Tuesday.

The Wildcats open their season Saturday with the Alumni and then have three games next week.

HIGH SCHOOL PROSPECTS

Bulkeley Higt (Hartford).

Bulkeley High of Hartford is less than two years old, having opened in September, 1926, so that this baseball campaign, naturally, is its second. Coach Babe Allen has plenty of material and a good number of it is regarded as promising.

He didn't lose many of last year's fairly good team and Bulkeley, for that reason, ought to do a lot better during the coming games. In Carasoso, rugged catcher, he has one of the best receivers in Hartford and he ought to be a big help this spring. The infield is a bit better than average with Joe Farrell, a brother of Frankie, who has played in Norwich with Taftville and Riverview, as the leading figure. The outfield is probably the best part of the team. The pitching department needs strengthening but out of the material at hand, it is expected that this deficiency will be remedied.

Bulkeley plans a 12 or 15 game schedule and has the Academy booked for a tilt here the middle of May. This will be the first appearance on an Academy diamond schedule for Bulkeley but the Hartford team carries a name that ought to make for some fast going throughout.

Tomorrow—Crosby High (Waterbury).

'BOUT SPORTS

Plenty of local favorites are working with Joe Faber, local boy, who is the leading candidate for the shortstop position at Montreal in the International league. Frankie Stapleton, formerly here with with the Kaceys, is playing first base in fine style, and Jimmy Bishop, who pitched for Riverview in the Martaft series last fall, is also doing good work in his line. Both these boys played against the Bridgeport Bears of the Eastern league Saturday. Faber didn't get any hits but he played a nice game afield. Stapleton got a triple, one of the leading clouts of the game.

Walter Linder, Deep River pitcher, who blanked Chapman Tech with ease Saturday, allowing but three hits and fanning 20 in so doing, is rated as one of the best "small school" pitchers in the state. Only last year he let Bacon Academy of Colchester down with neither a hit nor a run. At the end of the school year he went into the Middlesex County league and pitched well. This team plays N. F. A. here April 20.

NATIONALS DRAW AT ONE ALL WITH BRICKLAYERS

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—The New York Nationals and Chicago Bricklayers struggled to a 1-all draw in the final of the national challenge cup soccer championship at the Polo Grounds here today. The club sscored in the first half and although two overtime periods of 15-minutes each were played, the issue remained deadlocked.

Following the game the managers of the elevens conferred with soccer officials and decided that the playoff of today's tie will be held in Chicago next Sunday.

About 20,000 fans witnessed the tilt.

CHAPMAN TECH FALLS BEFORE DEEP RIVER

NEW LONDON, March 8.—With Walter Linder twirling in mid-season style, Deep River High had little trouble with Chapman Tech here Saturday afternoon at Morgan park, winning to 0. The visiting twirler allowed Tech but three singles and fanned 20 while Deep River found two local pitchers for nine hits. This was the opening game of the eastern Connecticut high school season.

Chileans Win

BARCELONA, Spain, April 8—(AP)—The Torraiva brothers of the Chilean Davis cup team today defeated the Spanish combination of Falquer and Morales in the doubles contest, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 7-9, 6-2.

In a certain parish in Yorkshire, England, a great football match is played annually on Good Friday, each member of the winning team receiving a glass of hot milk, two hot-cross buns, and a new halfcrown.

CLOSE RACE SEEN IN BOTH LEAGUES FOR SEASON, OPENING TOMORROW

(By the Associated Press)

Major league baseball clubs face the opening of another campaign with many between season changes and in great physical condition. As the players wait at the barrier, two reasonable suppositions stand out, one in each league.

Yanks No Stronger

The New York Yankees, favored to repeat as champions of the American league, will have to fight for it. Last season New York swept to the championship, 19 games ahead of the nearest opposition. This season th world champions have given no convincing indications that they were better than they were in 1927 while the opposition has been strengthened.

The National league race, thrilling to the final moments last year, promises to be just as exciting in 1928. Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New York and Chicago have their supporters who confidently believe that they can win.

The Philadelphia Athletics, Washington Senators and Detroit Tigers are expected to stand in the way of a Yankee runaway race.

While the American league second division places have been conceded, without their approval or consent, to Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis and Boston, arbitrary assignment of National league clubs to places in the also ran class provokes an argument that grows heated as the opening of the season approaches.

Boston Hopeful

Boston, with Hornsby at second, believes the Braves will be hard to beat and Cincinnati fans see hopes for the Reds, with better pitching indicated by early returns. Brooklyn, well fortified with battery strength, pins its hopes to a team that has undergone radical revision. The pace at the moment seems too fast for the Phillies.

Pitching will tell the tale in both leagues before the final gun is fired. The heavy artillery of the Yankees must be silenced to get the American league champions out while bidders for the choice positions in the National league are counting on their moundsmen placing them there.

A'S HAVE STRONG HOPES; PHILLIES STRONGER, BUT—

PHILADELPHIA, April 8—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics face the opening of the twenty-eighth season of the American league Wednesday optimistic of their chance to end the championship sway of the New York Yankees, whom they will face in the opening game. Whereas they entered the race of 1927 with a new shortstop and a new first-baseman, the Athletics will enter an experienced and seasoned team in this year's hunt for the gonfalon.

With the exception of Al Simmons, who will be out of the game for the first week or so nursing a sprained ankle, the team is in fine physical condition. Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, playing their first season together after 20 years of rivalry, are faster than they were a year ago and have been hitting the ball hard.

The Athletics believe their sole advantage over the world's champions rests with their pitching staff.

Manager Connie Mack is depending largely on his three left-handers, Grove, Walberg and Orwoll, to stop the siege guns of the Yanks in the season's 22 clashes between the two pennant favorites.

The Mackmen are well fortified for eventualities with Captain Eddie Collins, Jimmy Dykes, Walter French and two newcomers, Shortstop Joe Hassler and Outfielder George Haas, resting on the bench.

Burton Shotton, who succeeded Stuffy McInnis as manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, he apparently strengthened his team with recruits Bill Kelley and Pinkey Whitney, on first and third, respectively; and with Jimmy Ring, Russell Miller and Ray Benge in the pitching box, the Phillies have hopes of rising from their perennial position in the cellar.

Opening the season at Brooklyn with the Robins, who have added hitting and fielding strength to support their fine pitching staff this year, the Phillies lack even the hope of getting off to an early season spurt. Ring probably will be the Phillies opening pitcher.

CARDS PRESENT VETERANS; BROWNS HAVE YOUNGSTERS

ST. LOUIS, April 8—(AP)—Determined to take a fall out of the National league champions in the initial appearance of the season, the St. Louis Cardinals, tried and true, are primed for their opening appearance here against the Pirates Wednesday.

A no less determined bunch of youngsters clad in the spangles of the St. Louis Browns, are anxiously awaiting their opportunity to enter the American circuit campaign at Detroit on the same afternoon.

Generally conceded as championship contenders, the Cards will probably go into the initial struggle with the Veteran Jess Haines on the mound, while Sam Gray, supported by Dan Howley's youthful combination, is bent on turning back any hitting gesture of the Tigers.

The Browns will be made up of new players, but in spite of the prediction that the club will finish near the bottom, close followers are optimistic. Cardinal fans are looking to the Red Birds to walk off with the National loop pennant despite the placing of the Pirates at the top by Critics.

BRAVES MAY TRADE MORE; RED SOX MAY ALSO TRY ONE

BOSTON, April 8—(AP)—A hint of several last minute trades designed to still further strengthen both Boston teams, featured final preparations of the Braves and Red Sox for the season's curtain raisers this week. The Sox open against the Washington Senators at the Capital on Tuesday and the Braves meet the Giants in New York on Wednesday.

At least one more sensational deal appears to be in the making for the Braves, this time with the Cincinnati Reds. It is rumored that the line is out for Joe Genewich, Braves pitcher, and Doc Gautreau, infielder, to go to the Reds in exchange for George Kelly, first baseman, Pete Donohue, holdout Red pitcher and Bubbles Hargrave, catcher. Such a shift would seem to cap even the famous deal which sent the Braves mainstay behind the plate and two others to New York for Rogers Hornsby, new tribe captain.

The sudden appearance of President Bob Quinn of the Red Sox in Columbus, O., yesterday for a confab with Manager Bill Carrigan led to speculation on the possibility that the Braves may not be the only Boston club to be engineering last minute swaps, officially there was nothing for publication, however.

Kent Greenfield on the mound and Zack Taylor behind the plate took like the Braves opening battery choices in New York Wednesday, while the Red Sox probably will rely on Danny McFayden to do the hurling and Fred Hofmann as a backstop after President Coolidge tosses out the first ball in Washington Tuesday.

Indians Expect Pitchers Will Win

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 8—(AP)—Although on paper they appeared to be no stronger than last year when they finished in sixth place, the Cleveland Indians confidently expect to finish no lower than fourth in the impending struggle for the American league pennant.

This is the consensus of the Redskins individually. However, the critics feel that fifth place would be more natural to them. But the Tribesmen point out that the pitchers are rounding into shape and feel that reserve strength will be added where it was lacking last year.

Their optimism is based upon the assumption that Uhle and Hudlin will win twenty games apiece; that Shaute and Buckeye each will claim twelve victories and that twenty more can be counted on from Miller, Levsen Brown, Bayne and Grant. This estimate would give the tribe a total of 84 victories, eighteen more than they won last year and two more than the Tigers won in landing fourth place in 1927.

Pitchers Carry Tigers Hope

DETROIT, April 8—(AP)—The burden of success or failure of the Detroit Tigers' bid for American league honors this season is believed by a majority of the critics to rest with the club's pitching department.

A well balanced, smooth working infield, cheered by the return of the diminutive Jackie Tavener at shortstop, and a heavy hitting outfield, bolstered by the presence of Harry Rice, procured from the St. Louis Browns, promises plentiful support for the moundsmen if they deliver.

Moriarty indicated he probably will start his ace, Earl Whitehill, against the St. Louis Browns in the opening game here Wednesday.

Lightforme Wins

PARIS, France, April 8—(AP)—Glorious Easter weather with warm sunshine brought out thousands of horse racing enthusiasts at Auteuil today where Lightforme, an outsider, captured the rich president republic stakes worth 150,000 francs (approximately $30,000).

BASEBALL NEWS

Lou Gehrig clapped out his third circuit smash of the exhibition tour in the fourth inning with none on base while George Herman propelled one of Bill Doak's spit ball heaves into the right field bleachers in the eighth with two runners on.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—A week has elapsed since the momentous matching of Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney for the heavyweight championship without much, if any rise in the fistic blood pressure.

3 to 1 Right Odds

Actual wagering has substantiated the originally suggested odds of 3 to 1 on the champion. Honest Tom has been located in Paris, having difficulty with a dress shirt, while Gentleman Gene, more accomplished in that line, is preparing to establish training camp at Speculator, N. Y., later this month.

The ballyhoo is in a touch spot just now, with the circus in Madison Square Garden and the baseball season getting under way. It may gather headway a little later; in fact it must do so if the bout is not to be a financial flop but at the moment most of the boys, when the big bout is mentioned, are inclined to yawn and inquire: "What of it?"

How will Tunney and Heeney draw? Nothing, it is safe to say, like the battle of the almost three millions at Chicago last September between Gene and Jack.

But with the prospect of a $40 top, if the fight is held at either the Yankee stadium or the Polo Grounds, it would figure to gross around $1,550,000.

Lower Gates

The last heavyweight title fight in New York, between Dempsey and Firpo at the Polo Grounds, drew close to $1,200,000 from some 85,000 spectators with a top price of $27.50.

Most of the boys predict that with the passing of Dempsey, temporarily if not permanently, the "gates" will strike a downward scale. Since the big fight slated for this July will be the first title affair in which the old Manassa Mauler has not been involved since 1919, it will be interesting to see what effect, if any, it has on the appeal to the customers.

Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney, either one of whom something over a year ago was regarded as a sure shot for a championship bout, now have been matched in what the promoter is particular to explain is "just a fight."

This explanation seems hardly necessary to the boys after the way Sharkey and Delaney performed in the winter's jousts at Madison Square Garden.

But with nothing to worry about the two Jacks may toss caution to the winds and stage a rattling scrap on April 30. The theory seems to be that elimination bouts cramp the style of most heavyweights whereas in "just a fight," possessing no special significance, they may actually get rough.

It doesn't pay to lead the hockey leagues during the winter season! The Montreal Canadians and the Boston Bruins, who led the Canadian and American divisions of the National Hockey league, aren't in the world's series at all.

Under the hockey system of playoffs among the three leading teams in each group the Canadian and Bruins were eliminated by the Maroons and Rangers. The theory is that if they are not good enough at the close to beat the second place teams don't deserve the top ranking but this system nullifies the otherwise superior work of a whole season.

Lucky For Pirates

If such a system prevailed in major league baseball the Pirates wouldn't have been in the last world's series. The Bucs lost their last series to the Giants and also to the Reds. In 1926 the Yankees weren't the strongest club in the American league at the finish either. They barely were able to save their lead from being wiped out entirely by the second-place Cleveland club.

YOUTH UNDER ARREST CONFESSED 40 ROBBERIES

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP)—Brooklyn police today believed they had solved two-score burglaries in the Fort Hamilton and Bay Ridge sections with the arrest of Harold Valentine, 18 years old, his wife, Gladys, 19, and the recovery of $200,000 worth of stolen jewelry and clothing. Valentine told the police he came here seven or eight months ago from Newton, Mass., where he lived at No. 1 Greenwood avenue.

The youth was arrested last night on a charge of disorderly conduct. Detectives said he confessed 40 robberies and accompanied police on an automobile tour in which he pointed out a number of homes he had robbed. His wife, held as an accomplice, said she had pawned $50 worth of her husband's loot, but denied knowledge that it was stolen.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER FOR TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT

BALDONNEL AIRDROME, Irish Free State, April 8—(AP)—The German plane Bremen was still held here today by unfavorable weather reports.

In addition there was the matter of insurance for Colonel James Fitzmaurice who has been given a leave of absence by the Irish Free State air service so that he may act as co-pilot of the Bremen, with Captain Hermann Hoehl, provided a policy can be obtained on him for the benefit of his wife and eight-year old daughter.

The two pilots and Baron Von Huenefeld, sponsor of the project and cockpit passenger of the plane, are ready to go at short notice. The machine itself needs only to be rolled out onto the runway. It has been thoroughly tested out by mechanics and its full load of fuel is aboard.

FATHER AND SON SUE FOR $12,000 DAMAGES

Damages aggregating $12,000 are sought in two suits brought in the superior court against William Simonelli and Nelda Bellicchi, both of this city, according to papers served by Deputy Sheriff George H. Stanton. Philip Kirstein also of this city sues for $7,000 while his son, Raymond, sues for $5,000 damages.

Kirstein and his son were riding in a truck on Feb. 2, 1928 at Tafts station on the highway leading from Taftville to Norwich when it figured in a collision with an automobile owned by Simonelli, resulting in injuries to both plaintiffs, according to the papers in the suit. The Simonelli car, it is alleged, was in charge of Bellicchi and the latter was operating the auto under instructions from Nellie D. Corcoran, as Bellicchi had no operator's license.

J. P. MORGAN AND PARTY AT STAMBOUL, TURKEY

STAMBOUL, Turkey, April 8—(AP)—J. P. Morgan's yacht anchored in the Golden Horn tonight. Mr. Morgan and his party are here at the invitation of his cousin, Joseph C. Grew, who has just been confirmed as American ambassador. They were guests at an embassy dinner this evening.

The tourists have been protected from the onslaught of the usual swarm of oriental guides by an arrangement of Mr. Grew whereby one of the most charming girls in Constantinople society, a daughter of the former governor of Jerusalem, will conduct Mr. Morgan and his guests on sightseeing trips to the mosques and bazaars during their two days stay here.

MANY E. CONN. BOYS IN COLLEGE BALL

Eastern Connecticut boys are again taking a big place in the realm of college baseball. Although the season has not yet really started, still these boys have already begun to make their marks at the diamond sport on varsity and freshmen rosters.

Joe Smith of Westerly probably heads the list for his dazzling performance Saturday for Providence college against Northeastern university of Boston when he allowed three hits and no runs to win, 3 to 0. Another boy, Bill Ringland, is a regular on the William and Mary nine at Williamsburg, where Sam Wilcox is golf captain. Ringland has the third base post this year and to date has shown well. Smith is a Westerly high graduate and Ringland hails from the Academy. Eddie Mansfield, of Bulkeley, is the regular first sacker at Catholic university and is doing fine work.

Joe Barry, former Bulkeley infielder, is now out of the New York university lineup with a bum ankle, it coming after he had made a strong bid for second base. Whether it will keep him on the sidelines for the rest of the year is not known as yet. Pheno Tombari, ex-Academy athlete, is a strong contender for the shortstop berth at Conn. Aggies. Pheno was freshman captain at Storrs last spring. "Pop" Williams, of Danielson, is after the catcher's job at the Aggies, while there are others who are, as yet, still in the preliminary end of their training. Ray Yerington, ex-N. F. A. star, is expected to be a strong candidate at Springfield college for the freshman nine. Hymie Sadinsky, another former Academy player, is at Columbia, but is so busy with studies that he will not play this year.

WESTERLY

FREIGHTER ON WATCH HILL REEF DUE TO DENSE FOG

WESTERLY, R. I., April 9—With dense clouds of black drifting all day from her single stack toward Block Island, the British freighter Ellaston, Capt. William Morgan, remained hard and fast on Watch Hill reef, off lighthouse point, Watch Hill. Equally dense smoke poured from a tug lighter which ran alongside in an unsuccessful attempt to get off the steamer with her cargo of lumber, partly destined for New London and which was nearly a month overdue. The steamer went upon the reef to the south, a short distance to the eastward of the Clyde Line steamer Onondaga, which went on the reef in July 1913 and from which sunken hull two spars have been familiar channel marks ever since. At the time, about 7 a. m. when the freighter struck, the fog was very dense and no distress signal were set, but a wireless was sent to New London for help. It was only when the New London wrecking concern telephoned to the Quonochontaug coast guard station as to the location that the Watch Hill station, Capt. Amos E. Broadmeadow, learned of the mishap. As the fog lifted the steamer was seen from Watch Hill point. Capt. Broadmeadow went to the boat and learned that there was no immediate danger for the 36 men aboard. Capt. Broadmeadow, about to go on a leave of absence, was succeeded Sunday afternoon by Capt. Clarence Peckham of the Fishers Island station.

Besides Capt. Morgan, Chief Officer L. McDonald and Chief Engineer George Adamson, there are 33 members of the crew. The Ellaston, owned in Glasgow, Scot., left Vancouver, B. C., March 7, carrying a cargo of three and one-half million feet of lumber. Early Saturday evening the vessel encountered a dense fog which settled over Long Island and Fishers Island sound within a few minutes.

Capt. Morgan worked his way along the South County Coast line successfully until he undertook to pass the Watch Hill Point to make Fishers Island sound, which would take the vessel into New London. The vessel grounded in a fog so dense that it was almost impossible to see the water from the deck of the vessel.

On Sunday morning in answer to the wireless message, two coast guard boats, one a 75-footer and the other the Marion, 125 feet, arrived at about 11 o'clock. Later a tug from the Merritt-Chapman-Scott company arrived from New London and were alongside the Ellaston this afternoon. The steamer struck the rocks on the reef with such force that a big hole was stove in her bottom forward and before noon today it was reported that there was 21 feet of water in her forward peak.

The two attorneys were bound from Boston to New London, and at a point in the village of Wequetequock where the old and new roads connect, Wyner lost control of the car when the wheel slipped out of his hand and the machine darted towards the service truck, poles projecting out of the rear penetrating the top of his machine and demolishing it. Fine suffered concussion of the brain and numerous cuts and bruises, and it required eighteen stitches to close a cut on his chin. Wyner has two fractured ribs, a broken nose, and cuts and bruises, and it required eighteen stitches to close a cut on his chin. Wyner has two fractured ribs, a broken nose, and cuts and bruises. MISS MARY L. HALL, WESTERLY, FOUND DEAD IN BED SUNDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 8—Miss Mary Louise Hall, 76, died suddenly in Pawcatuck this morning. Death evidently resulted from heart trouble, with which she had suffered for many years. She was born on Mechanic street, Pawcatuck, the eldest daughter of Horace R. and Sarah Louisa Avery Hall, formerly of Preston. Since five years of age she has resided in the home built by her father in lower Pawcatuck. She leaves a sister, Harriet, wife of Rev. Samuel G. Cathcart and only surviving member of the family. Two sisters, Miss Evelyn Hall for over 25 years principal of the Moody school, Northfield, and Miss Amelia Hall, a teacher at Walnut Hill school, Walnut Hill, Mass., died several years ago. Miss Hall's education was obtained in the schools of the town and she taught for a number of years; but her interests were centered upon keeping her father's home. She attended Pawcatuck Congregational church and was a member of Anna Warner Bailey chapter, D. A. R., of Groton and Stonington, also of the Monday club of Westerly.

Miss Hall's death was not discovered until Clarence Thompson, a young man who worked on the farm, found the milk pails unwashed and later discovered her dead in bed at about 4:30 p. m. Dr. William A. Hillard gave permission for the removal of the body to undertaking rooms in Westerly, where Medical Examiner Dr. Gray of Mystic will view the body Monday morning.

JEWETT CITY

NEW NORWICH-PRESTON HIGHWAY TO BE DISCUSSED

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 8—Monday, there is to be a meeting here, at which surveys and viewpoints will be discussed, relative to the "East Side" state road from Jewett City to Norwich, via Preston.

The state highway commission and Griswold's board of selectmen will constitute the personnel of this conference. It will be set forth that the advantages of this new highway are to be many and the benefits general. As far as this town and borough are concerned the survey goes out over Slater avenue, at even grade with the proposed new elimination construction, at th corner of Dearnley's store. The route then is via Simon Brewster's, William Hiscox's and Broad Brook to the Preston line. Griswold town expense incurred in this construction is reimbursed in a short term of years by the state.

April 12th in Hartford, there will take place another important local road hearing. The N. Y., N. H., and H. R. R. Co., Herbert Tift, first selectman, D. F. Finn of Griswold and Mrs. Samboy will be present. Together with the public utilities commission and State Road Commissioner, J. S. MacDonald, the objections if any will be discussed. The opinion is expressed here today, that no more much to be desired project of highway improvement in this section, could ever be contemplated. Thi ssurvey eliminates the dangerous S curve bridge at Tadpole. The late William H. Tift, some years ago, bought a small bit of land, situated on the water level, just below the upper pond. The purchase was made, because trees growing upon it obstructed his view of a section of railroad, as seen from his residence at the north boundary of the borough on Tift street. Hence his son and heir, Herbert of Norwich is among those warned of the hearing in Hartford.

The new construction will not pass over the Farrell property, but starting from the east side, near the Fogarty driveway, will cross the tracks nad the small stream connecting the two ponds, at an angle of about 45 degrees, thus straightening a dangerous curve, where, since the overhead bridge was built, a dozen automoblie accidents have occurred.

Miss Lucille Tomlinson is visiting relatives in Bridgeport.

George Davis and daughter of Boston spent the week end at Martin Davis home.

A wedding reception was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randall on Mathewson street following the marriage of Mrs. Randall's sister, Anna Eichelberg and Raymond H. Anderson of Norwich. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts at Greeneville Congregational parsonage. The bride is a native of Jewett City, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Eichelberg. Her home has been at 290 Hamilton avenue, Norwich, for several years.

John Anthony, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Anthony, was taken to Backus hospital Saturday night, having broken his arm. While playing with boys on Soule street, one of them dared him to try a stunt on the iron railing at the town house. He fell from the fence and lay unconscious for several minutes, the other children being so scared that they ran away. No physician could be located in town and he was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Irving Thornton and son, Irving returned Friday from Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. James Duggan of Dedham, Mass., spent Easter at T. B. Duggan's.

Chester Littlefield U. S. N., sailed from Newport Thursday on U. S. S Nitro, for San Francisco. There he will be transferred to U. S. S. Henderson for a two years' trip to China, Europe and Asia, where the boat joins the Asiatic fleet.

NOANK

Allie Crowell, star checker player, with a crowd of 50 fans went to Mystic Friday evening by automobile to play. Dr. Williams, in their second match in the series for the championship of the two places. In the large red building on Water street at the left side was Never Fail Williams' cheering section, with 25 to root for the pride of Bank street. On the right was the black-haired boy from the fishing village with 40 for a cheering squad, the cheer-leader Gordon Clark. All had fish horns and sea bells. Referee Harry Johnson gave the word. It was Go-Getter Crowell's first move and he was putting his check to the east corner, trying to fool Foxy Williams, but he kept away from him. The cheering section for Crowell said "Look out, Rabbit Foot Allie! It is Good Friday." "Never mind about that! If I can't win on Friday I will hang up the checker board in the attic with moth balls!"

Crowell took the first match by one move. Then the second match was on with the fighting doctor trying hard to win. It was two four-men moves that sent the kid from Elm street down the ladder and Williams won by 4 moves, making it a tie. What a noise came from the up river cheering section when the doctor put that game on ice! But the Noank fog horn crew said "Wait until the third game is over! We will show that checker skill is not taken from a cook book!" Then fighting with his back to the wall, Lucky Crowell was using all his tricks about the indoor winter game to stop the line plays of Never-Fail Williams. Williams was going good until the mason from the fishing village saw a fine chance to send the doctor back home a hard loser. The medicine man never got a king and was badly beaten. Williams said that a black cat ran in front of him when he was after the morning mail. The Noank cheering section held a short march in honor of Crowell's victory. A lunch of sardine sandwiches with hot cross buns and Oolong tea followed. The next match will be in the fishing village.

When the sixth day of April came around in Noank it was a reminder that the late President Woodrow Wilson signed an important paper at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon telling the people of the country that the United States had entered the World war and most of the young fellows laid down their tools in the mill and the shipyard and other places to join the army or the navy. Many danced with joy when the news came, to think they had a chance to fight for Uncle Sam in the brown or the blue, as their grandfathers did in the Civil war. This little village sent 75 off to the war. Friday was just 11 years since the United States decided to take part in the contest and the people will never forget it. When the service men came back to their homes a big time was given them, to honor all who did their bit for the red, white and blue.

Groton Long Point had a busy day Friday when seventy-five automobiles paid a visit to the point. People from Springfield, Boston, Hartford and Norwich came down, as the sun was hot making it almost like a July day. Many of the cottage owners were in their shirt sleeves, raking the lawns and airing out the cottages. On the board walk, 40 people were sitting around, looking like bathing time. The only thing missed on the beach was the big green umbrellas for it is a little early to see these, with the bathing girls reading under them, so as not to get sunburned.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodwin of Philadelphia are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Tourjee.

Keith Ebbetts has joined the painter gang at the shipyard as inside finisher.

Alden Brocky has gone to East Providence for a brief visit.

Boat Betty C. with Captain Chris at the helm came from the fishing ground late Friday afternoon to ship fish to Fulton market and tied up at the north dock. In one day's fishing they had 35 barrels of flatfish.

Lewis Main was in New York for a short visit recently.

Miss E. Kelley of New Jersey spent the week end at Groton Long Point.

POETRY FOR WIDE-AWAKKES

All at Once

All at once the leaves have opened,
All at once the flowers have bloomed,
All at once has Nature spoken,
And earth's breath is sweet perfumed.

All at once the birds are mating—
See them in each leafy tree
Eagerly the home nests building,
Singing roundelay and glee.

Flora and her flower fairies
Revel now in each parterre,
Elfins' sylvan haunts are laden
With wild blossoms rich and rare.

Grass grows in the sunshine mellow,
Children romp now, wild and free;
Spring shines in their laughing faces—
Spring is beautiful to see!

Courage, sad hearts! Winter's over,
Joys may with the Spring be born;
Let no dark, no doubting shadow
Mar Good's bright Spring days with scorn.

All at once, like inspiration,
Let this thought give perfect rest;
He who wisely rules the season,
For our welfare knoweth best.

—Mary E. Lambert.

Baby Chicks

A horde of yellow fluff in store-window
Where mid-day sun gives glamour to the glass,
"Are for sale" and "cheap," so the posters show,
To all the questing shoppers as they pass.
The crowded chicks, unmothered, hug the sand
So meagerly distributed on wood,
Until buyers with twenty cents demand
The ownership of one whose "health is good."
Then in cartons designed for "Pork and Beans"
Singly, or in pairs, they are taken home,
To learn of human tenderness, which means
Life in a shoe-box or the power to roam
Beneath the kitchen stove and play the part
Of toy to the children. The humans see
A loneliness consume the infant heart
And hear the life go out in crying plea.
Men of the past knew better homes for them,—
A clucking mother in a proper land—
And when I see them sold singly I stem
Conceit in being of the modern band.

—Thomas O'Connell.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE-AWAKES

That bees talk to each other has been discovered through scientific investigation by a noted German entomologist, Dr. Karl Von Frish. Bees do not talk to each other as we do. They talk with their feet. They do not touch each other but deliver their message by a quick movement of their feet. Writing on this subject, Ruby Denton says:

The method the scientist used in his research is as interesting almost as the discovery itself. The doctor first built several hives entirely of glass, so that he could see exactly what was going on in them. He made small doors to these hives in order to let the bees in and out as he wished. He placed the hives on one side of his garden, on the opposite side of which was a small patch of clover in bloom. Then, between the hives and the clover patch, he built a screen maze, or labyrinth, a place full of intricate passageways which covered the entire garden.

This done, he lifted up a small door of one of the hives, letting one bee out. With some very bright red coloring material he painted a red cross upon the back of this bee, so that he would be able to distinguish it from the rest. He then released the marked bee to travel through the network of passages in search of food. It went on its journey, baffled at times by enclosures and blind alleys, but it kept on and on, retracing its steps time after time, until it finally succeeded in reaching the clover patch at the corner of the garden.

After it had gathered a load of nectar, it flew quickly back through the elaborate channels to the glass hive, where Dr. Frisch opened the little door and let the wanderer in. The scientist kept his eye on the marked bee in the glass hive by means of a large magnifying glass resembling a reading glass. It was then that the entomologist received the surprise of his life. The bee with the red cross moved its feet and wings up and down in a peculiar rhythmic fashion, and no sooner had it made this movement than all the other bees around it went through exactly the same antics.

Shortly afterward Dr. Frisch opened the hive. The bee with the brilliant red cross on its back came out, followed by a host of other workers. The marked bee, continuing to lead the way, took the other bees to the clover patch without any difficulty. And from that time on, all the bees could traverse the intricate maze without going into a blind alley or losing any time. Through further observation, Dr. Frisch learned that bees have different movements and act in different ways, according to the story they wish to tell. When angry, for instance, they move in a peculiar zigzag fashion.

Still further study and observation revealed that the bee does not work all the time, as was previously believed, but takes time for rest and play. So the bee, although it does not realize that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," instinctively carries out that idea. Nevertheless, when it works, it works with all its might. Only in war times do humans come near approaching the strenuous activities of the bee.

The bee often works both day and night, gathering the pollen and nectar during the daytime and helping to fan the nectar with its wings during the night, to make the sweet fluid thicker by evaporation. One good authority says that it takes twenty thousand bees to make a single pound of honey. It also takes five pounds of the sweet and precious nectar from the flowers to make one pound of honey. So, although the bee does not always work, in accordance with the latest scientific investigations, the phrase "busy as a bee" still retains its full significance.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my trip to Providence. Last Sunday we started to Providence at 12 m. I enjoyed the ride very much. There are three different routes to Providence. We went by the Providence reservoir. This is a newly built reservoir and is beginning to fill up by hundreds of springs from miles and miles away.

It will take many months for it to be filled. It will cost the city of Providence many million dollars for this new water supply which will furnish water to Providence and surrounding villages. It looks now like a great large lake with islands here and there. After we passed the reservoir we came to Thornton. We could see Providence in the distance.

We saw the dome of the capitol, the Biltmore hotel, the Rhode Island Normal school, Turks Head building and many others towered in the sky.

At 3 p. m. we arrived at Barton street, where we left my sister for a few days.

My uncle and I drove home later in the afternoon after we had dinner.

I enjoyed my ride very much, but was very tired when we got home at 8 p. m.

The Grand Canyon

Dear Uncle Jed: The Grand Canyon of the Colorado is one of the greatest natural wonders of the world. The Colorado river in its course through the northwestern part of Arizona for more than 200 miles flows at the bottom of a deep trench or canyon whose walls are from 1,000 to 5,500 feet high. The canyon at the top varies from five to twelve miles in width.

My Pets

Dear Uncle Jed: Two of my pets are a little gray kitten and a tan calf with white spots. My pet kitten is Lindy and my pet calf is Rosy. Every day I go to school as usual and what do you think, Lindy comes after me. Of course, I have to send him home right away. My calf Rosy is very gentle. She is young and of course has to be fed by the mother cow.

And when I let her loose to let her have her breakfast or dinner she scampers all about the barn. One day, it was warm, and I let her loose. I thought she would stay in the yard, so I went in the house. When I came out I called to my brothers to start hunting for Rosy. We went in the orchard and hay fields, but she was not there. Last of all I said: "Let's go home." We went and when we got home my mother went to milk the cow and what do you suppose, but little Rosy herself helping herself for her own supper. That's how I once didn't have to feed my pet calf Rosy.

The Lincoln Park

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you in a long time. I send you a composition about the Lincoln flower park.

On visiting Lincoln park we observed many beautiful sights but none is so sincere in beauty as the flower garden on the island which is situated in the center of a picturesque lake.

The flowers are of different varieties and species. The most penetrating place in the garden is where different flower beds are made to represent an American flag. Magnificent magnolia bushes crown three sides of the island. Chryanthemums, Japanese jonquils, orchids, hyacinths and beds of nasturtiums also in separate flower beds and arranged in rows formed a beautiful background. The wild cherry trees which were celebrated for their thick foliage in summer stood in four corners of the garden.

At the entrance to the garden were many hothouses which served as homes for rooting plants in winter. Here, too, was a stand where flowers were sold as souvenirs. The money which is received from this helps to keep the garden in condition. My parents bought a bouquet which, although small, served as a souvenir.

My Fright

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. One fine morning in May I was sent to plant potatoes with my three brothers. We started about 8 o'clock in the morning. I carried the water and dinner. On the way we had to pass by the corn lot. As soon as we reached the potato patch we started to work because there was a great deal to be done and we decided to finish it that day. But although we worked faithfully the work was only half done when the sun was setting. My back ached from bending down.

As we were starting for home I told my brothers that I would go across the cornfield because it was a shorter way. As I was about half way across the cornfield I saw something black that seemed to be running toward me. I ran home as fast as my legs would carry me.

The next morning I was sent with my brothers to finish planting the potatoes. As we were passing the corn lot I noticed that it was the scarecrow that frightened me the night before. It seemed to be chasing me because of the wind which was flapping the tattered clothes.

When I think of that time it makes me laugh, because who would think of a scarecrow scaring people out of a cornfield instead of crows?

My Bantam Rooster.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you and as I always enjoy reading your page I hope the Wide-Awakes will like my crawls under the chicken yard gate day last winter my daddy brought home a little rooster. He is very small but he makes more noise crowing than all the other roosters. He always crawls unde rthe chicken yard gate and every morning he comes to the back door and crows and then I know it is time to get up and get ready for school. He is better than an alarm clock because you never have to wind him up.

A Log Cabin.

Dear Uncle Jed: I thought I would write to you and tell you about an old log cabin. One day when some girls and I were out walking we came upon an old log cabin that was nearly tumbling down. One girl said, "Let's go in." So we went in. When we got in one of the girls said "What is that noise?" We listened for a long time. Then we heard a noise. It was a bat in the chimney. We came outside and went around back of the cabin and there we saw some old fashioned flowers growing. We picked some and went home.

A Repentent Girl.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about Katie Brown's Pride. "I am not going to play with you any more," said Katie Brown, to her friend, Susy Earl. "I am rich and wear fine clothes, and you are poor and wear old clothes." Saying these words, Katie turned around and walked away like a peacock spreading its feathers. Susy was very grieved at hearing this because Katie was one of her best friends. She had never thought of being poor.

After a week had passed, Susy saw Katie sliding on the ice with some of her friends. All at once the ice broke and Katie fell in. All her friends screamed, but did not help her out. When Susy saw this, she ran and held Katie out of the water until men came to bring her home. If it had not been for Susy, Katie would have drowned.

Katie was sick for a few weeks, after having fallen into the water. She had many leisure moments to think of her conduct. She was very sorry for having been rude to her friend, Susy. She asked her forgiveness and told her she was very sorry. Susy forgave her, and now both were very good friends.

A Farm House

Dear Uncle Jed: One fine Sunday I went to visit my brother. He works on a farm. It is a large farm containing one hundred and twenty acres.

I first went to see the live stock. There were 34 cows in the barn and 7 horses. My brother milked the cows twice a day. Behind the barn were two sheds, in one the cows were kept. The other was for the farm machinery. I saw plows, mowing machines and harrows.

We next went to the field where the vegetables were planted. My brother said that they had potatoes, beets, corn and onions planted. "They were not up yet," he said. He showed me hot beds, too. In them I saw lettuce, and radishes. My brother said farm life is very pleasant and healthful.

Two Tommies.

Dear Uncle Jed: There were two Tommies in the same family, one was a little boy and the other one was a cat.

Tommy the little boy was not always neat but Tommy the cat was neat. His face and his coat were always white as snow. One day the cat was shut in the coal bin. He could not get out. When he got out he was all dirty. Tommy said to his mother, "Tommy is all dirty." His mother said, "Yes, but I know another little Tommy that is all dirty, too." The little boy put down his head and said that he would never get dirty again.

Corn

Dear Uncle Jed: Corn grows in the prairies. It is used for hominy, corn meal, and it is used for breakfast meal. The two leading corn states are Illinois and Iowa. All over our country people preserve fruits and vegetables for use in winter. Let us take corn as an example of how this work is done. The green corn is pulled from the stalks, and while fresh and juicy, is hurried to the cannery. Here the husks are torn from the ears, and poor ears are thrown out. The good corn is carried to machines that cut off the kernels, and then to screens that sift out the tough hulls and bits of corncob. The juicy corn now runs into great tubes, at the bottom of which a man feeds it into small cans. When filled, the cans are carried to a machine that presses on the covers. The corn is now cooked to preserve it. The cooking is done by steam. Labels are put on the cans which are then packed in boxes for market.

OPTIMISTIC VIEWS ARE PREVALENT OF OUTLOOK IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—The principal indices of business showed variable trends last week, with the entire situation again overshadowed by a continuation of the "bull market" on the stock exchange. If any appreciable progress has not been noted, however, at least current commentators took an optimistic view of the future, and predictions of good business in the second quarter were given in abundance.

Probably the outstanding feature in the week's business developments was the opening up of a way to agreement on the consolidation of eastern trunk line railroads. The long projected fifth trunk line, sponsored by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, was definitely eliminated, and a four-party plan brought nearer to consummation. Some months are expected to pass, however, before the details of the realignment of the small roads can be put into working form.

The heavy industries showed mixed trends. The steel trade was operating slightly behind last year's averages, but signs pointed to a slight increase before the passage of many days. Buying apparently had quieted down somewhat, but not to a degree to create the least uneasiness. Prices were virtually unchanged from the previous week.

March sales of ten leading makers of automobiles had an appreciable gain over last year. Estimates for the entire industry indicate production about on the level of that in the present period of 1927.

Car loadings gave no cause for rejoicing, again dipping below the figures for the corresponding period of 1927. The largest portion of the loss, however, was made up by the reduction in shipments of coal, which were running at a high level last year in anticipation of the bituminous strike.

The petroleum industry was affected again by an increase in crude production. Coal prices suffered the usual seasonal decline, encouraging some new buying, but the failure of operators and miners in the middle west to reach an agreement on a wage scale created considerable uncertainty.

Rubber prices were hammered down substantially following an announcement that the restrictions in British exports had been removed. There was a feeling, nevertheless, that the market would show a material recovery and consequent stabilization within a reasonably short time.

Copper prices stiffened again, due to enormous buying of the metal, which was expected to swell the volume of business in this branch of trade to the second largest figure on record. Gasoline prices were increased in some parts of the country. Sugar quotations established a new peak for the year.

The textile industry was little changed from preceding weeks, with moderate activity in cotton, wool and silks. Retail trade picked up measureably with the opening up of springlish weather, while wholesaling and job bnig business appeared to mark time for the moment.

The crop situation likewise showed mixed conditions, with planting of corn, oats and barley under way in some regions of the eastern south. Improved conditions in southern wheat have resulted from rains.

Bank clearings in the leading financial centers showed good gains over the preceding week and the corresponding period of last year.

MONEY

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7—April fifth treasury balance, $423,905,984.49; custom receipts, $1,673,380.12; custom receipts this month $8,031,749.44.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, April 8—(AP)—Earnings on the preferred stock of Otis Elevator company for 1927 were around $90 a share on the 65,000 shares. The annual dividend rate is $6 a share. The financial strength of the company is reflected in working capital of $20,766,000 and property accounts and investments in foreign and domestic corporations, $21,684,000, a total of $42,450,000, which is equivalent to about 6 1-2 times the preferred stock issue. The current market value of the preferred is around $125 a share.

General Electric company has developed a new lighting unit designed especially for the illumination of highways. It is of simple construction and the light is diffused entirely by means of the combination glass globe and refractor which encloses the lamp. It may be mounted on standard poles already on highways, and does not require installation at excessive heights.

Unsatisfactory conditions in state laws affecting banks and efforts of state tax authorities to procure an amendment of the federal law governing the right of the states to tax national banks, has led American Bankers' association officials to arrange for a special tax conference as a feature of the annual spring council meeting in Augusta, Georgia, April 16 to 19. All phases of the tax problem will be discussed.

Copper producers are said to take the attitude that prices will not go to a level that might weaken the present strong situation, demand and consumption now being about as large as it ever was. The industry does not expect the quotation will go much above 14 1-2 cents a pound for the next six months, it is reported, as this level affords a reasonable profit for all companies.

All outstanding bonds of the province of Buenos Aires 7 per cent. external sinking fund gold bond issue, consolidation loan of 1926, due May 1, 1958, have been called for redemption on May 1, 1928, the next interest payment date, Hallgarten & Co., and Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., fiscal agents, announce.

Based on the average of 618 fires a day, or about one every three minutes, that have been recorded by insurance bureaus for years, R. S. Haskins, member of the National Fire Protection association, says it is a safe estimate that about 6,000 lives will be lost in more than 225,000 fires that will occur in 1928 in city dwellings throughout the United States. About $66,000,000 in residential property is burned up annually.

SOMETHING IN THE WOOD-PILE DISCOVERED IN NEW LONDON CELLAR

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 8.—The store of Mathew Rotsko, 137 North Bank street, was raided Saturday afternoon with the discovery of about 15 gallons of alcohol and whiskey of the bootleg variety, found secreted in the cellar. Mrs. Rotsko was arrested charged with violation of the liquor law. She furnished a surety on her bond of $1000 in Morris Rifkin and will be given a hearing in the police court Monday morning. The police had received several complaints that Mrs. Rotsko was selling liquor. Detective Sergeants Nelson Smith and John Cavanaugh and Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolmen Clarence Wells and George Perkins, after having secured a search warrant from Judge S. Victor Prince, went to the house and conducted a thorough search. The officers, who had raided the building on previous occasions without success, were satisfied that liquor was stored on the premises and when a search of the store did not reveal the hiding place of the stuff the officers went to the cellar. Liquor was not found there until a large quantity of wood piled from the floor nearly to the ceiling was disturbed. The three cans of booze was found, two of the cans containing home-made whiskey and the other can containing alcohol. All was taken to police headquarters as evidence and the woman was arrested. Two hours after she was liberated, Mrs. Rotska returned to police headquarters and made a complaint, alleging that the seized alcohol and liquor was not her property and that it had been placed where it was found without her knowledge or consent. Mrs. Rotsko has been arrested on a before for violation of the liquor law.

GROTON YOUTH NABBED WHILE PEEKING IN A WINDOW

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 8.—Stanley Wheaton, 212 Thames street, Groton, aged 16, and employed as a laborer, was in New London Saturday night and started to amuse himself by the role of a "Peeping Tom." He went to Cottage street about 10.30 where he was peeping into the window of the home of Charles Harrold. He was detected by Harrold, who escorted Wheaton to police headquarters. He was locked up but later released when his father, H. E. Wheaton, qualified as surety on his son's bond of $50 to assure the youth's explanation in the police court Monday.

George L. Ney, a weaver residing at 21 Hebron street, was arrested Saturday night charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. He will be in court Monday. Ney went to his home in an intoxicated condition about 11 o'clock and created such a disturbance that his wife made complaint to Patrolman Harry Watterson, who arrested Ney.

Frantis Gargano, 442 Vauxhall street, a mason, was arrested by Patrolman Frank Pallopena and Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray, Saturday night, charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. He was on North Bank street creating a disturbance. Gargano will be in court Monday.

Besides the more serious cases that will be presented in court, there are several who will answer to charges of simple intoxication and violation of the automobile laws.

Frank B. Walker, manager of the Hotel Mohican, made complaint to the police Saturday that "no parking" signs which had been in front of the hotel had been stolen. Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray was assigned to make an investigation and found that the signs near the State street entrance were in proper position, but one that had been located on Meridian street, had been taken away.

In an endeavor to rush to completion the work of widening and repaving Bank street, between State and Tilley streets, men were kept at their labors throughout today. It is the desire that the work be completed as early in June as possible for by that time traffic in this city will be at its height.

Samuel Killingworth, United States Coast Guard academy, was arrested by Patrolman Lewis Wheeler Saturday night, being charged with breach of the peace and intoxication. Killingworth was arrested on State street where he created a disturbance. He will be presented in court Monday.

Entrance by crooks of the summer residence of Mrs. Otis Dimock, 923 Ocean avenue, corner of Glenwood avenue, Friday afternoon or night, was made, but no loot was taken from the mansion. The break was discovered Saturday by the caretaker, who discovered a window forced and reported the fact to the police. An investigation did not reveal any clues.

Two automobiles that had been parked in the highway several days were removed to storage by the police Saturday. One of the cars, a Nash roadster, had been parked on Jefferson avenue, near Garfield, and the other, a Buick, had been parked on Cutler street for three days.

The funeral of Virgilio Battelli, of 225 Shaw street, was held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. The bearers were Frank Ferry, Antone Rochetti, Michael Feeney, John Fordell, Charles Maxson and Bambos Covi. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Funeral services for Orazio Spinnato, of 123 Jefferson avenue, who received fatal injuries when he was struck by a steam shovel of the New Haven railroad by which he was employed, were held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and were attended by a large gathering of mourners. The bearers were Michael Angelo Spinnato, Vincenzo Piscatella, Guiseppi Piscatella, Agustus Alfiera and Dominick Alfiera. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Emma M. Jones, 79, widow of Capt. Alonzo C. Jones, died Saturday at her residence, 50 Blinman street, after an illness of 17 years, three of which Mrs. Jones was confined to her bed. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. William E. Patterson and a brother, William Spiers. Mrs. Jones was born in Quincy, Mass., but had resided in New London since childhood.

Fenner, the following officers were elected: First vice president, Mrs. Adella Warner; second vice president, Mrs. William Cone; recording secretary, Mrs. Harriet Prince; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Raymond E. Thayer; treasurer, Mrs. Harry B. Hansom; chairman of post office commission, Miss Minnie Caulkins. Plans were laid for the annual church supper.

The annual ball of the New London lodge of Elks is to be held on the roof of the Hotel Mohican. Shepard and Swanson's orchestra is to furnish music.

Manuel Perry, 323 Jefferson avenue, charged on two counts with violation of the liquor law, who intended to fight the case, changed his mind when in police court Saturday and entered a demurrer. Perry was fined $200 and costs on each count, making about $425.

James Fenn, a youthful stranger, was presented on a charge of train riding, but he was not penalized, being given a suspension of judgment. He was arrested Friday night by Special Agent John Anderson, New Haven railroad, who detected Fenn riding a freight. A young man charged with intoxication, who was arrested on Golfverson avenue, Friday night, was given a suspension of judgment also.

John Mulcahey, 16 Tilley street, will be in the police court Monday charged with breach of the peace. Mulcahey was ordered Saturday to appear in court following complaint being made to Desk Sergeant William Babcock by Mrs. Charles Sizer, 118 Howard street, who said that Mulcahey had struck her daughter, Lorraine, 11. Mrs. Sizer alleges that her daughter was at play on the sidewalk near the Sizer home with companions and that as Mulcahey was passing, the child ran in front of him, to be struck and knocked down.

Morris O'Connell, a charge at Hillside home, the city's home for the poor, made his escape from the institution this evening. O'Connell has been a source of concern for the keepers of the home ever since he has been under restraint there.

The Connecticut Power company was communicated with and a repair gang was assigned to place the wire back in position.

The Easter parade in New London was not of the usual gaiety that is the case in the past for there was but a semblance of the dress that has been in evidence in years past. Even at Ocean Beach, on the Boardwalk, where there has always been a display of feminine styles, there was an absence of the fair sex.

The churches on Easter were well filled with attendants at worship, particularly at St. Joseph's, St. Mary's and St. James' Episcopal churches. Tonight the latter church, as well as the First Church of Christ, the Second Congregational church and the Methodist Episcopal church, the Huntington Street Baptist and the First Baptist and the Montauk Baptist church were well attended.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Time was when the police detective was a beetle-browed individual with a derby dat and flat feet, and the gangster a villainous looking thug in a sweater.

But those days are gone forever, as Lon Chaney demonstrates in his newest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle, The Big City, now playing at the Palace theatre. The detective looks like a salesman or insurance agent, and the gangster is a tailored person who looks like a lawyer or doctor.

The Big City is an ultra modern romance of gangster life in New York—none the less thrilling because it is based on fact, and the conventional characters of the underworld are conspicuous by their absence. It portrays the gangster chief, played by Chaney, as a modern crook with a cabaret as a cloak for his activities and insurance against being "vagged" on suspicion, and the detectives and policemen are all modern New York types—far from the usual screen conception.

This is one reason, perhaps, why the story rings so true. Chaney as the masterful but sinister Chuck Collins, has a role that he plays in a unique combination of makeup and histrionic disguise, and Marceline Day as the little shopgirl, innocently caught in the mazes of one of his plots, is appealingly sweet. James Murray, as the young gangster who attains regeneration through the influence of the girl, plays a difficult role with a well-balanced sense of artistry, while Betty Compson, as the hard-boiled "moll" of the gangster leader, has one of the best acting roles in which she has appeared for a long time. In a way it suggests her role in The Miracle Man, in which she and Chaney won fame together, which is odd, for this is the first time they have played together since.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ADVERTISES FOR HELP

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 8.—It is expected that hundreds of people who are either unemployed or desire to better their present positions will call at the chamber of commerce office on Main street during the next three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, to register on the prospective employment list of an industrial concern contemplating to locate in Willimantic. Cards will be handed to those calling at the office. Meanwhile chamber of commerce officials are not losing any time in continuing negotiations with prospective concerns and with the many contacts being made it is hoped that at least one of these companies will come to this city to locate. The registration is open to anyone regardless of present residence. Secretary Earl J. Arnold has paid personal visits to industrial officials in other cities and expressed the result of these conferences as gratifying.

Breed Theatre

Richard Barthelmess gave the most amazing performance of his career in The Patent Leather Kid, First National's great story of the tank corps, which opened last night at the Breed theatre, following its sensational Broadway run.

Only an artist of consummate skill could sympathetically portray the East Side boxer who is drafted into the war, enters it hating his country because of this, and who proves a real hero when he is once under fire.

In choosing an actor to play The Kid it was necessary for First National to find a man who was an athlete and could box, and at the same time one who was a finished actor, capable of creating sympathy for a character who during the greater part of the picture appears almost a cad and a coward.

Barthelmess was a happy selection for the role, for he again demonstrates that he is one of the great actors of the screen, and his portrayal of The Kid is one of the finest bits of screen acting that has ever been recorded on celluloid.

Rupert Hughes wrote The Patent Leather Kid soon after the war. The screen adaptation was by Adele Rogers St. John, and the picture is an Alfred Santell production, under the production management of Al Rockett.

Pretty Molly O'Day plays opposite Barthelmess, and as the result of her work in this picture wins a personal triumph. She is easily the screen find of the year. A large and excellent company is seen in support. This is a picture that you must see at once.

In conjunction there is shown the first edition of the McCall Fashion News. One would need be more a critic on gowns and wraps than of pictures to accurately criticize this one. In it Hope Hampton displays all of the latest Parisienne creations. We assume they must be all of the latest, for there are a large number of them, and they are all very beautiful. There are gowns and wraps for all occasions, and they are done in color to completely reveal their effectiveness. It is a picture that should have a tremendous appeal to feminine audiences, and the average male will not be averse to gazing upon Miss Hampton for the few minutes necessary to display the complete wardrobe. He will get considerable satisfaction out of her loveliness and a powerful kick with the realization that he did not have to supply the gowns and wraps.

Burton Agency Sells Another.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fargo have sold their property consisting of a seven room house and about two acres of land, located at 221 Maple street, to Lovering and Mary Carpenter of this city who will occupy it for their home. The sale was negotiated through the real estate agency of Mrs. Rosa E. Burton.

Leases Wauregan Hotel Store

The Main street entrance to the Wauregan hotel is to be turned into store space and has already been leased by the Buckingham Shop of which Miss Maud C. Buckingham is proprietor. Work in making the changes is underway. Miss Buckingham's shop will have an entrance from the hotel lobby besides the entrance from the Main front, and is thus the first store in Norwich to conform to this modern practice in metropolitan cities of having an entrance from a hotel lobby besides the regular street entrance. Miss Buckingham has been in her present location in the Disco building for five years and is preparing to move as soon as the new store can be ready for her.

Strand Theatre.

The cooperation of Knickerbocker, Bellevue and Allied hospitals in New York and leading members of the medical profession in the production of the photoplay, Motherhood, which was shown at the Strand theatre yesterday before an adult audience, lent authority to the depiction of the best methods of care for a woman throughout her time of expectant maternity, right up through her hospital ordeal.

Here is a picture that thousands of people in every town ought to be waiting to see. Even fathers and mothers of families will probably learn much from it in the way of sane advice, and all of the prospective fathers and mothers of the land owe it to themselves as well as to their prospective children to see it.

The performance will be repeated tomorrow and Wednesday.

A bridge is being built over the Idaho river at the great height of 490 feet.

"Wash Dishes to Keep Hands Nice"
Beauty Expert Advises Girls

Girls, perhaps you hate doing the dishes. Listen to what Miss Susan Breslin, teacher in a famous New York beauty school, says—

"Washing dishes makes beautiful hands—provided it is done with pure Lux suds."

Miss Breslin explains that "the very thorough gentle cleansing that one gets from Lux suds is excellent for the skin." She adds:

"However, the good effect of this thorough cleansing is lost and much harm done, if ordinary household soap is used. Such soaps often contain harmful alkalis, which dry up the oils of the skin, leading to wrinkles and coarsening of texture.

"Lux is so mild that it protects the skin oils and soothes the skin.

"My students are trained to use Lux suds in manicuring the nails, and the home woman will find that after doing dishes with Lux, her nails and hands look lovely.

"There are few beauty secrets so easy and inexpensive to follow and few that give such wonderful results as the use of Lux for dishes."

POETRY

Comradeship Immortal

Love asserts that no destruction
Touches friends we lose by death;
Comradeship of kindred spirits
Does not cease with ceasing breath!
Interference cannot reach it,
Cannot quench its fervid flame;
Though unseen the form familiar,
Spirits live and love the same!
True affection must be deathless,
Spirits share its vital charm;
Flesh may yield, but spirit never
Fears death's terror and alarm!
Comradeship is not dependent
On the sight or spoken word;
There's a fellowship of lovers,
Manifest, unseen, unheard!
Cheering more than any presence,
Helping more than any hand,
Blessing more than closest friendships
Of the sore we understand!
Death but lifts the curtains hiding
Undisclosed reality,
Shows the glories in existence
Mortal eyes could never see,
And intensifies relations
Love and love alone employs
In a comradeship increasing
And surpassing mortal joys!

—Rev. William Wood.

Sassafras

Fringing cypress forests dim
Where the owl makes weird abode,
Bending down with spicy limb
O'er the old plantation road,
Through the swamp and up the hill,
Where the dappled byways run,
Round the ginhouse, by the mill,
Floats its incense to the sun.

Swift to catch the voice of spring,
Soon its tasselled blooms appear;
Modest is their blossoming,
Breathing balm and waving cheer;
Rare the greeting that they send
To the fragrant wildwood blooms,
Bidding every blossom blend
In a chorus of perfumes.

On it leans the blackberry vine,
With white sonnys caressingly;
Round its knees the wild peas twine,
Beckoning to yellow bee;
Through its boughs the red bird flits
Like a living flake of fire,
And with love-enlightened wits
Weaves his nest and tunes his lyre.

Oh, where skies are summer-kissed
And the drowsy days are long,
Neath the sassafras to list
To the field-hand's mellow song!
Or, more sweet than chimes that hang
In some old cathedral dome,
Catch the distant klingle-klang
Of the cowbells tinkling home!

—Samuel Minturn Peck.

NORWICH TOWN

EASTER OBSERVANCE BEGINS WITH A SUNRISE SERVICE

Beautiful weather Easter Sunday attracted large congregations to the three Norwich Town churches. Under the auspices of the First Methodist and the First Congregational C. E. societies, a most impressive sunrise service at 7:30 was held in the Methodist church. Acting Superintendent Lewis E. Aldrich presided at the service which opened with the hymns, "Holy, Holy, Holy" and "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today." Miss Effie Tyler, president of the Methodist C. E. society, read the Scripture lesson, Rev. 22:1-10, which was followed with prayers by Mrs. George L. Randall. The Easter sermon was by Rev. Charles E. Reeves. Preceding this, Mr. Aldrich, in introducing the theme "Crusade With Christ," said: "The Crusade seeks to center the attention of all Christian young people on the three great themes, Evangelism, Christian Citizenship and World Peace; to unite in service the existing organizations of young people as they work toward these three goals."

"The Living Christ and the New Crusade" was the title of Rev. Mr. Reeves' inspiring address. A color meter was used, representing Youth Crusading with Christ. Rev. Mr. Reeves pointed out the eager, courageous, clean, modern young people surging forward from the church to accomplish the ideals of the Crusade—Evangelism, World Peace and Citizenship—all this done under the benign influence of the Crusader of other days. The hymn, "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult," followed by prayer and benediction by Rev. Mr. Reeves, brought the service to a close.

As the newly appointed pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. G. H. Potter, has not yet come to Norwich Town, the morning worship was in charge of the district superintendent, Rev. Myron E. Genter, who preached a forceful sermon from II Corinthians 2:14. Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the Savour of His knowledge by us in every place. Rev. Mr. Genter's introductory words were: Truly this Man is the Son of God. Christ on the cross is Saviour of man. He became actually alive. He was dead and yet lives and keeps His promise and is with every believer. From the beginning we might know He would rise again. As God raised Christ, He will also raise us by His power. Mrs. Lewis Aldrich, organist, was in charge of the following musical program: Voluntary, Easter hymn, by James J. Freeman; vocal solo, The Stone is Rolled Away, Lewis Aldrich; prayer, Mrs. Ella Richardson sang, The Angels' Message, by B. O. Klein; at the offertory the junior choir sang Overshadowed Are the Skies. Mrs. Aldrich played as the postlude, Festival March, by E. R. Kroeger. The decorations comprised palms and Easter lilies arranged about the pulpit. On a table inside the chancel rail was a beautiful blossoming pink begonia, while on either side were ferns and palms.

At the Sacred Heart church, unusually large congregations attended both masses, a large number having received holy communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass, during which the junior choir sang the hymns. The pastor, Rev. Edward J. Quinn, read the gospel for the day, St. Mark 16:1-7. At the 10 o'clock mass, Hamma's high mass was sung by the choir, Miss Mary Buckley and Henry Jarvis sustaining the solo parts. Mrs. William Murphy, organist, was in charge of the music at both masses. The purple vestments worn by the priest during Lent, were replaced by those of white, embroidered in gold. Under the direction of the Altar society, the altar was attractively decorated with Easter lilies, carnations, roses and daffodils arranged among palms. Typical of the light that shone among the Gentiles was the Paschal candle at the gospel side of the altar. Benediction of the blessed sacrament concluded the last mass.

"I am the Resurrection and the Life," John 11:25, was the text of Rev. Gurdon P. Bailey's sermon at the First Congregational church, where a large congregation assembled for the morning worship, some being present from out of town. The musical part of the service under direction of Organist Herbert L. Yerrington included two special anthems, The Day of Resurrection, Spence, and Now Is Christ Risen, by J. Lincoln Hall. The offertory solo; Message of the Lilies, by Minetti, was sung by Mrs. Charles Schwenk. Assisting the regular choir were Misses Ruth and Louise Sterry, also Harold Bailey, of Hartford, and Frederick H. Wyant. Mr. Wyant sang the solo in the anthem. The platform was a bower of beauty with a variety of flowering plants, given in memory of Mrs. Walter Potter, by her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Wallen (Ruth Lathrop Potter), of Hartford. These comprised showering palms, Easter lilies, tulips, spiraea, pink and white hyacinths and ferns. On the table at the front of the pulpit was an Easter lily, given by a relative in memory of Mrs. William Potter (Lillian Tufts).

In the course of his eloquent sermon, Rev. Mr. Bailey said: If the power of Jesus Christ is within us we have begun already to share in His resurrection. We are living by the power of endless life. All that is best in this world is a pledge of what we shall find in the life ahead. Your holiest emotions today do not differ save in degree from your emotions in heaven.

Life is glorious in its possibilities because it is immortal.

When Home chapter of The King's Daughters holds its April meeting this (Monday) afternoon at the Johnson home, Mrs. Herbert R. Branche is to read a paper and Mrs. Charles Schwenk will sing an Easter solo.

PATIENT ESCAPED TO STONINGTON WITH STATE HOSPITAL FIRE TRUCK

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 8—Leroy Buddington, of Poquonoc Bridge, a patient at Norwich state hospital, made a novel escape from the institution Saturday afternoon and that he did not fatally injured himself or pedestrians or autoists was nothing short of miraculous for he made his escape in the hospital fire apparatus and was not captured until after he had traveled about 25 miles and at a reckless rate of speed. Buddington, who was committed to the hospital several months ago after displaying symptoms of violence without provocation, watched his opportunity to take possession of the truck about 3 o'clock. Going to the garage and observing that he was not watched, Buddington jumped to the seat and started the engine. He stepped on the accelerator as the car was driven through the hospital grounds and it speeded to the military highway. Buddington headed the apparatus for New London and at a terrific rate of speed. When he reached Groton, instead of crossing the Thames river highway bridge, Buddington diverted the course of the car, heading towards Center Groton. The New London and state police had been notified of Buddington's escape and were maintaining a watch for the fleeing insane man, but the message of Buddington's escape was received by the authorities just after the fugitive had arrived in Groton. When the state police were informed that the truck had been observed heading for Center Groton, Officer Donald Johnson, state police, started in pursuit. Realizing that Buddington had a good start, Johnson speeded his automobile to the limit and raced it through Center Groton, and Mystic. Continuing his chase, the officer speeded towards Stonington and approaching the town Johnson espied the truck in the distance. Continuing the chase and with his car being driven at its fullest speed, the officer finally overtook the fire truck as the apparatus was slowed to make a curve. Pulling slightly in advance of the apparatus, Johnson shut off his power and applied the brake, then leaping to the step of the truck as it was about to pass. Buddington was compelled to bring the truck to a stop for he obeyed the command without any display of battle. Buddington and the truck were taken to the state police barracks and during the late afternoon both were taken in charge by hospital attendants.

PROPOSE CORN GROWING CONTEST IN COUNTY

At a recent meeting of the directors of the New London County Agricultural society it was voted that a county corn growing contest be conducted to show the possibility of growing corn in New London county. If there is enough interest manifested in such a contest, seed corn and fertilizer will probably be furnished free to all contestants. It is proposed to have them plant an acre of corn.

Farmers all over the country are being urged to get in touch with the secretary, L. M. Crandall at Norwich for registration blanks and to offer any suggestion they may desire in regard to this contest. Directors were present representing the different towns in the county at the last meeting and everyone seems to think that such a contest would prove to be most profitable.

The corn will be harvested and judged on the farm where it is grown. The New London County Farm bureau will cooperate with the New London County Agricultural society in making this project a real success.

FLEET CORPORATION WINS AGAINST G. L. W. TRUSTEE

In an opinion handed down by Judge Edwin S. Thomas in U. S. district court at New Haven Saturday morning, the U. S. Shipping board emergency fleet corporation, defendant, is upheld in a suit brought against it by P. LeRoy Harwood, trustee in bankruptcy for Groton Iron Works.

The case which came into federal court from the superior court of Connecticut involves an alleged breach of contract in ship construction from which a release was granted the fleet corporation. The plaintiff alleged the release was gained by fraud and misrepresentation on March 26, 1920.

Judge Thomas in his opinion, stated that the plaintiff failed to sustain his allegations and upheld the decision given in the case by the first master.

TWO WERE DRUNK WHEN SEEKING DRIVER'S LICENSE

Drunken driving was stopped before it began in at least two instances during 1927, the state police have reported to the state motor vehicle department. Licenses to drive automobiles were refused two men who were intoxicated when they applied for the examination given prospective drivers. One of the men might have been rejected for a different reason, that of defective vision, for he admitted to the state policeman, who was the examiner, that he could not "see anything."

Eleven reasons for rejecting 4,343 applicants are given by the state police in a report covering examinations made during the year. The number applying was 57,553. Almost half of those rejected, 2,034, were refused licenses because they lacked sufficient knowledge of the state's motor vehicle laws, and 1,985 were rejected because they could not operate properly.

Illiteracy, manifest in most cases by inability to read and write the words commonly used in highway direction signs, was responsible for the rejection of 238 applicants, or about 5 per cent of the total number rejected. One person was found to be so dull mentally that it was judged unsafe to allow him to drive a car. Another refused to pay the examination fee of $2, a charge fixed by statute.

While all applicants were given "eye-sight" tests, only 70, or about .0012 per cent of those applying, were found to have defective vision, or insufficient power of sight to meet the ordinary hazards of traffic.

Five applicants, each under 16 years of age, gave false ages, but careful checking by the examiners revealed the true ages and licenses were refused. Another applied without attempting to conceal the fact that he had not reached the proper age. Five drivers were offered a second examination but failed to appear and their applications were rejected. One driver appeared with a car defective in several particulars. It was ruled that lack of knowledge of the regulations concerning proper equipment and care for vehicles made the applicant unfit to receive an operator's certificate.

WILL DO GRADING OF POQUONOC AVIATION FIELD

Work of grading the part of the Plant estate at Poquonoc on which the state has an option for development into an airport will take about six weeks, according to the landscape gardener, who has completed a survey of the field.

Under the terms of the option the state has the power to grade the property and it is expected that work will be started on this work in the near future that the field will be ready for use by the national guard air squadron this summer.

The plaintiff claimed that on Sept. 1, 1925, the defendant ordered a certain quantity of weather-strip for his Faire Harbour Place residence and that subsequently he ordered certain other weather-strip for $15. The original agreement, it was alleged was for $250 and when it was manufactured and sent there, the defendant refused to accept it.

CONGREGATIONS FILL NORWICH CHURCHES

herit. This first man was created in innocence, but by yielding to temptation, lost his innocence, acquired a knowledge of good and evil, and experienced the conviction and feeling of a guilty conscience. In a word, evil-doing infected his originally pure nature and hence he could transmit only a tainted and infected nature to his offspring. But we are all supposed to trace back to the first Adam. And the long heredity which has intervened between us and Adam and the multiplied effects of the evil infection of human nature, caused by the sinful indulgence of countless generations, give some idea of what it means to be natural or fleshly. It means material, sensuous, gross views of life. The natural man is the selfish man. "Self is the center and circumference of all his activities, at once the lord of his faculties and the God of his worship." Rather than allow the social element within him to control the personal—his sympathy with man and God to subordinate his selfish desires and ambitions—he submerges all social sympathies and affections in the rising seas of personal interest and pleasures. He is a practical atheist. He sees nothing but natural law. his one ruling motto is "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." This is the meaning of naturalism in human nature. It is nature as it has come down to us in developed form from the first Adam. Now, though, the evolutionist comes to us with a different story of man's origin and descent; he has a somewhat similar story to tell us of man's historical life and development. According to evolution, its final end and goal was man's body, but that when man came on to the stage of the world, he came weighted down with his animal inheritance. And all his natural progress has been but the slow climbing up from under the handicaps imposed on him by his animal ancestry. Slowly, as the result of continual struggle and endeavor, he has been out-growing and rising above his animal inheritance. But, meanwhile, animal appetites and passions and all the brute instincts have been natural and normal to him. And whenever he has allowed himself to stop struggling, or to drift, he has inevitably gone back to his animal barbarism, to a life dominated by sensual and material interests and pleasures. Thus in both the Genesis story and that of evolution the conclusion is much the same. The natural, man comes first. And by the natural man is meant the sensual, the selfish, the material man, the man who is controlled by his animal desires and instincts. As an example of the highest civilization, the natural man had been able to build before the coming of the "second Adam," the Christ. Mr. Brown reviewed the characteristics of the Roman empire of Christ's day, showing that even the noblest Romans of the day, such as Seneca, Cicero and Marcus Aurelius, while possessed of some noble and humane sentiments, were yet, in many respects, grossly material and selfish in their treatment of public interests, and men of their times. And as for humane and humanitarian institutions and practices there was a marked lack among the people of even such a thing as consideration for the oppressed and the submerged classes. If we of this day have traveled a long way in advance of such a state of things, as our innumerable hospitals, homes for children and the aged, and our other philanthropies convincingly assure us, it is because of the coming into the world of the "second" or "last" Adam. For Christ came to be a new Adam, a new head to the race, a head from whom we might receive a new, a powerful, a divine impulse and inspiration towards the higher life, the life of the spirit. "I am come," said Christ, "that they might have life, and that they might have it in abundance." The law, the tendency, the spirit, communicated to us from the second Adam, is one that works out into the life of the soul, in its rich fruitage of sympathy, compassion, tenderness and love, as manifested in both Christian individuals and nations. This is the spiritual evolution started by Christ and still in process of realization.

Greeneville Congregational Church

Rev. Charles H. Ricketts spoke on Sunday at the Greeneville Congregational church, taking for his subject The Immortal Hope, the text being found in II Cor. 5:1. "If the earthly house of our tabernacle be destroyed, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

The thoughts which the speaker expressed were grouped under three headings as containing the main evidence we have supporting the doctrine of the Resurrection and the immortal life. Our main inspiration comes from the plain, simple story of this great fact as given in the four gospels.

There is no really conclusive evidence of a resurrection apart from the teaching of the Bible, but that establishes the fact beyond all reasonable doubt. The sincerity of these narratives are indubitable, and have been accepted as such for nearly 20 centuries. The revelations of this natural world give us presumptive evidence of the continuity of life.

We ought to remember that presumptive evidence is not necessarily conclusive evidence but it goes a long way to support it. We find one of the great laws of physics to be that of the indestructibility of matter. Forces may change the channels through which they operate, but they lose nothing in so doing. A drop of water that was in existence a million years ago exists today. It may have gone through all the changes of snow, ice, sleet, mist, fog and steam. If there is continuity of life in the natural world why not in the spiritual? This presumes immortality of the soul, but the argument is not conclusive. Human life does not reach its final goal apart from the chance of larger expansion after death.

The pattern we are weaving on the loom of life is not finished when death takes us. There is no such thing as a finished life on earth. In reality the spiritual life is only begun here below. Have we not a right to claim expansion of what we cannot fulfil on earth? This is presumptive evidence that God in His goodness will provide the opportunity.

Third Baptist Church

Rev. S. P. Brothwell, pastor of the Third Baptist church, took for the topic of his special Easter morning message to his congregation, Jesus and the Resurrection. There was a large congregation and the church was attractively decorated. Rev. Mr. Brothwell said in his sermon:

On this glad Easter morning the whole atmosphere thrills with life. Something has happened; a tremendous something; the world has awakened to a sense of the significance of this something. An enemy has been slain; death has received its death blow; the sting has been removed; the Christ of God is alive for evermore. This is the cause of our rejoicing. It has been rightly said that "the entire structure of Christianity rests upon an empty tomb. On this Easter day we would proclaim to all the world the glad tidings: Life, eternal life, is the theme of the ages. This morning is full of the colors of a radiant hope, a glorious certainty. The message of the resurrection is the most powerful factor in the elevating of human thought. When believed, the soul takes a fresh grip upon things. A powerful dynamic has been placed within the reach of erring man, and the soul harnessed to this dynamic is victorious. The drag of the mysterious, yet real, potency of evil loses its power, and a life of sacrificial service, becomes a delightful possibility. The message of the resurrection is essentially spiritual; it is wholly occupied with what lies beyond the known boundaries of human activities. It deals with the other side of life.

To the early church the resurrection was not a myth; it was a fact. Their message was clear, carrying conviction into the hearts of their hearers. "We have seen the risen Lord," was their theme. The preaching of Jesus and the resurrection is an up-to-date theme. The world needs a Jesus; the world needs a resurrection. Jesus has given to the world new standards of achievement; new incentives to success. On the first Easter day a new breath swept over the earth, calling into play the latent possibilities within the soul of man. A new thrill of power made itself manifest; the whole moral realm was stirred; righteousness triumphant began an onward march, and gathered a mighty army from the degraded and fallen human race, raising within the followers new conceptions of themselves. Nothing less than the resurrection could have brought this to pass. We are overjoyed to know, on this Easter day, that ours is not a butterfly experience; that we are not creatures of a day; that the fact of immortality has been established; that we are destined to live forever. Such a conception makes the struggle of our earthly experience really worth while.

The message of the resurrection is indeed the marrow of the Gospel; it is the secret spring of a strong and victorious Christian experience. Let us visit again the empty tomb, and see the place where the Lord lay. After examining the evidence, let us go out into the world and proclaim, Jesus and the resurrection, using in our testimony the words of the early disciples, "We have seen the Lord!" They saw and believed, "blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed."

First Baptist Church

Twenty-four young people of the First Baptist church attended a sunrise service at 6 o'clock Sunday morning on a hill off Maple street. Miss Mazie Stamm was the leader of the service. Breakfast was served at the conclusion of the service. Rev. E. C. Dunbar, pastor of the church, was among those present.

There was a large congregation at the Sunday morning service at the church, which was prettily decorated in Easter flowers. Rev. Mr. Dunbar spoke on the topic, The Sense of Immortality. His text was John 11:25—I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth on me, though he die, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die.

The two main arguments offered against a belief in immortality are first that the life of the individual is not of sufficient consequence to continue after death said Rev. Mr. Dunbar. The second is the testimony of science "that the conscious life of man, which we associate with the spirit, is so dependent upon man's physical organism, that with the dissolution of the body consciousness must cease." Thus science says "that personality cannot exist apart from the body." It is true that science, as such, knows of no life after death. But science knows very little about life. Life is observed and studied but science does not tell us what life is.

Whenever one of our loved ones dies we are brought face to face with the question of immortality. One can be of little help in such a situation. It is a time when the bereaved person must stand on his own faith. One can be sympathetic and comforting and rehearse his own faith, but one cannot impart faith to another. He must see the light through the clouds of sorrow himself. If one has faith one will stand the shock. There is the secret of the sense of immortality—faith. Faith in God and immortality are twin sisters and go hand in hand, if one dies the other goes with her sister.

I sense immortality because I believe in the God that Jesus Christ came to reveal—the Heavenly Father who loves His creations, but loves those created in His own image infinitely more, a God who loves his children as no earthly father can love his. "The very hairs of your head are numbered." One who knows us better than we know ourselves is not going to desert us when our body returns to the dust.

I am convinced of immortality because Jesus teaches it. "And whosoever liveth and believeth on me shal never die." "In my father's house are many mansions—I go to prepare a place for you." His teaching is backed up by his character. It was Mill who said, "Religion cannot be said to have made a bad choice in pitching on this man as the ideal representative and guide of humanity." Paul seldom quotes what Jesus said. Yet the center of all his teaching is the risen Lord.

The resurrection of Jesus is the foundation stone of the Christian's belief in immortality. Paul staked the whole gospel upon the resurrection. The empty tomb has had the most pitiless lights of investigation turned upon it but it is still believed. The fact that the resurrection took place at Jerusalem and not in some hidden village speaks for itself. The event did not take place in a corner but in the center of activty. The disciples did not expect the resurrection. It was forced upon them and they had to believe it. Just as the returning birds are coming back to nest so the soul returns to God and a future life. Will God delude his human children when he is faithful to the feathered creation? "And whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die." This is the guide post to immortality.

Church of the Good Shepherd.

Five new members received the right hand of fellowship and were welcomed into church membership at the morning service of worship at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist. Rev. A. N. Foster, the pastor, preached his Easter message on the topic, A Few Reasons For Observing Easter. The text was Chapter 1, verse 1, of the Apocrapha.

The souls of the righteous are in the hands of God; in the sight of the unwise, they seem to die but they are in peace. In his sermon the preacher said: Easter is observed because the conventiol thing to do. Howcause it is the established custom—the conventional thing to do. However, the primary reason for observance is religious and we are invited to contemplate the future life on this day.

Some will say it is distinctively a Christian observance. Belief in the bodily resurrection is insisted on in the formal creeds and Jesus is honored for having brought life and immortality to light. And yet it is only fair to say that other peoples—long before the Christian era—believed in the immortality of the soul.

The Christian and Jewish scriptures teach and imply the belief in the immortality of the human soul but the basis for such belief transcends the revelation of those books. The broader base serves to strengthen rather than to weaken our trust. The Easter message is a reminder of the ceaseless operation of the great laws of life rather than a proclamation of a sudden discovery.

The natural basis of our Easter belief and confidence is three-fold. First, despite the common evidence of death, humanity persist in declaring — in every age and among every people there is life beyond the grave. This is not proof but it has evidential value. Second, science declares that no atom of matter—however many the transformations—is ever lost or destroyed. Reasoning by analogy, we may insist that mind and soul which are superior to matter cannot be destroyed without shattering our belief in the integrity of the universe and of life. Third, the ethical impulse that many, many lives are obviously and woefully incomplete at the time of physical death; their span has been shortened by accident perchance or others by waywardness or misunderstanding; it is justice which demands that such have more time for fulfillment and that in some other room of the many mansions of life they have opportunity to work out their salvation ere God hath made the plan complete. Immortality is not subject to demonstration in mathematics but the presumptive evidence mounts even to the joy of triumphant faith and to the strength of firm conviction.

St. Mary's Memorial Church

Congregations that taxed the seating capacity of St. Mary's Memorial church attended the three masses Sunday morning with hundreds receiving holy communion at the first two masses for the day. The altars were beautifully decorated by the Sisters of the parish, Easter lilies predominating. As it was monthly communion Sunday for the Young Ladies Sodality and all women of the parish, both married and single, there was a large number to go to the altar for reception of the sacraments. The low mass at 7:30 was offered by Dr. Patrick J. McCormick of the Catholic university, Washington, D. C., who assisted the rector, Rev. W. A. Keefe, in the distribution of the sacrament. The second low mass at 9 o'clock was offered by Rev. Fr. Keefe, who was assisted by Rev. F. M. Coholan, and the last mass for the day, a high mass, was sun by Rev. Fr. Coholan, following which he gave benedictions which closed the services for the day.

The theme of the sermons was on Christ's victory over sin in his resurrection from the tomb and though His enemies might destroy the temple of His body, the prophecy that His soul would rise from the tomb on the third day had been fulfilled. We too will share in his victory one day by remaining faithful to His teachings and commandments.

At benediction which followed the 10:30 mass, O Salutaris was finely sung by Edward T. Connelly and Tantum Ergo was rendered in duet by Nicholas Spellman and M. J. Farrell, Divine Praises and Laudate Dominum were by the choir and were sung with fine effect.

The annual offering was for the diocesan charities and proved to be of good proportions.

William Webster of Buckyrus, Ohio, has requested that his name be placed on the Oregon primary ballot as a candidate for the republican nomination for vice president of the United States.

STORY OF KLAN INIQUITY BY FORMER EXALTED CYCLOPS

Testimony Given in Suit For Receivership of Klan Organization in Western Pennsylvania—Roy S. Barclay Laid Kidnaping and Attempted Lynchings at the Door of the Pennsylvania Realm—Testified That Imperial Wizard Evans Gave the Signal For the March on the Town of Carnegie.

PITTSBURGH, April 9—(AP)—Riots, a kidnapping and attempted lynchings were laid at the door of the Pennsylvania realm, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, by Roy S. Barclay, former exalted cyclops and private investigator for a Pittsburgh lodge of the hooded order, who testified today at the federal court hearing on Klan injunction suits.

Appearing in behalf of five former Klansmen who have asked the court to appoint a receiver for the organization in western Pennsylvania Barclay said he participated with other members of the order in the escapades at the direction of Sam D. Rich, former grand dragon of this state.

Detailing the riot at Carnegie, Pa., Aug. 25, 1923, in which a Klansman was killed and several others injured in a battle with townspeople, Barclay, who formerly was identified with Central Klan No. 32, Pittsburgh, testified Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans gave the signal for the march of the members from a field into the town of Carnegie. He said Rich rode in the front line of automobiles at the time the clash occurred between Klansmen and Carnegie citizens.

"I told Evans the burgess of Carnegie did not want us to March," Barclay said he told the imperial wizard at a meeting of 25,000 Klansmen at the field. "Evans told the crowd they had better not march, but when the Klansmen became hostile he issued the order for the parade."

"If we hadn't marched, we would have been banished and ostracized from the organization," he testified, adding 25,000 members each paid 50 cents for admission to the meeting.

Barclay questioned by Attorney Van A. Barrickman, chief counsel and one of the five "banished" members, said a cross was fired on a hillside preceding the parade.

He told of other riots at McKees Rocks, Pa., September, 1923; Scottdale, Pa., September, 1923 and Lilly, Pa., April 4, 1924.

On each excursion, the "wrecking crew," as Barclay termed it, went "armed with guns, blackjacks and other weapons."

Barclay testified "seven or nine" Klansmen attempted to lynch a Negro at Beaver, Pa., about July 6, 1923, after the Negro had been questioned about his relations with a white girl. "We took this Negro out to an oak tree in the woods and strung him up by the neck, after which some of the Klansmen flogged and kicked him," Barclay said.

He said Rich also issued orders for the attempted lynching of another Negro at Oakdale, Pa., Aug. 1923. On another occasion, he said, the Klansmen beat a Negro at a park dance.

Barclay, who still was on the stand when court adjourned until tomorrow, related the kidnapping of a four year old girl in Pittsburgh. He was asked by Barrickman whether the girl ever was located, and he replied, "I don't think so."

He testified David C. Stephenson, former leader of the Indiana Klan and now serving a life term for murder, had charge of the Pennsylvania realm in 1922 and that he came in contact with Stephenson once a week in person and every day through correspondence.

Revolt in Venezuela Quickly Suppressed

Federal Forces in Caracas Decisively Defeated the Mutineers Saturday Morning

CARACAS, Venezuela, April 9—(AP)—In the very heart of the Venezuelan capital, Miraflores palace, home of the president, a battalion of federal troops took up arms in the dark hours of Saturday morning against the government. The mutineers were headed by Captain Rafael Alvarado and Lieutenant Barrios.

At the moment of the rising, Captain Ramon Gonzalez, who remained loyal, was killed, and Colonel Anibal Garcia, sub-commandant of the garrison, who also opposed the traitors, was mortally wounded.

The mutinous soldiers then proceeded to the San Carlos barracks, in the northern section of the city, for the purpose of seizing large quantities of arms and munitions stored there. In the meantime General Lopes Contreras, commanding the Caracas forces, learned of the revolt and took immediate steps to put the barracks on a strong footing of defense.

The mutineers, who were accompanied by students of the university, were met with a rifle fusillade, several of them being killed and others wounded. The loyal federal forces took numerous prisoners and administered a decisive defeat on the mutineers.

Captain Alvarado was among those seized. He declared that Juan Palacios, a student claiming to represent the Federation of Students of the university, had promised its co-operation in the movement. Several other officers are among the prisoners.

President Gomez, who believes that the prompt action of the government has ended the affair and restored tranquility in Caracas, ordered that the details of the revolt should be made public.

Since early in February there have been student riots on various occasions in the capital. In putting down these demonstrations the government placed many student sunder arrest, and the casualties have been estimated in varying figures, including several policemen and civilians killed. But the actual number has never been known.

In Saturday's fighting two officers of the loyal troops were wounded.

Fear of Floods in New England Allayed

Colder Weather Appears to Have Averted the Danger—Streams at Peak.

BOSTON, April 9—(AP)—Although streams throughout New England were above normal height, danger of floods appeared to have been averted by colder weather tonight. In Vermont, however, train service was still disrupted as a result of washouts which occurred where rivers had overflown their banks, while many highways were impassable because of deep mud. Train service between St. Johnsbury and Burlington, on the St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain railroad, had to be suspended today when two bridges near Cambridge junction were weakened by the flood waters.

Washouts on the line between St. Johnsbury and Wells river at Lyndonville, were repaired during the day so that trains were again able to operate over that route. There were many cellars flooded in St. Johnsbury as a result of the rise of the Passumpsic river, and a temporary bridge built at East Barnet after the flood of last November was swept away.

Repair crews were laboring to reconstruct tracks washed out at several points in the Lamoille river valley, where the high water also had damaged a temporary bridge between Morrisville and Wolcott and another linking Johnson and Hyde Park.

The Connecticut river, which had cut off train service into Colebrook, N. H., as a result of overflows between Lancaster and West Stewartstown, was reported to be dropping today.

Railroads in northern Maine found their service disrupted by the high waters. There were no trains on the Canadian-Pacific line into Caribou because of the swollen streams in that vicinity. The St. John river, which flows along the border of Maine and New Brunswick, had risen more than ten feet since last night at Van Buren, but had caused no serious damage.

While other rivers in Maine were also at flood height, it was indicated that they had reached their peak. With colder weather tonight the waters were beginning to subside. The Kennebec and its tributaries began to fall today, as did the Saco and other streams of the White mountain watershed.

CONN. RIVER SHOULD REACH ITS CREST TODAY

HARTFORD, April 9—(AP)—Rising at a rate of more than one inch every two hours, the Connecticut river at this point, was nearing a mark of 18.5 feet tonight and was expected to swell six inches higher before it reaches its crest tomorrow. Low points along both banks of the stream were under water throughout the day.

ICE JAM IS CHOKING THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

MONTREAL, Que., April 9—(AP)—One of the greatest ice jams ever formed in the St. Lawrence river choked the stream today, dammed up the water behind to unprecedented heights and flooded sections of Logue Pointe, a suburb, to a depth of four feet.

In this district the water was rising steadily and no relief was expected until the ice jam was broken. For half a mile inland from the river banks the flood waters had spread over streets and farms.

Residents of Logue Pointe traveled in row boats from homes to business. Many automobiles and trucks, used where the water was not too deep, were stalled and left abandoned.

Dispatches from Quebec today said five perosne are known to have drowned since the flood began two days ago. They included Joseph Rubin and Raoul Thivierge, baggage men on a Canadian National railway train, the engine and baggage car of which crashed through a weakened bridge at Drummondville.

The bodies of the two trainmen were taken from the submerged car today.

JURY SELECTED FOR THE TRIAL OF HARRY SINCLAIR

WASHINGTON, April 9—(AP)—Establishing a record in selecting an oil case jury, Justice Jennings Bailey had under lock tonight the 12 men who will decide the guilt or innocence of Harry F. Sinclair, charged with defrauding the government in the lease of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

In a few minutes more than three hours today the justice, who questioned the jurors himself, had filled the box with men ranging in age from 22 to 58 years. As soon as the jury was completed he turned it over to deputy United States marshals with instructions to keep the members together until they reach a decision.

It took three panels to make up the jury, many of the 66 veniremen examined being excused because they said they had formed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant that could not be shaken by the evidence. Of these one was a woman, Mrs. Edna Ehlers, a bookkeeper. Three other women on the panel were removed by peremptory challenges, two by the government and one by the defense. Two negroes on the panel also were excused, one by the court and one by government challenge.

Counsel for both the defense and the prosecution announced themselves well satisfied with the make-up of the jury and as Sinclair left the courtroom with Mrs. Sinclair, he reiterated that he was confident of acquittal.

The opening arguments of the prosecution and defense will be made tomorrow.

HEAVY RAINS FAIL TO CHECK FOREST FIRES

ALBANY, N. Y., April 9.—(AP)—The heavy rains yesterday did little to check the forest fire hazard in eastern and southern section of New York state, and the state department of conservation today reported 11 new fires bringing the total since April 4 up to 103.

The most spectacular of the fires which started yesterday was on Mount Beacon, in Dutchess county. This was the second time this mountain has been been swept by a forest fire.

More than 1,000 men have been employed in fighting these fires, the ten largest of which swept over 2,000 acres. Two dwellings, three barns and several smaller structures and contents were destroyed in three fires. Yesterday's rain extinguished those fires already under control, but the humidity registered less than 35, making the fire hazard still extremely dangerous, according to officials.

CHICAGO PRIMARY TODAY WILL BE CRUCIAL CONTEST

While the Election Will Be State-Wide the Republican Factions in Cook County Are Expected to Supply Whatever Startling Developments That May Develop—The Chief Contests Will Be Between Adherents of Mayor Thompson and Followers of Senator Dineen.

CHICAGO, April 9—(AP)—With the nation its witness and widespread preparations made to preserve the purity of the ballot, Chicago tonight was poised for one of the most momentous primary elections in its tempestuous political history.

Tomorrow's event will be state wide, with candidates for United States senator, governor, other major state and county officers to be selected by republicans and democrats and presidential preferences expressed, but developments have centered chief attention upon Chicago and its suburbs which make up Cook county, with well more than 1,000,000 votes.

In only a few instances are there democratic contests, and those considered of a minor character.

The republican factions have supplied the campaign fireworks and to them observers look for whatever startling developments tomorrow may produce.

"Big Bill" Thompson, third term mayor of Chicago, is not involved in the primary, his term having three years to run, but his fate is regarded as at stake virtually as much as if he himself faced the voters.

The chief contests all down the line from U. S. senator to ward committeeman are between candidates of strict adherence to his leadership and those classified as cohorts of Charles S. Deneen, Illinois' only U. S. senator.

Thompson shares factional leadership with Robert E. Crowe, Cook county's state's attorney seeking a third term, and Gov. Len Small, likewise asking re-nomination for a third term.

Gov. Small is opposed by Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state for the last twelve years, and Crowe has as an opponent Judge John A. Swanson.

The third outstanding contest is between Col Frank L. Smith twice refused his seat by the United States senator after appointment and election, and Otis F. Glenn, a Chicago lawyer and former state senator.

The personality of Gov. Small, who as governor was tried and acquitted of diverting the interest on state funds while he was treasurer of the commonwealth, and who later lost a civil court decision and repair the state approximately $600,000 and the action of Col. Smith in resigning after his second senate rejection and again seeking a mandate from the people were regarded as political developments extraordinary.

Then, to lift the primary further from the commonplace, a Deneen Stalwart, "Diamond Joe" Esposito was shot to death and the homes of Deneen and Swanson were bombed and brought a veritable Tornado of accusations and reciminations.

For the presidential preference, only the name of Col. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois' war time governor, appears on the ballot. It is permissible for other names to be written in, however, and the Thompson forces have declared in favor of a "draft Coolidge" program.

Democratic leaders have urged that the name of Gov. A. E. Smith of New York be written in to the exclusion of all others.

In addition to the army of election officials it has been estimated that "watchers," official and volunteer, will aggregate something like 25,000.

In his final speech of the campaign Mayor Thompson today reiterated his "draft Coolidge" demand.

"I am a candidate for delegate to the national convention," he said. "I expect to go down to Kansas City and draft Coolidge."

Thompson was made the target today for another $100,000 damage suit, the third of the campaign. Jacob Allen, campaign manager for Senator Deneen, alleged the mayor had been untruthful in assertions that Allen had been connected with the Ku Klux Klan and that Deneen imported him from Detroit "to light the fires of religious and racial hatred, bigotry and prejudice."

Other $100,000 damage suits were filed by Frank R. Rings, thirty-ninth ward alderman, and Deneen, candidate for ward committeeman, against Joseph Rubens, assistant corporation counsel, and the officials of two community newspapers.

Six hundred men representing various employers' associations have been sworn in as special poll watchers by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

They were urged to arm themselves with cameras and take pictures of election law violators.

PILGRIMS AT SHRINE OF STE. ANNE DE BEAUPRE

80TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, April 9—(AP)—The Chicago board of trade, chief of world grain exchanges, celebrated its eightieth anniversary today—the last in the home of the historic "pit". Next fall the board will be in temporary quarters where it will remain until 1930, when a $10,000,000 exchange will grace the LaSalle street site.

Traders laid aside their linen coats early today, many of them to march with delegations of war veterans, in a parade. Civil, Spanish-American, World war service organizations have board of trade units.

Samuel P. Arnot, president, speaking at the observation ceremony, recalled the statistical importance of the exchange.

"In the 65 years for which records are available," he said, 13,000,000,000 bushels of grain have been received and 10,000,000,000 shipped out of Chicago. The yearly turnover is 400,000,000 bushels."

WESTERLY, R. I., April 9—(AP)—The British freight steamer Ellaston, which grounded in a fog off Watch Hill yesterday, was floated three hours before high water tonight and taken in tow for New London, Conn., her destination.

UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL TO GEN. ROBERT E. LEE

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga., April 9.—(AP)—The adoration of the nation was lavished today before the greatest stone carving in history. Immortalizing the Confederate chieftain, Gen. Robert E. Lee, and those who followed the "lost cause."

On the 63rd anniversary of their defeat and under gray skies that symbolized the April day in 1865 when Lee surrendered to Gen. Grant and bade his scarred veterans return to their homes, a vast assembly watched two flags drop from the mountainside revealing the features of Lee, preserved in granite for all time.

After Mayor James J. Walker of New York city had accepted the memorial for the nation, five year old Robert E. Lee, IV, great-grandson of the commander, climbed to a railing before the crowd, released a cage of doves and delightedly watched them flutter free. Symbolizing the states that contributed to make the memorial possible, the doves whirred up alongside the mountain as a signal for the dropping of the veils. Slowly in the breeze, the curtains, a flag of the Confederacy on one, and the standard of the United States on the other, fell away, leaving in white relief on the cliff the nearly completed bust of Lee and the outline of his equestrian figure. A cheer rang out and reverberated against the granite walls while the army band began playing softly.

First came the stirring notes of Dixie, the war anthem of the Confederacy and then with every hand at salute or over the heart, The Star Spangled Banner was played.

"I am proud that I am an American because he was one," Mayor Walker said as he waved his hand to the monument during his address.

The work of rehabilitation, undertaken through the generosity of the American woman, had just been finished and the architect employed upon it had sent word to her to attend the official ceremony of the resurrection of the village which several French ministers planned to attend.

The fact that Miss Skinner never saw the beautiful model community which she had built from the ruins of the war was particularly regretted by the grateful villagers.

DECIMO CLUB, INC., BROUGHT INTO READING HEARING

BOSTON, April 9—(AP)—Three checks from the Decimo Club, Inc., of New York, intended for Arthur K. Reading, attorney-general, but made payable to Herbert L. Barrett, Boston attorney, were received by Barrett and the money turned over to Reading. Barrett testified today during the hearing before a legislative commission investigating the attorney general's conduct in office.

Shortly before the session closed, Chairman George F. James, of Norwood, asked Barrett if he knew that the day after Reading received a $25,000 retainer from the Decimo club he announced to the newspapers that he had investigated the status of the club and found no criminal responsibility. Barrett said he did not know this.

It was the payment of the retainer that started the investigation into the conduct of the attorney general. Today was the first day the committee has gone deeply into the connections of Reading with the club. Previously it had been testified that Reading had threatened to indict Louis A. Wolfe, president of the L. A. W. Acceptance corporation, of Worcester, unless he consented to an examination of the company's books and a settlement with the firm's subsidiaries, of which Reading was counsel.

EASTER EGG ROLLING ON WHITE HOUSE GROUNDS

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Joyfully pursuing the well-established custom of Easter Monday, Washington children thronged the white house grounds today to roll their Easter eggs on the spacious lawns.

Undaunted by chilly weather, they swarmed through the gates as soon as they were opened and continued to arrive in increasing numbers until in the early afternoon. President Coolidge, watching from his office windows, saw his garden literally overrun with children.

The confusion was greatest immediately in front of the executive offices, where Rebecca, the pet white house racoon, performed her choicest antics in a special pen for the benefit of her visitors.

RETROACTIVE FEATURE OF THE GIFT TAX IS INVALID

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—The retroactive feature of the gift tax of the revenue act of 1924 was declared arbitrary and invalid by the supreme court today in a 6 to 3 decision.

The court, in a decision by Justice McReynolds, to which Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone dissented, declared the tax could not be collected upon bona fide gifts which had been made in 1924 prior to June 4, that year, the date on which the revenue act became law.

The issue was reached in an appear by Fannie E. Untermyer, who received $190,000 in gifts from Isaac Untaermyer, of New York city, on May 23, 1924. In the lower courts the government won in its contention that because the revenue act had far progressed toward final enactment at the time the gift was made congress had the right to make the tax retroactive. The court recently had held in another case gifts made in January, 1924, could not be legally taxed, and had no difficulty, notwithstanding the protest of the minority, in holding that the retroactive feature of the law, which would make the tax apply to all gifts in 1924, was uneforceable.

BALDONNEL AIRDROME, Irish Free State, April 9—(AP)—Weather reports tonight indicated improved flying conditions over the Atlantic and should a similar one be forthcoming tomorrow morning the Junkers monoplane Bremen may hop off for America about noon Tuesday.

This was the word that came from members of the expedition tonight after they had studied the charts.

The reports showed that southerly winds are changing to northwest. In some areas there are squalls with a velocity of thirty to forty miles an hour at the surface and from forty to fifty miles at a height of two thousand feet.

In sustaining the flexible tariff provisions of the tariff act of 1922 the court, in a case brought by J. W. Hampton, Jr., & Co., of New York, held that congress had not exceeded its constitutional authority.

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF ST. JOSEPH CONVENT IS OBSERVED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 9—Hundreds of people assisted in the observance of the golden jubilee of the founding of St. Joseph's convent today by the 28 nuns, who were joined by the sister nuns of St. Mary's convent of this city and the convents at Taftville and Baltic, all of the order of the Sisters of Charity of Our Lady of Mercy. Religious observance of the occasion was made through the celebration of a solemn high mass in St. Joseph's church at 10:30 o'clock at which Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan of Hartford, bishop of the Hartford diocese was guest of honor. Seated within the sanctuary rails or taking actual part in the services were 23 priests, a number of whom were former pupils at St. Joseph's Parochial school and others who had served as curates in the parish. The Sisters of St. Joseph's Convent and visiting nuns occupied the front pews. Seated on either side of Mother Superior Geraldine were Sisters Frances, mother superior of the Sacred Heart convent at Taftville and Sister Onuphrie of St. Joseph's convent, who are survivors of the first five Sisters of the order who came to Willimantic from Europe on March 17, 1878. Mother Superior Alphonsine of the Baltic convent and Mother Superior Immaculatta of St. Mary's convent were also present. Music, especially arranged for the mass, was rendered by a choir of 25 voices under direction of the organist, Mrs. Edmund R. Portelance. The soloists were Mrs. Henry J. Mathieu, Miss L. Monica McKeon and Mrs. Emma Doyle.

The mass was officiated by Bishop Nilan with Rev. J. J. Papilon of St. Mary's church and Rev. Felix J. O'Neill of Stafford Springs as deacons of honor. Rev. James Broderick of Terryville was celebrant of the mass; Rev. Dennis F. Moran of South Coventry, deacon; Rev. Edward Cryne of New Haven, sub-deacon; Rev. Eugene Cryne of Middlebury and Rev. Charles M. Kelly were masters of ceremonies; Rev. John M. Balaca, thurifer; Rev. Hormisdas C. Belec of St. Mary's church and Rev. Adelbert Jalbert of Baltic, acolytes. Priests seated within the sanctuary rails were Rev. Henry E. Quinn of St. Joseph's church, Rev. William O'Brien of Baltic, Rev. Frederick Desreault, of Taftville, Rev. Edward A. Mathieu of St. Mary's church, Rev. William J. Dunn of Warrenville, Rev. Henry Chagnon of Taftville, Rev. Paul M. Keating of Norfolk, Rev. Richard J. Morrisey of Union City, Rev. Paul J. Bartlewski, of Bristol, Rev. Omer Mavler of Taftville and Rev. Oliver T. Magnell of Bristol.

The impressive services were carried out with pomp as a mark of tribute to the devoted nuns. The congregation included many persons of the Prostestant faith. Bishop Nilan delivered a eulogy to the great sacrifice of the Sisters of Charity to the spiritual and physical welfare of mankind and called to mind that their reward was not for the glamor or pecuniary recompense of the world, but for the blessing of God. Bishop Nilan mentioned the education work in which the Sisters were engaged and complimented Mother Superior Geraldine, the pastor of the parish, his assistants and the nuns on their excellent accomplishments.

A sermon-address was also given by Rev. Oliver T. Magnell, pastor of St. Joseph's church in Bristol, and oldest former curate of the local church. Rev. Father Mangell, who served as curate under the pastorship of the late Rev. F. L. DeBruycker touched on some of the historical events of the parish reviewing in interesting manner the coming of the pioneer Irish followed by the arrival of the hardy French speaking people from Canada. The Sisters of Charity found a great need for religious and elementary education work upon their arrival and their efforts were largely responsible for the ultimate rise of St. Joseph's and St. Mary's parishes. The services were followed by a reception while Bishop Nilan and the visiting priests were entertained at dinner. All through the day there was a flow of gifts, cards and floral pieces to the convent from former pupils and other friends, in commemoration of the golden jubilee.

WEDDING

Sullivan-Berard

Miss Irma Berard, daughter of Mrs. Annie Berard of 20 Maple avenue and Thomas F. Sullivan of South Manchester, were united in marriage at a brilliant wedding solemnized at St. Mary's church this morning at eight o'clock. It was the first post-Lenten wedding of the season and was largely attended. Rev. H. C. Belec officiated in the ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass. The church choir directed by Joseph F. Gaudreau rendered special music.

Miss Hilda Berard, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Henry Mutrie of South Manchester was best man. The bride wore a charming gown of white crepe trimmed with duchess lace and she wore a picture hat of harmonizing colors. She carried a bridal bouquet. Her maid of honor was becomingly attired in yellow chiffon with a picture hat. She carried a shower bouquet. The groom's gift to his bride was a platinum bracelet set with diamonds and emeralds. He gave the best man a combination pencil and pen set. The bride presented her maid of honor with a beautiful mesh bag.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother with guests present from Manchester, Hartford, Marshfield, Mass., Providence, R. I., and this city. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left on an unannounced wedding tour later in the forenoon, the bride wearing a gown of poudre blue under a black coat and hat to correspond. Mr. Sullivan is a well-known building contractor in Manchester. Mrs. Sullivan has been in the employ of the H. C. Murray company here. They received many handsome gifts, a number having been presented at prenuptial functions tendered in honor of the bride-elect.

A. B. LINCOLN PLEADS FOR COMPLETION WESTFORD ROAD

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 9—Allen B. Lincoln today sent a letter to the First Selectman Clarence H. Barlow of the town of Ashford pleading for action in completing the last mile of road to Westford village, which mile he terms as a "disgrace" from state aid funds now available by the town. The former representative urges the people of Ashford to eliminate this virtually impassable mile of road by making use of the low cost opportunity it now has. He recalls another opportunity that has apparently been neglected when some time ago a public-spirited citizen of Ashford offered to add $1,000 to the improvement of Ashford highways on evidence that the town had spent $5,000 for that purpose. His closing paragraph reads as follows: "The immediate question is, shall we longer endure that miserable, damaging, costly, travel-forbidding mud-hole of the last mile to Westford village? Is it not the part of common sense to call a special town meeting at an early date, to instruct the highway commissioner to apply Ashford's available state-aid funds to the completion of this "last mile" which will make Westford village accessible from all points."

The contract for the position of United States mail messenger between the postoffice and the railroad station and trolley terminal on Main street will be taken over Tuesday by Roy Frederickson, succeeding to Maurice Johnson who has been messenger since September 1, 1927. The change in the contract comes of a desire of the postal department to make the trips to the station and trolley terminal come under one contract. Mr. Frederickson has covered the star route between the post office and Chestnut Hill and Leonard Bridge up to a few days ago.

Over two hundred couples attended the concert and dance given in the town hall this evening by San Jose council No. 14, Knights of Columbus for the benefit of the Boy Scout troops of St. Joseph's parish. In Paris!

Now, American girls are showing the French how to wear clothes! Doris Padmore, lovely New York City girl whose home is at 70 Barrow Street, is in Paris, displaying gowns for Jean Patou, the famous French designer.

The girls over there have another trick to learn from her. She says: "Everyone marvels at the lustre and softness of my hair. Many of the girls ask me if I use brilliantine. I always delight in telling the easy way we New York girls take care of our hair. All we do is just put a few dashes of Danderine on our brushes each time we dress our hair. The first few times I used it all my dandruff disappeared and every time it gives new sparkle and life to my hair. It keeps it in place, too, just like I arrange it and makes my scalp always feel grand. I don't have to shampoo nearly so often, either, now that I'm using Danderine."

Every application of Danderine refreshes and tones your scalp. It removes the oily film and makes every strand gleam with new lustre. It dissolves dandruff and keeps it out of your hair. It isn't sticky or oily. All drug stores have the big 35c bottles.

JEWETT CITY

BARRY-COUTURE WEDDING AT ST. MARY'S MONDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 9—The marriage of Edward Barry and Miss Dora Couture was solemnized with a nuptial high mass at St. Mary's church Monday morning. Rev. J. J. McCabe was celebrant of the mass, Rev. John Carey, of Voluntown, deacon, and Rev. Nicholas Caron sub-deacon. Hermon Roberts, of Pawtucket, sang O Promise Me before the wedding party left the church. The bride wore a white satin gown, had a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of Easter lilies and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Dorothy Allard, of Pawtucket. She wore pale green georgette and maline, with a bandeau to match, and carried pink roses. The best man was the groom's brother, Judge John T. Barry. A reception and breakfast were held at the bride's home on East Main street, only near relatives being present. Mr. and Mrs. Barry went to Washington, D. C., for their honeymoon. They will reside in an apartment on East Main street. The bride received many valuable gifts. The groom was presented $50 in gold by a number of his young men friends. Relatives from Pawtucket and Jewett City were present at the wedding.

FIRE APPARATUS LETTERING IS WIRED TO BOSTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 9—Warden Edmund J. Jodoin has received notification from the LaFrance Fire Pumper company that the new apparatus will be ready for shipment to Jewett City within two weeks.

Final instructions were wired today in regard to the lettering, which will read: Jewett City Fire Department, A. A. Young, Jr., Hose and Ladder Company, No. 1. Upon the arrival of the engine, a board of insurance underwriters will come to Jewett City and the new machine will be subjected to a long endurance test. If requirements and specification tests are o. k. it will mean that insurance rates within the district protected by the local company will receive no advance, as was possibly contemplated under the old system. The borough board of government has decided to keep the old truck as an auxiliary piece of apparatus. This decision has seemed wise and practical because it (the old truck) carries a 40-gallon chemical tank. Chief L. E. Boucher points out that for chimney fires it will be available. Relieved of its load of several hundred feet of hose, the trouble heretofore experienced with its low power will be greatly relieved.

Mr. Hoyt, from Hartford, who has charge of the state-aid town roads, was in Jewett City Monday and held conference with the selectmen, relative to the East Side highway to Norwich. The cost to Griswold to the Preston line is estimated in excess of $60,000. Of that amount the state pays three-quarters. The first expense is financed by the town with later reimbursement by the state. It is believed that if the new construction is extended from the borough to the Preston line by this town, the town of Preston will deem it advisable to act favorably on the project. First Selectman D. F. Finn will call a special town meeting in due season, that the voters may express their wish on the proposition as presented by Mr. Hoyt.

Part way down the hill, on the Farrell side, a small graveyard of the strangest and unusual sort, was once to be located. Michael Farrell's heirs, who now own this one-time Callahan property, had no knowledge of its existence. It is best explained by the following copy from Daniel L. Phillips' book, telling of Griswold's Burying Grounds.

"There are still perhaps a half-dozen places of the dead within our limits, none of whose graves bear any identifying mark, although to some of them tradition has given a faint personality. One of these is in Taftpole, a suburb of Jewett City, where several little graves are clustered by the side of the road. Fifty or 60 years ago, a family by the name of Capwell had their home in this place, when a malignant and contagious disease attacked their little ones. One by one, with short space between, four children died and were buried here, in their own garden."

Mt. Vernon lodge, No. 75, F. & A. M., H. R. Field, master, has been notified that Leprecut M. Logee of the age of 103, after keeping house for himself for the last 20 years, has left Central Falls, R. I., to become a resident of the Masonic home at Charlton, Mass. Mr. Logee was made a Mason in the home lodge shortly after its charter was received, in 1871.

John McCukser, of Taunton, died in that city Sunday. A brother, James, lives in Jewett City and today (Tuesday) he is in Taunton, Mass., to attend the funeral.

As evidence of local thrift, a borough man has pointed out that Friday evening after the Aspinook company had paid its help, depositors in a long line were waiting to lay by a portion for the rainy day.

William C. Jeffers took the prize again Saturday for the first arbutus of the season. A few local people are planning a trip to Voluntown, to try to find the famous pine woods, beyond the one-time Joe Bradford's, where arbutus grows in profusion.

Miss Bessie Thompson, Isabel and Christine Marshall assisted in the Easter decorating at the Congregational church and the distribution of the flowers among the sick and shut-ins.

E. J. Davan, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is a guest of his daughter, Mrs. E. J. Jodoin.

Dorcas circle of the King's Daughters meets at Mrs. Ella Geer's this (Tuesday) evening.

A resident in the country near Jewett City expresses great appreciation of the attention being given the roads in the outlying districts by Selectman D. F. Finn. She cited one bad stretch of road which had received 1,100 loads of ashes, and complimented the same work being done in the vicinity of her home, in an entirely different section of the town.

Officer Henry Veglard and several others in Jewett City were acquainted with State Trooper Irvin H. Nelson, and sincerely regret his death.

HAMPTON

The Bell school closed Thursday until after Easter, the teacher, Miss Elizabeth Spicer going to her home in Norwich.

The speaking and spelling contest was held at the Bell school Thursday forenoon. Malcolm Burdick was first in both speaking and spelling, Henry Kostyk was second in both. The judges were Rev. W. L. Muttart, Mrs. Gertrude Pearl and Mrs. Alice Burchnall.

ONLY 61 VOTES CAST AT BOROUGH ELECTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 9—The annual borough election today created hardly a flurry. Only 67 votes were cast and four of these were thrown out as blanks, and one for being marked improperly. Each of the candidates received 61 votes with the exception of Richard D. Banigan, who received a vote on a ballot that no one else got one on, giving him 62. The reelected officers are Warden Harry E. Back; clerk and treasurer, Frank T. Preston; burgesses, Louis E. Young, D. E. Jette, Charles E. Austin, Richard D. Banigan, Pierre Boulain, Gaston A. Maindon; bailiffs, John McFarland; tax collector, Sydney H. Perry; library directors for three years, Frank T. Preston and Frederick E. Bitgood.

At the annual business meeting tonight reports of various borough officers were accepted as printed. An appropriation of $600 was voted to build a stretch of sewer from Mechanic street, 300 feet easterly, through Oak street. Attonrey Harry E. Back reporting for a committee on the revision of borough by-laws, said that this revision work is far advanced, and will be reported on to the borough in the not distant future. The meeting adjourned to the first Monday in August, when the tax rate for the year will be fixed. Walter Anderson acted as moderator of the meeting and F. T. Preston as clerk.

ROBINSON HELD IN JAIL FOR NEW YORK POLICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 9—John Robinson, as he calls himself, went to the county jail at Brooklyn today to remain there during the period of continuance of the case against him in the Killingly town court. Though he is a known automobile thief, Robinson was merely charged in the local court with operating a motor vehicle without having a license to do so. He pleaded not guilty, and his case was continued. It was understood here that this continuance will remain in effect until such time as New York officers come here to take the man back to that state to answer to a charge of stealing the automobile of Mrs. Delia Doris of Ryerson street, Brooklyn, N. Y. There appeared no reason to believe today that Robinson had anything to do with the slaying of State Officer Nelson. He merely was caught in a net spread to catch the killers and found to be involved in a different variety of lawlessness.

Robinson continued today to remain as mute as the Sphinx. He just will not talk, confining his entire conversation in court this morning to the words "Not guilty" in making his plea. His attitude generally, taken with the fact that he is known to have been in possession of a stolen car, has laid the ground work for the belief that he may have an extensive criminal record. It is unlikely that a great deal will be found out pertaining to him until he is taken back to New York.

Robinson was unarmed when arrested. Of interest is the fact that he had in one of his pockets a little case with a silver salt and pepper set. How he came to be in possession of these remains unexplained.

NO SPECIAL DEVELOPMENT IN SEARCH FOR BANDITS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 9—There were no special developments hereabouts today relative to the effort to capture the killers of State Officer Irving H Nelson, whose funeral was held in New Haven this afternoon. There was a new crop of rumors, as there has been every day since the murder, with practically no foundation for any of them. Practically all hope has been abandoned of capturing the bandits through such a search as has been conducted for them and the impression general in official circles is that the hunted men slipped through the cordon built up to get them.

There is, however, the prospect of their being brought to justice sooner or later. Traffic Officer Ray Gallagher of the Springfield police who shot at the bandits and who was shot at by them last Friday afternoon is prepared to positively identify them if he ever sees them again. From the stolen car some finger prints have been obtained that may also contribute to definitely fixing the crime upon the hunted men at some time or other. The belief that the killing of State Officer Nelson was by the "ice box" bandits has practically gone into the discard, and the belief strong that his death was at the hands of a pair of youths each of whom is about 23 years of age.

While the intensive search by scores of officers was abating today, there will go on as long as may be necessary a ceaseless effort to apprehend the men who are such wanton murderers.

Coroner Arthur G. Bill said this noon that his inquest in the State Officer Nelson case will be held some day this week, probably in Putnam, for the majority of the witnesses to be heard are Pomfret residents and because Putnam will be the most convenient place to reach for nearly all who are to be heard.

Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart and practically the entire group of officers assigned to duty at the Danielson barracks were in New Haven to attend Officer Nelson's funeral today, while officers detailed from other sections of the state were on duty here.

Up to last night Massachusetts troopers were scouting a large section of that state for the bandits. Local men tol dof being held up at Brimfield and at Sturbridge, Mass., by these officers that they might be questioned.

This afternoon at the home on Hawkins street at 2 o'clock funeral services for Mrs. Rosa Ross Warren were conducted by Rev. Chester J. Armstrong of the Baptist church. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. The bearers were John W. Gallup, E. B. Wilbur, William J. Craig, Everett Colvin, Alfred L. Reed, Everett T. Tillinghast. There were many beautiful floral tributes. A. F. Wood was in charge of the arrangements.

Danielson's Tourist Information bureau is now ready to function. F. O. Plummer, who is in charge, said that he anticipates that it will be used by many travelers during the season now opening. Mr. Plummer is prepared to perform a real service to the community and to surrounding communities. He will have the busines cards of hotels, inns and rooming places all through this section, and would also like to have these places furnish him with all available information about these places and historical spots in the vicinity of them. Mr. Plummer feels that he is performing a valuable community service, and in that all interested in the welfare of Danielson and the surrounding territory will agree with him.

Annual reports issued in connection with today's annual town meeting show that the net cost of the police department was only $3,623.27, which is probably as low as police costs anywhere in the state in communities the size of Danielson. Collections and fees received in the department during the year amounted to $1,013.13, and reduced the gross cost by just that much.

The total cost of the fire department to the borough was only $7,304.53, which figure includes hydrant rental paid to the Crystal Water company of $2,301.34. The actual cost of the fire department less this rental was $5,003.19.

Street and sewer costs the past fiscal year amounted to $6,427.30, of which amount $6,042.48, was paid out for street lights.

Total receipts of the borough the past fiscal year were $38,146.30. The annual report contains notations of unpaid sewer assessments amounting to $763.62, and uncollected taxes of the years dating back to 1923, amounting to $2,028.19.

At the close of the year, March 31, the net indebtedness of the borough was $28,218.68. The borough's outstanding obligations are in the form of notes bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

The annual report of Health Officer Dr. W. H. Judson shows that the health reports record four cases of measles, one of diphtheria, one septic throat, nine cases of scarlet fever, 18 cases of chicken pox and 30 cases of mumps during the year, with many cases of mumps probably not reported.

Says Dr. Judson: "I wish to call attention at this time to the fact that parents, teachers and nurses alike are responsible for the immediate report to the healt hofficer of any communicable disease."

Only a few nuisances were reported during the year, the report says, and these were promptly given attention.

A. P. Woodward's report as chief of the fire department—his 26th such report, by the way—contains largely statistical information relative to the department equipment, the record of fires, location of fire alarm boxes, etc., There were 36 alarms during the year, these causing damage amounting only to $2360. Defective or unclean chimneys were the cause of 16 of these fires.

In closing his report Chief Woodward extends his thanks to the warden and fire committee for courtesy and assistance rendered, and to the officers and men of the department for the earnest desire to obe orders and to do their duty at all times, and to them much credit is due.

PUTNAM

BARN AND LIVESTOCK IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 9—Delay by using the telephone to call the fire department today caused the complete loss of a barn, its contents of tools and some live stock amounting considerably over $2,500 owned by Howard C. Carpenter. The barn was in the rear of the residence on Grove street on the outskirts of the city. Mrs. Carpenter saw the blaze on the roof and sent in a telephone fire alarm that brought the members of the hook and ladder company out, after the alarm had been struck twice to get a sufficient number of firemen at the central fire station to answer the alarm. When the hook and ladder company arrived at the scene the barn was completely in flames. A member of the fire company ran to the fire alarm box at the corner of King and Grove streets about a block away and sent in a general alarm, bringing the other two companies to the fire.

Seeing that it was useless to fight the blaze with chemicals the firemen laid over 300 feet of hose in two lines and pumped water from a nearby brook. Sufficient amount of pressure was obtained from the brook to save the nearby buildings and partly extinguish the flames in the barn. The firemen were handicapped for water when a bearing in the pumper that was furnishing the pressure burned and the water failed.

The most spectacular incident during the excitement was the leap of a cow, that was tied in a stall in the burning building, through a large window to safety. Autoists who were passing and saw the blaze attempted to save an automobile and livestock but failed as the flames swiftly swept the entire building. The wind was in a favorable direction to save the wooden dwelling house adjoining the burning building. The firemen battled the fire for twenty minutes accomplishing much before the pumper broke down cutting off the entire water supply.

Fire Chief Ralph E. Thurston said the cause of the blaze was unknown. The chief delay was the telephone call first sent in. In yesterday's Bulletin, Superintendent of Fire Alarms Charles T. Thayer stated in an article that one should never hesitate to use the fire alarm box, as a telephone call will only summon the members of the hook and ladder company which is not equipped to fight a large fire. The firemen are to be commended for their work from the chief down. Although in a handicapped way from the lack of efficient fire fighting apparatus they accomplished much in the way of saving nearby buildings. The all out stroke was not rung in until 5.30 o'clock, just two hours after box 17 had been rung in.

Captain William J. Jarvis of the Putnam police was the only Putnam police officer that accompanied the officers of the Danielson barracks to New Haven to attend the funeral of Policeman Irving H. Nelson who was murdered in Pomfret on Friday evening. During Officer Nelson's four years as a member of the Danielson barracks he has been well known and acquainted in Putnam. The murdered officer aided the Putnam police captain on many of the cases.

"PEEPING TOM" IS GIVEN SUSPENDED JAIL SENTENCE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 9—The Putnam police were warned to be on the lookout for a "Peeping Tom" early Sunday evening, who was said to be gazing in windows of the homes through the various residential sections of the city. The local officers set out to check up the call. While on the Chapel street part of his beat Officer Alpherie Sponcey caught a man peeping into the windows of the home of Frank Lucier on that street.

The officer placed the man under arrest, charging him with drunkenness and breach of the peace. Upon arrival at the police station the rounder gave his name as Armand Vandale of Buck street.

Before Judge M. H. Geissler in the city court Monday morning Vandale pleaded guilty to the two charges. The judge asked the defendant why he took Easter Sunday to get intoxicated. He answered, "I do not really know, some of my old friends were in town and I took a drink of their liquor." The judge found that the man was one of the many local men who are looking for a chance to get sent to Brooklyn jail for a vacation, but Vandale was disappointed when the judge ordered the case continued for a period of six months and ordered Vandale to pay a witness fee amounting to 60 cents.

The next holiday intoxicant to be brought before the judge was Archie Archambeau who has a countless number of police convictions in the local station for drunkenness.

Judge Geissler told Archambeau who has pleaded guilty that he would send him to the home for inebriate cases if he was brought into court again. The judge ordered the case continued for a period of six months and imposed a charge of $1.00 and costs. Archambeau was arrested by Sergeant George Liard of the Putnam police.

The funeral of Joseph S. Shepherd of Prospect street who died Friday was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Phillips church. Services were conducted by Rev. E. B. Wright rector of the church. The large number of many beautiful floral tributes indicated the numerous acquaintances Mr. Shepherd made in Putnam and other cities that he had lived. Mr. Shepherd is survived by his wife and two sons. Burial was in Grove street cemetery.

Radio broadcast reception that has been greatly hampered by local interference has been found to be coming from the motor generators in the central fire station that are used to electrify the fire alarm system. The trouble was recently discovered by Superintendent of Alarms Charles T. Thayer and has been corrected by the head of the fire alarm system. Saturday the fire alarm chief installed two new pieces of apparatus that has eliminated the trouble for many of the local listeners. The interference was discovered to be coming from the fire station during the broadcast of recent pugilistic contests.

SEARCH OF NEARBY TERRITORY HAS BEEN ABANDONED

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 9—The search for the murderers of State Police Officer Irving H. Nelson that has been centered in the vicinity of North Woodstock and Dudley has been abandoned in that territory, when the officers were called off late Sunday evening, according to a statement received by the Putnam police. Renewed excitement was caused in the business section of Putnam Sunday when the news was circulated that the state police had arrested a man thought to be one of the Danielson officer's slayers. The man answering to the name of Robinson proved to be an automobile thief. He is being held at the Danielson state police barracks for further questioning but police state that he is in no way connected with the Pomfret murderers.

EXCHANGE MANAGER PLEASED SERVICES ARE APPRECIATED

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 9—The statement carried in the Bulletin on Monday morning from Captain William J. Jarvis of the Putnam police, praising the operators of the Putnam and Danielson telephone exchanges for their part in aiding the police on Friday evening in the attempt to capture the police officer's murderers, met with high approval from the local telephone officials. Traffic Manager E. L. Bedee of Putnam in an interview Monday stated that it is only on rare occasions that the telephone operators are ever given credit for their invaluable work they perform at the switchboard during an emergency. Mr. Bedee went on "Credit given telephone operators by the press only helps to promote better and more efficient service on the part of the operators."

The children's minstrel was to have been staged at Putnam high school, but was called off on account of the number of high school social activities to be held during the first few days of the post Lenten season.

The record of the fire department during the past week for a fire call a day started Sunday uninterrupted as the members of the hook and ladder company were called out at 8.30 by a four stroke alarm to answer a chimney fire at the home of George S. Bradley on Grove street. The call was sent in by a neighbor who saw the sparks coming from the fire place chimney. Upon the arrival the firemen investigated and found that the owner of the house had started a fire in his fireplace, causing much smoke. The fire chief entered the call on his report as a false alarm.

HANDICAPPING THE FIREMEN

It never has been so that the average individual could resist the inclination to rush to a fire, provided it was within the immediate locality. The desire to see always overshadows the inclination to give the firemen plenty of room in which to work. Smoke and water in liberal quantities invariably result in keeping such crowds at a proper distance but that isn't because of a spirit of cooperation. The eagerness to witness the activities at a fire generally sidetracks any thought that many spectators invariably means a handicap.

This is to be found particularly in the case of those who rush to fires in automobiles. They are not only inclined to race with fire apparatus, to fail to get out of the way and thereby increase the hazards of apparatus drivers, but they so jam the streets in the neighborhood of the blaze as to block operations.

This state of affairs has caused so much trouble that there is no wonder large city departments have demanded police escorts whose duty it is not only to facilitate the movement of fire companies by responding to calls with them, but to make the prompt arrest of those who refuse to yield the right of way and hamper the movements of the firemen. The blocking of fire apparatus by refusing to get out of the way, even after the telltale siren emphasizes the demand for more room, is without excuse. Too often it is willful and yet many of the obstructors escape prosecution because it is impossible for fire department members to stop and bring about their arrest. This becomes the duty of the police escort.

Equally inexcusable is the blocking of the streets in the neighborhood of a fire by automobiles, many of them driverless while curiosity is being appeased. For the most part it is thoughtless, but that doesn't relieve the embarrassment of the firemen who cannot get their apparatus where it is needed and cannot work without being handicapped by the sightseers.

There is a great fascination for most people when fire apparatus is moving or firemen are working. If there must be a fire such persons want to be there and see all that is going on, but in so doing they should bear in mind the importance of keeping out from under the feet of the firemen.

STILL UNACCEPTABLE

Among others who have had conferences with President Coolidge in regard to pending legislation is Senator McNary one of the authors of the McNary-Haugen farm bill. Apparently he came away from the meeting convinced that the president is not satisfied with the measure, but still unwilling to modify the measure in such a manner as to meet with the president's approval.

There have been changes made in the bill since it was effectively vetoed last year, but there still remains the equalization fee, and it is upon that that the president bore down the heaviest in his refusal to ratify and it is upon that that he now bears down heavily in his expression of disapproval.

This is a provision of the bill which is experimental. It is declared to be unconstitutional and it is for the most part immaterial to the farmers whether it is included or not. The fact of the matter is that the farm relief measure has been and still is a political piece of legislation, and it is upon that political feature of it that the proponents are staking their effort.

The administration has repeatedly declared its advocacy of proper farm relief. The president in his veto message set forth that there were dangerous provisions which could not be accepted if national welfare were to be considered. He pointed out in a convincing manner that this political movement was grossly unwise and that contention has been getting more and more support ever since.

The idea of trying to jam through congress something which is recognized before enactment as bad legislation and a mistake and should be so regarded by the promoters. The fact that certain features have been changed to conform to constitutional requirements doesn't mean that others which are indefensible ought to be overlooked and admitted. Let the measure get the corrections that have been called for, let the bill be modified so that it will escape a veto and there will be more confidence in it by the country at large and even by those for whom it is intended.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE

With no little interest the exchange of views between Secretary Kellogg of the department of state and Foreign Minister Briand of France has been followed by advocates of international peace. This applies to those in other countries as well as those directly involved.

The idea of a treaty between the two countries which would prevent them from going to war with each other has its attractions, and the discussions have served to throw much light on such a situation, and yet if it is desirable that there should be such an agreement between two of the powers it can be readily appreciated that there is merit in the suggestion that it ought to be so extended as to include all nations, particularly all the large ones.

That may seem to be moving toward international peace at an unexpected rate of speed in view of all that has happened in the past. Possibly it is more than can be accomplished inasmuch as there may be some which are not ready to take such a step considering the uncertainties of European conditions. But what stands in the way and why may be brought out by the plan of Secretary Kellogg to submit the negotiations carried on between this country and France to the four other leading nations.

It doesn't appear that this move will be done under any assurance that these other countries, Great Britain, Japan and German, will jump at the opportunity to participate. It is, however, in keeping with the attitude which has been displayed by Secretary Kellogg from the start that if there is to be any such treaty it ought to be one that would include all the countries. Certain! if there is merit in two countries vowing not to fight there is even more in getting all into such an understanding, and if all should become signatories to such a treaty there would be less ground for indirect causes for nations to become involved in conflicts. If all will settle their disputes without going to war, peace should prevail. This may seem a bit idealistic and it will not be surprising if some of the nations give the plan a cold shoulder, but the more the subject is discussed the quicker an understanding will be reached.

TEST YOUR BRAKES

If you are thinking of driving into Rhode Island within the next few days it would be a good idea if you made sure your auto brakes are all right. It would be an excellent thing anyway for your own protection and peace of mind, but it would be timely in contemplation of Rhode Island motoring for the state police of that state are now busily engaged in checking up on the brakes of motor vehicles.

The car that has its brakes in such condition that it can stop within a few feet is not likely to figure in serious accidents. The machine which has brakes that will not take hold not only endangers those within but those in other cars. Such brakes should not be tolerated by drivers but it has been found by experience that they are just as long as there is no effort made to check them up.

In the testing by the state policemen in the adjoining state it is required that vehicles traveling at 20 miles an hour must stop within 50 feet by the application of either brake, but not both of them. If this cannot be done the brake is regarded as defective and an immediate correction is obligatory. Cars will not be allowed to proceed until such brakes have been put in proper condition.

Considering the many highway accidents, the important part which brakes play in preventing many of them and the fact that defective brakes are the cause of too many, the Rhode Island testing is an excellent move in behalf of prevention. It is preferable that cars should be brought up to requirements before they figure in accidents than to wait until something has happened before giving thought to such an important requirement. Insist upon effective brakes whether you are staying at home or going to Rhode Island, and do it before being ordered to.

THE FESS CHOICE

In the selection of Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio as the keynoter at the republican national convention at Kansas City, it is to be noted that he was a second choice. Had Charles E. Hughes been willing to assume that responsible task so soon after his strenuous activities at the Havana conference he would have been the choice. Inasmuch as he declined Senator Fess was selected by Chairman Butler in the belief that he not only possesses the ability but that he stands in such relation to the policies of the republican party that he should effectively present them.

The choice of the Ohio senator for this responsible task means the selection of a man who was committed to the presidential candidacy of the late Senator Willis. This doesn't carry the inference that he thought he would get that nomination but he supported him because of Ohio politics and because he was a favorite son of that state.

But Senator Fess is a speaker of no mean calibre. He is an ardent party worker. He was one of the earnest backers of the movement for the renomination of President Coolidge. He even urged that he be drafted for the nomination so enthusiastic was his desire for the retention of his services.

There is no question but what the country is strongly convinced of the meritorious character of the Coolidge policies. There is a widespread desire for the continuance of such and it can be appreciated that Senator Fess is in a position to set those forth in a manner that will be impressive both to the republican convention and to the country. Thus as an effective speaker, standing unflinchingly for nationally approved policies, Senator Fess should be an inspiring keynoter.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—From politics to plumage and song may seem a big jump, but at this moment official Washington is deeply interested in both, and the treasury department has many customs officers on the watch for the incoming spring rush of imported song birds.

When we hear a canary twittering in its gilded cage, we can hereafter think of it as an immigrant, subject to quarantine inspection, and deportation if found to be subjects of contagious diseases, or which do not come up to the specification by the government of being genuine, instead of what might be called "Bootleg" songsters.

Representatives of the United States customs and the U. S. biological survey, inspect and examine each of the imported canaries that come to the United States from European and Oriental ports. The birds are subjected to "singing school" tests before leaving their native shores, but to make sure they are the sort and quality of birds required by the purchasers, Uncle Sam takes a hand in investigating them, before they are permitted to be put on sale in this country. And as last year 250,000 canaries were imported into the United States, that means the inspecting of the songsters is no joke.

Canary lovers pay high prices for imported birds. When a load of canaries reach New York bird specialists accompany the custom house officials on board the ship. The little songsters must then pass rigid "bird immigration tests" before they can be landed. They must come up to the required rank as to health and before the birds reach the salesrooms they are also tested on their ability to sing. The cage is placed in a window where the sun-light floods it. If after the third day the bird refuses to sing, it is reshipped to the foreign dealer as not up to the standard. The greatest number of birds come from the Hartz Mountains, where they are carefully bred and trained to sing, much as we would train a prima donna for grand opera.

The biological survey tells interesting details as to how the birds are trained for importation. There are bird singing schools, where the birds are trained to sing under expert direction. These are on or near the commercial bird farms. Several adult and extremely beautiful singers are placed in halls, where the baby birds can listen to their songs. Soon the young birds try to imitate their elders, and if any of the young birds develop harsh or unpleasant notes it is banished from the school, so other bird pupils will not learn harsh or discordant tones. Then, too, the schools have mechanical devices that whistle and which are sometimes used in teaching new and difficult melodies to the younger birds. It usually takes a young bird about six months of such intensive training before it becomes a guaranteed singer, but is said never to forget its song.

At those commercial bird farms, the color of the birds is said to be influenced by the feed given them. The use of red peppers is said to deepen the color of their plumage, as are certain brilliant flowers, chopped up with the peppers and mixed with the food. Of course such food must be given carefully and by experts, otherwise serious results would follow. But it will be "news" to many of us that Uncle Sam establishes quarantine and a sort of "Ellis Island" restriction for each and every golden voiced canary that lands in the United States whether or not there is reason to fear it is not up to the standard of health or song. The government won't give it a clean bill of health till experts have examined it both as to health and filling the song requirements as well.

The event of the week from a Connecticut standpoint, was the birthday dinner given Floor Leader John Q. Tilson by Representative Sol Bloom of New York. It was the colonel's 62nd birthday, and as the Tilson family were in New Haven, so unable to give "John" the customary birthday dinner and candle bedecked cake, members of the house took the matter in hand, and with Speaker Longworth as chief guest to do homage to the Tilson beloved republican floor leader, a cake, candles, and all the "fixin's" were on hand at the dinner given by Bloom.

Besides the dinner the house, under the temporary leadership of democratic floor leaders, Garrett and Garner, delivered eulogies that showed the deep friendship that exists for Tilson in the hearts of his political opponents. It was a splendid manifestation of the honor and regard in which the national house, regardless of political affiliations holds John Q. Tilson as its leader on the floor of congress.

The ranks of both senate and house were depleted this week by attendance at the funerals of the late Senator Willis of Ohio and the late Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts. Both those deaths came with a suddenness that shocked congress for both men had been in their seats and apparently in the best of health within a few days of their death. They represented widely carying parties and factions, but both were held in high repute by their colleagues.

Stories That Recall Others

Hands Under Covers

Tom was spending the week-end with Aunt Lou on the farm. She insisted that he bathe before retiring to her scrupulously clean bed. The next morning as he appeared for breakfast the aunt gave the boy a scrutinizing look. "Did you wash up for breakfast?" she asked.

"Course not, I had a bath last night and kept my hands under the covers," replied the disgusted boy.

Homesick

Ruth was making her first visit alone to her aunt, who had no children. The aunt visited the library and obtained the most modern authority on child diet. The menu for the child's first evening was planned with care, but the five-year-old refused to eat.

"I'm homesick for something," she said.

"What is it? Maybe we can find the child replied.

some here?" said the solicitous aunt.

"I think it's doughnuts and coffee."

SAID THE BRUSH

"This shop certainly isn't what it used to be," sighted the shaving brush.

"There you go, complaining again!" exclaimed the scissors sharply.

"If you're not careful all your hair will fall out some day! I've warned you!" The shaving brush slumped disconsolately against the side of the mug.

"But I tell you the barbering business is going to the dogs," it protested. "And why? Why, I ask you? The answer is women!"

The scissors glanced into the mirror, noted that its blades were keen and shining, and smirked self-consciously.

"You're just jealous," it said accusingly, "jealous because you have to play around on men's rough faces all day and never feel the touch of a woman's soft, silken curls."

"Oh, you and your women!" cried the brush in disgust. "You're as bad as the clippers. I tell you this barber shop has degenerated. Look at it! Five years ago it was the haunt of men, and of men only. They dropped in here for a shave or a haircut, sank into chairs, lit cigars and chatted with their friends. There were nice pictures of race horses and prize fighters and bathing girls on the walls and pretty pink papers lying around.

"And the conversation. Ah, the conversation!" The brush sighed with the pleasures of its memories. "Men's talk it was — the baseball games, fights, races, politics, business. Why, this place was a regular club. I lathered the same men week after week. I knew every chin, every cheek, every neck that ever entered.

"And now what is it like? A beauty parlor! Why, the barbers have all stopped chewing tobacco! They jump to their chairs whenever a customer enters, and if it is a woman and she is young and pretty they almost break their necks doing it! Where have the pictures of race horses gone? Instead there are charts of the latest styles in shingles! Shingles! These bobbed-haired flappers should have them applied to their persons and not to their hair!

"And what do we have instead of the pink periodicals?" The brush was excited now. Swishing nervously around the bottom of the mug. "Women's mafiazines! Style booklets lying around where the racing forms used to be! And you call this a barber shop!

"They've added a manicurist and a woman to give marcels and water waves. The conversation deals with bridge, teas and biscuit recipes, and there's never a loud word spoken. The male customers come in furtively, sit meekly while some woman steals their turn, get a haircut as quick as they can and slink away. They are even afraid to smoke, for fear some woman will try to borrow a cigarette from them!

Overcome with emotion, the shaving brush subsided into sobs. But the scissors, with an angry little snip took up the defense of the new order.

"What about the cleanliness these women have brought with them?" it demanded. "The shop is neater now than it ever was before. The barbers dress more carefully. There is an air of refinement, of culture, instead of the atmosphere of a saloon or a poolroom. You call that ruining a shop? Well, I call it improving one.

"And since my owner started using me on women he's learned to use me better on men, too. The men are more particular. My owner lets them see themselves in the mirror from every angle before he lets them out of the chair. He doesn't scatter hair around as carelessly as he used to and he doesn't allow it to lie ankle deep on the floor. He talks like a gentleman instead of like a hoodlum or, better still, he doesn't talk at all.

"As I said before, you're just jealous because the new order of things has left you exactly where you were before. You'll never be different — never of use to any one but a man. You'll never know the joy of caressing a dainty pink ear. Oh, I pity you!"

The scissors paused, then suddenly clicked its points. "What's this?" it cried. "Ah, here comes one of he beautiful creatures now. Look at that lovely hair, that snow-white neck! Ah, Brush, I hope she comes to our chair! She is! Here she comes!"

There was a moment's silence while the scissors preened itself and strutted and the brush hid its face in lather. Then suddenly the brush was picked up and borne with the mug toward the water faucet. Like a flash it leaped into action.

"What's this?" it cried in horror, shaking itself wildly. "She wants a bit of her neck shaved? Oh, but you can't use me! I won't stand for it! I won't, I won't, I——"

"Brush," whispered the scissors a short time later, "wasn't she wonderful?"

"Forget all I said a little while ago," begged the brush breathlessly. And then, in a paroxysm of delight, it buried its face in the very bottom of the mug.—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

One Matter Overlooked

Mr. Editor: Just a few facts overlooked by Mr. Babson in his survey of conditions in Norwich and the secretary of the chamber of commerce in his criticism of the same in regard to the ins and outs of what ails Norwich. There seems to be one subject they do not have anything to say about and that is the rotten competition of the gas and electrical department that one-half of the merchants and the help they employ here are up against.

For instance, washing machines with a clothes tree worth $10 free, with $5 down with a year to pay for it and a man at $40 to $50 a week to call at your house and collect the installments to relieve you from the necessity of calling at the gas office to pay them. How many merchants that are paying a 5 1-2 per cent tax on their business and the enormous rents for a place to do business in help pay the overhead expense and commission of a sales manager for which the merchandising department was created to give him a job. From the amounts entered in the court of common council journal is his favor it would indicate that he had a good one.

If the gas and electrical department was any earthly use to relieve the overburdened taxpayers it would be one thing, but after 25 years of existence according to figures it seems to be about holding its own.

Let the good work go on and when the merchants go broke the chamber of commerce can make a drive to save what is left. The Babson statistical organization says civic growth will not come without revitalized civic spirit.

Will some one tell us how this is going to come when municipal competition is crowding tax-paying merchants to the wall by a system of sales credits, presents and time that the merchants in that line are absolutely debarred from meeting? Is it any wonder that conditions in Norwich are on the bum?

Ashford's Opportunities

Mr. Editor: I have sent the following letter to Clarence H. Barlow, first selectman of Ashford:

Dear Sir:

Do those citizens who favor further delay in the completion of "the last mile" on the north road to Westford village realize what heavy damage to the town and her people, to vehicles and their contents, and to all travel from the outside of the town, is involved in such delay? Consider these factors in the situation:

(1) Removal of the east-and-west turnpike from trunk-line to state-aid system places this turnpike under the control of the several towns and of course each town will say for itself where it prefers to place its state-aid funds. Even if Ashford shall build a mile or so on this turnpike, there will remain several miles of country road east and west, and it must be years before state-aid can give us an outlet to trunk-lines in these directions.

(2) Commissioner Macdonald states emphatically that no trunk-line funds are available for the completion of the last mile to Westford, as the Westford interval is now among the last to be placed on the trunk-line system, and there are many other intervals awaiting completion throughout the state, and more important for public convenience. Ashford folks might as well face this fact. It is the judgment of other officials of the state highway department—in fact, I do not know of one who counsels otherwise—that it is the part of practical wisdom for Ashford to complete the last mile from its state-aid funds now available. The financial difference to the town under the "one-eighth" plan is too small to consider, compared to the permanent advantage, not only of a fine highway, but also in the fact that when completed the cost of maintenance passes to the state. It is interesting to note in this connection that the town of Mansfield contributed from its own state-aid funds to the construction of the new bridge at "twin bridges."

(3) The condition of that "last mile" to Westford has been for years an outstanding disgrace to the town of Ashford—everybody knows that! It is actually impassable some of the time; it damages every vehicle that passes over it; and I may fairly add that it damages the morale of all the folks who are obliged to travel over it, because of the discomfort they endure and the things they are moved to say about the road—and about Ashford! —especially friends and neighbors from remoter districts, who have occasion to pass through Westford. These difficulties take far more out of Ashford and its citizens and travelers than it will cost the town to remedy the situation by the plan now available.

(4) Ought not the people of Ashford to wake up to the opportunities of the town and for the community which are opened by the coming of two trunk-line highways? The natural attractiveness and advantages of Ashford as a residential region are unsurpassed. The agricultural development along special lines now opening to markets is also to be realized. But an intelligent development of local highways is needed to co-operate with state highways. Our people seem strangely apathetic along this line. It does not mean heavy taxes to improve local roads. It does mean heavy and constant damage to everything and everybody to endure poor roads. To improve our local roads calls for intelligent planning, and the welcoming of such co-operation as can be readily secured without cost from competent highway engineers familiar with such problems.

In this connection let me recall that not long ago a public-spirited citizen of Ashford offered to add $1,000 to the improvement of local highways on evidence that the town had spent $5,000 for that purpose. Why has not some attention been paid to this generous offer? Are there not others among the newcomers who would offer similar co-operation if the townspeople would welcome their aid instead of ignoring it?

Ashford has about four-score miles of country roads, and of course cannot improve them all at once. But it is possible to adopt an intelligent progressive policy of improvement for leading local roads. Many do not realize the seriousness of the fact that because of the terrible condition of some of the local roads, the mail service is often interrupted, and the federal government has intimated that its service must be discontinued unless there is better local co-operation. Physicians sometimes find it impossible to reach desperate cases because roads are impassible. Business is heavily handicapped. These conditions can be greatly relieved.

The immediate question is, shall we longer endure that miserable, damaging, costly, travel-forbidding mudhole of the last mile to Westford village? Is it not the part of common sense to call a special town meeting at an early date, to instruct the highway commissioner to apply Ashford's available state-aid funds to the completion of this "last mile" which will make Westford village accessible from all points?

ALLEN B. LINCOLN.

YOUR HEALTH

Wounds and Lockjaw

By Orville Harry Brown, M. D., Phoenix, Ariz., Member Gorgas Memorial.

Among the few nearly certainly preventable diseases is tetanus, commonly known as lockjaw. This is another of the germ diseases. Some germs grow best with a full supply of air, the oxygen in the air being the necessary element. Other germs grow best without oxygen or air. The bacillus of lockjaw grows best without oxygen. These germs are found most commonly in horse manure or in soil containing horse manure.

Another characteristic of the tetanus germs is that they produce a poison or toxin. This poison has a special affinity for nerve tissue, and it has a special tendency to attack early the nerves that serve the muscles of the jaw. The effect of this poison upon the nerves is to cause the muscles controlled by them to go into a spasm. Therefore, the muscles of the jaw are apt to set early in the disease and the jaws become immovable or locked. From that we get the name "lockjaw."

The tetanus germs may now be grown experimentally in the laboratory upon proper culture material, by methods well known to specialists in this line of investigation. When these artifically grown germs are killed and then injected into the blood stream of a horse, it is found that they produce a certain chemical change in the horse's blood. This change consists in the manufacture of chemicals which destroy or neutralize the tetanus poison. By giving the horse several gradually increasing doses of dead tetanus bacilli his blood becomes filled with the chemicals which tend to neutralize or eliminate the tetanus germs wherever found. A moderate amount of blood is then drawn from the horse's veins and is allowed to clot. The clear serum which separates from the fibrous part of the blood, or the "clot," may be used as a medicine to prevent lockjaw in one who has become infected. This serum is known as tetanus antitoxin and is one of the mighty triumphs of scientific medicine.

The proper way to treat a cut or stab, one which may have been exposed to stable dirt, is to make it bleed freely and then treat it clear to the depths with an antiseptic. Some physicians make it a practice to inject a probe with a bit of cotton wound around it and dipped into carbolic acid, to the very depths of the cut or stab. By means of the probe and cotton, alcohol is then put in to absorb much of the carbolic acid. Others use strong nitric acid. If the wound can be kept open to the air there is less likelihood of lockjaw developing than if closely wrapped, because the tetanus germ develops best with a deficient oxygen supply. It is necessary, of course, to prevent the cut from getting a new accumulation of dirt.

It is advisable that the treatment of the wound with antiseptics be done by a physician. After he has thoroughly cleansed the wound he will give a small dose of tetanus antitoxin which which will assist the blood to destroy any bacteria or poison which may remain after the first treatment.

After the disease has gotten a start it is nearly a hopeless fight to save the life. Heroic doses of the tetanus antitoxin given subcutaneously, intravenously and in the spinal column have, however, repeatedly saved lives. In case your child has had asthma or hay fever, be sure to tell your physician. If the initial wound is in a hand or a foot, amputation of an arm or leg has also saved many lives.

The suffering during a fatal case of lockjaw is extreme. The mere jarring of the bed or pulling the bed clothes will throw the patient into a spasm of the entire body. The mind remains clear so that the victim is, unfortunately, conscious to the terrible end.

Every wound of any importance, and some that appear trivial, should be treated by a physician and if he advises the serum, his advice should be followed. Never neglect a wound. The use of this serum does no harm.

Little Talks on Thrift

Most Men of Greatest Value Beyond The Age of 50

Not enough attention is paid to the waste of the human element in our economic life. We are learning short-cuts and processes of eliminating this or that form of waste in business. But in the attitude of many individuals or corporations through which either directly or by implication workers over 60 years of age are declared no longer useful, we have a form of misguided enciency that is wrong both in principle and practice.

There may be certain isolated types of work that can be performed better by younger persons. These are forms of employment in which quickness and agility may count for more than anything else. But there are quite as many, if not more, lines of endeavor in which experience, judgment and dependability count for more than all other factors.

It has become a sort of tradition that after workers have reached a stage where they are not quite as agile and active as they were in their days of their youth, they should be set aside as so much worn-out machinery. But actual observation among individuals will show that this theory, which is the antithesis of real thrift, cannot be applied in anything like the majority of cases.

A prominent American surgeon recently made the statement that 50 was the average age at which 400 of the famous men of history had done their best work but that today the leaders in various lines of activity attain the heights of proficiency about midway between 60 and 70. According to this same authority, the practice of corporations, institutions of learning and others in retiring their men at 60 means a waste of their best brains, for "85 per cent. of the big things done today are the work of men past 50. There is no reason why a man who shows initiative up to the age of 60 should quit showing it after 60."

We have built up in social practice an insincere and inconsistent sympathy for the elderly worker. The majority of these men and women do not need our sympathies nor our charitable inclinations. All they need is a just attitude and a decent appraisal of their real worth.

We could with high consistancy do less talking about saving money and conserving natural resources and devote more thought to the rightful conservation of the values of workers who, because of their age, are discarded long before their days of actual usefulness are over.—By S. W. Straus, President of the American Society for Thrift.

GAVE INSTRUCTIVE TALK ON WORKING OF CRIMINAL LAW IN COURTS

Society and the Criminal was the topic of a splendid and highly interesting address given by Attorney Chas. S. Stewart, public defender of the superior court for this county, at the monthly meeting of The Brotherhood of the United Congregational church. The meeting, which had a large attendance, opened at 6.30 o'clock Monday evening with a delicious supper menu, at the Community house. Following the supper the business meeting was called to order by President Harold E. Robbins. The usual reports were heard and accepted after which plans were considered for the May and June meetings. It was decided that there be a series of five minute speakers at the May meeting. The plans for the June meeting will be definitely decided at the meeting next month.

President Robbins presented as the speaker of the evening Attorney Stewart, who is public defender of the superior court in this county. After speaking of the enjoyable hour he had passed with the Brotherhood, Mr. Stewart said that the Brotherhood has the right idea and he would like to see that idea adopted by other churches in the town. He announced as the topic of his address Society and the Criminal. He defined society as the organized power of the state, through its mandates, to compel obedience to its laws. The criminal he defined as the emotionally unstable in human society.

Mr. Stewart told of the public defender act going into effect July 1 1917 and explained the common practice in criminal trials before the enactment of that act. Before that time accused persons who could not secure a lawyer and wished one, were assigned a lawyer by the judge of the court. This was a haphazard method and often resulted in injustices both to the state and the accused.

The public defender is a lawyer of at least five years' experience and is appointed by the judges of the superior court at their annual meetings. He receives a modest salary. His duties are to visit the local jail and confer with accused who have no lawyer and are unable to secure one. He investigates the charge, learns what he can of the antecedents of the accused and gathers all the information he can. Then follows a conference with the state attorney. The result is that when the case comes to trial the state's attorney is able to recommend a disposition of the case which recommendation the court usually adopts.

Mr. Stewart said the public defender law has saved the states thousands of dollars and has worked out very well. It is a step forward. With regard to criticisms of the present criminal procedure, Mr. Stewart said that the principal indictment that can be brought against our present procedure is in the law's delay. Why is it that so much time elapses between the time of the commission of the crime and the execution of sentence? The certainty and swiftness of punishment is a far greater deterrent to crime than the severity of punishment that might ultimately be imposed.

Speaking of another angle of the procedure, Mr. Stewart said that under the present procedure a young boy is bound over to the superior court and is kept in jail from one to three months awaiting trial. His incarceration during that time may do him great harm. We ought to have some reform in our procedure so that we can dispose of these cases speedily.

At the conclusion of his talk Mr Stewart was given a rising vote of thanks. The meeting adjourned about 8 o'clock.

GAVE FINAL LECTURE IN CURRENT EVENTS COURSE

Before an enthusiastic audience at the Wauregan hotel, Saturday evening, Mrs. Marian Gaylord Atwell of New York gave the closing lecture in the current events course of the Woman's City club.

Among other things she said that, with reference to the slogan, "America Fisrt," she deplored the attitude represented in the recent Chicago controversies and drew attention to the significance of the primaries to be held there Tuesday. She declared that it will be a battle royal between the local authorities with Thompson on the one side and the federal authorities on other.

In this connection she further emphasized the fact that many individuals and organizations and nations are seeking to work for the same good things. In various ways many desire to substitute peace for war and understanding for hatred. Consequently she regrets the blacklist of the Massachusetts D. A. R., the spirit of which she feels is not erpresentative of the women of the organization throughout the country at large. We must recognize the opinions of othes and include all nations if we are to bring about a better world. We are against narrowness, bigotry and fear until peace controls the nations of the world.

Mrs. Atwell reviewed briefly the various candidate possibilities for presidential nomination. Recently Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith have both gained in instructed votes. The death of Senator Willis has complicated the situation in Ohio. The chances of Senator Walsh are increasing. Mr. Young is hailed by many as an ideal candidate.

In Mexico, Mr. Morrow has practiced his idea expressed by the words, "I can like them." By investigating the oil and land laws and becoming acquainted with the leaders he has shown an honest respect for another government and brought about a settlement of the oil laws. The land laws are the next problem to be taken up.

A memorial for General Leonard Wood has been established in the Philippines in the form of a $2,000,000 fund for the medical treatment of leprosy. This definite attempt to stamp out this scourge is a fitting tribute to the general and proves that in humanitarian ways we do not fail.

In various countries—Turkey, Russia, Poland, Rumania, we find signs of progress in the desire for education, changes in customs, experiments in governments and friendly advances toward other peoples.

Mrs. Atwell spoke of the bankers' plan for spot cash payment of the war debts by the sale of German bonds in the open market. The Dawes plan of reparations was just for an emergency. The time has come to pay the debts and this plan seems practical.

A note from Briand suggests treaties with all nations to renounce aggressive warfare. All are looking to America and listening to hear what we will do.

The members of the club feel that the course in current events as arranged by the committee with Mrs. A. N. H. Vaughn as chairman and Mrs. Atwell as lecturer has proved most interesting and instructive. Mrs. Atwell has aimed to present wherever possible the best in other nations and in this way has helped to increase appreciation of their contribution to the making of a better world.

THROWN FROM WAGON STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Vincent Kamiesky and his son, Edward, of Uncasville, are patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, New London, following injuries received in an accident on the Norwich-New London highway about 11 o'clock Monday evening. The father is suffering from lacerations, wounds about the face and scalp, bruises of the body and a possible fractured skull, while his son received lacerations and multiple contusions.

Mr. Kamiesky and his son, who had gone to the Robert Gair company for his father, were returning home in a horse driven vehicle over the back road to Palmertown towards their home in Uncasville. Just as they reached the intersection of the road with the highway from New London to Norwich a Ford coupe driven by Alex Cruickshank of Waterford and accompanied by a passenger came along and collided with the horse and wagon.

So great was the impact that the horse was separated from the wagon and the occupants were thrown onto the ground along with innumerable pieces which made up the wagon. Shortly after the collision a passing autoist was halted and the injured persons were taken to the hospital, where they received the necessary treatment. Dr. John J. Donohue, who lives a short distance south of the location of the accident, heard the noise from the collision and went to the accident, but only to arrive a short time after the two injured men were being rushed to the hospital in the automobile.

State police from the Groton barracks were summoned and made an investigation. The Ford coupe had a badly bent radiator and the front headlight brackets were out of line.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 9—Joseph Neville, Box 131, Yantic and Carl Moran, the latter colored, of Norwich, are prisoners at police headquarters tonight, having been arrested on the New London- Norwich road this evening charged with violation of the liquor law, the specific charge being transporting A quantity of liquor was found in the machine, which, it is contended, was fo rdelivery in New London. Neither Neville nor Moren was able to secure a surety on his respective bonds of $1,000 for appearance in the police court tomorrow, but they were hopeful of a bondsman being obtained. Neville and Moren were the occupants of an automobile, which was headed toward New London about 7.30 o'clock. When near Montville, Officers Frank Webber and Arthur Whitmarsh of Groton state police barracks were doing patrol duty along the highway. They suspected that the automobile contained liquor and Neville was signaled to come to a stop. The auto was searched and a quantity of alleged liquor found. The auto and its contents was taken to the state police barracks in Groton and placed in storage. Neville and Moren, were brought to New London and made prisoners.

Neville and Sigmund Leskiewicz, the latter of 402 Central avenue, Norwich, were arrested in New London, March 14 by Prohibition Agents Harry Avery and Stanton Briggs and Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolmen Dennis Murphy and George Perkins, charged with violation of the prohibition law in transporting liquor. Both are now being held for trial before the next term of the United State district court. Neville and Leskiewicz came to New London and while attempting to make a delivery of liquor at a North Bank stret resort they were detected, for the prohibition officers had received a tip of their coming and were awaiting the attempted delivery.

The liquor that Neville and Leskiewicz had in their possession was in hot water bottles. Several days after their arrest, Neville's wife, who was attempting to bring a quantity of liquor from Providence to Norwich, was arrested in Rhode Island, but not until she had given the arresting officer a 40-mile chase. Neville was formerly employed in New London as a bus driver, also at one time was employed by the Connecticut company.

About 25 young women were present and after the egg games were played the birthday gifts were presented to the chaplain, Rev. C. M. Budlong, and three other members of the society. A fine program consisting of songs, fancy dancing and recitations by six of the girls proved most delightful. Mrs. Jane Southouse is president of the organization.

It is believed that the break was made Monday morning as Mrs. Peraldo is employed and is away from the house during the day. Sergeant Myron O. Morgan made an investigation and reported his findings at police headquarters.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR HOSPITAL BED FUND

A well-attended Easter Monday dance was given at the Wauregan hotel ballroom by the William W. Backus Hospital Alumnae association for the benefit of the sick and free bed fund. Grass Fire Spread to Shed

A grass fire on property owned by Joseph A. I. Donnelley in the rear of 635 North Main street called out the fire department by telephone at 2.40 o'clock Monday afternoon. The owner was burning the grass on the land, when he lost control of the blaze, a shed containing wood, etc., and fences on adjoining property catching afire. A line of hose was laid by Engine No 2 and Squad A which responded, and little damage resulted.

CORPORAL IZZY SCHWARTZ EASILY WINS OVER PARRA IN TITLE DEFENSE

NEW YORK, April 9—(AP)—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized in New York as the flyweight champion of the world, hammered Routier Parra, Chilean titleholder, into gory defeat tonight in a 15-round title defense before 4,500 fans at St. Nicholas arena. Parra scaled 108 and Schwartz 111, a pound under the class limit.

Schwartz slashed and tore at the game little South American with every punch known to the game. But though he won every round, made a bloody mark of welts of Parra's features, and had the Chilean wobbly and staggering in a half dozen sessions, Schwartz could not floor the challenger.

The local champion, hardly ruffled at any time by Parra's wild swinging, opened a gash over the Chilean's left eye in the second round. From then on the corporal jabbed, hooked and sliced rights and lefts into Parra's features and body until the crowd groaned in sympathy with the challenger.

Parra never stopped, however, and the capacity crowd, enjoying the unique experience of paying but $3 for the best seats at a title fight, kept the tiny rink in an uproar. Schwartz tried valiantly to finish the challenger but his best punches, poured into Parra's head and body, never had the Chilean more than badly dazed.

ACADEMY TRACK SQUAD WORKING FOR TECH MEET

The Academy track squad is holding daily workouts during vacation in preparation for the first meet of the year with Chapman Tech at New London. A two-hour session is held each morning by Coach Matthew Sheridan, starting at 10 o'clock. As yet the outlook for the year is not overly bright although it is expected that the present members will come around all right in a week or so.

PLAINFIELD PROS HAVE CLOSED FOR THE SEASON

Owing to the inability of the Plainfield Pros and the Original Celtics to reach an agreement on dates the Plainfield tea mhas decided to call the season ended and rest on its laurels until the fall. The Pros piled up a very creditable record against some of the strongest teams in the east and were in line for state and New England titles could arrangements have been made for the deciding series.

PECHEENI LOSES UNPOPULAR VERDICT TO MARSHALL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW BEDFORD, April 9.—Young Geno Pecheeni of Norwich fighting his first bout here tonight lost a very unpopular decision to Young Marshall, a local boy. In fact, the decision was so unpopular that the crowd hisses and booed the referee after he raised Marshall's hand at the end of the sixth round. Pecheeni proved popular with the fans and has been signed to fight on the next card on Monday, April 16th. An effort was made to rematch him with Marshall but the local boy refused to fight although Pecheeni was perfectly agreeable.

PASTIME TO HAVE REAL SNAPPY CARD FOR FRIDAY

Matchmakers Burns and Quinn have rounded up a real snappy aggregation of mitt welders for their amateur show at Olympic hall on Friday evening. Headed by the Talbot-Carpenter bout the card will include the peppery Vic Darr-Metcalf bout as one of the topliners. Vic is developing into a real two-handed puncher and at the rate he is going his bout with Metcalf should be a real sensation. Metcalf is a clever boxer but it remains to be seen whether he can do anything against Darr's tornado-like style of fighting.

Talbot, pride of the trolleys, is doing his daily routine at the Pastime gym and as the days go by he looks better and better. It was not so long ago that the crowds came to jeer at the awkward efforts of the fighting motorman but today he puts up as good a battle as any of the heavy amateur boys. As was once said by a woman fan "Even Gene Tunney had to learn to box."

PROFS CAN HAVE BALL PARK IN WEST HAVEN

WEST HAVEN, April 9—(AP)—Eastern league Sunday baseball for this town was approved by residents assembled in town meeting here tonight.

Before any vote was taken, speakers pointed out that the New Haven club of the Eastern league had been invited to return to its old homegrounds at Savin Rock by the chamber of commerce and had not come unsolicited. The New Haven club gave up its holdings in Hamden to take over the Savin Rock plot and the field and stands are now in the course of construction.

Within eight minutes after the meeting opened, the vote was taken and was found to be unanimously for Sunday baseball.

REISELT MUST REVERSE FORM TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

CHICAGO, April 9—(AP)—Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia must show a remarkable and sudden reversal of form if he is to retain his national three cushion billiard championship.

As the second week of play in the national tournament started today, the championship was tied for fourth place with three victories and two defeats.

In first place was the ingenious Willie Hoppe of New York, who has won each of the four games he has played. Tied for second and third were John Layton and Allen Hall, both of St. Louis, with four wins and one loss.

LOCAL BOYS TO BE GIVEN A. A. U. HEARING THURSDAY

The three local boys suspended by the A. A. U. in its house-cleaning campaign, Johnny Kop, Jimmy Quinn and Frankie Adams, will be given a hearing before the investigating committee at New Haven on Thursday. Each of the local boxers received watches for their bouts in Bridgeport, Quinn giving his to his father as a Christmas present.

Interscholastic Sports

Although Chapman Tech opened the eastern Connecticut high school diamond season last Saturday by losing to Deep River, 10 to 0, Westerly and Bulkeley will furnish the real opener Wednesday at Mercer field.

The four men that Tech was minus no doubt weakened her considerably.

Deep River sure gets an early start on her athletic seasons.

She started basketball practice last October, played the first game in November, ended the court season in February and now starts baseball on the first Saturday in April.

Chapman Tech looked miserable to many who saw the game.

Practically all high schools in eastern Connecticut will have started their baseball years ere another ten days pass.

Track is also coming in for much attention with the first meets a little better than two weeks in the distance.

JOE MILLER IN RANGERS' GOAL TONIGHT

MONTREAL, Que., April 9—(AP)—The New York Rangers will enter the third game of the hockey world's series here tomorrow night with Joe Miller, hastily recruited from the minor leagues, guarding their nets against the flashing attacks of Montreal's rugged Maroons.

With the approval of Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league, the Rangers today engaged Miller, goalkeeper for the Niagara Falls, Ont., hockey team to replace Lorne Chabot, regular goalie, who was badly hurt in the second game of the series Saturday night.

With the series deadlocked at one victory apiece and a world's championship at stake, Chabot's injury has dealt what may prove to be a death blow to Ranger hopes of becoming the second American team to win the Stanley cup.

Miller is no Chabot at the nets. He started the 1927-28 season with the New York Americans but was traded later to Niagara Falls for Vernon (Jakie) Forbes.

Throughout the first game of the series Chabot was a bulwark on the defense and it was only his brilliant play that kept the Maroons from running up an overwhelming score. He was playing just as sensational game in the second contest when he was struck over the eye by the flying puck. For a time it was feared he would lose the sight of his eye but physicians today said he was improving rapidly and could see almost as well out of the injured optic as the other.

By an irony of fate Chabot's injury, coming in the world's series, was the first he had suffered in his major league career. The same stroke of fate sent Lester Patrick, gray-haired Rangers' manager, into the game as Chabot's substitute. Despite the weight of his 44 years, Patrick put up a sturdy game at the nets for the rest of the game and aided the American group champions to win, 2 to 1, and even up the series.

HIGH SCHOOL PROSPECTS

Crosby High (Waterbury).

Crosby faces a tough season, fairly well stocked with material. Coach Ted Bullen had 60 candidates report to him last week and of this number eight were of last year's squad. Crosby ought to put up a real fight for the state title this year.

Crosby has a strong outfield ready to start, including Johnny Hartnett, Frank Lacilla, Tommy Lawlor and Sam Shea, all veterans, while there are a few promising youngsters.

Ratzke, another veteran, will have tough sledding if he is to again get the catcher's job for there are many potential mask men, and quite a few of them have real ability.

The rest of the infield, however, is but fair, while the pitching department ought to help a lot this year although no outstanding flinger has, as yet been uncovered.

Crosby has a 19 game schedule, calling for games with Naugatuck, St. Thomas' Seminary, Roxbury, Hotchkiss, Collegiate Prep, Wilby, for the city title, N. F. A., and others, so that there is no soft snap here. Crosby plays here against the Academy Saturday, May 5.

Tomorrow—Deep River High.

'BOUT SPORTS

Johnny Michaels, the southpaw ace of the Warren Harding High pitching staff last season appears to have found favor with the Hartford Eastern league club, where he is now getting a tryout. Although it is pretty well understood that he will not stick in the merger loop this year, it is just as equally positive that Hartford will not let him get far away. It is said that he may be let out to a New England club.

Babe Ruth has bet Wilcy Moore again this year on his hitting capacity. Last season the Bambino laid $300 to $15 that Cy wouldn't get three hits all year. Cy, however, found time in addition to his manipulation of the "sinker ball," to get seven hits during the year, the third on August 8. His season's hitting mark was .059. This year the bet is $1000 at 10 to 1 that Moore don't get ten hits.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

The New York Yankees are the odds-on favorite in the American League race that has an advance and solitary showing today in the nation's capital but it is a great season for long shots in the National league derby.

Seven Have Chance

Seven of the eight clubs of the older circuit will have at least a voice in the debate even if all are not actually able to carry the argument into the final stages of the campaign. Only the Phillies are dismissed from calculations that promise the biggest and most exciting National league scramble in years.

The National's policy seems to be for more and louder pennant arguments in contrast to the Yankee notion of making it a private fight. There were four outstanding pennant contenders in the National league race last year and a fifth club, Cincinnati, having a lot to say about the order of finish.

In such a free-for-all as the one that gets under way this Wednesday it is only natural to find in blossom, if not full bloom, hopes and aspirations that have not been so conspicuous through the last few years. The Chicago Cubs, for instance, haven't won a pennant since 1918. They threatened last year but didn't have enough experience to stand the gaff. Right now Joe McCarthy's ambitious young men are perhaps the best long shot of the National league campaign.

Only five out of fifty-two experts have picked the Cubs to win but if the Bruins continue to hit the pace they have displayed so far in spring training a lot of the boys will make a belated rush to get on the Chicago bandwagon. Those who picked the Cubs will be heard from later if they win.

This is McCarthy's third year in charge of the Cub outfit. It has been on the upgrade ever since he took hold and may break through to the top this year on the impetus it seems to have gained from the addition of Kiki Cuyler's speed and punch.

Pirates-Cards to Have Rivals

The Cubs are not the only worry in sight for the twin-favorites of the race, the Pirates and Cardinals. These two are generally picked to be the main contenders. They were only a game and a half apart at the close of the last season and they may be just as close again but in addition to watching each other they will need to keep eyes on the Giants, Braves, Robins and Reds.

It was the head-ache they acquired trying to win the pennant-deciding game from Cincinnati last season that affected the Pirates in the world's series. The Bucks were exhausted from the strain of battling a club that was only fifth in the final standing but which was playing as good ball as any outfit in the league at the close. These Reds are starting the season with the same outfit that was so troublesome late last season, plus the benefit of having their Cuban star, Adolfo Luque, in the best shape of his career.

The guiding hand of Rogers Hornsby is already apparent in the progress of the Boston Braves. Rogers has displayed a genius for leadership. He brought the Cardinals up in the first division after a hard fight in 1925, led them to the pennant in 1926 and had a big part in the great drive of the Giants last season. He has different material to work with this season but his dynamic presence on the field will make the Braves a tough team to beat.

Giants Depend on Cohen

Meanwhile the Giants, under the indomitable guidance of McGraw, seem to have overcome much of the handicap of Hornsby's sudden departure. If Cohen can plug the second base gap the club will be a contender.

Brooklyn, with as great a pitching staff as any club in either league and new strength elsewhere, may be an important factor in the race. The Robins have a habit of making themselves conspicuous every four years and this is the year they are due.

But like most of the other clubs, even among the favorites, Brooklyn has some weak spots. The Cubs have infield uncertainties and the Pirate a pitching worry or two. The Cardinals could use another outfield star. There are question marks at second base and in the box for the Giants.

Slight Difference in American

As in the National, seven American league clubs are shooting at the same mark. The difference is that one group is aiming at the pennant, while the other is shooting at the Yankees. The Athletics seem well equipped to do the most consistent firing. Connie Mack has plenty of reserves on hand to replace any of his veterans who show signs of weakening.

SENATORS-RED SOX GAME TODAY AT WASHINGTON OPENS MAJORS' SEASON

WASHINGTON, April 9—(AP)—Opening the American league's 1928 campaign a day ahead of the other entries, Washington and Boston will play here tomorrow with President Coolidge in the grand stand. Mr. Coolidge will do the usual tossing of the first ball onto the diamond, aiming it at Clarence Owens, umpire in chief for the opening ceremony.

Vice President Dawes, Speaker Longworth, members of the cabinet and other officials are expected to be among the spectators for part of the game at least.

Milton Gaston for Washington and MacFayden for Boston are the announced starting pitchers. Bucky Harris, who hopes to lead his charges to another pennant, and Goslin expect to have recovered sufficiently from recent injuries to be at their regular stations when the bell rings. But one other regular, Catcher Ruel, will sit on the bench with a sore arm while Bennie Tate works behind the bat.

The Senators will open up with 26 players on the roster, one more than the maximum allowed to be carried after June 15. The list has been trimmed several times and whether fresh material is in prospect is not announced.

YANKS TAKE DECIDING GAME FROM BROOKLYN

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 9—(AP)—The New York Yankees made it two out of three from Brooklyn today, a two run rally in the eighth deciding the issue. The score was 3 to 2.

The game was a pitcher's battle from start to finish. "Jumbo Jim" Elliott pitched the first five innings for the Dodgers, allowing five hits, one run and fanning five men. McWeeney then took up the burden. Two hits, two passes and two sacrifice flies gave the Yankees their winning runs in the eighth.

Henry Johnson and Al Shealey held Brooklyn to eight scattered hits, and fanned seven men between them.

Riconda, teaming up with Freigau in a double steal, stole home in the sixth inning. Combs was the hitting star of the game getting three singles. Ruth and Gehrig each got a single, their only safeties of the day.

FOUR TEAMS LOOM STRONG IN A. A. WHICH OPENS TODAY

CHICAGO, April 9—(AP)—Ivory hunters of the major leagues have taken most of the sparkle out of the various American Association teams that will open on the 1928 season tomorrow, and the result will depend upon the ability of replacements.

Toledo, the 1927 flag winner, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Indianapolis, the latter entered under its new owner, James A. Perry, new to organized baseball, stands out as the class of the league. The remaining four clubs, Columbus, Kansas City, Louisville and Minneapolis are doped to battle through the season for the high not h spot in the second division.

Weather of doubtful nature will greet the eight teams when they take the field.

CUMMINGS-BREEN SHOW WELL AT N. F. A.

Although the weather was much cooler than anything yet experienced this season, the Academy baseball squad went through their paces for over three hours Monday afternoon at the campus. Capt. Mace Goldblatt was in charge and the workout consisted mostly of hitting with a bit of infield practice and a three inning practice game to close proceedings.

Several of the veterans were absent and recruits had a chance to display their wares. Neither Buck LaCroix nor Red Fagan, heretofore regarded as leading candidates for third base, were present so that Mickey Breen, a lower middler, went in and showed some nice work. In the outfield Cummings, a youngster from Norwich Town continued to give a fine exhibition and it is hard to see, if he keeps up this work, how he can be kept off the first team. He appears to be a natural player all around and looks like a big "find."

Today the squad will hit the start of the final stretch before the opening game Saturday with the Alumni. The entire outfit is expected to be present for today's workout, which is slated for 12 noon, so as to get plenty of work in during mid-day. Coach Earle E. Brigham will be in charge today, having returned from his home in Worcester after a brief vacation.

Pepin, the chunky little catcher, has not been hitting them square in the last few days. In his first appearances he murdered the ball and it is expected that he will flash some more of that form soon.

Anso Tombari and "Chubby" Gibbs, aided by a strong wind, both put the ball over the fence in practice. Tombari's was the longest drive, clearing the left field fence while Gibbs sent his over near the scoreboard.

Another cut is expected in the squad before the first game. At present there are about 35 on the squad but this is a bit too many once the games start.

Practice will be held at 12 noon every day this week. Wednesday many of the club plan to go down to the Bulkeley-Westerly game.

Chubby Gibbs pulled a couple of nice stops in the practice game.

However, the infield is still in miserable condition and it will need some manicuring before Saturday.

The Alumni will practice Thursday or Friday at the campus.

The first scholastic tilt, with Deep River here Friday, the 20th is not being taken lightly by the Wildcats, who are already planning on getting to Linder, the wonder flinger.

Glimpses of Sports of Other Days

BILL AUSTIN SIGNS

There is perhaps no better known local ball player now living in Norwich or vicinity than Bill Austin. He has played on practically all teams of importance in this city, starring for many years with Riverview. His last baseball appearance was two years ago in the Twilight league, and of course it should be mentioned that Old Bill led the league in hitting, playing right field for the East Ends.

The following is a story of his signing for the second time with Fall River.

Bill Austin, whose well known ability with the willow has more than once made Sachem park sound with shouts of "Swat'er out, Bill!" has signed for the coming season with the Fall River team of the New England league, the same team he finished up with in 1907. Bill has been working at the state hospital and will report in Fall River on April 12.

WILLIAM (BILL) AUSTIN

In a series of sketches of New England league players, the New Bedford Daily Times has this to say of Austin:

"William Austin, outfielder of the Fall River club, is noted as the league's hardest left hand hitter. Time and again he has broken up games with his long, savage drives, and to the pitchers in this league, he is the most feared batter in the circuit.

"Austin has the natural batting eye. He is a farmer and on the back lots of Poquetanuck his home village in Connecticut, he first won fame as a slugger.

"At that time Austin was a pitcher. He had an exceptionally strong arm and good curves. However, he lacked control and this lost many a game for him in the bush league. For several years he pitched for the Brewster's Neck nine against the teams from the neighboring towns. Bill generally won his games and hit so hard that he was looked on as a wonder. Finally he became imbued with the idea that he was fast enough for league company.

"He went to Manager Davenport of the Norwich team of the Connecticut league and offered to play for his expenses until he made good. This was in the fall of 1902, and the next year he signed with the Norwich team as a pitcher and outfielder. After playing on the Norwich team that season Bill quit baseball in the north. He had a brother who was ill with consumption, and in order to prolong his life he took him to Texas, where he played in the Texas league all through that season.

"That winter his brother died in Norwich. The next year Bill signed with Jimmy Canavan's New Bedford team. He was the sensation of the league, and it is safe to say that no more popular player ever wore a local uniform.

Last year Bill did not show up well in the spring, but he did as well as the other members of the local team. Through the working of a clique he was released, much to his disappointment, for Austin loved to play in New Bedford. Many of the teams tried to sign him, but Fall River gave him the best offer and Austin took it up. He played with the Border City team the remainder of the season, and his batting brought victory many times to his team.

"Austin is 25 years old and was born in Franklin, Conn. He is five feet, 10 1-2 inches tall and when in playing condition weighs 170 pounds.

"Besides being a first class ball player he is a comedian, and his antics on the road furnish his teammates with plenty of fun. He is noted among the players as having ridden Hee Haw Maude successfully at Wonderland last year, and of making a classic speech to the crowd in Worcester when Catcher Knotts threw his mask in front of a base runner."

Want Ball Games

The Chapman Aces of Willimantic are booking games for the coming season and are especially desirous of hearing from the Taftville Everready club and the Jewett City Accos, or any other ball club in that class. They expect to open their season April 15 and would like a game for that date. Address all communications to Chapman Aces A. C., 47 Chapman street, Willimantic, Conn., Baseball manager, or call 1902 around 5 p. m.

SETTLEMENT IN SUIT MADE OUT OF COURT

The suit of the Hexagon Tire company of New York against Lane Motor Supply company of this city, which was assigned for trial here in the common pleas court before Judge C. B. Waller was settled out of court. The tire company sued for a bill of $150 for tires, but the Lane company put in a counter-claim for $175, alleging that the tires were not as represented in an agreement and that on that account the Norwich concern had to make refunds and adjustments.

The case of Moses Chabot against Alfred Arnold, Jr., also assigned for Monday, was put over to April 20.

A two weeks' mission will be conducted by two mission fathers of the Passionist order at St. John's church, Montville, beginning April 15, the pastor, Rev. James A. O'Meara, has announced. The first week will be devoted to morning and evening services for the men, and the second week's services will be for the women. For the foreign members of the parish it is planned to conduct mission services in French and English in connection with the regular mission exercises. The Passionist order was founded in 135 by St. Paul of the Cross and introduced into the United States by Bishop O'Connor of Pittsburgh in 1853. The Passionist fathers are chiefly engaged in conducting missions throughout the country and their religious courses have been eminently successful. At present the order maintains prosperous monasteries in the east, at Brighton, Mass., West Springfield, Union City, N. Y., Baltimore and Birmingham, Pa. The priests who will conduct the Uncasville mission will be sent from the Union City monastery.

Modern Motors
Demand Modern Tires

The fast get-away -- the quick stop -- this grinding wear demands

General's Dual Tread Proper Size Line

WITH PRESENT LOW RUBBER PRICES, what's the use of worrying along with the ordinary tire. Never before has top quality cost so little -- never so easy to pay for -- and never has it meant so much.

What other tire has kept pace with the rapid development in motor cars, particularly in the past two years—their higher speed, extra power, quicker get-away, sudden stopping—punishment that tears down the ordinary carcass and grinds off the tread of any tire not built to meet the new driving conditions.

Built bigger and better through and through. Not merely thicker in tread—not merely more rubber on the surface. Even some of the cheaper tires might copy the thickness of the tread, but it isn't only the amount of rubber that counts with General—it's the kind. Not simply more rubber—and more per tire—but more pure rubber.

That is the sort of tire foundation the modern motor car must have for replacement of the original equipment tire lines that have proved too light for the job.

It is the reason for car owners everywhere changing over to the Dual Tread, Proper Size General line, a swing so tremendous that it has carried General to the biggest sales gain in the industry—the only one of the big five tire manufacturers of Akron credited with an actual tire gain during the past season.

When you find such a percentage of the car owners coming to one make of tire it is pretty good evidence that there is one line and one only capable of standing the wear of this new hard-driving era.

The second set of tires must always be better than the first, for it's the second set that finds the wheels out of alignment, brakes needing adjustment, natural wear throughout the chassis that puts additional burdens on the tires. Where the other tire quits, General takes up the job. It carries the handicap that only such Proper Size, Dual Tread quality can carry and still deliver the greatest uninterrupted mileage—two to one over any other tire.

CALLING OF $35,000,000 BANK LOANS CHECKED RISE IN PRICES OF STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 9—(AP)—Heavy realising, probably induced by the calling of $35,000,000 in bank loans and stiffening call money rates, checked a brisk advance in prices in today's stock market but not until after more than three score issues had registered new high levels for the year, or longer. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 2 to 15 points, but many of these were cut down, or wiped out and converted into small losses, in the late wave of selling. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe soared nearly 45 points to a new peak at 300, but lost all but 18 points of its gain.

Total sales crossed the 4,000,000 share mark for the first time this month and the sixth time since the present wild up-swing started two months ago.

The advance in stock prices took place in the face of a large quota of ordinarily unfavorable news, chief of which was the increase of more than $150,000,000 in federal reserve brokers' loans reported after the close of the market last Thursday. The omission of the U. S. Rubber first preferred dividend was reflected in the break of more than 6 points in that stock to a new 1928 low at 79, but most of the other rubber issues held firm.

Speculative interest in today's market was divided between the eastern railroad shares and the coppers, several of which scored impressive gains. Public utility, motor, oil, merchandising, food and chemical groups also presented several points of strength.

Anaconda Copper, which moved up more than 6 points to a 72 7-8, the highest price since 1919, was one of the day's outstanding features. Wall street heard reports that a powerful pool had been organized in that issue by the Cuten, Durant and Fisher interests. Other non-ferrous metal shares improved, net gains of 2 points or more being established by American Smelting, American Zinc & Lead common and preferred, Cerro de Pasco, Inspiration and Kennecott.

Schulte Retail Stores, also reported to be under the market sponsorship of the Cutten and Durant interests, was pushed up slightly more than 4 points to a new peak of 66 1-8, but slipped back to 64 on profit taking. Waldorf System advanced more than a point to a new high at 27 and Reis & Company touched a new top at 12.

Among the many other industrials to break into new high ground for the year were Advance Rumely common and preferred, American Bank Note, Atlantic Refining, Brooklyn Edison, Commercial Investment Trust, Container Corporation of America A and B, Electric Auto Lite, Fairbanks Morse and General American Tank, Graham-Paige, Kelvinator, Mexican Seaboard Oil, National Dairy Products, National Enameling, Snider Packing, U. S. Realty and Willys Overland preferred.

Pittsburgh & West Virginia jumped nearly 6 points to a new high at 161 and then slipped back to 153. Lehigh Valley, Reading, Baltimore and Ohio, Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson and Western Maryland common and second preferred also reached new high ground. Wabash was heavy, reacting 3 1-2 points to 78 and then snapping back to 79.

Call money renewed at 4 1-4 per cent. and then advanced to 5 1-2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet because of the widespread observance of the eastern Monday holiday in European capitals. Sterling cables ruled firm around $4.88 1-4 and other European rates showed little change.

Most of the leading commodity markets pointed upheard. Cotton futures advanced $2.50 a bale on buying influenced by the bullish boll weevil report issued at the end of last week. Wheat prices improved slightly on reports of colder weather in the grain belt. Coffee and sugar prices showed little change.

WESTERLY

ELLASTON MAY FLOAT AT HIGH TIDE TODAY AT 1 A.M.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 9—The 300-foot steel British steam freighter Ellaston, Capt. William Morgan, remained hard and fast at day today on Watch Hill reef off Watch Hill point. The steamer with 3,500,000 feet of lumber went aground Sunday morning at 7:07 in a dense fog. The freighter had come in by Montauk point on her trip from Vancouver, British Columbia, by way of the Panama Canal and was seeking the entrance to Fishers Island sound on her course to New London, when she drove some fifteen or twenty feet onto the ledge which the Clyde line steamship Onondaga struck in July, 1918. There the liner has continued to remain, with just the two steel spars sticking up out of the sound.

Following the unsuccessful effort of U. S. cutter Redwing, of Boston and three 125-footers and tug to pull the freighter off the reef in a stern direction eastward at high water about midnight Sunday, a second effort was made soon after noon Monday. The tug Resolute, which arrived Monday morning assisted in a second unsuccessful effort to dislodge the big merchantman. A strong south-west wind which was driving the waters of the sound in waves breaking in white-caps across the reefs threatened to grind out the bottom of the freighter, if the wind continued without let-up. Between 12 and 1 p. m. Monday the crew of the steamer began throwing overboard the heavy two-inch planking which made up the bow lumber deck-load, in an effort to lighten the boat at the bow. The strong wind and out-going tide carried the lumber out easterly toward Block Island and several small boats began salvaging as much of the lumber as they were able in the choppy waters. On Sunday the freighter appeared to rest on an even keel but Monday morning the action of the wind and tide caused the craft to list to starboard, so that observers on shore could plainly see the deck through glasses and the members of the crew and wrecker workmen as they moved about at the operation of the donkey engine at the stern, as tow-lines were drawn taut.

About 4:30 p. m. today U. S. cutter Redwing, 250 tons, 140 feet length, 25 feet 6 inches breadth with mean draft of 10 feet with two masts and crew of 5 officers and 73 men, which had been standing by all day and the previous night, started on its return to Boston.

With the departure of the Redwing a tug of the Taggert Dredging company came in from Montauk Point, having made the trip from New York. The lights of the cutter Redwing as it moved about Sunday night caused a number of shore observers to think that the freighter had been pulled off the reef and about midnight they left for home, in the belief that the steamer was freed. Early arrivals at the shore Monday morning found the big freighter in the same position on the reef as it lay the previous day.

At high water Monday night or about 1 a. m. Tuesday morning another attempt is to be made to get the freighter off the ledge before a strong southerly or southeasterly wind can drive the steamer farther onto the reef, or pound the vessel to pieces.

Pawcatuck Fire department responded Monday shortly after 10:30 a. m. to an alarm from Box No. 43, Mechanic and Palmer streets for a fire in the house owned by the Lorraine Manufacturing company. The house is occupied by the family of Joseph Parkinson at 59 Mechanic street. The fire started from the explosion of an oil stove in the kitchen. The flames were extinguished by neighbors before the arrival of members of P. S. Barber Hose Co. and no great amount of damage was done. The contents of the house is covered by insurance.

Just before 1 p. m. a spark from a chimney started a fire on the shingled roof of the three family house No. 11 Pawcatuck avenue, occupied by the families of Albert Wills, Richard Parkinson and Fred Clark. A fire line hose was laid from the William Clark mill of the American Thread company directly across the street and the blaze was out before the P. S. Barber Co. arrived, but they remained to be sure the blaze did not start again. The blaze which made a hole in the rof was seen by James Cosenza who was nearby and the alarm was rung in by Edward Lord.

Palmer chapter, No. 28, Royal Arch Masons, J. Ernest Young, high priest, held a special convocation Monday night when the chapter officers worked the Royal Arch degree on a class. This was the last work of the present officers before the annual meeting.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"

Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

A Tail Worth Having

Some tails appear without excuse,
While other tails are put to use.
—Prickly Porky.

Bobby Coon was holding his breath. He didn't realize it, but he was. So was Boomer the Nighthawk. Down below them on the ground was Prickly Porky with his head thrust under a log, where he couldn't see anything. They suspected that he thought he was hidden, just because his head was hidden. Of course, he really was in plain sight. And creeping toward him a step at a time, so as not to make the least teeny-weeny bit of noise, was Old Man Coyote. Old Man Coyote was trying to steal up where he could slip under Prickly Porky and suddenly throw him on his back. If he could do this, he could easily kill Prickly Porky and have a good dinner, for underneath Prickly Porky is quite unprotected.

Old Man Coyote was almost near enough now. So far, there hadn't been a sign that Prickly Porky knew that Old Man Coyote was anywhere about. Bobby Coon and Boomer the Nighthawk knew that Prickly Porky knew, and, knowing this, they couldn't understand why Prickly Porky should have allowed Old Man Coyote to get so near.

And then, without any warning, something happened. Oh, my goodness, yes, something happened! It happened so quickly that at first Bobby Coon and Boomer the Nighthawk, who were looking on, didn't realize what had happened. One instant there below them was Prickly Porky, perfectly quiet, and to one side Old Man Coyote just starting to reach out and slip a paw under Prickly Porky. The next instant there was a sharp yell of pain, and Old Man Coyote actually fell over backward. Then he began to paw at his face and to rub his face on the ground. When he held his head still long enough, Bobby Coon saw that in one side of his face were two or three of Prickly Porky's little spears. Yes, sir, there they were, sticking right in the side of Old Man Coyote's face.

Bobby Coon stared down as if he had never seen Prickly Porky's little spears before. "How under the sun did those get there?" he muttered. "Did Prickly Porky shoot them at Old Man Coyote?"

"What a silly idea!" exclaimed Boomer the Nighthawk. "Of course, he didn't! Didn't you see him slap Old Man Coyote? It's a lucky thing that Old Man Coyote wasn't any nearer. If he had received a good full slap, he would be in trouble now."

CUT HERE

"What are you talking about?" demanded Bobby Coon. "How could he slap Old Man Coyote without taking his head out from under that old log? And he didn't do that, for I've kept watch!"

Boomer chuckled. "You were watching the wrong end, Bobby," said he.

In fact, he was sneaking off in a hurry

"He did his slapping with his tail. Prickly Porky may be slow-moving, but there is nothing slow about the way he flips that tail around. There, look at that!"

Just as Boomer spoke, Prickly Porky flipped his tail from one side to the other. He had heard some leaves rustle and thought that Old Man Coyote might be near enough to be struck. But he wasn't. In fact, he was sneaking off in a hurry, stopping once in a while to rub his face on the ground. He was trying to rub those little spears out.

"He's gone, Prickly Porky!" cried Bobby Coon.

Prickly Porky backed out. "That," said Prickly Porky, "is what shows you what a tail worth having is like. That is what I call a useful tail. It is a fighting tail. Come down here, Bobby, and let me slap you with it."

"No, thank you, Prickly Porky," cried Bobby Coon hurriedly. "I'm satisfied to take your word for it."

POETRY

The Laggard

As down this winding lane I go
My ears are quick, my feet are slow,
For "Stop!" the blackthorn cries to me
And "Stop!" each cloudy sallow-tree.

"Turn, turn again!" the blackthorn cries,
"For wisdom enters at the eyes.
And ts that hurries past these knows
He is not wise as folly goes!"

"Stay!" call the sallows, "do not miss
One golden grain the sunbeams kiss!
We fleet, we fade, and when next year
We come, you may not still be here!"

I look and look, and yet again,
Till down both snow and gold-dust rain,
And of that beauty now no more
I have not garnered half the store!

So swift the sun fulfils his days,
So orderly the bough obeys,
That I, who watched the sticky sheaf,
Now linger for the crackling leaf;

And as a-frost I stand and look
And learn the burnt boughs as a book,
There comes a breeze, a drift of rain,
And the burnt boughs are green again!

Old reaper, waiting at some stile,
Bear back your scythe full many a mile!
Or dose, and stay, and give me grace—
I will not mend my laggard's pace!

—Ianthe Jerrold, in Country Life (London).

Springtide

Today I woke at early morn
To hear the sweetest springlike song.
One little bird sang to his kind
That spring was coming through the wind.

What cared he, if the warming sun
Let fitful clouds its power outrun?
What cared he, if the snow still lay
In patches on a world of gray?

What cared he, if the trees were bare,
And death, alone reigned everywhere?
He sang his song—though none might mind—
That spring is coming through the wind!

—Emma F. Estabrook, in Boston Transcript.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Father—And did the questions in the examinations bother you?

Son—The questions didn't, but the answers certainly did.—Detroit News.

"How long did it take you to learn skating?"

"Oh, several sittings!"—Answers.

"Why did you send me that alarm clock for a birthday present?"

"Well, you said you liked rings."—Good Hardware.

"What is your worst sin, my child?"

"My vanity—I spend hours before the mirror admiring my beauty."

"That is not vanity—that is imagination."—Nebelspalter, Zurich.

Polite Piano Tuner (making a business call): "If you please, I have come to do the grand."

New Maid (answering the door): "Well, my fine fellow, you can 'op to it. We don't want any of your airs 'ere."—Exchange.

Father—Betty, I'm shocked. Your mother tells me you are engaged to three college boys.

Betty—Oh, well, papa, they are all football players and when the season is over I shall marry the survivor.—Boston Transcript.

Suitor—I seek your daughter's hand in marriage, sir. I love her devotedly and I would suffer deeply if I caused her a moment's sorrow.

Father—You're dead right, young fellow. You sure would suffer. I know that girl.—Life.

A famous musician who had written a "Romeo and Juliet" opera was visiting Stratford and being shown the memorials.

"Shakespeare?" he queried. "Who was Shakespeare?"

"Why," explained his guide, "didn't you set his Romeo and Juliet to music?"

"Oh, now I remember," said the great one. "The librettist."—Tit-Bits.

Rheumatic Agony

Can Be Ended

There is absolutely no reason why any one who is constantly subject to attacks of Rheumatism, Neuritis or Gout should go on suffering the terrible torture and awful pain of these dread afflictions. For today any rheumatic sufferer may get amazing and quick relief from the use of Rheuma, a harmless remedy which has proved itself in thousands of cases.

Rheuma will absolutely stop your rheumatic suffering or it will not cost you one penny. If you really want to get rid of those awful stabbing knife-pains—if you really want to drive those dull, grinding, numbing aches out of your system, just step into Lee & Osgood Co. and ask for a bottle of RHEUMA, for they, and druggists everywhere, sell it with a positive guarantee of money back if it does not rid you of all rheumatic torture.

NOANK

The Hammer nine ball-teasers, Saturday afternoon, played the West View Eagles, at Dunn field, before 100 fans. It did not look like a good day for baseball, as fog was hanging over the village in the morning. But the sun came out and it proved a great afternoon for the battle. For Hammer nine team, Lefty Bennett pitched and Snappy Phelps was catch. For West View Eagles, Spit-ball Bogue was pitcher and Midget Pray catch. The fans sat back for a pitching battle. The Hammer nine was playing with overalls on, for the new suits were sent to Norwalk instead of to Noank. The West View team had white suits with an eagle on the shirts. In the fifth inning, with three men on bases, Big Gene White, second baseman for the Eagles, caught the out drop of Lefty Bennett and sent it flying high for center field wall; but Speed Mallory, a fellow who can cover more ground than the other two fielders started after the ball. It seemed that Mallory was running for five minutes. But as the ball was going over the wall, with his left hand he caught the ball, which was good for a home run. That saved the game for a while and to fans gave him a big ovation. Umpire Fitzgerald put Billie Trant, Jr. the right fielder for West View, out of the game for kicking over strikes; also he was led off the field by Special Officer Nell Robertson, still disputing. His place was taken by Robert Tooker, a fast boy from Pennsylvania. Then the play was on again and the score was 0 to 0, for both pitchers were in middle-season form and Lefty Bennett did not let a Hammer nine man reach third. He was getting good backing, while Spit-ball Bogue had the carpenters sawing the air and they got only three hits from him. When the lucky seventh inning came with the Hammers at bat, Flash McDonald got a hit and Manager Paul Sullivan, with two balls on him, sent the ball for a three-base hit for the first score of the game. But the Eagles did not do anything in their half of the seventh; the game was called at the end of the seventh inning with Hammer nine team the winner, 1 to 0. The Eagles' team had to catch the 5 o'clock train for Lowell, Mass., where they were to play two games Sunday with the Acorn team.

Charles Ellis spent a day in New Haven with friends recently.

Robert Wilcox, of Middletown, spent the week-end in the village.

R. Murphy has returned to his home in Middletown, after a visit of a few days in Noank.

Mrs. Lester Smith was in New Haven on Easter Sunday.

Easter Sunday in the village was fine; but when the people got up in the morning and found it foggy, the girls thought it was going to rain and they would have to leave off their Easter hats and new coats, while the young sports were not risking to wear new soft hats or a black derby and a gray suit. When the sun came out it let everybody know that the parade of styles would take place on East Main street. The march was up Pearl street, down Smith avenue, then to Church street and back to the waiting room. A number of the girls had green or red hats, making a gay showing. The young sports had Easter flowers on their coats.

Elihu Rathbun, of Suffield Prep. school, is home on a week's vacation.

Rodney Campbell, of Fishers Island, has been home on a short visit.

The news was received in the village Saturday morning from Norwich of the death of Lyman L. Chapman, who was well known to all at Groton Long Point. He owned a cottage on the boardwalk which was named "Ledyard." He has spent several seasons at the Point. Each evening, with his dog, he would take a walk, always speaking pleasantly to the Noank people, making many friends, or he would come in his sedan, driving through the village, when people would say, "Mr. Chapman is in town again." Only two weeks ago he was down to the Point, looking over his cottage for the summer.

Fred Phillips, of East Hartford, was a caller on his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phillips, Sunday.

Miss Eleanor Tyron has entered Charles Lamphere's paint shop in Mystic as bookkeeper.

Miss Edith Rollins is in Springfield, to visit her brother, John Rollins.

Frank Murray, of Lawrence, Mass., is spending a few days with his uncle, Roy Abate.

Charles Davis, of Center Groton, was a recent caller in the village.

Edward Babcock, of Groton Long Point, went to Plainfield for a week-end visit.

NEW LONDON WOMAN SOLD BOOZE— GETS FINE OF TWICE $200 AND COSTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 9—Mrs. Matrona Rotsko, 137 North Bank street, proprietress of a small store, was in police court today, charged with violation of the liquor law on two counts. She pleaded not guilty, but on the evidence introduced by several police officers, Judge S. Victor Prince found the accused guilty and imposed a fine of $200 and costs on each of two counts. Mrs. Rotsko, who had been convicted once before for violation of the liquor law, had been complained against several times of late and Saturday Judge Prince issued a search warrant that the woman could be punished, provided liquor was found in her store or home. Detective Sergeants Nelson Smith and John Cavanaugh and Acting Sergeant William Grebam and Patrolmen Clarence Wells and George Perkins, under a pile of wood in the cellar, found three burlap bags which contained five gallons of alcohol and ten gallons of home-made whiskey. The liquor was seized as evidence against the woman. After Mrs. Rotsko had been released upon furnishing a surety on her bond of $1,000, she returned to police headquarters, stating that the liquor the police found in her cellar was placed there without her knowledge or consent and that she did not know that the liquor was stored there until the search by the police revealed its existence.

Mrs. Pedro Santax, of 43 Bank street; Miss Pauline Sankow, Lyme; Mrs. Herman Beckwith, Niantic; Mrs. Eugene Gardner, Groton; Mrs. Emma Beckwith, Waterford; Mrs. Roy Crandall, Groton; John Pottle, 8 Starr street, and Oscar Walker, Waterford, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Sunday and today.

Irene W., wife of Bertram Williams, of 59 Granite street, died Saturday night at Lawrence-Memorial hospital. The funeral was held this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Williams' residence, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Ward. The body was forwarded to Halifax, N. S., where burial will take place.

Mrs. Salvatore Amanti, 26, wife of Isadore Amanti, died Saturday night at her residence, 94 Williams street, death resulting from pneumonia, which developed when Mrs. Amanti was recovering after three weeks' illness with typhoid fever. Besides her husband, Mrs. Amanti is survived by her mother, Mrs. Lena Impelliteri; a daughter, Frances; three sons, Milton, Joseph and Salvatore Amanti; three brothers, Salvatore, Thomas and Anthony Impelliteri, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and two sisters, Miss Jennie Impelliteri, of this city, and Mrs. Dominic Buffanenti, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Assunta Giacomini, wife of Nazzarina Giacomini, formerly of New London, died at her residence, in Brooklyn, N. Y., Saturday, in which city Mrs. Giacomini and her family had resided but two years. Besides her husband, Mrs. Giacomini is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Santo Ferro, of this city, Mrs. Attilio Badolli and Mrs. Rose Serrini, Brooklyn. A son, Leo Giacomini, of Brooklyn, also survives.

The funeral of John P. Maloney was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. George Clark. As a waiting hymn, Edward P. Murray sang "There's a Beautiful Land on High." The bearers were John Tansey, Christopher S. Barry, Alexander McDonald, Gustav Neumann, Barney Tansey and William McGuinness. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Samuel Killingworth, United States Coast Guard academy, was charged, in the city court, with intoxication and breach of the peace, but he was shown leniency, for he was allowed to go back to the academy under guard, for punishment by the military authorities. Killingworth was making a nuisance of himself on State street Saturday night, when he was arrested by Patrolman Lewis Wheeler. After Killingworth was locked up he succeeded in smashing the lock on his cell door and before he was turned over to a guard he was compelled to pay $4.90 for the repair of the lock.

The charge of a "Peeping Tom" against Stanley Wheaton, 16, of 112 Thames street, Groton, was nolled. Wheaton was in New London Saturday night and about 10:30 o'clock he went to the rear of the residence of Charles Harrold, 29 Cottage street, where he peered through a window. Wheaton's position at the window became known to Harrold, who went to the yard and, finding Wheaton there, made the latter accompany him to police headquarters, where he was delivered to Desk Sergeant Timothy Sullivan. Wheaton was locked up, but during the evening his father qualified as surety on his son's bond of $50.

George L. Ney, 13 Hobron street, a weaver, was charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. The charge was nolled. Ney was arrested Saturday night when Mrs. Ney complained to Patrolman Harry Watterson that her husband was at his home intoxicated and creating a disturbance. Officer Watterson went to the Ney house and arrested the man.

Francis Gargano, 464 Vauxhall street, charged with intoxication and breach of the peace, obtained his freedom, for judgment was suspended. He was arrested Saturday night on North Bank street where he created a disturbance.

John Mulcahey, 16 Tilley street, was charged with breach of the peace, but the case was continued to next Saturday. Mulcahey was walking on Howard street Saturday afternoon and when in front of the residence of Mrs. Charles Sizer, 118, it is claimed that Mulcahey struck and knocked down Mrs. Sizer's little girl, when the child, in playing, ran in front of the pedestrian.

Robert Tetreault, 118 Vauxhall street, was charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving past intersecting streets without reducing speed or giving a signal. He was fined $10. Tetreault was detected in his act of law violation this morning and was arrested in time to be presented in court.

The continued case of Leslie Hewitt, 79 Phillips street, charged with reckless driving, was again continued, this time to the 23rd inst. Hewitt was driving his automobile on Main street a month ago when it struck Thomas Dombroski, 10, of 30 Potter street, the child sustaining a fractured skull. He is still a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, where for a week it was believed that the boy would die. His condition has improved to such an extent that it is believed he will be able to leave the hospital before the date of the continuance of Hewitt's case.

The continued case of Thomas Connelly, charged with intoxication, it being an aggravated case, resulted in Connelly being fined $10, but execution of the sentence was suspended a year. Connelly was arrested on Green street a week ago.

The continued case of Leon Holloway, 51 Alewife avenue, Ocean Beach, charged with breach of the peace, was nolled. Holloway was arrested a week ago when Officer Albert Iverson, off duty, detected a woman running from a house and only partially clad. When the officer intercepted the woman, she declared that she was fleeing from her husband, who had beaten her. Officer Iverson accompanied the woman back home and arrested Holloway. The next day, Mrs. Holloway said that she did not desire to appear as a witness against her husband, so the case was continued to today, that a further investigation could be made. Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin recommended a nolle today, which was allowed.

Ray P. Geer, of Waterford, was charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving without a license and was fined $3.

William Lindberg, of Mystic, charged with driving without a license, was arrested Saturday. When he failed to present himself in court today his bond of $3 was declared forfeited.

Lewis Allen, 18 Alger street, charged with violation of the city's parking ordinance in parking overtime on Masonic street Saturday, failed to appear and his bond of $3 was forfeited.

John Leitkowsky, 22 Lincoln avenue, charged with parking overtime on State street, failed to present himself in court and his bond of $3 was forfeited also.

All of the other cases heard were for intoxication and in some cases minimum fines were imposed or suspensions of judgment given. In one instance a man who has been arrested 16 times for this offense was sentenced to jail for 30 days.

COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACT TO IMMICH CO., MERIDEN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 9—A special meeting of the city council was held in the municipal building this afternoon at 5 o'clock for the purpose of taking action on matters that required early attention. The meeting was attended by all the council members excepting Councilor Edward L. Streeter, who is confined to his home by illness. The principal business transacted was the fixing of the rate which will defray the expenses of the city for the fiscal year, 1927-1928 and that rate was set at 30 mills. The councilors also ratified the expenditures of $104,500 for the repair of Bank, Jay and Williams streets, the contract for the work, which comprises the construction of new street, to Henry Immich Construction company, of Meriden. The Bank street pavement will be of Meyer brick, while the pavement of the other two streets will be of concrete. Mr. Immich is a former resident of New London, having resided here until about 20 years ago. WENT TO SEE SICK WIFE, ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 9—Joseph L. Casio, 50 Mountain avenue, was arrested this evening by Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin, charged with violation of the state motor vehicle laws in passing intersecting streets without reducing speed or sounding a signal. He was ordered to appear in the police court tomorrow morning. Casio had been to Lawrence-Memorial hospital to visit his wife, who is a patient there, and was hurrying back to his work. When he drove through Montauk avenue, he disregarded automobile laws and was detected doing so by the officer, who arrested him.

A Packard sedan, carrying Massachusetts registration 300-154, was stolen in Springfield, Mass., tonight, and the police of New London and the state police have been requested to be on the lookout for the car.

A drive against autoists who persist in passing standing street cars is to be started in the borough of Groton, according to an announcement given out by Prosecutor Harry C. Brogan and Captain Andrew F. McCarthy, of the Groton police department. Considerable difficulty has been experienced recently by members of the local police force in enforcing this law, but owing to numerous complaints that have been turned in, the department is now determined to enforce the law.

A fisherman from one of the boats of the fleet that delivers catches to the Atlantic Fisheries was in the Groton police court this morning on a charge of intoxication. He was fined $1 and costs, which brought the fine up to $11.55. The offender was arrested Saturday morning by State Policeman Donald C. Browne.

ELKS' BALL TICKETS $7—PLENTY OF TAKERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 9—New London lodge of Elks, No. 860, B. P. O., conducted a dance on the roof garden of the Hotel Mohican tonight. The event was one of the most successful that the lodge has ever put over, in spite of the fact that tickets were $7 per couple. The tickets were sold out several days ago and when the affair was at its height there were more than 1,000 dancers on the floor, including many from Norwich, Mystic and Westerly.

Boys running a race tonight ran into the display window of the Output, Bank street store, and broke the window. Noise from the accident attracted the attention of Officer Sullivan, who went after the youths, and after a chase of several blocks finally captured the offenders on Golden street behind a pile of lumber. The boys were taken to the police station, where, after being questioned, they were released with a warning. The father of the boy responsible for the accident will stand for the damage done.

About 12:30, yesterday afternoon, fire broke out in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hanley, of 248 Colman street, and before the flames were gotten under control damage to the amount of $4,500 was suffered. The blaze, which was of unknown origin, was discovered on the first floor and by the time the fire company got to the building had spread through the entire structure. The fire was discovered by a passerby who sent in an alarm from box 281. The Hanleys were away at the time. The Niagara, Thomas Hook and Hose, Northwest and Allen fire companies responded to the call and after about a quarter of an hour had the flames under control. After examining the premises it was thought that the flames started from a pile of rubbish in the rear of the house.

Richard Barthelmess and Molly O'Day in "The Patent Leather Kid"

Richard Barthelmess and Molly O'Day provide one of the sweetest love stories ever told in First National's epic of the tank corps, The Patent Leather Kid, showing all this week at the Breed theatre, following its sensational Broadway run. It is a romantic story of an East Side boxer, with the World war for a background.

Palace Theatre.

Lon Chaney—a paradox and a joy forever!

No one in the world can look so "hard boiled," menacing and utterly malevolent as this Lon Chaney—and no one can look so sympathetic in the very same role, as this selfsame Lon. He is the enigma of the screen.

For instance, in his latest vehicle, The Big City, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational romance of New York underworld life, which will be shown for the last times today at the Palace theatre, Chaney plays one of the most dangerous characters in the world, a New York gangster leader. And no character could be more dangerous for an actor. He has to carry the very embodiment of menace and cold-blooded peril—and still be as human as anyone else. No less than a Lon Chaney could play this complex role, and of it Chaney has made a new acting masterpiece.

He plays a gangster leader, using a cabaret as a cloak to his sinister activities, his "moll," operating a clearing house for stolen goods, hiding this under the guise of a little costume shop. In this setting is introduced a little shopgirl, innocent of the true nature of the pair; to her they are good friends—and her belief in them precipitates a climax; as amazing as it is heart-gripping.

It is a delicate romance told in a setting of night clubs and bright lights, holdups and police battles, woven into an amazing blend of thrills, surprises and romance.

COMMERCE CHAMBER DIRECTORS DISAPPROVE FORM OF RESOLUTIONS

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Norwich chamber of commerce was held Monday evening in the rooms in the Thayer building with President H. D. Larrabee in the chair and Secretary Walter H. Pilcher keeping the minutes.

The resolution in regard to forming the Eastern Connecticut chamber of commerce association was laid on the table by vote of the directors.

The directors discussed several resolutions which it has been announced are to be brought before a special city meeting and the board went on record as opposed to the resolutions in their present form. These resolutions concern a new city charter, building code, electrical code and consolidation of city and town. Contrary to what seems to be a more or less current opinion, the Babson survey did not make any recommendation concerning consolidation of city and town.

President Larrabee was authorized to appoint a delegate to attend the eastern Connecticut industrial conference at Gardner Lake, Aug. 4 and 5.

The president is also to appoint an aviation committee that will consider the report to be made by State Commissioner Knox and make report upon it.

President Larrabee is likewise to appoint a representative from the chamber of commerce to sit on the land value committee that is to be one of the steps in the revaluation of Norwich property.

BASHAW ALONE TO BLAME FOR FATAL ACCIDENT

No one but himself was responsible for the death of Leroy W. Bashaw, 27, according to a finding made by Coroner J. J. Desmond in the case of this Norwich man, who was fatally injured on Thanksgiving morning while driving an automobile belonging to Warren Maynard, of Fishers Island.

Bashaw died in the Backus hospital on Nov. 29, 1927, from fracture of the skull, laceration and concussion of the brain sustained by him in this city on Nov. 24, 1927, when Mr. Maynard's Packard roadster, in which he was riding alone, and which he was trying to operate southwardly on Thames street, this city, crashed against a telephone pole on the westerly side of the street, near the factory of the Richmond Radiator company, causing the fatal injuries.

Coroner Desmond in his finding, says:

Bashaw was employed as a car washer and general helper in the Commercial garage on Shetucket street in said Norwich, and about 7 o'clock a. m., he drove said Packard automobile out of said garage, and thence through Shetucket, and Main, and Thames streets to the place where the accident occurred; as he was passing through Main street another automobile operated by Michael H. Weady of No. 17 Bilnman street, New London, Conn., passed him; after passing Bashaw Weady continued, on his way to New London, but stopped at the junction of West Main, and Thames streets, in said Norwich, to take aboard a New London man named Brennan; then Weady went on southerly through Thames street, and as he was passing the Richmond Radiator company factory, traveling on his right hand side of Thames street, Bashaw drove by him, on his left, then swerved sharply, just in front of the Weady car, to his right, his car struck the curb, and then the telephone pole; this swung the Packard machine out into the street, and its rear end struck the right front end of the Weady car, causing it to turn over onto its left side in the street. Mr. Weady and his companion were unhurt, and both climbed out of the right hand door of the auto, in which they had been riding, and immediately hurried to aid Bashaw, who was bleeding and unconscious in the Packard car, and who was promptly taken to the Wm. W. Backus hospital, in said Norwich where he died from his injuries on November 29, 1927, without ever regaining full consciousness.

Two local police officers arrived on the scene a few minutes after the accident, and Weady went with one of these to Norwich police office, where he made out his report of the accident, and mailed it to the state motor vehicle department; he then returned to his home in New London.

Said Leroy W. Bashaw was not a licensed motor vehicle operator, and had never before operated a motor vehicle on a public road, and had not learned how to drive a motor vehicle, but had occasionally assisted in moving cars about in the garage. He took this Packard car out of the garage on the morning of the accident without the knowledge or consent of the garage owner, or of any other person.

Weady was a licensed motor vehicle operator, under the laws of this state, and was a competent driver; and there was no act, or lack of care on his part essentially contributing to the accident, which was caused solely and proximately by the inexperience, and lack of knowledge how to operate, and control a motor vehicle, on the part of said Leroy W Bashaw.

NORWICH TOWN

CONG. PASTOR DECLARES RESURRECTION A REALITY

In his Easter day sermon at the First Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey preached from John 11:25 "I am the resurrection and the life." He said in substance: Jesus spoke these words not as a speculative philosopher, but as an expert in religion, prescribing remedies for broken hearts. Lazarus had died and the other members of the household were in bitter sorrow. The man of the house had gone. The only ray of hope was in the thought that in some far-off day—the last great day as they spoke of it—he should rise again.

Now the first thing Jesus did was to take the thought of the resurrection out of the "last day" and put it into the present day. "I am the resurrection and the life."

We have too long projected our thought of immortality into the far distant spaces and into the far reaches of time. It has been our custom to speak of another world in contrast to this world and another life as something distinct from the life we are now living. It seems impossible for us to consider the subject of a resurrected life except in terms of a post mortem existence. The body is for this world, the spirit belongs to another. Our earthly life is measured by time, our eternal life belongs to eternity by which we invariably mean that portion of existence which lies beyond the grave. We have denied to the gospel of the resurrection a connection with the practical life of man here and now and have pushed it off into a great tragedy to be enacted at the consummation of the ages.

Jesus would assure those weeping women of Bethany that the resurrection is a reality now. There is no long wait through one millenium after another during which the soul takes an extended vacation from both worlds before entering upon the privileges of what we call the heavenly life. "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

But there is a still more important truth for us to learn this Eastertide. Eternal life begins with us before we pass through the experience of death. There is no break to life eternal. It is begun on earth and is continued in heaven. It begins like a kernel cast in the ground, grows and blossoms and comes to fruitage in the eternal ages. Death does not change the nature of that life nor does it interrupt its progress. The gospel of St. Paul and of Jesus when read in its deepest meaning brings the realities of the eternal world near to us in space and time.

There has been much speculation on the nature of the life on the other side of the grave. The pictures which people draw of their desired heavens vary widely in main features and in details. I think the most of us are expecting to find a rather easy, inactive existence. Walking golden streets, singing songs and playing on harps is good diversion for those who are able for such things. But that selfish living would hardly line up with the rewards promised by the Master to those faithful souls who had been energetic in his service on earth. The joy of their Lord with which He rewarded them was the joy of ruling over many things. Christian rulership means service and responsibility.

It is possible to be ignoble, narrow and selfish in our very aspirations for the glory land. If our ambition to reach heaven is inspired with the longing to escape the presence of certain people, to be free from care and responsibility, to rest without earning it, to have peace except through victory, to have the companionship of saints without trying to be saintly then our ambition is not Christian and cannot be fulfilled.

If the soul here in its high moments thrills with joy in deeds of loving service what will give those high moments in the life ahead but stimuli of the same sort.

Perhaps our heaven has been too simple, too colorless, too lifeless. Read again what Jesus had to offer to those who should be with him in glory.

The heaven we want is not the starry spaces up above, but peopled realms where weakness and immaturity may be found. The many mansions of the Father's house may not be palaces where toil is unknown, and all problems are solved and plans of conquest are no more. Can you think of St. Paul content and happy lounging in the lap of luxury during these last 1800 years with no sacred mission to fulfill, no conquest, no exploration? Is heaven to be an anticlimax for the heroic souls of earth?

DINEEN FORCES LEADING IN THE ILLINOIS PRIMARY

Early Returns Place the Ticket Sponsored by Dineen Leading the Candidates of Coalition Forces Backed by Gov. Small, Mayor Thompson and States Attorney Crowe—Returns Indicate Victory of Emerson For Governor, Glenn For Senator and Swanson For Attorney General—Two Men Were Shot, Five Kidnaped and Three Beaten in Chicago—Hoodlums Cruised About the Wards Intimidating Voters—One Gang Was Reported Armed With a Machine Gun

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—On the basis of returns from one-sixth of the state, the republican faction headed by Senator Charles S. Deneen, tonight had piled up a lead which, if maintained, assured victory for virtually the entire ticket in today's primary elections.

Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state and gubernatorial candidate of the Deneen forces, was leading his ticket both downstate and in Chicago, over Gov. Len Small, the Small-Thompson-Crowe candidate for a third term.

The race between Col. Frank L. Smith, twice denied a seat in the United States senate, and Otis F. Glenn, his republican opponent for the senatorial nomination, running on the Deneen slate, was closer than the gubernatorial contest, but Glenn took a lead to which he held tenaciously as the night wore on.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney and Small-Thompson standard bearer in Cook county, running for re-election, was in a close race with Judge John A. Swanson, the Deneen candidate, although Swanson had an edge of more than 5,000 votes on the basis of returns from about one-tenth of the county's precincts.

Emmerson, with a lead of more than 100,000 votes over Gov. Small on returns from 2,297 of the state's 6,633 precincts had an advantage which, if maintained, would give him the nomination by more than 175,000 votes, a greater figure than even the Emmerson forces had predicted.

Gov. Small, from his home at Kankakee, declared he expected to carry both Cook county and downstate after hearing reports from more than 500 precincts but the Chicago Herald and Examiner, which supported him, at 9 o'clock, indicated its belief that he was beaten.

Latest Returns.

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—For republican governor, 2,397 precincts of 6,634 in Illinois, including 900 in Chicago gave:

Small 222,964.
Emmerson 364,205.

Returns from 1,842 of the state's 6,633 precincts gave Otis F. Glenn, Deneen candidate for United States senator a vote of 208,815 against 162,951 for Frank L. Smith, Small-Thompson candidate for renomination.

On the basis of 503 of Cook counties 2,063 precincts, Judge John A. Swanson, Deneen-Emmerson candidate for state's attorney, was leading the incumbent, Robert E. Crowe, Thompson-Small candidate, 87,520 to 43,797.

SHOOTINGS, KIDNAPINGS AT CHICAGO ELECTION

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—When the polls closed at 5 p. m., in Illinois' state-wide primary it was believed that the intense interest aroused by the republican factional strife and beautiful weather had poured a record tide into the 5,737 boxes throughout the state in an election unexpectedly free from disorder.

Locked in the boxes were the political futures of some of Illinois' outstanding republican leaders, as well as her presidential preferences and her selections for candidates for all state and county offices, 27 representatives in Congress and a United States senator to fill the place of Col. Frank L. Smith, who resigned after the senate twice rejected him.

In only a few instances were there democratic contests, and in the main the organization men virtually were assured of nomination.

In Chicago, where the passions aroused by factional fights were expected to blaze into violence, there were the usual reports of intimidation, slugging, kidnaping and ballot box stuffing, but the aggregate did not reach the proportions election officials had feared.

An hour before the polls closed, with admittedly the most dangerous two-hour period to follow, two men had been shot, five kidnaped, three beaten, and there had been scores of reports of hoodlums cruising wards and intimidating voters. One such group was reported armed with a machine gun.

MRS. McCORMICK IN THE LEAD FOR CONGRESS

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick, widow of Senator Medill McCormick, and daughter of Mark Hanna, took a lead of more than 7,000 votes for the republican nomination for congressman-at-large on the basis of 88 downstate precincts which gave her 9,319 votes. Henry R. Rathbone, incumbent, had 8,470 and Richard Yates 7,428.

NAME OF COOLIDGE WAS WRITTEN ON BALLOTS

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—The name of President Calvin Coolidge was written in on 547 ballots when the presidential preference of Illinois' republicans had been tabulated for 131 precincts of 3,578 outside Chicago. Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, whose name was the only one on the ballot, got a vote of 22,027 in the same precincts.

No democratic presidential name on the ballot, but returns from 55 downstate precincts gave:

Reed, 2,136; Smith, 1,119.

SMITH WILL GET AT LEAST 47 ILLINOIS DELEGATES

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—Governor Al Smith of New York added at least 47 delegates from Illinois to his list as a result of the state primary today.

He will get the eight democratic delegates-at-large when the state convention meets and may possibly have the entire delegation of 58 when the convention at Houston opens.

The regular democratic organization controlled by George Brennan had no contests in the city districts and little downstate.

Governor Smith's name was written in on thousands of ballots in Cook county.

CLAIMS "DRY" VICTORY IN ILLINOIS PRIMARY

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—P. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league tonight claimed a victory for the "drys" in the Illinois primary elections and predicted that the state would have "at least 18 'dry' members in congress."

He predicted also, that the state senate "will be 'dry' two to one," and declared "the indications are that there will be gains for the 'drys,'" in the lower house.

MONTHLY REPORT OF THE STATE BUREAU OF LABOR

HARTFORD, April 10—(AP)—Sixty per cent of all applicants for employment were supplied with situations during March by the five free employment bureaus run under the auspices of the state bureau of labor, it was announced today. The offices reporting last month included those of Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Waterbury and Norwich. A sixth bureau was established April 1, in Stamford, but although informal reports state that many people have turned to the office for aid in securing positions or help, no definite figures are available at present.

During February, 55.3 per cent of all applicants for employment were supplied with positions.

Last month 4,180 men and women applied for positions, and 2,518 positions were secured by the bureaus in the state. There were 2,656 applications received from employers for help, making 94.7 per cent of this class of applications that were taken care of satisfactorily, as compared to 93.8 per cent in February.

Hartford reported the greatest number, 1,085, of applicants for employment. Almost 700 applications were received from employers, and 672 situations were secured.

The report indicates that there was more demand during March for female labor than for male, 78.7 per cent of the female applicants being supplied with work as compared to 47.5 per cent of the male applicants.

CONN. C. OF C. DISCUSSED THE PLAN OF TAXING RAILROADS

NEW HAVEN, April 10—(AP)—A discussion by Prof. Fred R. Fairchild of Yale university of the gross-net plan of taxing railroads and the authorization of the appointment by President Kimball, of Waterbury of a committee to select directors to be voted on at the annual meeting in Hartford, May 17, were the features of a meeting of the board of directors of the Connecticut chamber of commerce, at the Hotel Taft here today.

Prof. Fairchild, originator of the gross-net plan which was turned down by the last legislature pointed out the advantages of this form of taxation over a straight tax on gross earnings, the present form of taxing railroads, and over a straight net earnings tax. He pointed out that the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad which had a deficit of $7,000,000 in 1920, paid more in taxes ($1,819,000) that year than in the two following years when the road operated at a profit. The unfairness of this method of taxation he said, wold be eliminated in the gross-net plan whereby the railroad would pay a tax on the gross earnings in the ratio of its net earning to its gross.

WATERBURY, April 10—(AP)—Mrs. May Miller Goss, prominent society woman of Waterbury and New York city, was recommended a divorce from William M. Judge John Richards Booth will hear a motion for the entering of the decree at the short calendar session to be held here Friday. Mrs. Goss will receive the decree on the grounds of cruelty and be awarded the custody of a minor child, William M. Goss, Jr., if the committee's report is accepted.

Attorney Cassidy recommends that Mr. Goss pay Mrs. Goss the sum of $1,600 within 30 days and that the wife receive monthly alimony of $750, payable on the first, during the time that she remains unmarried. Should she re-marry, it is provided that she be paid $300 a month during the period that the son is in his minority, for the support of the child.

FURTHER TESTIMONY OF ATROCITIES BY KLANSMEN

PITTSBURGH, April 10—(AP)—Stories of the burning alive of seven or eight men in Texas by Ku Klux Klansmen, rioting in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and the organization in the latter state of the "night riders" who were given orders to burn churches and carry out bombings and assassinations, were told by witnesses in the Klan injunction suits in federal court here today.

High Klan officials were accused by witnesses of instigating and ordering killings, inspiring riots, and causing a bomb to be set off in the Klan hall at Dayton, O., as a means of increasing interest and bringing new members into the order.

As the stories were told, John H. Connaughton, of Washington, D. C., chief Klan counsel, fought every step of the way, objecting time and again as Van A. Barrickman, himself a defendant, and counsel for five banished members, drew the testimony from the witnesses.

The most dramatic story of the day was brought from Clarence W. Ludlow of Pittsburgh, who said that as a member of Dallas, Texas, lodge No. 56, he witnessed the burning alive of seven or eight men, one at Terrell Tex., where he said a white man was convicted by a "kangaroo court", taken to an isolated spot, tarred and oiled, and then set afire as some 300 or 400 hooded Klansmen looked on. In another instance, he said, a man named Smith was tried, convicted of failing to support his family, and, under direction of Imperial Wizard Hiram Evans was tarred and feathered.

The organization of a band of "night riders," also known as the "battalion of death," to conduct a reign of terror in Ohio, was told of by J. R. Ramsey, of Dayton, who said he was a former member of the riders.

He said the night riders had bombed their own temple in Dayton in an effort to gain sympathy for the Klan and to stir up the Klansmen against their opponents. He told of orders coming from a Klan chief to kill certain persons. In one instance, he said, he and other night riders were ordered to take a man for a ride to Bellaire. He took the "offending citizen" for the ride, he said, but refused to kill him.

Barrickman brought a heated objection from Connaughton when he asked Ramsey if he had knowledge of Evans sending Klansmen to Mexico in an effort to foment trouble between the United States and that nation. Judge W. H. S. Thomson sustained the objection.

Harry E. A. MacNeel, ex-kleagle and exalted cyclops of Klan lodges in Armstronz county, Pa., told how a cross was fired and bomb set off in front of St. Mary's Catholic church at Kittanring, Pa., at the direction of Sam D Rich, former grand dragon of Pennsylvania. He testified Rich said this was done "to throw the fear of God into their hearts."

He said Klan speakers and agitators were sent to Pennsylvania Klan meetings from state and national headquarters of the organization and were paid $150 a night for their services.

MacNeel characterized one of the speakers as "very radical." He quoted one as saying, "unless we make a stand, the pope will be over here and all of us will be kissing his toes!" The speakers, he testified, urged the shooting of priests "like dogs," and told Klansmen "the only kind of good Catholics and Jews were now dead."

MacNeel testified Rich furnished the arms to Klansmen for the demonstration at Carnegie, Pa., August 25, 1923, which resulted in a riot between citizens and parading members of the order. Rich told the Klansmen he feared trouble the night of the riot, MacNeel testified. The witness, whose testimony was followed closely by the crowded court room, said Rich told him to furnish his own gun because his (Rich) supply was depleted.

Between 20,000 and 25,000 Klansmen attended the Carnegie meeting, MacNeel testified, adding the members came from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and other states. Evans gave the command for the Klansmen to march, but remained at the field, where the meeting was held, MacNeel declared.

Sawed-off shotguns, revolvers and other weapons were carried by the marching Klansmen from Youngstown, Ohio, and other cities, he said.

CONDITION OF QUEEN VICTORIA NOT GRAVE

ROME, April 10—(AP)—Queen Victoria of Sweden, who has been ill for some time at her residence here, is not as well as she has been recently, but her condition is not regarded as grave at all. The queen, who is 65 years old, has been subject to frequent alterations in condition.

King Gustav has come to Rome, not because of the change in her condition, but in accordance with his plan already arranged when he left for the Riviera in February.

The king is giving a luncheon tomorrow to a score of guests at the villa where the queen is living, this being regarded as proof that nothing serious is expected.

STATE'S PRISON SENTENCE FOR MAN WHO JUMPED BAIL

NEW HAVEN, April 10—(AP)—John Flynn, 28, who jumped a $5,000 bond in criminal superior court here in January, 1926, while sentence was pending on a charge of stealing 46 cases of whiskey, was presented in court again today and was sentenced to state's prison for a term of 12 to 18 months.

Flynn, with two other men, one of whom, Raymond Maresca, is at present serving a term in Wethersfield, held up a watchman in a Commerce street place in 1925 and stole the whiskey. Flynn and Maresca were caught and eventually arraigned in superior court. On the day that Maresca was sentenced, Flynn, who was free on $5,000 bonds, asked that sentence in his case be deferred for one day. His request was granted and he fled the city. He was found in Buffalo, N. Y., in January of this year and brought back to this city. Since his return here he has been confined in the county jail.

CUSTOMS SQUAD DISCOVERED A STOWAWAY GIRL

BOSTON, April 10.—(AP)—A girl who had been a stowaway on board the shipping board steamer Culberson for nearly a month, was discovered here today by a special customs squad searching the vessel for contraband liquor. She gave her name as Flora Gonzales, 25 years old, and said she boarded the vessel at Montevideo, Uruguay, on March 13.

When the customs men opened a locker in the boiler room of the steamer they found what appeared to be a diminutive member of the "black gang," clad in an old torn shirt, overalls, sneakers and cap. There were several blankets in the locker room and a container for water and some food indicated that a member of the crew had been supplying the stowaway during the voyage. A ventilator directly above the room had assured a plentiful air supply.

The girl will be questioned tomorrow at the immigration station in East Boston. She speaks only Spanish. She said her father lives in New York, but was unable to give a street address.

Wolfe Again Figures In Reading Hearing

Testimony Given That Accountant Said He Had Discovered That Wolfe Had Taken $50,000 Unlawfully.

BOSTON, April 10—(AP)—Testimony that Edwin L. Pride, accountant who examined the books of the United L. A. W. Acceptance corporation at the order of Attorney General Arthur K. Reading, had said he discovered that Louis A. Wolfe, president of the organization, had taken $50,000 unlawfully from the company, was given today before the legislative committee investigating Reading's conduct in office by James A. Woods, Boston, private detective.

Woods said Pride made the statement during a meeting at his office and also said he had found evidence enough to send Wolfe to jail. The detective said Pride called Reading on telephone and during a conversation said: "I have already found $50,000 wrong."

Other witnesses included newspapermen, Nicholas Selvaggi, deputy assistant attorney general of New York state, and Kenneth B. Backman, manager of the Boston Better Business bureau. All testified relative to the Decimo club, whose retainer of $25,000 to Reading started the investigation in the attorney general's affairs.

Pride, who had been under fire for alleged withholding of information from the committee, had previously testified that he had found nothing criminal during his investigation of the books of the United L. A. W. Acceptance corporation.

Woods, who was investigating the United company for the Maine L. A. W. corporation, said those attending the meeting at his office were Pride, Aaron Grout, former secretary of the state of Vermont, who was connected with the Vermont L. A. W. corporation, Fred Lancaster, representing the attorney general of Maine, and Joseph Lincoln and William A. Nash, who were interested in the United company. Woods said Pride told the men that he had found that "Wolfe got away with" $50,000, but said that before he would tell any more he would have to call Reading to get his permission. Pride then called the attorney general, Woods said. Pride had testified that he remembered someone using the telephone during the meeting, but said he didn't think it was he.

Julius V. Clark, Bernard J. Doherty and Louis A. Mathieu, reporters, testified that Reading announced to the press on June 9, 1927, that his investigation of the Decimo club had revealed no criminal responsibility. This was the day following the club's payment of the retainer to the attorney general.

Selvaggi said that in May and June, 1927, Reading visited him in New York and he had told Reading that he thought there was "something fishy" in the activities of the Decimo club, that he felt some of the members were actually looting the organization and that he was taking action to stop it. He said he told Reading that he was investigating the club and Reading said he didn't think the investigation would get very far.

Backman told of sending to Reading information supplied by the Better Business club relative to the Decimo club. Much of the information was unfavorable, he said.

JAPAN IS TO EXTERMINATE COMMUNISTIC AGITATORS

The Government Has Begun a Series of Active Steps to Round Up Extremists—Strength of the Communist Movement is Attributed to the Return of Leaders From Russia—The Japanese Government Will Not Be Satisfied Until Communism is Eradicated

TOKYO, April 10—(AP)—Communism is apparently beginning to take deep root in the Japanese empire. Because of this the government has begun a series of active steps to suppress agitators and to round up extremists. Dissolution of the Ronoto, an extreme political organization, as well as two other extremist bodies, has been ordered, as they were declared to menace order and security.

In connection with the recent arrest of many communists, the procurator general made the statement today that "the predominant aspect of the whole affair is the serious fact that Japan now is confronted by an unusually grave national difficulty, inasmuch as revolutionism is pretty well diffused."

The official opinion was that "the present attempt to undermine the foundation of the empire from within is more serious than the threat of armed force from without."

The strength of the communist movement in Japan is attributed in part to the return from Russia last year of "leaders trained in fighting methods by the leaders of the Third International."

Those at the head of the dissolved Ronoto party deny co-operation with the communists and allege that the government is attempting to gain popularity owing to the difficult position confronting the coming diet. They contend that the suppression of the party will not affect its influence, but, on the contrary, will add strength to the party.

The leaders of the Seiyu-Kai, the government party, hint at further suppression, saying that the government will not be satisfied until communism is eradicated. The minseito, or opposition, consider that the government acted rightly, though mistaken in thinking to regain its popularity by this action.

It is understood that the government plans to dismiss numerous college professors and to dissolve student groups owing to their radical sympathies.

Of the several hundred persons under arrest, the prosecution of 150 has already begun, and if the investigations now going on produce sufficient evidence the prosecution of many others is certain. The communist movement is said to be highly organized, with local groups under commissars, and every facility for carrying out extensive propaganda.

PRIME WITNESS ON THE STAND IN SINCLAIR TRIAL

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—Moving with unusual speed, the new trial of Harry F. Sinclair on charges of conspiracy in connection with the Teapot Dome lease reached the testimony-taking stage today with one of the prime witnesses on the stand.

The witness was Malon T. Everhart, Colordao banker and son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, the former interior secretary with whom Sinclair is alleged by the government to have conspired. It was Everhart who transported certain monies from Sinclair to Fall and he testified today that he had so delivered $268,000 in three installments after Fall had given Sinclair the Teapot lease in 1922.

For none of these payments, Everhart testified, was a receipt written; nor did Fall record the payments.

Following closely his testimony given some weeks ago before the senate Teapot Dome committee and at times elaborating on it, Everhart declared the payments to Fall were $233,000 for one third interest in the Tres Ritos Cattle and Land company, Fall's New Mexico ranch, collected here and in New York; $10,000 for ranch improvements paid in cash at the ranch at Three Rivers, New Mexico, and $25,000 in cash paid Everhart by Sinclair in a Washington hotel to pay for ranch improvements.

Another $1,100, Everhart said, he received from Sinclair in New York when he received the final payments of liberty bonds on the ranch deal.

The government action in bringing out immediately after the opening statements by prosecution and defense what was considered its most important testimony regarding the passage of the money and bonds, was a surprise and reversed its plan of proceedure followed in the previous trial of Fall and Sinclair last October.

SIX DEAD FROM FLOODS IN ONTARIO AND QUEBEC

TORONTO, Ont., April 10—(AP)—With the death list at six, four in Quebec and two in Ontario, reports from flood areas of eastern Canada today indicated that swollen rivers and creeks were subsiding.

No authentic estimate of the damage was available. It was expected, however, that the sum would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Losses were particularly heavy in the province of Quebec, where it was believed damage would reach more than $100,000.

Although officials of the districts were confident that Otonabee and Sequin rivers had reached their highest marks, conditions in Peterboro and Parry Sound, in the province of Ontario, still were serious. In Peterboro, the Otonabee was several inches lower and further recessions were probable.

STAMFORD, April 10.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Fries, of 20 Myrtle street, owe their lives to the sagacity of their collie dog who summoned aid tonight when the couple were overcome by the fumes from an oil stove in the kitchen of their home.

He summoned aid and the couple responded to medical treatment at the Stamford hospital where they are expected to recover.

Police officers worked over the dog who soon recovered from the effects of the fumes.

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—Four marines with the Second brigade in Nicaragua have been cited for gallantry under fire in an engagement with a superior force of General Sandino's followers near Bromaderos, Nicaragua, on Feb. 27.

They are: Gunnery Sergeant Herbert F. Larrick, of Washington, D. C.; Sergeant Wilburne O. Christian, of North Fort, Ala.; Corporal Homer T. Provost, of Windsor, Conn., and Private Edward L. Garrison, of Fresno, Calif.

Sergeant Larrick, says his citation, "in the face of a tremendous volume of initial firing of the bandit force, by his steadiness and coolness in action, displayed keen judgment in assembling the marines near the center of the pack train and led them to a point of advantage from which they opened fire on the bandit force."

Sergt. Christian, "although wounded, took charge of the marines on the forward section of the train, directed their fire and led them to a point of advantage from where he opened fire on vulnerable points in the bandits' defense."

Corporal Provost was cited for making his way to Condenga, 15 miles away, to report the plight of the train. He successfully brought in reinforcements. Private Garrison also was cited for breaking through the enemy lines and making a report of contact which led reinforcements to the scene.

OPPOSE RETENTION OF THE AUTOMOBILE TAX

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Protests from automobile owners against the administration's stand for retention of the 3 per cent automobile tax stirred up a sharp row in the senate finance committee with counter contentions that the automobile industry was taking advantages of its consumers.

Senator Reed, republican, of Pennsylvania, declared that the Ford Motor company was collecting more than $25,000,000 annually in "imaginary" freight on the cars, charging full freight whereas many of its cars were assembled in scattered plants near the place of sale.

S. Borton Weeks, president of the American Motorists association, brought about the row when he appeared at the opening of public hearings by the committee on the revenue bill to dispute the argument of Secretary Mellon that automobile manufacturers were the only ones interested in repeal of the auto tax which was voted by the house. He said the owners were vitally interested.

DANIELSON

REDUCTION IN BOROUGH DEBT IS EXPECTED

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 10—Starting a new fiscal year, the borough appears to be in an unusually favorable position. With a borough debt just in excess of $28,000, and no extraordinary expenses in sight for the next twelve months the prospects for another reduction in the debt a year hence appear to be good. There is to be a cut in the borough tax rate this year that will likely bring it somewhere between 7 and 8 mills. The borough has the same efficient list of officials for the coming year that has served it so well the past year. These officials all have experience in borough affairs, a factor that it is very important in keeping down costs while getting adequate service in various departments.

The Danielson postoffice is doing a particularly large business these days and handling a heavy volume of parcel post matter. There are days when the office is so crowded with mail matter of various sorts as to leave insufficient space for the working force to function as freely as would seem desirable. Herein lies a situation that would seem to put Danielson in line for consideration for a postoffice building, but at no time has the need of it been so pressing as at present. There can be no material enlargement of the present quarters of the postoffice in the town hall building.

Tonight members of the Windham County Kennel club from territory hereabouts were in Willimantic to attend at the Nathan Hale hotel a dinner and dance of the organization and friends of the members. The club is made up of dog fanciers who through their enthusiasm and efforts have promoted several dog shows in the county in the past two years and have aroused a greater interest among hundreds of people in canine pals. There are members of members in Danielson, Brooklyn, Putnam and other places in this vicinity.

Possibly a record was broken here at 5.30 this afternoon when the "33" call brought out the fire department for their fourth response of the day to alarms. It was not recalled tonight and cannot be verified without reference to the records whether Danielson ever before responded to four calls within a period of 8 1-2 hours. In any event, it was a busy day for the firemen. As mentioned elsewhere in the column, three fire alarms came in between 7.55 and 11.30 this morning. These were for two chimney and one grass fire. Like the others of the morning the fire alarm of the late afternoon was for an unimportant engagement for the department, insofar as hard work was involved. It was another chimney fire at the Ransom Liner place on North Main street.

This morning the funeral of Mrs. Rosalba Barry Boulais, wife of Raymond Boulais of Danielson, was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Barry, in Wauregan, with funeral services at St. James' church in Danielson at 9 o'clock. The officers of the mass were Rev. Anthelme Mollard, M. S., Rev. Joseph A. Deare, M. S., and Rev. James McCarthy, M. S. There were many relatives and friends in attendance. Bearers were Abel Bernier, Germaine Meunier, Antonio Poirier, Theodore Reeves, Arcadee Goulet and Bertram Gaudreau. In attendance at the services and at the burial was a delegation from Ste. Ann's society, of which Mrs. Boulais was a member, this delegation being made up of Mrs. L. J. Morin, Mrs. Lord Sweet, Mrs. A. Lajeunese, Mrs. C. Beguraie, Mrs. Joseph Gallichant and Mrs. A. Maynard. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

During last night at her home in Wauregan, where she had been a resident for years, the death of Mrs. Josephine E. Despathie, 74, a widow, occurred. Mrs. Despathie was a native of Canada, but had lived for years in this country. She leaves three children, all by her first marriage—Telesphore Chicone, Amadee Chicone and Vailde Chicone.

Today in a window at Bitgood's store there was on display samples of the handiwork of girls in the second year sewing classes at Killingly high school, these constituting a demonstration of what the clever girls making up these classes can do with a needle and some cloth. The display was made up largely of children's dresses. There were also being shown a few garments representing the work being done by members of the first year sewing classes. The window display was not fully representative of all the sewing classes at the school are doing, but sufficient to indicate what splendid progress is being made in sewing by the girls. Recently a more complete display of their work was viewed at the high school by mothers of the girls, and it was at their suggestion that the window display was arranged, that more people of the community might have opportunity to see samples of the work being done in the making of fanciful designs in dainty colorings.

Nineteen came out, two of them pro-fessionals, for the first registered shoot of the season under the auspices of the Danielson Rod and Gun club at the range off the Wauregan road. High winds interfered somewhat with the proficiency of the participants and accounts in large measure for the comparatively low scores that were made. The tally of the events is as follows:

Three times this forenoon the fire department responded to alarms. At 7.55 the call was for a chimney fire at a house occupied by Fred Dubue of Wheatley street. East Putnam school, Clara Gibson, $1,050, no increase.

The school board has adopted a policy of economy and reduction of expenses resulted in the dropping of one teacher of the faculty of the Israel Putnam school. The following is the list appropriations for expenses for the schools for the years from 1920 to 1927: 1920, $34,500; 1921, $58,000; 1922, $63,000; 1923, $69,000; 1924, $72,500; 1925, $73,000; 1926, $76,500; 1927, $73,355. In 1916 there were enrolled in the schools of Putnam 632 pupils and in 1927 the enrollment was 766 pupils, a gain of 15 per cent. from 1916. The expense of the upkeep of the schools was given in figures at the meeting as a gain of 150 per cent. over a like period. The gains in the expenses for the school from 1920 to 1927 was given as $25,855, which indicated that the school board must adopt a policy of economy to keep within the limit of the appropriation given them by the town.

Mrs. W. R. Barber, the newly elected secretary of the board took over her duties for the first time at this meeting. Mrs. Barber was elected at the last meeting to succeed the late Charles L. Torrey.

CHAMBER NAMES APR. 30-MAY 5 AS CLEAN-UP WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 10—At a meeting of the chamber of commerce held Monday evening in their rooms on Union street it was decided to have "Clean-up" week again this year, beginning the week of April 30 and continuing until May 5. Each year it has been the policy of the directors of the chamber to have a week in the spring devoted to the cleaning out of the winter's collection of rubbish. Mayor Charles A. Richard, who was present at the meeting, stated that as in the past the street department of the city will cooperate with the directors of the chamber of commerce in the work. The mayor said that the west side of the city will be covered by the city street department on Tuesday and the east side will be taken care of on Wednesday.

Mayor Richard said that the men employed by the city will cart away all rubbish left on the curb, that is packed in cans and barrels, but will not take away a man's winter supply of ashes that have been left on the sidewalks in many instances in clean up weeks in former years. The schools of the city will be asked to cooperate.

POLICE COMB SHIPPEE HILL FOR THREE STRANGE MEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 10—The search for the murderers of State Policeman Nelson was directed about the Shippee hill part of Putnam on Tuesday morning by officers from the state police barracks in Danielson and by members of the local police. A woman living on Shippee hill called the police early Tuesday morning and said that three suspicious looking characters were seen on the hill a few minutes before and they had asked for a lodging from her. A number of officers were sent to the territory to comb the hills where they were reported seen. The Tatem handle factory which went into bankruptcy over a year ago and other unoccupied houses in the vicinity of Farrows street were searched by the officers, thinking that these buildings might afford the killers a place to conceal themselves until the chase had died down, but each house searched proved to be fruitless effort. The officers continued to a large tract of wooded area in the rear of the Anderson greenhouses on Farrows street that lead out on backroads in the Putnam heights section of the city. The search continued until late in the afternoon and no trace of the bandits had been reported. Other clues that were reported in and about Putnam proved to be fruitless.

The ringing of box 42 on the corner of Bridge street brought the members of the Putnam fire department out at 9 a. m. Tuesday morning to extinguish an automobile blaze at the Main street garage. The car was of Buick make and was in flames when the firemen arrived. With the aid of chemicals the car was quickly extinguished but was beyond repair. The car was the property of Harold Wilcox of Center street, Putnam. The alarm was the first call of the day being received by the fire department. The members of the fire department were again called out at 1 p. m. Tuesday to answer a four stroke alarm at 14 Oak street. A grass lot that was being burned off got beyond control. The members of the hook and ladder company quickly overcame the blaze with the aid of chemicals. This was the 38th alarm of the year and the second one of the day.

Henry Phaneuf, a lifelong resident of North Grosvenordale died at his home in that town Monday after a long period of illness. Mr. Phaneuf was in his 53rd year. Mr. Phaneuf was born in Willimantic on July 19, 1875 and attended schools in Willimantic and later moved to North Grosvenordale where he was employed in the local mills as a textile worker. He is survived by his wife and two children.

WEDDING

Perrin-Basley

Putnam's first spring wedding took place Monday at the rectory of the Catholic church in Dayville when Miss Ida D. Basley, daughter of Mrs. Henry LeBree of Attawaugan, and Earl T. Perrin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Perrin, of 28 Hadley street, Putnam, were united in marriage by Rev. Ignatius Kost of Dayville. After the ceremony the couple returned to the home of the groom in Putnam where a wedding reception was given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Perrin, only intimate friends and members of the families attending. After a week's wedding trip the couple will make their home at 28 Bradley street Putnam. Many numerous and beautiful wedding gifts were received.

Work was resumed today on the new state park at Priest's island after the members of the state park commission had ceased work for the past few days. The further cutting of brush and other timber was being done. Workmen employed by the Hartford contracting concern were at work today erecting forms for the abutments that are to support the bridge that is to plan the Quinebaug. The work has been attracting much outside attention and has been a destination for many Sunday motorists who have examined the operations done by the park commission. The spreading of loam about the island for the cultivation of vines and lawns has been done. When the work is completed the island that has for many years been a hunting spot for local sportsmen will be used for a recreation place. The large area will be stocked with small game and birds, which will be afforded state protection from huntsmen.

The Easter Monday ball of the Car-gill council of K. of C., was held at Wildwood park Monday evening with a large attendance of Putnam and Danielson dance lovers. The feature of the ball was the excellent dance music furnished by Dok Eisenberg and his Sinfonians of Boston, a widely known radio dance team. The grand march was led by James Rice and Miss Sadie Welch of Putnam with over 100 couples in line. The ball was closely watched by officers of the Connecticut state police of Danielson. The officers feeling that some clue to the murderers of Officer Nelson might be obtained. The committee in charge of the first post Lenten social affair reported that the ball was also a success financially.

Major E. L. Darbie commanding of-ficer of the special troops of the 43rd division to which the Putnam military company is attached the drill of the local company Monday evening. The major was accompanied by Captain Harold A. Green, adjutant of the major's special detachment, and by two non-commissioned officers of the Danielson company. Major Darbie's mission to Putnam was for official business with Captain J. J. McGarry and for an inspection of the company During the evening the company was instructed on interior guard duty and close order drill.

A Ford truck which is housed at the Central fire station for emergency use to carry hose was pressed into service Monday after a bearing on the hose truck had burned out while the company was using the apparatus to pump water from a brook at the Carpenter fire Monday afternoon. The auxiliary hose truck was not used in any of the alarm calls Tuesday. Men working on the disabled piece of city fire fighting apparatus did not have the truck in working order later Tuesday afternoon.

Applicants for fishing licenses are now swamping the town clerk's office for the official permits to angle in the state brooks when the season opens on April 15 Sunday. Town Clerk Henry Benoit stated Tuesday that he had issued more licenses this season than he has in other years. Mr. Benoit said that it is evident that many out-of-state anglers will be on hand early Sunday morning when the season opens to get their share of the contents of the brook as he has issued a larger number of the non resident permits during the past few days. The reports of the game wardens who are now patrolling the streams show that the creeks in this section are heavily stocked with trout. County Game Warden J. Frederick Ash stated that the law has been upheld so far this season as no arrests have been made for any violations.

The Putnam lodge of Elks met last night at their rooms on Main street and installed their newly elected officer to serve them for the ensuing year. Keyren H. Cotter was installed to succeed Exalted Ruler John H. Bulger who retired last evening. Other officers were installed into office at this meeting. After the installation a supper was served in the banquet rooms by the grill committee.

During the past few days Captain William J. Jarvis of the Putnam police has been swamped with calls by people who claim that they have seen the

REVENUE AND EXPENSES

From time to time emphasis has been laid upon the necessity of giving heed to the appropriations made at this session of congress lest it mean the spending of more than is received. Attention has likewise been called to the probability that expenditures should increase as an offset to the economies in the past and the need of guarding against overdoing it.

Such advice was not accepted by everyone. There are those who have urged increased expenditures and reduced taxes, some favor taking a chance on the revenue in the expectation that it would go far ahead of estimates, others have maintained that because there was a large surplus at the close of the last fiscal year there should be about double the cut in taxation that the treasury deemed advisable. These extremes represented the difference between sound action and reckless taking. There was the disposition to keep within bounds on one hand and a willingness to rush into conflict on the other.

For the first nine months of the present fiscal year the figures of the treasury department shows an increase of expenses of nearly $90,000,000 over the previous year, the total expenses totalling nearly $2,700,000,000 and there are three months to go. On the other hand the revenue has been growing less. From the corporation and income taxes there has been received $23,000,000 less than a year ago, custom receipts show a falling off of about $22,000,000 and there is a decrease in miscellaneous internal revenue income of about $28,000,000. There are gains to offset certain of these decreases for the total revenue shows a gain of $3,000,000 for the nine months, but this has been made possible because the government has been repaid by railroads more than $160,000,000 on war loans. These repayments were much larger than in the previous year, and such revenue must of a certainty end very shortly.

One fact which cannot be overlooked is the fact that there has also been a saving in expenditures of about $35,000,000 because of the reduction in the interest item because of the lowering of the national debt.

Thus it becomes evident that if we are to keep within the budget attention must be given to facts and figures and the financial survey for the first nine months of the fiscal year does not warrant an utter disregard for the disclosures.

TIMELY PROTECTION

Too frequent are the instances where fire has destroyed buildings in which children and adults were inmates and in the destruction of property there was the loss of life or serious injuries. After such fires it has been easy to point to the dangerous character of such buildings and the importance of having fireproof structures for the harboring of the young, aged, sick or crippled inmates.

What appears to be a wise step in anticipation of serious possibilities is the condemnation of a building erected about 50 years ago which has been used for housing chronic cases at A New York hospital. There were 260 women in that building and the character of the cases is indicated by the declaration that some of them had been there for 25 years.

What might have happened had a serious fire broken out in that building can readily be imagined. Just what the chances were for fires there is not known, but an important light is thrown upon the situation by the order which has been issued for the immediate evacuation and demolition of the building. Whether the building is so unsafe that it could not be employed for other purposes is not known, but that is the inference from such an order.

What seems so commendable in connection with the order is that there has been recognition given to the danger that existed here before it was accentuated by some kind of a fire within the building itself. It is a move in behalf of valuable protection for those 260 patients. The transfer to other institutions where adequate fire protection will be provided can be made in safety. Such would not have been the case had such a transfer been forced while the building was filled with fire and smoke threatening the exits. It is possible that there might never have been a fire there, but one shudders to think of the consequence in case there was.

WORTHLESS SECURITIES

From all corners of this country there will come words of approval concerning the efforts that are being made for federal legislation to prevent interstate traffic in the sale of fraudulent and worthless securities.

In all sections of the country it is known that there is need for this protection. There are those who have gone through bitter experiences and they not only believe that they should be protected in the future but that others, responding to the same pleas, should have additional safeguards thrown about them.

There are state laws dealing with such securities, some quite drastic "blue sky" laws, but while there are effective state laws in some instances there are other states where such do not exist and for the benefit of residents of such states federal protection is sought.

It is like repeating an old story when it is stated that it is possible for the individual to throw a blanket of protection about himself if he will but insist upon making inquiries from those in a position to know, concerning securities which he is being urged to buy. It is through the failure to obtain good advice in connection with transactions about which the average person knows little or nothing that results in so many cases where worthless paper is acquired, and yet in view of the fact that there are so many preying upon the gullibility of so many persons there is need of providing all possible protection.

Instead of permitting the swindler to have a free and open opportunity to get in his nefarious work it is desirable that as many obstacles as possible should be put in his way. He is entitled to no sympathy whatever. His game is a crooked one from the start. He relies for the most part upon false statements, alluring tales and casting a sort of hypnotic spell over his victim. His aim is to get rich quick at the expense of the other fellow. He can have no friends and none should be more anxious for his suppression than the honest dealer in securities.

THE CLEAN-UP SEASON

Demands for a cleaning up of unsightly conditions are being heard in various directions. They come with the opening of spring. It may be a trifle early to set about it in real earnest and yet there is a chance to begin so that it can be gradually accomplished before the hot weather makes it a burden.

Cleaning up is a good thing for every community. There is invariably a need for it for the accumulations of the winter months are many. It is a valuable bit of work, which, when participated in generally, means a much more attractive city.

Somehow it always seems to be necessary for a certain few to set the right example in this direction. Once they get busy and put their property in the pink of condition it stimulates a rivalry which spreads in greater and less degree until most of the neighborhood has taken on a different appearance.

There are always those improvements which are bound to come with the changing years. Some times it is here and then it is there, but there aren't many places but what need something in the way of a cleaning up about the grounds each spring. That is the season for sprucing up. Spotless town isn't always accomplished but it is an excellent goal.

Civic pride can do much in bettering the appearance of a city and none more than the visitors who are looking for the good points of a city place a high appraisal upon the community that shows it has been busily engaged in cleaning up. There are the customary eyesores which should be eliminated but surprisingly big contributions can be made by the individual effort.

THE NEWTON BILL

By the action of the house of representatives in refusing to adopt the Newton bill, there is slight chance that anything further will come of the effort this year.

This was a measure introduced for the purpose of permitting corporations, or pools, to be formed for the purpose of purchasing raw materials in foreign markets. The reason for such a law is found in the monopolies which have been created under the Stevenson act in England. Since the Newton bill was introduced the British law has been modified, so as far as rubber is concerned it seems probable that it will not be needed, but there is sisal and potash which are in about the same position that rubber has been.

The effects of the rubber monopoly upon this country are by no means a secret. Evidently the British believed that this country was about to overcome the effects of that unjust law and recanted, but the importance of having such a law as the Newton act for the purpose of meeting just such emergencies whenever they arise ought to have been appreciated in congress. Had it existed when the British passed the Stevenson act it would have permitted this country to have protected itself against the foreign monopoly to a considerable degree. That same advantage ought to be available in case similar situations develop in the future. Some of those who voiced their disapproval of the bill evidently failed to realize the benefits it had in store for their particular localities. The vote was such, however, as to create the impression that it was not judged upon its merits, and that more considerate attention would be accorded it at another time.

DAIRY OF A POINTED FOX

Oct. 1—Left at home all day, as Miss Elinor found it chilly enough to wear her stylish new winter coat. Tried to read a book called "Aesop's Fables," which appeared to have some stories in it about foxes. Very silly. No sane fox ever acted like that.

Oct. 3—Went to a tea at the university. Miss E. strolled home across campus with good-looking boy named Roger Forbes. She promised to explain to him how to make double chocolate caramel nut fudge, but somehow they never got around to that subject. Instead, she told him how much she loved autumn, especially along toward the football season. I told her he thought the apples on her cheeks were very becoming. She told him he was quite poetical. They arrived at Miss E.'s house by then and he asked if he might call some time and she said she wasn't doing anything tomorrow night and she did hope the university would win the first game. And he asked if 8 o'clock would be about right, and she said it would.

Oct. 3—Roger Forbes came to call, bringing two tickets to the first football game, which he held behind his back until Miss E. guessed which hand they were in. She said he had such a sense of humor! Were going to movies, but decided to stay at home and make aforesaid fudge, I being banished to hall closet.

Oct. 4—Out walking, met Miss E.'s friend, Martha, who introduced us to one Clifford Blobs—"what a name!" Miss E. whispered in my ear—who goes to the same college as Roger. Such a funny fellow! He scarcely said ten words all the time, letting the girls do all the talking, which they seemed to suffer no hardship doing. And so awkward! I thought he would drop me on the floor when he removed me from Miss E.'s shoulders in Ye I Screem Shoppe. When he got through paying for cinnamon toast, sundaes and cake I thought he looked awkwarder even than before.

Oct 5—Who should call up Miss E. today, but that Blobs man? I thought she would laugh out loud at him over the telephone. He wanted a date on the same night that Roger is coming over to teach Miss E. all the university yells. She told him she was all dated up for a month.

Oct. 6—Came Roger to teach Miss E. the yells. It seems he has been elected third assistant cheer leader and that he actually composed some of the yells himself. Miss E. thought they were very poetical, especially one that imitated double-headed locomotives climbing a mountain. Miss E. told Roger she was very proud of him, and that, maybe, after the game she might consent to wear his fraternity pin.

Oct. 7—What do you think? That Blobs fellow actually had the audacity to send Miss E. a ticket to the game tomorrow. It came in the mail with a note saying he hoped he would not get it too late. Miss E. sent it back with a note saying she hoped he would not get it too late. Of course, he will. Roger phoned twice today, but for the life of me, I could not tell why from the conversation.

Oct. 8—It was a beautiful day for a football game, clear and crisp, and I snuggled proudly under my mistress' chin, as we took our seat in the grand stand. The band played and pretty soon Roger, who was looking very smart in a white and black sweater with a big initial on it, excused himself to go and help lead the cheering. It was all very gay and exciting, something like a fox hunt, only more so.

Pretty soon the varsity came trotting out on the field, and Miss E. started looking at the players with her opera glasses. Suddenly she stooped waving her pennant and clutched me by the tail.

"Foxy," she said in a funny whisper, "one of those halfbacks is Blobs!"

So he was, but that wasn't the half of it. Before the afternoon was half over, and Roger had consumed more than two boxes of cough drops he'd told him imitate railroad trains, dying cats, a lot of owls and other noisy chicks, our awkward friend Blobs, with the utmost dexterity, had made a touchdown that tied the score. And when the final whistle blew he was lying across the enemy's goal for a winning touchdown.

I never heard such cheering. I thought Miss E. would go crazy, but she certainly was pretty, with her pink cheeks and eyes gleaming with animation. I didn't blame Roger for of the moment, and kissink it vehe- of the moment, and kissing it vehe- [illegible] Really, she needn't have slapped him quite so hard, nor told him not to come around any more. The boy meant no harm, I'm sure.

Somehow, I feel that Miss E. was not as angry about the kiss as she was about something else. And when she got home she threw me on the most uncomfortable hook on the hat-rack without giving me a hint of the real trouble.—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Contrast Between Connecticut and California

Mr. Editor: It seems unbelievable that any church organization could vote that prohibition had been a failure and that the Volstead act should be modified; as I read in the paper today that the Temperance society of the Episcopal church of Connecticut has so voted. To be sure, Connecticut never did vote for prohibition. There is one state in the Union where prohibition has been acknowledged to be a grand success—California. The progress in this state reads like an Arabian Nights tale. It is a fact that Los Angeles county, since prohibition, has led every other county in this United States in its volume of agricultural products. There is no grumbling about hard times or unemployment in this state thus far as I have seen or heard of. From good authority I have been informed that this past year 100 new industries were launched in Los Angeles county, three of them employing from 4,000 to 6,000 people.

Throughout the state real estate has increased in value since 1919.

A large stockholder in the largest bank in Los Angeles told me that the increase in depositors had been marvelous since 1919. It could not be accounted for except through prohibition. The money spent on liquors before 1919 has gone into things worth while. It has not been a feverish boom, but a steady healthy growth. The working men and women own their cars, and pretty bungalows, every little town has its park of some kind. The state is known for its fine school buildings and churches and high wages paid to its teachers. This prosperity is not a happen-so, but the outgrowth of prohibition. A prominent business man said to me this very morning, "No Episcopal church in California would pass such a vote as has yours in Connecticut." I confess my cheeks burned with shame. Has the East grown effete?

Five months ago when I came to California, I thought of the state as a wonderful resort to build up worn-out humanity with a climate full of pep and for scenic beauty unsurpassed anywhere in the world. I did not expect to find it a marvelous example of what prohibition had accomplished. If prohibition has failed in Connecticut it is the fault of the people. Booze is of more value to them than prosperity in the fine things of life. You can not have both booze and prosperity. In passing a high school building, I noticed cars parked all around it, and was told they belonged to the pupils who came from out of town. I noticed too, a fine swimming pool connected with the school. Everywhere one sees unusual signs of thrift.

Glendale has a unique cemetery. It is really a beautiful park—no conglomeration of tombstones: graves are marked by small flat stones imbedded in the grass, unobserved until you come close to them. The ensemble of the magnificent live oak, the graceful, fern-like pepper trees, with the clusters of pink berries among the green leaves, the acacias, now in full bloom, shine like golden balls in the sunshine, an abundance of flowers, lend a charm and beauty to a cemetery with which one can not associate death. At the entrance is a lovely Gothic chapel.

What use has the Episcopal church for booze?

All of us should be dry when lives are at stake: the passenger wants a sober chauffeur, the train demands a sober engineer; the industrial magnate must have a sober watchman to guard his men and property. No manufacturer has forgotten "Blue Monday," the day after pay day, when the men, who came to work, came with headaches and hangovers, reducing the output of the day; yes, and when one-fifth of all employes discharged were discharged because of drunkenness. This was the condition before prohibition all over our country. I know because it was part of my W. C. T. U. work to visit mills and ascertain facts. I have been told there are no "Blue Mondays" now and thousands of dollars have been saved since prohibition took effect.

Does the Episcopal church of Connecticut advocate the return to all this waste?

Are they so blind that they can not see that prohibition has not failed, even in backward Connecticut?

If they would put as much energy into enforcing the law as they do in trying to overthrow it, Connecticut would be a prosperous state. The test of good citizenship is in the upholding of the Constitution and obeying its laws.

Glendale, Cal., March 30, 1928.

Does Anyone Know?

Mr. Editor: I have an old clock—wooden works—made by Riley Whiting, Winchester, Conn. In the back of this clock are printed directions for winding, setting, etc. These directions were printed by one "Mr. Gardner, Norwich, Ct." I would like to know the date of Mr. Gardner's work in Norwich so that I might get at some age of this clock. Can you tell me anything? Thanking you in advance,

YOUR HEALTH

Hibernating Mosquitoes.

By Edwin M. Skinner, Director of Mosquito Control, Gorgas Institute.

Scientists have taught us that mosquitoes transmit disease and are otherwise a menace to health. No one has ever found any use for them for any purpose. There is a general movement throughout this country and abroad for their extermination. Many mosquito infested areas have been freed of the pests. Most of the work is being done under the supervision of health authorities. The plan employed is much the same as the one evolved and used by General Gorgas, world physician in whose memory the Gorgas Memorial Institute is organized, when he exterminated yellow fever and malaria in Cuba, Panama, and elsewhere. These diseases are transmitted only by mosquitoes.

While the major part of mosquito breeding is found in outlying sections—swamps, woodland, and polluted streams—requiring the services of entomologists and engineers to control, those responsible for conditions in and about the homes can help considerably if they will heed and act on the following suggestions.

The mosquito breeding season in temperate zones is rapidly approaching. Do not wait another day to have roof gutters cleaned and lined up. If you have trees in your neighborhood you will find your gutters, particularly the down spouts from them, choked with dead leaves and other rubbish. Mosquitoes will breed sixty to the square inch of water surface in choked roof gutters, fountain basins, cisterns, rainwater barrels, or other containers, large or small.

After a few warm and balmy spring days have passed in sections where mosquitoes were prevalent last season, there will be noticed a sudden recrudescence of them on the wing, apparently from nowhere. In the novice's opinion but your entomologist will tell you that these first broods are hibernating mosquitoes that you have been harboring in your nice warm basements or attics throughout the winter.

They are so clever in gaining entrance in the fall and are so quiet and unobtrusive that most people do not know of their presence. Their instinct guides them to dark, out-of-the-way corners and crevices where they cling quietly until the first warm days of spring. There will be 20 to 2000 of these hibernators found in any home in a mosquito zone that has been kept reasonably warm during the winter season. They are all females, each burdened with 200 to 400 eggs, their contribution to the coming broods about 28 days hence. There are further broods of mosquitoes due to mature, if allowed, from eggs that hibernate during the winter in favorable places in the open. While frost kills the winged insect the eggs, when favorably placed, seem to survive.

If a house is perfectly screened as to all openings, and the screens are not removed until after freezing weather arrives, mosquitoes seeking to hibernate will be kept out and their existence ended by frosts. Should you admit them, however, through carelessness or otherwise, the game is not lost, unless you let them out in the spring.

Place your screens just before freezing weather ends and before opening windows or propping open doors. The hibernators will tell you when it is time for them to leave. When you first see a few of them clinging to a screen seeking egress, completely darken every basement opening except one looking east or north, making sure that particular screen is tightly fitted. Visit it at daylight the following morning and you will find practically all the hibernators that have survived the winter on that screen seeking to get out. They are only about half awake and it is an easy matter to crush them with a cloth. You are, of course, destroying an average of 300 mosquitoes with each hibernator killed.

Stories That Recall Others

A Good Bargain

"Isn't that a new coat, Mandy?" asked the clerk in a small store to a seemingly happy customer, a large, good-natured colored woman who had been married recently for the third time.

"Yes, sir, this is a new coat. This is a present to me from my man," admitted Mandy.

"And what did you give him?" asked the curious one.

"Me? What did I give him? I didn't give him nothin' 'cept just me. I just give him me."

Co-operation

As the spring days begin to be in evidence the people who live in one of the suburbs begin to think about gardening. A few men in the community can be employed to spade up the small plot of ground set aside as a garden that can be found on the back of almost every lot. A certain genius with the spade, Hiram, is always in demand.

One Sunday Mary, age six, was attending Sunday school. Among other questions the teacher asked was, "Who makes the lovely gardens we have at home?"

"God and Hiram," was the quick reply volunteered by little Mary.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

TANGIER

European promoters hope to make ancient Tangier a modern resort.

In the shadow of venerable mosques and minarets and keyhole-like Moorish archways, they plan to build modern hotels, bath houses and casinos that will rival the Riviera and vie with Monte Carlo.

"Although Tangier is but a few hours' ferry ride from Gibraltar, the city has maintained its ancient charm," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"For many centuries it has occupied a reserved seat on the African side of the Strait of Gibraltar, in full view of the parade of commerce to and from Mediterranean ports, but today its unimproved harbor does not permit docking of larger ocean-going vessels.

"From the anchorage, Tangier resembles a white sheet spread from the seashore up the African slopes. The spotless white walls, glistening in the sunlight, suggest that 'clean-up, paint-up week' is perpetually observed there and that the city fathers will allow nothing but white paint or whitewash to be used. As one nears the shore, however, dashes of yellow, green and red mark the encroachment of modern builders.

"Once inside the city walls, the traveler is bewildered by the maze of lanes which the Tanglerians call their streets. So narrow are they that wheeled vehicles have never rumbled over the cobbles and pedestrians are compelled to jump into doorways to avoid being sideswiped or trampled upon by huge, moth-eaten camels and donkeys, whose bulging loads spread nearly from wall to wall.

"In the business section coffee houses offer the principal Tangier recreation. Patrons sit in groups on the floor, playing with odd-marked cards, or lean against the walls sipping a beverage, smoking their pipes, and sometimes singing to the tune of a native orchestra. Next door an unkempt shopkeeper, seemingly more interested in keeping his long-stemmed pipe lighted than in making a sale, presides over a cupboardlike shop displaying pottery, brassware and trinkets.

"Beggars are more importunate. They beg for alms and often follow a prospect until he yields a coin. Shouts of camelmen and street venders and chatter of pedestrians make a monotonous din, broken occasionally by the weird strains of a holy mechanics composed of derviches who parade about the streets with Moslem banners, begging contributions for the mosques.

"An American's description of a Tangier residential district would be 'more narrow winding lanes crammed in by high walls.' The walls are blank except for doorways leading into courts. A peep through an open door reveals some of the city's garden spots—flower beds surrounding fountains, shaded by lofty palms. Some courts are also used as primitive farmyards, where cattle and fowl are fattened for the market.

"Most travelers agree that a visit to the large market, lying just outside of the city wall, is well worth a trip to Tangier. There city folk mingle with the rural folk from the fertile regions in the vicinity. Men, women and children, camels, horses, donkeys, dogs and fowl, all are huddled together in the dust amid piles of oranges, baskets of eggs, casks of olives and improvised stands for nuts, dates, candies, kitchen utensils and home-made shoes. The country women wear broad-brimmed straw hats. The Moslems wear kerchiefs, half covering their faces.

"Around the edge of the market place jetter writers and fortune tellers ply their professions; black, portly Sudanese negroes in tatters dance to the tune of metal cymbals and discs dangling about their bodies, and the fire eater and snake charmer amaze throngs with their clever tricks.

"Of all the side shows the snake charmer, perhaps, is strangest. As his assistant beats a doleful tomtom, he draws a hissing reptile from a sack, allows it to bite his tongue and wipes away the blood with a handful of shavings. After convincing the audience that he is really wounded, he rolls the wet shavings into a pellet which he places in dry shavings. Then he blows on the mass until it smokes and later bursts into flames. Your native guide will say 'he is a very holy man.'"

Why buy performance that CHRYSLER "72" has obsoleted?.....

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" Crown Sedan $1795

CHRYSLER "72" performance obsoletes all other performance at its price or even for $1000 more.

The first Chrysler, four years ago, put in the discard the cumbersome, bulky vehicles of its day.

Chrysler "72" performance widens that margin of superiority.

No other car today approaches it for roadability, hill climbing, acceleration, dependability, comfort, ease of handling, style, safety, long life and appearance.

For Chrysler's engineering genius and precision manufacture have gone steadily forward to greater heights.

That is why the "72" today gives you performance that sets the pace for the entire industry for years to come. 75 brake horsepower. 72 miles and more per hour. Vibrationless smoothness that only a Chrysler counterweighted 7-bearing crankshaft can give. Flashing acceleration in traffic. There are no hills to the "72."

Longer chassis with no side-sway—spring ends mounted in rubber shock insulators give consummate ease of riding.

Why pay a premium for the out-of-date performance others give? See and ride in the Chrysler "72." You will realize then how Chrysler "72"—at less money—makes a dead letter of all other performance in its field today.

GATE HOUSE AND DAM AT DEEP RIVER RESERVOIR

NEW DEEP RIVER RESERVOIR IS WAITING FOR CHLORINATING PLANT

The city's new reservoir on Deep River brook in the town of Colchester is now practically completed except for the installation of the duplicate sets of automatic chlorinating machines and the Venturi meter which will record the flow of water into the pipes as it leaves the reservoir to render service to the city. The waste way pipe under the dam is only partially closed at the present time, but, as can be seen from the accompanying pictures, a considerable pond of water has accumulated up to the present time in the reservoir, which is now about half full.

In the upper picture can be seen the gate house and something of the pond behind the dam. On the extreme right of the dam is the spillway through which water will discharge when the pond is full to overflowing. On the landward face of the gate house is placed a large bronze plate bearing the names of city officials and others concerned in the reservoir building as follows:

1926-1927
Board of Water Commissioners
Frank H. Quinley, President.
John J. Corkery — Chas. A. Hagberg
John A. Mitchell — Arthur E. Story
Jere A. Fitzgerald — Chas. W. Burton
John P. Corcoran
Mayor
Milo R. Waters
Supervisor
William H. Callahan
Engineers — Engr. in Charge
Chandler & Palmer — H. B. Wightman
Corporation Counsel
William H. Shields, Jr.
Contractor
Louis Petrossi

The new reservoir is a piece of municipal construction work that present the unusual experience of being built within the money appropriated for it, and having a balance of about $20,000 left over, according to a statement prepared up to Feb. 1, by Chandler and Palmer, city engineers. At that time there was a balance on hand of $26,465.52 and as there would then be only between $6,000 and $8,000 more needed to be spent to complete the work there would be a balance of about $20,000 remaining. The appropriation for the work was $1,080,000. Bonds up to within $5,000 of this amount were issued and sold, realizing a premium of $10,000 and making the sum of $1,085,000 available if it were needed.

The work has been under way for two years and that it has been accomplished with such a close eye to costs is credited largely to the direct and constant supervision of Herbert B. Wightman, engineer in the employ of Chandler & Palmer, who has been backed up by oversight given by the board of water commissioners.

LOOKING OVER POND AT DEEP RIVER RESERVOIR

CARELESS MOTORIST LIABLE FOR INJURY TO PASSENGERS

That Connecticut's annual spring and summer crop of free "lift" seekers and "ride-jackers" has already begun to bloom along the state's main highways has become evident to motorists in every part of the state. About this time of the year, persons seeking to avoid trolley and railroad fares are found at every highway terminus hailing the motorists for free rides, and it is found that many of them are successful because of a generally prevailing opinion among auto owners and drivers that chapter 308 of the Public Acts of the 1927 general assembly exempts them from responsibility for injuries to passengers in their cars.

Although this chapter bears the title, "An act releasing owners of motor vehicles from responsibility for injuries to passengers therein" and originally read so as to completely exempt drivers and operators, nevertheless in its final from the act was so revised as to hold drivers responsible for injuries occurring to passengers if an accident results from the driver's "heedlessness or reckless disregard for the rights of others." In other words, if a motor vehicle operator is found at fault in an accident the probabilities are that a court would hold him financially liable for damages.

Even outside of its legal aspects, however, the practice of giving lifts is dangerous from the aspect of the motorist. Many a driver has come home minus his watch and wallet after befriending what he believed to be a stranded wayfarer.

Returned from Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Foote of the Westerly road, Preston, who have been enjoying the winter at Stuart, Fla., have returned home. The trip to and from Florida was made by automobile, Mr. and Mrs. Foote leaving Norwich for Florida about Christmas time. The total mileage covered by them in the homeward tour, 1335 miles, required four days.

Fined With Suspended Jail Sentence

Accused was arrested Saturday after he had attacked his wife with a knife and fence picket. He was drunk at the time of the attack on his wife.

SPRING FIRES BURN OVER 1,000 ACRES SO FAR

With the issuance of a fire warning Monday by the United States weather bureau, it was reported by State Forester Austin F. Hawes that 95 fires covering 1,000 acres of land have occurred since Jan. 1. Many of the fires were reported during last week, but the record for April 6, 7 and 8 is not yet complete. Many of the fires started in grass, which is very dry and thick on almost all meadow land, and then spread to brush and forest areas.

While a few were caused from railroads and camp fires of fishermen, the majority were caused by cigarettes and by brush fires getting out of control, Forester Hawes said.

Because of the excess rain last fall which was favorable to a late growth of grass, and the dry weather of the past week, the danger of fires is great at the present time, he said, and all persons are warned not to drop lighted matches or cigarettes, or burn brush without adequate protection against its spreading.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY VOTES $300 PLEDGE TO "Y"

The April meeting of the Woman's auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Henry D. Johnson, 21 Lincoln avenue, with a good number attending. After the opening devotional exercises conducted by General Secretary Edwin Hill, the usual reports were read and accepted. Report was made that the proceeds from the recent rummage sale amounted to $94. The annual pledge of $300 to the Y was voted, and the nominating committee was appointed to report at the May meeting which will be held at the Y building.

After the business meeting, Mrs. James A. Bidwell gave a delightful group of three songs, with Miss Nellie Howie as accompanist, and a paper upon life in the Philippines was read by Mrs. Charles Allen of Rockville. She spoke of places, people, customs and politics in these far off islands. Two songs by Miss Elizabeth Johnson, for whom the accompaniments were by Miss Faith Allen, were very prettily sung. Tea and cake were served, Mrs. John Ei Hawkins and Miss Miriam Campbell pouring.

I., was read by Mrs. Frank Davis, who also read a letter from Lena Benjamin, of Nellore, India, expressing her gratitude for all White Cross service.

DEMOCRATS SHOW LITTLE INTEREST IN DELEGATES

Only a flurry of interest was manifested by the New London county democrats, who caucused Tuesday afternoon and evening for the selection of town committees and delegates to the spring convention to be held in Hartford on May 2 and 3. To bear out this statement a warning was posted for a caucus for Tuesday evening at North Stonington, but inasmuch as only one loyal democrat, Cressingham L. Gray, put in an appearance, the caucus was postponed and will be held at a late date. Other towns are to hold their caucuses the latter part of the week. Among those in caucus Tuesday and the results were

PASS RESOLUTIONS ON RESIGNATION OF MARSHALL

A resolution, prepared by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church, was unanimously passed at the monthly meeting of the New London Association of Congregational Ministers, held in the study of Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church this United Congregational church Tuesday of Dr. Benjamin T. Marshall of Connecticut College for Women. Rev. William J. Reynolds was moderator of the meeting, and he invoked divine blessing. Rev. A. S. Bush of Gales Ferry, the secretary, kept the minutes.

The resolution drafted by Rev. Mr. Ricketts and unanimously adopted, in regard to the resignation of Dr. Benjamin T. Marshall, president of Connecticut College for Women at New London, follows.

"For as much as our beloved brother, Dr. Benjamin T. Marshall is soon to retire from the presidency of the Connecticut College for Women, be it resolved, that we, the members of the New London County Association of Congregational Ministers, now assembled at the United church in Norwich, go on record as highly appreciative of his character, ability and attainments. We sincerely believe that these high qualities of mind and heart have been a positive asset, not only to the religious life of the college, but to this whole region. It is our most earnest hope and prayer that wherever in the Providence of God he may be called to labor, he may find the atmosphere congenial and his work fruitful."

At noon, the gathering adjourned to the Community house on Church street, where an appetizing menu was served by Mrs. Fannie C. Adams, Mrs. Lillian S. Young and Mrs. Charles Tiffany.

The New Patriotism.

The principal speaker of the morning was Rev. Samuel Cathcart of Westerly, R. I., who read an interesting theme on "The New Patriotism." He said in part.

This paper is a somewhat echo of the widespread interest worked by the naval porgram presented to the house naval affairs commjee, Dec. 14 by Mr. Wilbur, secretary of the navy. The draft called for the building of 71 new vessels at a cost of approximately $1,000,000,000. This was to be the first of four five-year programs, the total cost amounting to between two and three billion dollars.

The immediate effect of this proposal on the country was at first one of undisguised amazement and disappointment; then, one of strong opposition and protest. The peace-loving people throughout the nation could not understand it. They remembered the president's notable statement in his Omaha address in 1925, and many similar utterances since then to the same effect. "Our country has definitely distinguished the old standards of dealing with other countries by terror and force and is definitely committed to the new standards of dealing with them through friendship and understanding."

Several other vital factors interest the situation. One was teh discouraging, paralyzing effect upon the efforts of European nations to secure peace by friendly association in the league of nations and in other ways, such as the Locarno pact. Here was a declaration on the part of the most powerful nation in the world that her final appeal and trust were to be placed in the arbitrament of the sword, in force of arms. What a blow to the cause of the world peace; in practical statesmanship, what a contrast between our constant advise and moral preachments to Europe and our newly declared purpose to procure at once to the construction of the most powerful fleet in the world.

Added to this was the fact that just at that time, one of the ranking officers of the American navy, Admiral Plunkee, made an uncalled for, indiscreet and provocative speech at a banquet of the national republican committee in New York in which he predicted that war with another first class power was inevitable; not only so, but that it was near at hand, and later named the friendly power with whom we were about to wage war. Coming from a high naval officer, still in the service of the navy, this declaration caused something akin to alarm throughout the nation and caused much comment abroad.

But fortunately Great Britain, as always, took the matter calmly. The government and press went out of their way to express friendliness, declaring that war between Great Britain and the United States was "unthinkable."

Great Britain's immediate answer to our enlarged navy program was the elimination from her building program of two or three new cruisers already provided for this year. Of course anybody who knows the feeling of the British people and of the colonies knows that any government insane enough to suggest war with the United States would fall over night and that it would be instantly vetoed by the colonies whose approval she must have before declaring war against any power.

The day has passed when, to military experts, or even to governments, is conceded the exclusive right to determine what shall be the nations' policy in respect to peace and war. This is particularly true of the two great English speaking nations—England and America. The World war was so devastating in its effects so destructive of all that is dear to mankind that the dread of another such catastrophe hangs like a pall on the people of Europe and the entire civilized world. Up from the hearts of millions of human beings today is heard the echo of the late President Harding's dying words: "It must not happen again."

In any discussion of this whole question of peace and war one must remember the divided state of public opinion on the subject. The advocates of great fleets and powerful armies are doubtless sincere in the belief that therein lies the best means of national defense and the securing of national rights and aspirations.

They are patriotic in that they desire to preserve the heritage of the past and pass it on to the generations yet to be. To this end they seek security in armaments and the training of the youth of the country in the art and philosophy of war. To others of us, war in its philosophy and practice is essentially pagan, futile and un-Christian. We deplore the present effort to establish compulsory military training in schools and colleges as tending to the creation of war psychology and the militarizing of the youth of the land.

Reviewed Books of Season

Before the literature round table of the Woman's City club, which was held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the club room at the Wauregan hotel, Mrs. Alexander H. Abbott read a paper upon the topic "What's What," which was a review of the current books of the season, and was made intensely interesting by the apt and vivid comment of the reviewer.

RESERVED DECISION IN $750 AUTOMOBILE SUIT

In the common pleas court here on Monday, Judge C. B. Waller took the papers and reserved decision after hearing trial of the suit of Miss Lucy Gray MacDougall against Henry C. Lane, doing business as Lane Motor Supply company. Both plaintiff and defendant are of this city and the suit is brought because of an automobile accident on Laurell Hill avenue at the corner of Center street on the night of December 16, 1927.

Miss MacDougall brought suit for $750 damages, on account of damage to her automobile and because of a hydrant that was broken off in the crash. The MacDougall machine, a Hupmobile, was hit in the rear as it was coming out of

LOCAL SEMI-PRO TEAMS SHOW SIGNS OF PREPARING FOR COMING SEASON

Semi-pro baseball in Norwich and vicinity is again showing signs of bursting forth upon a waiting public. The quality or even the quantity of baseball to be furnished by local clubs during the summer has not yet been divulged but the fact remains that there are serious plans toward setting the stage.

Riverview and the Martafts of Taftville played last year, the latter team being a merging of Taftville A. A. and J. B. Martin, which had played separately in years past.

This year it looks like a return to this latter style although only two clubs have as yet made any move toward starting.

Riverview had a sort of unofficial opening last Saturday when the "regulars" or most of them, played and beat a team known as the Hospital All-Stars. This week Riverview meets the Thermos Bottle team. These games of course are below the usual caliber of those furnishing baseball at the state hospital but once out of the training season several fast clubs are expected to appear from all over the state, as in past seasons.

Riverview, it is said, will have all local talent this year and although they cannot hope for as fast teams as those of the past two seasons, still there are enough ball players working at the institution to present a fairly strong front. Dr. Elijah S. Burdsall, is the manager of the team, and he will have Dinty Moore, Mondi Normandin, Joe Hamel, Tony West and his brother, Stanley, Nap Liberte and Tim Coughlin upon which to lay a foundation.

Meeting at Taftville Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock at Ponemah hall a meeting will be held to form the Taftville A. A. team for the year. Taftville will probably open her season in May, which is her usual starting time.

Nothing has been heard from Moosup, or other eastern Connecticut communities as to their plans on the semi-pro end of the game as yet.

Bulkeley-Westerly Today

Westerly high will meet Bulkeley at New London today at Mercer Field in the most important early season game in eastern Connecticut. Eddie Sawyer will probably pitch for Westerly with Locke or Petrosky on the mound for the Whalers.

HOCKEY PIRATES MAY BE TRANSFERRED TO CLEVELAND

MONTREAL, Que., April 10—(AP)—The Montreal Gazette will say tomorrow that the Patrick brothers are considering the purchase of the Pittsburgh franchise in the National Hockey league and transferring it to Cleveland next season. Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, confirmed today that Cleveland interests had approached his father, his brother, Frank, and himself at a recent conference in Chicago, the paper will state.

Nothing definite has been decided by the Patricks, the Rangers pilot said, according to the Gazette story adds:

"It is known that Frank Patrick has been working to revive prohockey on the Pacific coast and that definite steps have been made in a move to establish a four-club circuit next season with Vancouver, Seattle, Victoria and Portland represented for a start.

"Rumors are prevalent that, if the Patricks do take over the Pittsburgh franchise and team and operate in Cleveland next season as a National Hockey league club, Frank Carroll, present manager of the Springfield team, Rangers' Farm club in the Canadian American minor loop, will handle the Rangers next winter."

RED SOX WIN OPENER FROM SENATORS

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—While 30,000 fans shivered under chilly eastern blasts, President Coolidge inaugurated the 1928 American league baseball season here today by tossing out the first ball. Then the Boston Red Sox proceeded to defeat the Washington Senators 7 to 5 in a somewhat listless game.

There were all the usual opening formalities, including the flag raising, the marching of bands and the reception to the president, who stood bareheaded as the army band played the Star Spangled Banner.

The chief executive's toss of a new ball from his box in the grandstand proved somewhat wide but Umpire Owens saved him from a wild pitch by making a lunging one handed catch. Mr. Coolidge remained only during the first inning, returning then to the white house. He was bundled up in a great coat but unlike hundreds of the spectators he was not fortified with blankets about his knees and feet.

Gaston in Johnson's Role

Milton Gaston, a recent acquisition from the St. Louis Browns, was the starting pitcher for Washington, a role so long held by one of the greatest of masters, Walter Johnson, now ill in a sanitarium here following an attack of influenza. Gaston failed to go the route giving way to a pinch hitter after the Red Sox had found him for four hits and three runs in the seventh inning.

After getting away to a bad first inning when the Senators scored three runs on one hit, MacFayden finished out the string for Boston, holding the Senators to seven hits.

Joe Judge Gets Four Hits

Joe Judge, veteran first baseman, who is contesting with George Sisler, formerly of the St. Louis Browns, responded to a large floral horseshoe gift from friends in the Cosmopolitan club by turning in several nifty bits of fielding and hammering out four successive hits, three singles and double, and scoring one run.

Fort Wayne's lone tally came in the seventh inning when Menze drove one of Spencer's fast balls over the left field fence for a circuit gallop. Score:

A'S WIN FINAL GAME FROM PHILLIES, 2 TO 1

PHILADELPHIA, April 10—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics and the Philadelphia Nationals wound up their training season with a benefit game at Shibe park, the American leaguers winning 2 to 1.

The game was a testimonial to Charles Mason, manager of the Athletics in 1883. Although only a few hundred fans attended, the receipts were increased by checks from Americans and National league club owners.

The Athletics won out in the seventh inning on a pass to Dykes, Foxx's two bagger and a single by Rookie Shortston Hassler.

The Phillies scored their lone tally in the eighth on a single by Pinch Hitter Clarence Mitchell and Outfielder Southern's drive over second.

Ty Cobb did not play.

BOTH JOHNSON AND RUEL ABSENT FROM SENATORS

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—Walter Johnson, the beloved "big train" of baseball fans here and elsewhere, spent today on a hospital cot while his former teammates opened the American league season with Boston.

It was the second time in many years that the opening cry of the announcer giving the batteries sounded a name other than Johnson's for the first game of the season.

"For Washington—Johnson and Ruel" is the old familiar megaphoned shot of opening days. Last year it was Coveleskie and Ruel, for the old master was held on the bench by a broken ankle. Today's announcement completed the dissolution of the old partnership, for Ruel was nursing a lame arm. Benny Tate began the game behind the bat and Milton Gaston was the pitcher.

Recovering slowly from an attack of influenza, Johnson was held in his room but his thoughts were with his new club, the Newark International team of which he is manager, and with the Senators.

"You can tell them I'm sorry I'm not there," he told his wife. She said he was anxious to get back into the game in his new role as Newark's manager but, "Washington always will be his team."

HIGH SCHOOL PROSPECTS

Deep River High

Deep River right now looks like one of the best among the smaller schools of Connecticut. Although it must be remembered that she was facing a much weakened Chapman Tech last Saturday when she won 10 to 0, still Deep River showed enough to convince rather firmly that she should give the Academy penty of trouble here a week from Friday.

The battery positions are very strong with Walter Linder, the sensational pitcher just about as good as there is in his class. K. Tourville is also doing a good job behind the bat while although the rest of the team composed of Tourvilles, Mozzochis, Linder, Carlson, etc, cannot compare with their performances, still it is doing better than average work. Deep River has the advantage of an early start in practice over the rest of the clubs and that may help for the first two or three weeks.

Tomorrow—Wilby High (Waterbury)

'BOUT SPORTS

Tonight a fair idea should be gleaned of what the Academy's basketball team of the past season would have done with eastern Connecticut teams had they been met in the last month of the schedule. The Wildcats showed a wide reversal of form the latter part of February after all tilts with local high schools had been settled. Tonight, the N. F. A. Independents, composed of four of the five players that have done so well of late meet the Windham High Independents as the preliminary to the Hartford-All Heller game at Willimantic. Aubrey Brown will replace Lloyd Jarvis at a forward but the rest of the local team will be the same as usual with Les Pingree at the other forward, Joe Viau at center and Buck LaCroix and Jim Kelly in the guard berths.

This game tonight is the last stand for basketball hereabouts this year. Saturday baseball officially takes possession with the Academy-Alumni game and from then on there is a lot of baseball and fights scheduled for eastern Connecticut.

Today sets the major leagues in operation in earnest once again. Quite a few Norwich fans usually take in the opening game at New York and its is expected that again a large delegation will be on hand today, at the Polo Grounds with the Giants and Braves.

Incidentally, a play-by-play description of this game will be broadcast over WEAF, starting at 3 o'clock.

PAYNE STILL IS SETTING PACE IN "BUNION DERBY"

CLINTON, Okla., April 10—(AP)—Andrew Payne, of Claremore, Okla., continued to lead the cross country marathon in elapsed time after today's fifty mile grind from Sayre but did not increase his margin over Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England, who is in second place. Payne's margin after Monday's jaunt was one hour 24 minutes and 43 seconds. Today he and Gavuzzi came in with the same time, 8:21:40.

Since the long trek began in Los Angeles March 4 Payne has been on the road 234 hours 54 minutes and 37 seconds. The Englishman's time was 236:19:20.

Neither of the leaders led the way today, Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro setting the pace in 6:40:30. He was followed into the thirty eighth control point by Guistoumek of Italy in 7:10:31.

The 12 ton motor cruiser following the runners crashed through a small bridge today and tore away part of the superstructure but none was injured and the truck proceeded under its own power. C. Pyle, promoter of the race, "Red" Grange, one of his assistants, newspaper men and officials had left the bus before it crossed the bridge.

ALL A. A. OPENERS GO EXTRA INNINGS

CHICAGO, April 10 —(AP)— The American association's 1928 pennant chase began today with four overtime games, one of which was forced when the fans showered cushions on the field.

Two contests went 12 innings, one 10 and another 13 innings. Despite cold weather, attendances were comparatively good.

Louisville fans went on a rampage when St. Paul was leading, 3 to 2 in the twelfth inning. First Baseman Branon charged Manager Allen of the Saints interfered with a play at first base, allowing Heimach to reach first safely and Anderson to score. The fans threw cushions on the diamond and at the umpires. The game was forfeited to St. Paul, 9 to 0.

Kansas City and Toledo, the 1927 champions, fought 12 innings to a two all deadlock when the game was called on account of darkness.

Indianapolis won a 13 inning game from Minneapolis, 5 to 4.

Milwaukee defeated Columbus 11 to 10, in 10 innings.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON GETS UNDERWAY WITH EIGHT GAMES TODAY

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The great American baseball jamboree, with all its accompanying fanfare and flag-raising, cheers and jeers, base hits and fumbles, bursts out today along the entire major league front after a preliminary flourish in Washington.

With more cheerful weather than that marking the opening game and ceremonies in the nation's capital, fandom may turn out in excess of 250,000 for the eight inaugural affairs this afternoon and shatter all major league records. It will be attracted by curiosity, in the American league, to see whether it's all true about the Yankees slipping or whether the other clubs have a chance, and in the National league by interest in the start of the greatest free-for-all that ancient circuit has ever had in prospect.

65,000 at Polo Grounds.

The biggest jam is expected at the Polo grounds, where close to 65,000 may turn out to see Rogers Hornsby lead the Boston Braves into the den of the New York Giants and test the results of the greatest trade of the off-season.

Chief interest, however, will focus upon the battles that bring together in each league the two clubs generally picked to stage the main go of the pennant campaigns. In these the Pittsburgh Pirates, National league champions, will invade the grounds of their powerful rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals, while the world's champion New York Yankees pry off the lid with the colorful Athletics at Philadelphia. Thus the clubs that finished one-two in each race last season have a chance to swap punches without preliminary.

The last-minute scrambling of the dope has not shaken up the pennant prospects except perhaps to ballyhoo the idea that the Chicago Cubs will spring an upset in the National league. The Pirates and Cardinals stand as twin-favorites, with the Bucs leading in the dope. If the Cubs don't spring a surprise the Giants may. Then there are the Braves, Reds and Robins all eager, anxious and equipped to break into the limelight.

The whole question in the American league appears to rest on how much of the 19-game lead enjoyed by the Yankees last season may be whittled away. The Athletics hope to begin the whittling process today. The Senators and Tigers may be in the running but not even their own followers are very optimistic. The White Sox are picked to win the race for second division honors.

How They Look.

Briefly, here's how the clubs size up on the eve of battle:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pirates — Second base plugged by Sarky Adams and the Waners ready to put on a bigger and better act. Pitching staff lacks good southpaw but strong enough if Grimes, Kremer, Hill, Meadows, the veterans, come through.

Cardinals—Great pitching staff, with old Pete Alexander as good there, counted on to offset weaknesses on left side of infield and in outer works.

Cubs—Infield only outstanding weakness but team as good a pennant prospect as any if it is only half as good as the outfield. Cuyler, Wilson and Stephenson one of the greatest trios in game. Club also has best catcher in league, Hartnett, and capable pitching staff with one big star, Root.

Giants—Chances depend on how well Cohen fills Hornsby's shoes at second base. Rest of infield first class, catching and outfield improved and team as whole in better shape than year ago. Pitching staff needs Aldridge.

Braves—Fired with "spirit of '14" by addition of Hornsby and Bell to infield. Pitching staff has big possibilities but outfield below standard.

Reds—One of the greatest second sackers in game, Critz, and good twirling troupe led by Cuban, Adolfo Luque, like Giants, club in better starting condition than in 1927.

Robins—Another "dark horse." The greatest pitching staff in either league, led by Vance and Petty, but infield still weak despite steadying influence of Bancroft. Quantity in outfielders but quality questionable.

Phillies—Unanimous choice for last place, outclassed by all other clubs despite work of few outstanding stars such as Jimmy Wilson, Fresco Thompson and Fred Leach. Star pitcher, Ulrich, in hospital.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Yankees—Same band of murderous maulers, same seasoned inner and outer defense without the prospect of a weak spot unless it develops behind the bat or on the mound where some veterans are missing and others slowing up.

Athletics—Brains-plus and plenty of reserve strength available if the aging legs of Cobb, Speaker and others slow up the machine too much. Plenty of punch and great pitching prospects if the staff is in shape, as well as the best catching in the league.

Senators—Excellent defense and helped by Sisler's bat but getaway affected by ailments, some pitching uncertainties and question marks at shortstop and centerfield.

Tigers—Powerful attack, revamped and strengthened infield, but pitching doubtful unless Whitehill and Gibson stage comebacks.

White Sox—1927 model of the old "hitless wonders," flash defense with $23,000 cow in Bill Cissell. Two great pitchers in Lyons and Thomas but more punch needed.

Indians—Reorganization process still under way and not much prospect of doing better than last year. Pitchers look good but inner and outer defense not up to first division standard.

Browns—Almost an entire new cast but are not improved enough to escape depths. Pitching staff has possibilities and outfield has real star in Schulte.

Red Sox—In same class with Browns. More punch with Ken Williams. In outfield but main hope is to get out of eighth place.

FINAL E. CONN. COURT TILT TONIGHT AT WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 10—Basketball makes its final bow for fans of this section tonight at the state armory when two fast games are scheduled. In the main attraction the All-Hellers, famous brothers combination of this city, reinforced by Leroy Dissinger of the Plainfield Pros, will meet the Hartford Yankees, formerly the Dixies, while the Norwich Free Academy and Windham High Independents will tangle in the other game. A large crowd is expected.

BREEN FORCED OUT OF N. F. A. LINEUP WITH ANKLE INJURY

The first injury of the year came to the Academy baseball squad Tuesday when Mickey Breen, promising young third sacker, turned his ankle badly while cavorting around the third base and may be out for a few weeks. Breen, although only a lower middler, was making a strong bid for Ray Yerrington's old job up to the time he was put out.

This now leaves Buck LaCroix and Red Fagan to fight it out for the starting honor Saturday against the Alumni. LaCroix was on the squad last year and did well while Fagan comes from Blackstone, R. I. high school where he was on the team.

The practice yesterday lasted over four hours although chill weather prevailed. Practically all of the squad was present and took part in a long hitting drill, for the most part.

Johnny Greene poked one over the fence in the daily practice game and easily got a home run. Johnny was pitching and Capt. Goldblatt catching for the scrubs yesterday.

Luke Riley, former local umpire, was present and hit them around the infield to the boys.

Another stiff workout is slated for today, starting as usual, at noon.

HELEN WILLS LEAVES ON EUROPEAN INVASION

BERKELEY, Cal., April 10—(AP)—Carrying with her America's fondest hopes, Helen Wills, tennis champion, speeded eastward today on the first lap of a journey that will take her to Europe in quest of new court honors and in defense of old ones.

A rousing sendoff by friends and admirers started "Our Helen" on her way to New York, when she left, there was no doubt in her mind that she would return victorious. The four times national champion has made a mental note to win the championship of France; lead the American Wightman cup team; retain her all-English title, and successfully defend her American crown.

ATHLETICS MINUS HAAS AND SIMMONS AGAINST YANKS

PHILADELPHIA, April 10—(AP)—Two hard hitting Athletic outfielders, Al Simmons and George Haas, will not be in the lineup in the opening game with the New York Yankees tomorrow.

Simmons, who has been laid up with rheumatism, had his tonsils removed today. Physicians said he might be out of the game for several weeks. Haas, young rookie who was to have gone in against the Yankees because of his hitting, twisted a leg in a practice game today and will be on the sidelines for several days. For the time being the Athletic's outfield will comprise Cobb, Speaker and Miller.

MAROONS TAKE THIRD GAME FROM RANGERS, 2 TO 0

MONTREAL, Que., April 10—(AP)—The Montreal Maroons, champions of the International group of the National Hockey league, blanked the New York Rangers, standard bearers of the American division, in the third game of the Stanley cup series tonight, 2 goals to 0. The victory put the Maroons in front in the series by two to one.

FOUR ENTRIES IN FOR DUWELL MARATHON

With the announcement of the third annual Duwell road race hardly more than a week old and the date of the event (Memorial day, May 30,) fully six weeks away, considerable interest is being shown throughout the state in the 1928 race. To date a number of inquiries for information concerning the event have been received from numerous sources and at this very early date, before the entry blanks have even been printed, four athletes have filed entry.

At a recent meeting of the general committee handling the affair it was announced that communications announcing the race had been sent to over 50 organizations in Connecticut, New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts in addition to numerous letters sent to prominent individuals.

To Invite Last Year's Runners

During this week special invitations will be sent to the 78 athletes that participated in the race in 1927.

During the next few weeks the efforts of the committee in charge will be concentrated on advertising the run. Various methods will be used to acquaint the people of Connecticut and vicinity with the fact that Norwich will be the scene of the state's distance classic on Memorial day.

With the distance of the event set now at ten miles it is expected that the Duwell race will reach the same level as those held in the larger cities of the country. The increased distance is expected to attract the country's best "pavement pounders" to Norwich. Coming in between the Boston Marathon and the Baltimore race, the official Olympic tryouts, the run will act as a sort of a conditioner for the athletes who will defend the nation's standards at Amsterdam during the summer. Although nothing official has been heard from the local distance men it is probable that there will be at least six Norwich men in the pack that awaits the starter's gun on Memorial day.

Keeley in Training

Johnny Keeley, local high school boy, who has run shoulder to shoulder with some of the countries best and who finished in sixth place last year has begun training and is confident that he will better his past performance this year.

Any information relative to the run may be had by communicating with "Sports" care of Duwell [illegible]

RICKARD CAN PROMOTE FIGHT IN NEW YORK AT ANY TIME

NEW YORK, April 10—(AP)—The dignity of the New York state athletic commission, ruffled by a heavyweight champion who for a time paid it scant attention, was calmed today and as a result Tex Rickard can promote his title jamboree between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney here in July or any time he wants to.

Has Only to Submit Contracts

Although the promoter as yet has failed to name New York definitely as the site for the champion's 1928 title defense, the commissioners announced that Tex has only to submit the signed contracts of the principals to gain approval for the match. Furthermore, the bar of a $27.50 top price for tickets such as helped send Tunney's fight with Jack Dempsey to Chicago last fall, will not again be raised.

Price fixing by the commission has been declared illegal, although the board still believes that it has the power under a state law permitting it to act in any way "for the good of the game," there will be no contest of the judicial ruling. Rickard charged a $40 "top" at Chicago and probably would fix the same figure here.

The belief of the commission that Tunney will defend his title here against the burly blacksmith from "down under" rather than in London, as Rickard first hinted, was obvious from their ruling. Chairman James A. Farley, who was chosen today to head the commission for another year, declared Tunney's formal acceptance of Heeney as a challenger had ended the titleholder's controversy with the commission, the most likely date for the bout seems to be July 26 at the Yankee stadium.

Gives Hudkins 10 Days to Sign

The commission took up the cudgels for Jess McMahon, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, when it gave Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, ten more days grace to accept a bout with Joe Dundee, the welterweight champion. Hudkins has been dickering with Chicago promoters, meanwhile, for a shot at Mickey Walker's middleweight crown.

Knocks Out All Comers!

We know a champion when we see one. And this new-type All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon, brand-new 1928 model, is a winner. It has won the title of "The World's Greatest Tire" by its outstanding performances on the road. Millions of motorists support this popular decision and we are ready to back up its claims.

For longer wear, for increased safety, better traction, more peace-of-mind, and long slow wear—this is the tire you want.

Come in, see it, be tire-wise. Know why more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind. It costs no more.

NOANK

DANGEROUS GRASS FIRE CONQUERED ON FORT HILL

The fire alarm rang at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and Carl Ashcraft was on the end of the rope and the engine was loaded with smoke eaters with Earl Foster behind the wheel bound for a bad brush fire at Fort Hill. It was at the rear of the Bailey cottage where tall grass and cedar trees were thick. Foreman Walter Palmer led his men into the blaze with brooms, also to backfire from Bailey's cottage. The blaze was covering several lots, making a bad fire. Frightened rabbits were running all ways and a large deer was seen going through the fire by Ladderman Lamay trying to get out of danger! Over 150 people watched the firemen work. Hoseman Roy Abate fell in a hole, where the flames were shooting around him, but Elbert Palmer got him out before he was badly burned. As it was he received a few burns on his left hand. After 45 minutes of hard work in which the firemen thought the blaze was under control and were on the fire truck ready to start back to the fire hose Chief Park gave them the signal to come back, for the fire broke out under a stonewall, going fast toward the house. Again with brooms and shovels the smoke eaters kept busy for an hour, before it was safe to leave it. After 2 hours of good work the firemen returned to the village. Then the roll call was answered by 30. A lunch of hot coffee and sandwiches was prepared for them by young ladies of the village.

Leland Bishop has arrived home from China after being in that country for two years, leaving New York on a steamer as seaman. On his return young Bishop was met by the Corn Cob club members at the waiting room Monday evening. With the Sardine band all marched to the club rooms on East Main street where the place was all dolled up with flags and a big sign read "Welcome home our roamer of the village." A short program of entertainment was put on: Billie Trant tried his luck getting out of a packing box. Like the Noank Houdini after two men with hammers, Leland Macgrath and Rollins Rathbun had nailed him in. After 20 minutes he failed to get out so the two men had to break open the box and found Billie in a faint; but smelling salts brought him to. With a sad smile he said "I failed." But the friendly crowd of 100 gave him a big hand. Then Miss Marion McDonald played a selection on her banjo and the Corn Cob trio sang "It is Good to See a Fellow From Your Home Town Again." The speaker of the evening was Peter Balerstraccl who told the crowd about Young Bishop and then said "The floor is yours!" "Well, everybody, I am back in the fishing village, and it seems good to be back where the people can understand you! When I missed my ship in the Golden state I started for China and found a job with an American company in an office as head bookkeeper. I ran across some of Uncle Sam's navy boys and went aboard the ship and had a chicken dinner in January and it seemed good to see fellows from the United States. I learned to eat with chop sticks and rice—I almost turned into one of them! That is all of my trip for my first speech! Later on I may tell more." A chicken dinner was served and Eddie Ellis got up and said "Roamer Leland in behalf of the members I will present you this wrist watch, made of gold, to be used at all times." Then, everybody cheered for the home-comer.

Several years ago Mr. Fitch, a former resident of Columbia, left in his will a sum of money to be used in buying trees and shrubs to beautify the green. This money is to be spent this year to the amount of about $500. Dwarf evergreen trees will be placed at the front of the town hall, with a barberry hedge around the green. A walk is also to be made across the green bordered on either side with the barberry. The Ladies' Aid society also has voted $100 to place shrubbery on either side of the church, the work to be under the direction of Mrs. Natsch. Both of these projects when completed will add much to the attractiveness of the village green.

Mr. Bond of Hartford, who has purchased the old parsonage, moved in Saturday.

Owing to the threatening weather of the early morning the sunrise Easter service was held in the church instead of on the ledges. Short talks were given by the pastor, Rev. Duane Wain, S. S. Supt. C. E. Hunt and the president of the local C. E. society, Miss Marie Field. At the regular morning service at 11, Rev. Mr. Wain preached a fine Easter sermon, "The Christian's Life Circle" to a large audience. MYSTIC

FIREMEN MUST BE PAID FOR SERVICE OUT OF DISTRICT

Anyone residing outside the boundaries of the Mystic fire district, who calls upon the local fire companies for assistance in putting out grass and other minor fires, must be willing to pay for the service or it will be denied them, Chief Engineer Frank A. Mabbet has stated. While the companies stand ready to assist at all times, there is a limit to the service that can be accorded outside. Every time the apparatus is called out the taxpayers are bearing the expense. Chief Mabbet thinks it not fair for the companies to use the citizens' money answering alarms outside the district. This ruling has become necessary owing to the number of outside calls of late.

SOUTH WINDHAM

There was a large attendance at the Holy Thursday service in the South Windham church when the Windham Center church united with the local congregation for the annual observance of the institution of the Lord's supper. The service was in charge of the acting pastor, Rev. Joseph F. Cobb, who conducted the devotional service and preached a short sermon. Miss Iva Adams sang 'Come Unto Me," by J. E. Roberts. Five young ladies united with the church on profession of faith, two from Windham Center and three from South Windham. Two of the candidates received baptism, before the right hand of fellowship was extended by the acting pastor. The service of holy communion followed the reception of members.

The Easter services were well attended. During the Sundays of the Lenten period Rev. Mr. Cobb has preached a series of sermons on "Seeing the Real Jesus." His Easter topic was "The Risen Jesus." As an offertory selection the girl's choir sang "Sweet and Clear the Birds are Singing," by F. F. Bullard.

EAST WOODSTOCK

Schools here have opened after the Easter recess.

Services at the Congregational church were well-attended Sunday, the decorations of flowering plants and flowers were arranged by Elsie Hibbard and Florence Neely. Rev. H. D. Baker gave an excellent sermon. The choir sang an anthem, King of Kings, by simper.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

HOUSEWORK IS EASY FOR HEALTHY WOMEN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave These Women Strength

MRS. ROSA SWICEGOOD R. 1, Woodleaf, N. C.

Woodleaf, N. C.—"I was nervous and suffered most of the time and sometimes I would have to go to bed. My sister told me she was in the same condition and how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. After taking the first bottle I found I was stronger than I was before. Now I have taken three bottles, I can do my housework and most every other kind of work that I want to do. I will recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to anyone. I will answer all mail received asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Rosa Swicegood, R. 1, Woodleaf, N. C.

Benefited Beyond Expression

Jacksonville, Fla.—"I read an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have been taking it now for four years and find it a wonderful medicine for weak, run-down women. I do my own housework and work in an office besides and I would get cross and irritable and too sick to work. I have benefited beyond expression by the Vegetable Compound and will gladly answer letters from anyone who is suffering and needs help."—Mrs. Rose Morris, 2149 Walnut St., Jacksonville, Florida.

IN REACTIONARY MARKET THE PRICE DECLINES RANGED FROM 3 TO 13 POINTS

NEW YORK, April 10—(AP)—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in today's stock market when the call money rate was marked up to 6 per cent. the highest charge since Dec 31, 1926. Extreme declines in the active issues ranged from 3 to 13 points, but a late rally cut down the losses in many issues. Total sales again crossed the 4,000,000 share mark.

The rise in call money followed the calling of about $35,000,000 in bank loans, due to expanding commercial demands and in anticipation of a heavy demand for funds in connection with state income tax payments. The higher rate is expected to attract a large flow of interior funds to this center, however, and is therefore regarded as temporary, although a rate of 5 to 5 1-2 per cent. is looked for during the next couple of months.

Outside the stiffer call money rate, chief interest centered in the U. S. Steel tonnage report which showed a decline of nearly 63 000 tons in unfilled orders last month. This was about in line with general expectations. U. S. Steel common moved within a relatively narrow range, closing a point lower at 146 1-4. Other steels showed recessions ranging from fractions to 3 points.

Railroad shares, which have been heavily bought recently on reports of progress in the eastern consolidation program and higher earnings, yielded with the industrials although New York Central rallied from 174 to 177 1-2, up 1 3-8 net, in the late trading. First quarter freight car loadings were 4.6 per cent. below those of the corresponding period last year, the total for the first three months of 1928 being 11,791,270 cars.

Selling pressure in the industrial group was most effective against the high priced specialties which had been exploited by pools in the last few weeks. Wright Aeronautical broke from 126 1-2 to 113 1-4 and then rebounded to 122 1-4, off 4 1-4 net. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe dipped 12 3-4 points to 261 and closed at the bottom. Federal Mining & Smelting broke 13 points to 125 on one sale.

Next declines of 5 points or more were recorded by Atlas Powder, Clutett Peabody, Dupont, Greene Cananea Copper, Houston Oil, Radio and Russia Insurance. Scores of others reacted 3 points or more, the list including American Republics, A. M. Byers, Commercial Solvents, Continental Can, General Electric and Timken Roller Bearing.

Earlier in the day pool operations had lifted about a score issues to new peak prices for the year or longer. Among them were American Druggists Syndicate, American Zinc and Lead common and preferred, Electric Auto Lite, General American Tank, Graham Paige Motors, Indian Motorcycle, Maytag, National Enameling, Standard Oil of California, J. R. Thompson, and Western Dairy Products A and B.

Pere Marquette, rising more than 6 points to a new high at 139 7-8 and closing at the top, attracted widespread attention in the railroad group. Most of the other rails lost ground. Union Pacific, Wabash, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, St. Paul preferred and Delaware & Hudson selling down 1 to 4 points.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges moved within rather narrow and irregular limits sterling cables holding fairly steady around $4.88 1-4.

Commodity markets were reactionary. Wheat futures declined a fraction of a cent a bushel; cotton dropped about $1 a bale, coffee reacted 14 to 20 points and raw sugar futures eased slightly.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

PUREBRED DAIRY SIRES ARE GOOD INVESTMENT

Only 34 per cent. of the bulls at the head of dairy herds in the United States are purebred, yet thousands of purebred dairy bull calves are slaughtered for veal every year because there is no demand for them as breeders. Undoubtedly some of these calves are inferior and ought to be slaughtered, says W. E. Wintermeyer, dairy husbandman of the United States department of agriculture, but most of them are far superior to the grade and scrub sires that are now being used in many dairy herds.

Many dairymen with small and medium size herds, which often contain poor cows, say they cannot afford to own a purebred dairy bull because of the high original cost. In reality, says Mr. Wintermeyer, these men can least afford to own an inferior bull.

In a new publication just issued by the bureau of dairy industry as leaflet No. 16-L, "Purebred Dairy Sires," Mr. Wintermeyer quotes figures obtained from the records of dairy-herd-improvement associations in all parts of the United States that show how rapidly a good dairy sire can increase the production of a herd of average cows. Cows in these herds having an average yearly production of 4,695 pounds of milk and 179 pounds of butterfat a year and mated to purebred sires, produced daughters that averaged 7,607 pounds of milk and 300 pounds of butterfat, a gain in one generation of 2,912 pounds of milk and 121 pounds of butterfat per cow.

This increase in butterfat production, at 50 cents a pound, is worth about $60. Allowing about 25 per cent. for the extra feed required for the higher production, the value of the net gain per daughter due to the purebred sire would be about $45. A purebred bull would need to sire only a few such daughters to pay for himself, and the yearly income would be increased by an amount equal to $45 multiplied by the number of his producing daughters.

PLANTING EARLY CABBAGES

Many connoisseurs consider early cabbage the choicest in the matter of quality of any of the crops of this popular vegetable, maintaining that it has a crispness and flavor for salads that the late crop does not attain. The cabbage is a plant that for best quality demands a rich soil with a good supply of moisture. Spring conditions favor it in the way of moisture.

Early cabbage plants, either home grown from seeds, or ordered from seed houses, are one of the earliest crops to be put into the open ground, as they do not mind frosts, short of a real freeze, if properly hardened off from the hotbed or greenhouse. Seeds may be sown now for the midseason crop to follow the early crop. Jersey Wakefield and Copenhagen Market are popular early types and All Seasons, Early Summer and Succession good second crops.

Early cabbages should go into rows two and a half feet apart and two feet apart in the row for their best development, giving ample root and top room. They require frequent cultivation, and liberal watering should a dry spell occur.

By planting the early and midseason crops a supply of cabbages in the home garden will be available from the middle of July until fall, when the late or winter crop is ready to harvest.

Cabbages are synonymous with worms to most gardeners because of the apparently inevitable white butterfly which lays the eggs that hatch into the voracious velvety green worms that riddle cabbages. At the first annoyance of the white butterflies it is time to start the campaign to head off the cabbage worms. Most gardeners fear to use the arsenical poisons on cabbage for fear that it will get into the heads and that there will be danger of poisoning. While there is slight danger of this, it is just as easy to use non-poisonous insecticides such as slug shot, tobacco dust and whale oil soap. There are a number of such insecticides on the market which may be used with perfect safety as far as poisons dangerous to human beings are concerned but which are quite as dangerous to the cabbage worms. An early start will prevent the destruction by worms.

SUMMER COLD FRAME CROPS

With early vegetables out of the frames and into the garden, the practical gardener will put the frames to work at once for valuable early summer crops, notably cucumbers or melons or to start summer squash, late season tomatoes, peppers or eggplants. The sash will be ample protection for these tender plants until settled weather.

Early cucumbers are most practical for the home gardener who has a frame of the usual dimensions, 6 by 6. One hill may be planted in the center of the frame and the vines may be allowed to spread out to fill it. Under the protection of the sash the vines may make good growth safe from the attacks of insect pests, and by the time the covers are removed they will have sufficient start to be able to withstand the ravages of bugs that take so many of the cucumber tribe in their infancy.

One such hill will furnish early slicing cucumbers until the main crop planted in the open after danger of frosts is over comes into bearing. A hill of melons may be grown in the same manner and give an early supply of cantaloupes. By using frames some ambitious experimental gardeners have been able to ripen honeydews by giving them an early start and protecting them with the frame in the fall. This is too long a season melon for northern gardens under ordinary circumstances.

The supply of eggplants, peppers and tomatoes, however, forms the most practical use to which the cold frame can be put after the earliest crops are removed, and they will be ready to transplant into the open by the second week in May where ordinarily the seed would just be going into the ground. Celery plants may also be started in the cold frame to good advantage for an early crop.

The tender annuals for the flower garden may also be given an early start of a month or the regular season. Zinnias, salvias and cosmos may be ready to go into the open ground much ahead of their usual season by starting them in the cold frame.

POTATO-PLANTING TESTS UPSET OLD PREJUDICES

Phases of the moon and position of the horns still govern planting operations, particularly of potatoes, in many sections of the country. The light or the dark of the moon, or whether the horns point upward or down are of no concern to horticulturalists of the United States department of agriculture, but they are interested in providing information looking toward settlement of some of the other disputed questions dealing with potato planting.

William Stuart and several assistants report on experiments in potato planting carried on in leading potato-growing districts, Norfolk, Va., Presque Isle, Me., Greeley, Colo., and Jerome, Idaho.

Growers have long disputed the company've merits of potato sets cut from the stem end and from the seed end of the tubers. Some previous experiments seem to have indicated considerable superiority for one end or the other. The seed values of the two ends probably differ somewhat in different varieties. Results varied with the weight of the set, according to numerous tests, and the data as a whole seem to indicate that as the weight of the set increases there is a greater response from the apical (seed) set than from the basal (stem) set.

Another fruitful source of argument is found in the value of oversized tubers for seed. Most growers of seed potatoes have a strong prejudice against using large sized tubers. After three years of experiment the investigators conclude that "sets from oversized tubers are evidently as productive as those from normal sized tubers, and in seasons when a considerable proportion of the seed stock grows too large to satisfy commercial demands it may be recommended for seed purposes. The chief objections that have always been raised in regard to oversized tubers are that there is more wastage in cutting, involving a larger quantity by weight to plant an acre, and in addition that they are slightly more difficult to cut."

Several experimenters have claimed great advantages from the use of seed dug when it was somewhat immature. Departmental experiments at three stations were inconclusive. At the Idaho station the increased yield from immature seed ranged from 77 bushels an acre for one variety to 180 bushels an acre for the best of three varieties.

"Greening" potatoes for seed, that is, allowing them to sprout somewhat in sunlight, is a common practice in Europe, where the advantages seem to be distinctive. While greening ordinarily would bring potatoes to maturity 20 days or two weeks earlier than would planting from unsprouted seed under cultural conditions prevailing in the United States, the gains, if any, are not considered great enough to be profitable.

HINTS FOR THE FARM.

Too rich a soil is not desirable for sweet potatoes. It has a tendency to develop the vines at the expense of the tubers. As a commercial crop the sweet potato is of large importance to Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, as well as in southern Illinois, southern Indiana and the cotton belt.

The early flowering strains of the chrysanthemum now make possible its cultivation in all except the most northern section of the country. Crops usually are propagated from roots. The soil should be thoroughly enriched with well-rotted manure, for the flower is a gross feeder.

A sweet clover crop is of benefit on fields underlaid by a firm subsoil in that they strike down and help to break up the near hard-pan.

Sloughs and swales often produce heavy crops of reedy grass hardly worth cutting. When not actually swampy, these areas offer a chance for planting alsike clover and running out the coarse grass.

The outsanding reason for malnutrition among American children is bad food habits. Sometimes parents do not know food values but in any case, whether based on the child's "choosiness" or the parent's lack of information, bad food habits can be corrected only through education in what are the proper foods for children and how they can be trained to eat wholesome foods.

NORTH STONINGTON

Mrs. George W. Tryon read a paper before Westerly Historical society last Thursday evening which was both interesting and instructive. Her topic was Our Neighbor Over the Line—North Stonington. The preparation of this paper involved much research. Mrs. Tryon wields the pen of a ready writer and clothed her facts in pleasing diction.

The Woman's union of the Congregational church gave a shower Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the church kitchen. A variety of useful articles were brought in. Sandwiches, cake and tea were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed by the thirty or more present. The sandwiches, voted the best ever, were prepared by a Wheaton college girl, home on vacation, and had not only a wheaten but a Wheaton flavor.

MONTVILLE

The younger boys of Palmertown or scys of the Palmertown section were made happy Friday when, as members of Friendly Indian society, they enjoyed a frankfurt roast and outdoor sports under the direction of their chief, Herbert W. Rogers. The boys started about noon fully equipped and hiked over the hills to the ledges where the program of the afternoon was carried out. These outings are keenly enjoyed by the boys and they are eagerly looking forward to several of these parties during the coming season.

There was an especially large attendance at the Easter services held throughout Sunday at the Montville Union Baptist church. Due to the earnest efforts of the flower committee and the generosity of members of the church, the floral decorations of many Easter lily plants hyacinths and cut flowers made the interior of the church a scene of beauty. A fine Easter sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Edward L. Nield and the special Easter anthem by the choir was well rendered.

As several members of Pine Cone Troop, No. 6, Girl Scouts of America took their second class test in New London Saturday afternoon, the meeting was held at 2 o'clock instead of the usual hour of 3. The girls were transported to New London by Norman C. Allen in the truck of the Palmer Bros Co.

The attendance contest, which is being held by the various patrols and members of the troop, showed that the Eagle patrol held first place for Saturday with the Meadow Lark and Cardina patrols tied for second place. After an enjoyable afternoon the singing of taps brought the meeting to a close.

The social and dance under the auspices of the Modern Woodmen of America, Cohegan camp No. 9366 held Monday evening in the Montville Community house, was well attended and a good sum was added to the treasury of the lodge.

NO WORD FROM THE WILKINS ARCTIC PARTY

SEWARD, Alaska, April 10—(AP)—Silence, unbroken for five days, still enveloped the Wilkins Arctic expedition today.

Radio operators at government stations in Alaska have failed to pick up a signal of any kind from Capt. George H. Wilkins, Australian explorer, and Carl B. Eielson, his Alaskan pilot, who are presumably awaiting better weather at Point Barrow for their takeoff on a flight to Spitzbergen.

The last message received from Wilkins was that cloudy weather had prevented the takeoff scheduled for last week. It was assumed then that Wilkins dismantled his radio transmitter and installed it in his plane, preparatory for a hopoff at the first favorable moment.

Point Barow is cut off from all communication except a tortuous journey by dog team during the winter months. It is only during summer months that vessels can penetrate the Arctic sea to reach Point Barrow.

If Wilkins had taken off, radio operators here feel confident he would have sent out messages from his portable wireless transmitter in his plane. He expected to keep in touch with the United States army station at Seward throughout his flight over the Polar sea.

EIGHT ALLEGED KIDNAPERS INDICTED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—Eight alleged members of the kidnapping ring which held Thomas Gaynor, wealthy automobile dealer and hotel owner, a week and negotiated for his release for $100,000 ransom were indicted yesterday. If found guilty their maximum punishment could be electrocution.

Six of the reputed kidnapers in custody were arraigned and pleaded not guilty. They are: Frank Carson, James O'Brien, William ("Big Bill") Lewis, Harry Burton, Otto Schoen and Herman Harms.

All but Burton were remanded to jail as the offense upon which they are held is not bailable. Burton was taken to detective headquarters for further interogation.

Harold Conliffe, sought as the "brains" of the kidnaping ring, remained at large, as did George Maher. Both were indicted.

An automobile said by the police to have been abandoned by Conliffe was seized on a street in a northside suburb today.

The kidnaping gang is said by the police to have operated in Detroit, New York and elsewhere.

COURT FINDS HARRISON ANTI-NARCOTIC ACT VALID

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—The Harrison anti-narcotic act withstood assault in the supreme court and was declared in all its features a valid and constitutional attempt by congress to raise revenue while suppressing illegal use of narcotics.

The court for several years has invited a new attack upon its constitutionality after it had by a five to four division sustained the law, and upon a showing by the government that a substantial revenue was being derived from its enforcement the court by a vote of six to three declared that it was not an illegal invasion of the police powers of the several states.

Basing federal jurisdiction on the constitutional authority of congress to raise revenue, the court in a decision by Chief Justice Taft declared that Thomas J. Casey, a Seattle, Wash., lawyer and Frank Nizro, of Kansas City, Mo., must serve the sentences imposed upon them for violating the provisions of the anti-narcotic act.

EDEL PLEADED NOT GUILTY OF THE HARRINGTON MURDER

NEW YORK, April 10—Frederick W. Edel leaded not guilty yesterday to the charge of murdering Mrs. Emma O. Harrinxton and was given five days to change his plea or make necessary motions.

He was represented by three lawyers assigned by the court, one of them, Noah Brounstein, a brother of his divorced wife.

This is the third killing in connection with which Edel, a former convict, has been questioned. He was acquitted in New Haven last summer of the murder of John Mastriano of Meriden and was also detained for questioning concerning the killing of Fred Dudley of Meriden.

Mrs. Harrinxton, who was separated from her actor husband, was found dead in her apartment Dec. 23 of blows on the head inflicted by a nickel-plated box opener. Edel was indicted after a fur coat and jewelry belonging to Mrs. Harrington was found in a room he had been occupying in New Haven, Conn.

He was arrested in Minnesota for postal frauds and turned over to New York authorities on the more serious charge. He acknowledged knowing Mrs. Harrington but denied all knowledge of the crime.

THIS V-TYPE EIGHT ASSURES CONSISTENTLY BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

CADILLAC and La Salle—with their Cadillac-perfected V-type, 8-cylinder engines, assuring consistently brilliant performance—occupy almost exclusively the highest fine-car field.

None but Cadillac can cater to this topmost market because none else has ever been able to command the volume which holds down Cadillac and La Salle prices.

Successful motor car manufacturing consists in picking out a prosperous market and holding that clientele.

25 years ago Cadillac selected the highest division. Today its following of those who demand the very finest of fine cars constitutes almost the entire market for such cars.

There is no room for others—excepting with limited productions. And this means prohibitive prices which exclude them from real rivalry with Cadillac and La Salle.

Others cannot begin to offer the unfailingly brilliant performance of the 90-degree, V-type Cadillac-La Salle engine, the supreme luxury of Fisher and Fisher-Fleetwood bodies—because their market can never be big enough to spread the cost of Cadillac manufacturing.

The development that makes today's 90-degree, V-type Cadillac-La Salle engine the highest expression of 8-cylinder performance could never have been accomplished were it not for Cadillac's command of this market.

It is inescapable that, with Cadillac volume constantly increasing, the luxury and value of Cadillac and La Salle should correspondingly increase.

New lower La Salle prices, $2350 to $2875. Cadillac prices, $3295 to $3950. Exclusive Fisher and Fisher-Fleetwood custom-built bodies up to $5500. All prices f. o. b. Detroit.

Cadillac welcomes an opportunity to prove these statements. A phone call will bring a demonstrator at your convenience.

Misses Marion, Jennie and Charlotte Stark are spending their Easter vacation at their home here.

The parsonage is soon to undergo repairs; several new windows being necessary, and the exterior is to be painted.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Strong, Mrs. W. M. Sisson were in New London Tuesday.

Mrs. Caroline Bill and son, of New Rochelle, N. Y., were here Wednesday, making plans for farm work this season, on the Raymond farm; also consulting with the division engineer in charge of the new road to be built from Hamburg to the Norwich-Middletown turnpike, and which crosses Mrs. Bill's property. The latest survey is west of the cemetery and from there across Mrs. Bill's mowing lots to the foot of Raymond hill. In that survey most of the old road will be discarded, from N. H. Miner's to the turnpike.

Mrs. Mary Reynolds, of New London, J. L. Raymond and Ray Watt, of Guilford, were guests of Mrs. Bill at the Homestead Wednesday.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

The clear and springlike weather has helped the building activities in Norwich and vicinity to a marked degree. Houses are being erected on the outskirts of the city at a rapid rate, several being started this past week. Progress on buildings now in hand has been made during the past week.

At the office of Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton during the past week eight building permits were granted for buildings within the city limits. Included in the permits is one for a dwelling house on Carroll avenue. The permits issued are as follows:

To Joseph Barry to add to the present frame house on Roosevelt avenue for Henry Hanks. The addition will have a stone foundation with brick underpinning. The dimensions are 22x24 feet and 2 stories high. The cost is estimated at $1500.

To John Dubriel to add a sunporch to the house owned by Cornelei Rossi at 237 Mt. Pleasant street. The porch will be 6x11 feet and the estimated cost is $100.

To Wm. P. Church to add a sun porch, 5x15 feet, to the house at 27 Cliff street owned by Ina Stoddard. The estimated cost is $500.

To H. F. and A. J. Dawley-Lumber Co., to erect a frame shed on the new dock. The shed will be of frame construction with metal roof and cement foundation. The company will do the work and the estimated cost is $50.

To Fred A. Tongren to erect a frame house on Carroll avenue, for Harry Grattidge. The house will be 26x30 feet and two stories high. There will be 6 rooms and sunporch and bath. The foundation is of cement. The exterior will be in cedar clapboards with asphalt shingles on the roof. The interior will be in plaster on metal lath with oak floors and trim. There will be a brick fireplace. The cost is estimated at $7,000.

A garage will be erected in the rear of the house, 20x20 feet, and the construction will conform to the house.

To Charles Gudeahn to erect a frame hen house on Hyde place for Fred Gudeahn. The building will be 20x36 feet. The estimated cost is about $104.

To Dwight L. Allen to add a sunporch to the present frame house at 158 Broad street for himself. The porch will be 8x16 feet. The estimated cost is $250.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were eight sales of real estate, one more than for the corresponding week in 1927. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $27,100 and $62,625.

There were 16 sales of real estate in New London during the past week, an increase of 10 sales over the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $162,080 and $68,681.

New London

The annual spring building boom was given further impetus this week when a grand total of 30 more building permits were issued by the council to prospective builders. Of this number seven of the permits were for new dwellings and two were for new apartment houses. Altogether the list represents a sizeable outlay in building for the city for the coming months and compares most favorably with the figures of this time last year.

With the work of the raising of half of the old Hobron building in Blinman street progressing rapidly, actual construction of a modern two-story brick building at 345-349 Bank street, extending through to Blinman street, is expected to get under way in a few days. The new building is to be built for the New London Banana & Supply Co. The new structure will have a frontage of 41 feet in Bank and Blinman streets and a depth of 82 feet. It will have two stories facing Bank street and one story facing Blinman street, which is one story above the Bank street level. The lower floor will be devoted to business purposes, with two stores in Bank street, while the upper floor will be laid out for an automobile repair shop.

Building Permits

J. H. Aimetl, frame dwelling, Summit avenue, $9,000.

Rose E. Byrkman, frame dwelling, 169 Vauxhall street, $10,000.

Robt. Tetrault, frame dwelling, 114 Vauxhall street, $10,000.

Another Useful Tail

The braggart is but ill received,
And seldom will he be believed.
—Old Mother Nature.

Boomer the Nighthawk chuckled when he heard Bobby Coon decline to let Prickly Porky slap him with his tail, just to prove that it was a useful tail. "It is useful for fighting," said Boomer, "but I can't see that that tail of yours is useful in any other way. Now, your cousin down in the Tropics—"

"Whose cousin, where?" interrupted Prickly Porky.

"Your cousin, who lives down in the Tropics," replied Boomer.

"I haven't any cousin and I don't know where the Tropics are," grunted Prickly Porky.

"Oh, yes, you have a cousin," replied Boomer the Nighthawk. "He lives down in the Tropics and the Tropics are way down South where there never is any winter. I see your cousin every year when I pass through on my way down further South. He is a Porcupine all right, but he hasn't got a fighting tail."

The dull little eyes of Prickly Porky began to show some signs of interest. "Does this fellow you call my cousin look like me?" he inquired.

"He does and he doesn't," replied Boomer. "He has a coat with a thousand little spears in it, just as you have, but there is no hair on that coat to hide those little spears. You would know, just to look at him, that he is too prickly to touch. And his tail isn't a fighting tail, but it is just as useful as a fighting tail, and I don't know but it is more useful."

"What has his tail got to do with it?" inquired Bobby Coon, who had been listening.

"He hangs on to the branches with his tail," replied Boomer. "Instead of having a broad, thick tail covered with little spears, like Prickly Porky's, this fellow has a long tail without any little spears on it or even any hair on it. And he can curl the end of that tail around a branch and hang on in great style. If he wants to get away OUT HERE ( ) out where the limbs are small, he can anchor himself with that tail of his and run no risk of falling."

"Oh, yes, you have a cousin," replies Boomer the Nighthawk

"That's all very well," replied Prickly Porky, "but what does he do when he has to fight? What does he do when Buster Bear gets after him? Or Puma the Panther?"

"Buster Bear isn't down there," replied Boomer, "and, while Puma the Panther lives down there, your cousin has nothing to fear from him, or very little. You see, your cousin doesn't fool around on the ground very much. He spends a good deal of his time up in the treetops, where Puma the Panther cannot possibly follow him. That is where that tail of his comes in handy."

Prickly Porky considered this a few minutes. Then he grunted. "Well," said he, "I prefer my own tail. I

NEVILLE-MOTEN CASES TO BE TRIED ON FRIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 10—Joseph Neville, P. O. Box 181, Yantic and Carl Moten, of Norwich, arrested in Waterford last night by State Police Officers Donald Johnson and Frank Webber charged with violation of the prohibition law in transporting booze, have been admitted to bail of $1,000 each. They will be given a hearing in the Waterford town court Friday afternoon next. Neville's rum traffic undoubtedly will be most expensive for him, for he has two charges confronting him at present and his wife is awaiting trial on another charge. Mrs. Neville was arrested in Providence about three weeks ago when she attempted to get away from police in that city while endeavoring to transfer a load of liquor from Providence to Norwich.

SEVEN ESCAPE INJURY IN CRASH NEAR BENHAM RD.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 10—Seven persons had a miraculous escape from serious injury last night, when two cars on the New London-Norwich highway had an almost head-on collision. George Pantellis of 121 Riverview avenue was going from New London toward Norwich, the car being driven by Joseph G. Syracusea, 69 Belden street. North of the college near Benham road the car rounded a curve going at a fast rate of speed when it sideswiped an auto owned and driven by Charles H. Humphrey, proprietor of the Standard garage of this city. After colliding with the Humphrey car the auto left the road and overturned. All of the occupnts of the car escaped injury.

Syracusea was arrested by Officer Peter Busch on a charge of reckless driving. He will be given a hearing in Waterford town court Friday afternoon next. Evidence collected after the accident showed that the car was going at such a terrific speed the driver could not negotiate the curve that ordinarily can be made at a speed of at least 35 miles per hour. The car driven by Humphrey was a DuPont. Syracuse told the police that he and Pantellis, the owner of the car, and Macalli had started on a ride to Norwich and on Chappell hill had picked up the other four persons who had hailed him for a lift. These four persons left the location of the crash before the arrival of the state policemen and their names were not obtained.

About 100 licenses to fish have already been granted by City Clerk Julian D. Moran. The trout season opens Sunday.

Judge Arthur Anderson, of Noank; Mrs. Lelia Holboysen, Fishers Island; Leola Murphy, 8 Schoolhouse lane; Anna Bayon, 10 Thompson court; Kenneth Stroud, 249 Broad street; Mrs. William St. Jacques and infant daughter, 182 Broad street; Robert Adams, U. S. lighthouse tender Hawthorn; Mrs. Clyde Williamson, 1057 Ocean avenue, and Alva Thompson, Old Mystic, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Frank Barber, proprietor of the Hudson-Essex automobile sales station, reported to the police today that a spare tire, tube, rim and tire case, were stolen from his automobile last night.

The Rogoff grocery store, Bentley avenue, Ocean Beach, was entered by thieves last night, but the only plunder the crooks obtained was a small quantity of flour and sugar. The burglary was discovered about 8:30 o'clock when an employe of the store opened it for business. The break was reported to the police and Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith found that the crooks entered by forcing a rear basement door. The police are inclined to believe that a gang of crooks is giving especial attention to residences at the Pequot and stores and cottages at Ocean Beach. A few nights ago the summer residence of Mrs. Otis K. Dimock, Ocean avenue, corner of Glenwood avenue, was discovered to have been entered, but no plunder was taken.

Johan Jensen has sold a house and lot on Crocker street to Hugh C. and Agnes M. Smith.

There was no session of the police court today, the two cases scheduled for hearing being of such trivial violations of the law that the accused men were discharged.

An oil burner that provides heat in the automobile salesrooms of R. P. Smith, 555 Bank street, was believed to be in danger of exploding early this morning and Mr. Smith was summoned to the building and caused the supply of oil to be shut off. Patrolman Walter O'Neill was making his rounds at 1 o'clock and noticed that the heater was emitting steam from the safety valve with such force that the rear of the brick structure quaked. He communicated his find to police headquarters and a telephone message to Mr. Smith caused him to hasten to the building in time to prevent possible damage.

The annual election of Circle No. 10 of the First Baptist church, held last night at the home of Mrs. Fred M. Greene, Bellevue place, resulted as follows: Leader, Miss Esther L. Martin; vice-leader, Mrs. Guy F. Radway; secretary, Mrs. John Bliven; treasurer, Mrs. Clinton H. Kenyon. At the meeting plans were discussed for the holding of an Easter pageant at the church next Sunday. After the business meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

Circle No. 8 of the First Baptist church laid plans last night to hold a chicken supper for members and their husbands, April 17, at the church.

Members of Aerie No. 586, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held their first dance of the season last night at their quarters on Main street. Payne's orchestra supplied the music. More than 50 couples patronized the affair.

Mrs. Margaret Vealle, who is to leave shortly for Chicago, was given a surprise party last night by friends. The gathering was held at her home in Bellevue place. A gold piece was given Mrs. Vealle by Mrs. Effie Douglas in behalf of members of the Past Chief Daughters club of Lady Aberdeen lodge, Daughters of Scotia, which sponsored the party.

Mrs. Gilbert A. Jones entertained last evening at her home at 126 Mohegan avenue. Five tables of bridge were in play. The party was given in honor of her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. McEvoy and Miss Marion Prentice, of Providence.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma M. Jones, wife of Capt. Alonzo G. Jones, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Methodist church, Rev. Charles E. Spaulding officiating. The bearers were: William F. Sparks, John MacGowan, Edward Swan and Daniel Hatfield. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Salvatora Amanti, wife of Isadora Amanti, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. The solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Michael Reagan, with Rev. Raymond J. O'Callaghan, deacon, and Rev. George Clark, subdeacon. Edward F. Murray sang "Some Sweet Day" as a waiting hymn. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

At a meeting of the Foremen's and Executives' club, held last night in the Central Y. M. C. A., members of the Max Pollack & Co. organization acted as hosts. Three reels of movies, demonstrating the making of the product manufactured by this company were shown. The speaker was William Johl, who illustrated his interesting talk by many photographs thrown upon the screen. This was the first in a series of meetings that are to be held in this city, different industries to act as hosts.

Thirty-five tables of bridge were filled last evening at a meeting of the Catholic Women's club held at the rooms of the Diocesan Bureau of Social Service. Prize winners were: Cecilia Lyons, Margaret Murphy, Mrs. William H. Manice, Mrs. Edward Heffernan, Rose Cook, Mrs. Edward Murphy, Mrs. Joseph F. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. T. A. Londregan, Marcella Gleason, Joseph F. Corcoran and John Grimn. The whist prizes were won by Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Joseph.

REFERENDUM PETITION IN TAX CONTROVERSY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 10—The appointment of Hibbard N. Alexander as tax collector, replacing Allen C. Richards, collector for 25 years, by William A. Holt, city manager, has brought about the expected. It developed late this afternoon that a referendum petition has been started in course of preparation, so when it is circulated a special city election will be held, whereby the voters of the city will be given an opportunity to manifest their opinions at the polls. They will show whether they desire that Mr. Alexander, paid a salary of approximately $18,000 for a year and a-half of work as collector of taxes or whether the former tax Collector Allen C. Richards remain in office. The petition requires only a comparatively small number of signatures to compel the council to call a special election and there is not the slightest doubt that the required number of names will have been secured before the expiration of the week. Mr. Richards resigned April 1 and at the request of the city manager, who believed that the delinquent taxpayers had not been forced t opay their taxes. With the resignation of that official, it was understood that he would be retained as clerk to assist Mr. Alexander. At a meeting of the budget appropriation council and when it was voted to employ Mr. Alexander, Mayor James A. May was not in favor of the action of the city manager and openly voiced his disapproval but in spite of his protests against the employment of Mr. Alexander that young man's services were retained. Since that time there has been very general expressions of disapproval of his retention, especially at the salary named, $18,000, which Mayor May contends is a reckless expenditure of funds of the city, especially since Mr. Richards is to be Mr. Alexander's tutor in the tax collecting. When the matter is brought to the special city election there is but little doubt that the appropriation of $18,000 will be defeated—which will mean that Mr. Alexander will not be held in office Many cannot conceive Mr. Alexander collecting taxes, even at the fancy salary given him, that Mr. Richards cannot collect at the modest compensation of $3,500.

MAIL CLERK OWES LIFE TO CONDUCTOR'S QUICKNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, April 10—Presence of mind and quick action combined with physical ability was the means of Conductor Cornelius Smith of the westbound 5:41 p. m. New Haven accommodation saving the life of a railway mail clerk today. The passenger train had started away from the Westerly station when the mail clerk let himself down under a bar out of the door of the mail car as the train gathered momentum. His feet struck the edge of the platform and he fell face downward with his legs stretched across the rail directly in the path of the approaching car wheels. Conductor Smith seized the back of the man's coat and dragged him in safety to the platform. It was a 20-foot sprint for Conductor Smith to the rear car steps and looking back he saw a thoroughly frightened man staggering to his feet.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Can a woman of the underworld redeem herself and become a useful member of society? You can find the answer to this question by seeing "Golden Shackles" at the Palace theatre tonight. It is the story of one Luck Weston, daughter of a yegg-man and a member of a powerful underworld gang of crooks. This little woman has had more thrilling incidents crowded into her young life than which falls to the lot of many unfortunates, but she is game to the core and fights her way into the hearts of all.

The story in detail is a most gripping one, and acted by a competent cast of well-known players, which include Priscilla Bonner, Grant Withers, Le Roy Mason, Ruth Stewart, Joseph P. Mack, John Dillon and other well known players.

The co-feature is called "Your wife and Mine," and it does give a new twist and turn to that grand old institution of married life.

"Your Wife and Mine" is not a sermon, not a preachment, not an exposé—none of these. It is a farcial, comic treatment of the bride and bridegroom. It is good fun for all who ever gave a thought to getting married. There is nothing risky, sub rosa, nothing off-color in it. Most people sort of expect that kind of thing when a picture deals with marriage. No, this is just fun, describing a series of incidents which befall two married couples because the husbands did not tell the whole truth when they went away together on a business trip. The wives became suspicious—and well, most people know how it is!

Wednesday night is gift night and ten valuable presents will be given away free.

Strand Theatre

Today is your last chance to see "Motherhood" the unusual and without a doubt the most wonderful picture ever filmed. It is completing a four days engagement at the Strand theatre and has been shown to record breaking audiences both matinee and evenings. The triumph of love and womanhood is Motherhood.

This film is one of the most powerful and at the same time beautiful methods of teaching divine truth to the younger generation of both sexes—and is recommended without hesitation to the most refined and sensitive natures as a picture with the strongest moral appeal to all lovers of real manhood and womanhood, which after all is a nation's greatest asset. The story is interesting and the character portrayals are splendid. It is worth seeing, so don't miss it.

Breed Theatre

Molly O'Day, who is playing opposite Richard Barthelmess in First National's "The Patent Leather Kid" at the Breed theatre, following its long Broadway engagement, is as Irish as St. Patrick himself and has a plentiful supply of Irish temperament and emotional qualities.

Miss O'Day's screen experience has heretofore been confined to comedies, and her role as The Golden Dancer in "The Patent Leather Kid" is he first she has played that called for emotional work.

She shed literally "buckets" of tears in making the hospital scenes in the picture. Some of these were ordered by Director Alfred Santell and some were not.

"The very first day we worked in the hospital I became so horribly worked up by the gripping drama of the story and the setting that I began to cry," Miss O'Day declares. "Not only did I begin, but I kept it up for the most of two days before I was able to control my tears at all.

"I cried, not only on the set, but by the time I was through and home for the night I was so nervous that I kept right on sobbing.

"That doesn't mean that I didn't enjoy the work, for I did, tremendously. But the realism of the scenes 'got me' completely.

"Fortunately during the first two days no closeups were demanded of me and at a distance from the camera my tears did not register. After I got myself under control again it was easier to work, but the tears that the script called for certainly were easily produced.

"A lot of the time, the fact that I was supposed to cry just saved my life, for it is a lot easier to cry when the director wants you to than it is to stop when you want to yourself."

Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming of 51 Tenth street, was married to Henry Fournier, son of Mrs. Rosanna and the late Henry Fournier, of 182 Central avenue, and her sister, Miss Mabel Fleming, became the bride of Harold Everett Lathrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lathrop, of Fitchville. The ceremonies were performed by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor, and the two couples acted as attendants for each other. Mrs. Fournier was beautifully attired in navy blue georgette and her sister, Mrs. Lathrop, wore tan. Both wore hats to correspond and carried arm bouquets of butterfly roses.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop will occupy a newly built and furnished home at Fitchville and Mr. and Mrs. Fournier will make their home with the bride's parents on Tenth street. Both newly married couples were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents of silver, gold pieces, furniture and checks of substantial amounts. Roy-Stasenski

A pretty spring wedding took place at St. Mary's Memorial church Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock, when Miss Madeline Stasenski, daughter of Joseph and Catharina Stasenski, of 26 Second street, and Albert E. Roy, son of Edward and Corinna Roy, of 38 Fourth street, were united in marriage by Rev. William A. Keefe, the pastor. The bride was beautifully gowned in lavender georgette and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Rose Derosier, maid of honor, was handsomely attired in pink georgette and wore a picture hat to correspond. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Peter Pepe acted as best man. After the services, Mr. and Mrs. Stasenski left on a honeymoon trip, which will take them to Hartford and New Haven. Upon their return in about a week they will make their home in a newly furnished house at 259 North Main street.

Harold K. Andrews and son, Kenneth, of Stafford, have returned to their home after spending a few days as the guests of Miss Mary Fitzpatrick, of Prospect street.

DEMOCRATS NAME THEIR DELEGATES IN QUICK TIME

It took the democratic party just five minutes Tuesday evening to elect 12 delegates to the democratic state convention. A score or more members of the party were gathered in the town hall at 8 o'clock when William H. Callahan, chairman of the town committee called the caucus to order. There was no speech making and the business before the caucus was quickly transacted. On motion of Alderman Patrick F. Sweeney, William H. Shields Jr., was chosen chairman of the caucus and after he assumed the chair, Henry Gebrath was chosen clerk.

After the clerk read the caucus call the chairman called for the nomination of delegates. Patrick Connell presented the following list of nominations and moved that they be voted upon collectively:

Mayor Milo R. Waters, Alderman Henry Gebrath, Earl Mathewson, William H. Callahan, T. C. Murphy, Joseph L. Sullivan, Herman J. Gibbs, Robert J. Swanton, Joseph F. Williams, Margaret L. Sullivan, Elizabeth F. Drew and Julia J. Casey.

The list was unanimously elected. T. J. Kelly moved that each delegate have the power to appoint his or her proxy and that in the event of the absence of any delegate or alternate, the remaining delegates, at the time of the convention, have the power to appoint a substitute, by a majority vote. This motion was passed and the caucus adjourned at 8:05 o'clock.

The town committee has indorsed Alderman Patrick F. Sweeney as their choice for delegate from the second congressional district to the national convention to be held at Houston, Texas.

NORWICH TOWN

LEADER OF HOME CHAPTER REVIEWS WORK OF 31 YEARS

The April meeting of Home Chapter of the King's Daughters, Monday afternoon at Johnson Home, reviewed the chapter's history since its organization in 1897, as well as interests concerning Johnson Home. The leader, Mrs. William E. Manning opened the meeting with a brief devotional period which was followed by reports submitted by the secretary treasurer and work committee. The house committee mentioned what some of the K. D. circles had done in the way of gifts, etc. Mrs. James Gilmore was in charge of the lesson in Acts.

Mrs. Manning appointed Mrs. Charles H. Marsh and Mrs. William H. Martin to have charge of the lesson at the May meeting.

Mrs. James Gilmore of 4 Phillips avenue, is to entertain Home Chapter sewing circle, Thursday, April 12th. The chapter voted to purchase necessary new shades for the Home, also voted to conduct a religious service at the Alms House Sunday, April 15th. During the meeting Mrs. Charles Schwenk sang in pleasing voice, Message of the Lilies, by Minetti, Mrs. John Olsen accompanying at the piano. In referring to Home Chapter during its 31 years in existence, Mrs. Herbert R. Branche recalled interesting facts. The chapter has grown steadily from its original five members, until at present its membership is 110. Abstracts from records kept show that five women—Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, Mrs. H. H. Gallup, Mrs. Edwin B. Miner, Mrs. Thomas Perkins and Mrs. William H. Cardwell met in March 1897 at Mrs. Cardwell's home for the first conference. The object was to start a home for worthy Protestant women. In a month's time they had a membership of 50, thus forming a chapter. The first five, each paid a fee of 25 cents, which totaled $1.25, the amount the chapter started with. Home Chapter having been formed, to procure a home that was its first achievement. Through solicitations and contributions the chapter in the course of ten years raised a sufficient amount to enable it to purchase the home at Norwich Town, this being opened by the King's Daughters November 8th, 1906. About the same time, money and property became available from the estate of Mrs. Maria Johnson, of Norwich, who left bequests for a home for worthy Protestant women. This being the same object as Home Chapter, the King's Daughters, after necessary proceedings, were able to connect the home with Mrs. Johnson's bequests, and it was named Johnson Home in her honor. The home which had been all paid for by Home Chapter, also a goodly amount in funds was relinquished by the King's Daughters, which amount, with the endowment referred to, is what has since maintained the home, with the assistance of the several circles, etc.

During the years, Home Chapter has had a membership as high as 149, but many have died and several have moved from town.

It was brought out at the meeting Monday that many and important improvements have been made since the purchase of this home. Among the greater things accomplished are the electric lights installed by Home Chapter at a cost of $700. One of the more recent conveniences is the installing of a frigidaire plant. Under direction of Mrs. Alvary Jarvis Baker, chairman of the refreshments committee, sandwiches and coffee were served, bringing the very interesting meeting to a close.

Rev. Charles E. Reeves of Norwich Town, conducted a religious service at the Sheltering Arms, Easter Sunday afternoon. He spoke impressively from John 14:2, In My Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. This text suggests Jesus' Idea of the Future Life, which formed the basis of Rev. Mr. Reeves address. During the service, Mrs. Auren E. Paysen sang two solos very acceptably, Easter Morn by Neidlinger and As It Began to Dawn, by Harker. Miss Constance Learned played the piano accompaniments for Mrs. Payson, also accompanied for several familiar hymns.

The Junior C. E. society of the First First Congregational society, had for its leader Sunday afternoon, Nelson Webster, Easter—A Day to be Glad In, was the topic. Easter stories and special music were included in the service.

There is to be a special meeting for children in the Congregational chapel this (Wednesday) afternoon at four o'clock, which all children will be privileged to attend. The meeting will be led by the junior president of the Congregational society, assisted by one of the unions from the Methodist church.

Russell Blair of Massachusetts, who is doing C. E. field work in Connecticut for three weeks, will be the speaker. From Norwich Town, Mr. Blair will go to Hanover, where he will be a guest of Norwich C. E. union, which is to hold a rally this (Wednesday) evening in Hanover Congregational church. Mr. Blair is to give an address, following the supper at 6:30. Several from Norwich Town are planning to attend the supper and the meeting at 7:30.

The Congregational prayer meeting Thursday evening, will be held with Rev. and Mrs. Gurdon P. Bailey at the parsonage on Elm avenue. Religion and Hope, will be the concluding theme in the Lenten series of Fellowship of Prayer.

Under the auspices of the Woman's department of the League of Service, Dr. Herbert P. Woodin, of Saybrook, will speak at the First Congregational church, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. His subject will be China. Mrs. Woodin will also have part in the services and Mrs. Charles Schwenk will sing. The pastor, Rev. Gurdon P. Bailey is to preside at the meeting, which men and young people will be privileged to attend. Mrs. Gurdon P. Bailey and Mrs. James F. Connolly comprise the committee in charge of the service.

POETRY

The Crag and the Pine

Behold you rugged mountain crag—
Its beauty taketh me—
The crag so like a frozen flag
Beneath the tall Pine tree;
The tree's soft shadow falls on it
All through the Summer noon:
'Tis there for hours I'd love to sit
And list the Pine's low runs.

The Crag, the Pine, far, isolate,
Are of both earth and sky
With loveliness so pure and great
It sets my heart a-sigh;
'Tis never found in things a-near,
Such beauty, always far—
The haunting strain we scarce can hear;
The quiver of a star.

Give me far things that fancy sling
Unto—that Memory loves,
The violet echoes old love brings
Soft as the coo of doves;
Mine be the scents that shyly float
From treasured blossoms prest—
Who has not felt that clutch at throat,
Sweet pang by few confest?

Some things are far—and some are near—
And some are both, alas;
The last, although they start a tear,
Ah, who would have them pass?
Yet, by and by, upwaft on high,
High like yon Crag and Tree,
Less of the earth than of the sky
A solace they may be.

—Samuel Minturn Peck.

April Fantasie

The fresh, bright bloom of the daffodils
Makes gold in the garden bed,
Gold that is like the sunbeams
Loitering overhead.
Bloom, bloom
In the sun and the wind,
April hath a fickle mind.

The budding twigs of the sweetbrier
Stir as with hope and bliss
Under the sun's soft glances,
Under the wind's sly kiss.
Swing, swing
In the sun and the wind,
April hath a fickle mind.

May, she calls to her little ones,
Her flowers hiding away.
"Never put off till tomorrow
What you may do today.
Come, come
Through the sun and the wind,
April hath a fickle mind."

—Ellen Mackey Hutchinson Cortissoz.

CAPTIVE MEN POSITIVELY IDENTIFIED AS SLAYERS OF POLICEMAN NELSON

Albert G. Raymond and Roland G. Lalone, Youthful Thugs, Were Arrested in Worcester Yesterday—They Are Being Held at Police Headquarters in Springfield—Harold Lester of Willimantic, Gasoline Station Attendant, Has Identified Raymond as the Driver of the Death Car—Five Persons Have Identified the Youths as Criminals With Records That Include Robberies—Also as the Men Who Shot at a Traffic Officer in Springfield Last Friday Evening.

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 11—Identifications, so complete, and positive as to entirely remove them from the realm of doubt, brought Albert G. Raymond, 19, of 344 Grafton street, and Roland G. Lalone, 21, of 131 Pilgrim avenue, both Worcester addresses, face to face tonight with the certainty of being tried in this county for the murder at Pomfret, last Friday evening, of State Officer Irving H. Nelson of the Danielson barracks. The men were arrested in Worcester this afternoon, and later were taken to Springfield, where they are being held at police headquarters.

Five persons have positively identified them as criminals with records that include not only robberies in which they participated as members of the "Ice Box Gang" at Springfield, but, also, without shadow of a doubt, as the men who shot it out with Traffic Officer Ray Gallagher at Springfield, last Friday afternoon, and as the men in the car they were driving when they killed Officer Nelson, who stopped at Willimantic less than an hour before to purchase gas at a filling station.

Officer Gallagher unhesitatingly ranked them out of a lineup of a dozen or more men at police headquarters in Worcester this afternoon. Harold Lester, the Willimantic filling station attendant, identified Lalone as the driver of the car, when he serviced it, and in Springfield this afternoon men they had robbed while operating as the "ice box gang" within the past few weeks, were at their throats in an endeavor to get quick vengeance for the indignity and the losses they had suffered at their hands. Other identifications are imminent.

Tonight Raymond and Lalone are being grilled by Springfield officers and are facing the most difficult situation of their brief, but criminal careers.

From information emanating from Webster, near where they abandoned their car after killing Officer Nelson, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Worcester city police set out on their trail yesterday. They were picked up this morning in Worcester as they came out of one of their hangouts in one of the rooming rooms. They tried to laugh it off, when they were so unexpectedly arrested, but advices from Worcester tonight say that Raymond went deathly pale when Officer Gallagher reached over and jerked him out of the lineup and an instant later tapped Lalone as the other of the pair of men who tried to kill him in Springfield last Friday afternoon. From that moment the tolls of the law began to tighten around the killers of State Officer Nelson.

Tonight Sergeant G. L. Gardner of the Danielson barracks was in Pomfret and obtained warrants for Raymond and Lalone. There may be some delay in getting them back into Connecticut, but not a great deal, it is expected. Tomorrow morning they will be presented in the Springfield district court and the matter of routine on charges pending against them in that city, but they are destined to come back to Connecticut to stand trial for murder. The hope of officials here was that they may be tried at the April term of the Windham county superior court that opened in Willimantic today. It is likely, it was said here tonight, that extradition proceedings may be necessary to get them out of Massachusetts, but that will be only conforming to the formality.

Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart and State Officer Donald J. Geddes returned here shortly after 7 o'clock tonight, after being summoned to Worcester at 1 o'clock this afternoon and after going over to Springfield to watch the proceedings of identification in that city. Both officers are understood to be positive that there is absolutely no question but that the men arrested are responsible for the death of their brother officer.

Raymond is described as a big, husky youth, who does not appear to be very intelligent. Lalone, on the other hand, is a comparatively small person, out as evil and desperate in appearance as they come. Both have long police records, are recognized gangsters and have been under suspicion from within a few hours of the time that State Officer Nelson was killed. It appears that Raymond was driving the car when the shooting affair with Officer Gallagher took place in Springfield, while Lalone was driving, when the car stopped at the filling station at Willimantic.

RAYMOND IDENTIFIED BY ONE OF HIS VICTIMS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 11—(AP)—George Demoullakis identified Raymond as the man who held him up in his store March 27 and robbed him of $28, while Jacob Nadich was positive Lalone was the one who robbed him of $200, March 24 after shutting him in the ice box.

SAW AND TALKED WITH DRIVER OF DEATH CAR

WILLIMANTIC, April 11—(AP)—Identification of Albert Raymond in Springfield today by Harold Lester, 15, of this place, as the driver of the car whose occupants shot and killed State Policeman Irving H. Nelson in Pomfret last Friday, is regarded as certain here because young Lester saw and talked with the death car driver.

The youth was helping his father at the latter's gasoline station on the night of the crime, when a car drove in and stopped at one of the pumps. While another was in the tank, Lester noticed that the rear window of the car was broken and he commented on it to the driver who had alighted and was standing beside him. The driver did not volunteer any information and after paying for the gas got back in his machine and drove off.

Young Lester, who had observed the driver's aversion to discussing the broken window, noted the registration of the machine and also made a mental picture of the driver. Later, when he heard of Nelson's murder he told the authorities what he had seen. When the death car was found, he identified it as the one which had been at his father's station.

SUIT AGAINST THE KLAN THROWN OUT OF COURT

PITTSBURGH, April 11—(AP)—The suit of five former members of the Ku Klux Klan to restrain the order from operating in Pennsylvania, was thrown out of federal court here late today by Judge W. H. S. Thomson, who ruled that he was without jurisdiction and that it was a question for the state to settle.

Coming with dramatic suddenness, during a heated argument between counsel on the jurisdiction of the court, the opinion made a clean sweep of the counter action of the five members, who sought a receivership for the Klan in Pennsylvania and asked for an accounting of some $15,000,000 said to have been collected by the order in this state.

The original Klan suit, to restrain the five members from interfering with it and conducting initiations, and asking for $100,000 damages from them, was not affected by the opinion, and trial of this action was continued.

After three days of sensational testimony, during which Klansmen were charged with burning men alive in Texas; organizing a "night riders" terrorist branch in Oklahoma and Ohio; horse whipping "offending citizens" and causing riots, and other disorders, the opposing attorneys today brought the counter action case to a head when they engaged in an argument over jurisdiction. Judge Thomson halted the argument and handed down his opinion in addition to throwing out the case against the Klan, he held that if charges of lawlessness against the order were sustained, it would not only be the right but perhaps the duty of the state of Pennsylvania to revoke the license under which the Klan operates in this state.

TESTIMONY OF SINCLAIR'S VALUATION OF OIL LANDS

WASHINGTON, April 11—(AP)—Evidence intended to show that Harry F. Sinclair placed a value of close to $100,000,000 on the Teapot Dome oil lease, in the acquisition of which he is charged with conspiring to defraud the government, was introduced today at his trial by the prosecution.

Unsworn testimony given by Sinclair before the senate oil committee in October, 1928, introduced over the protest of the defense, quoted him as saying, "I personally consider the value of the Mammoth company at this time, but it is only a guess, at a greater amount than $100,000,000."

That development came near the conclusion of another full court day, which was marked by introduction of a mass of technical documentary evidence on which the government is relying to a degree to convict Sinclair.

Testimony that the Mammoth company was incorporated in Delaware for the purpose of developing the Teapot reserve in February, 1922, with one million shares of stock, was given by G. T. Sanford, of Sinclair's legal staff. He added that later the stock was increased to 2,005,000 shares, all of which except ten organization shares went to Sinclair in exchange for the Teapot lease.

The trial moved forward again today with great rapidity and in the first half hour half a dozen witnesses had been called and testified to receipt at various banks in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas of the bonds that Albert B. Fall, former interior secretary, received from Sinclair.

DIDN'T KNOW WHAT THE DECIMO CLUB WAS

BOSTON, April 11—(AP)—Inspector John F. Mitchell, of the Boston police department, who investigated the Decimo Club, Inc., last May for Attorney General Arthur K. Reading, and reported "nothing criminal," in its operations, testified today before the legislative committee investigating Mr. Reading's conduct in office that he did not know what the Decimo club was.

Under a severe cross-examination before the committee, Mitchell said he had confined his investigation of the club, from which the attorney later accepted a $25,000 retainer, to the single question as to whether it obtained money by misrepresentation. He said he had devoted part of his time for four or five days to the quest. He did not see the charter or books of the club and had been refused copies of its constitution and by-laws. He did not visit the Boston office of the organization.

Later in the day, under cross-examination by several attorneys, Inspector Mitchell was asked, "What is the Decimo club?"

"I don't know," he replied.

"This was a secret organization and it was hard to get the facts?"

"Yes."

"You spent several days and honestly tried to get the facts?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever find what happened to the money paid in in memberships?"

"I never inquired."

At the request of Major Thomas F. Hammon, counsel for the committee, an application card for membership in the club and various other information distributed to members were introduced.

BODIES OF THREE MEN IN WRECKAGE OF PLANE

EL PASO, Texas, April 11—(AP)—A telegram received by the El Paso Times from Sheriff C. N. Cummings late today reported that the bodies of three men were found today in the wreckage of an airplane that had crashed four miles south of Kent, Texas.

According to the message, the bodies were those of F. L. Drew, of Fort Worth, Texas; D. M. Larson, of Manti, Utah, and Edward G. Knapp, of Ypsilanti, Mich. The message said the plane, which probably crashed Monday, was a total wreck.

Knapp, who piloted the plane, was distributor for both Ryan monoplanes and Waco biplanes in the Detroit territory. He was president of the Knapp Flying Service of Ypsilanti.

Drew was a salesman at Fort Worth for a Texas coal and oil concern and was returning there from Los Angeles, where the plane, a cabin-enclosed monoplane, had been purchased.

PETITION FOR REPEAL OF AUTOMOBILE TAX

Spokesmen for the industry also paid their respects to Secretary Mellon who asked the committee to restore to the bill this tax which was repealed by the house. Mr. Mellon argued that the manufacturers alone were behind the "propaganda" for repeal of the levy. The automobile people replied that the consumers of the cars would get all the benefit of the reduction and pledged themselves to this effect.

Senate Amends the McNary-Haugen Bill

Votes 42 to 30 For $400,000,000 For Farm Relief Instead of $250,000,000.

WASHINGTON, April 11—(AP)—The senate today boosted the ante on farm relief from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000, in writing into the McNary-Haugen measure amendments which cleared the way for a final vote on the bill tomorrow.

The proposal of Senator Pollard, democrat, Tennessee, was one of the proposed revolving funds, which to assist farm organizations in marketing surplus crops, ranged from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000. It brought the first roll call vote on the bill and in the opinion of some leaders a test of strength on the measure.

The $400,000,000 proposition was carried 42 to 30 with 25 democrats, 16 republicans and the lone Farmer-Labor senator favoring the increase. Those voting against it included 23 republicans and 8 democrats. Some opponents of the McNary-Haugen bill, including Senators Borah, Idaho, and Brookhart, Iowa, republicans voted for the increase but it is believed none of those voting against the increase might switch in favor of the bill.

Another sharp fight developed over the amendment of Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, to remove fresh vegetables and fruits from the control of the bill. It carried. Senator Neely, democrat, of West Virginia, previously had obtained an amendment to except fruits and vegetables from the equalization fee provision of the measure but the New York senator successfully insisted upon dropping these out of the bill entirely.

Some other amendments by Sen. McKellar which were drafted at a conference of Senators from the cotton producing states, were accepted but a vote went over until tomorrow on his proposal to have the president rather than the farm board select members of the advisory council.

16 Persons Killed in Train Wreck in Paris

Train Bound For Race Track Collided With Another Train—30 Persons Injured.

PARIS, April 11—(AP)—A crowded train on its way to the Enghien race track this afternoon collided with another train just outside the yard limits of the Gare Du Nord. Sixteen persons were killed and more than 30 injured, some of them, it is feared, mortally. The killed and injured were French.

The engineer of the outbound train, who is charged with running past the signals, is confined in jail. His arrest came after a personal investigation conducted by M. Barthou, minister of justice.

There were no American casualties, although several Americans were known to be aboard the train on their way to the track. The wreck provided a spectacular blaze and thrilling rescue work by firemen and wrecking crews. Some of the bodies were pinned under the smoking debris, and service was interrupted on the road for several hours.

Many of the racing devotees rushed back to the station a mile away, in order to catch the next train so that they would not miss the first race.

Pitiful scenes were witnessed at the wreck, a little fox-terrier, which did not appear to be hurt, howled dismally and refused to the spot where his owner was crushed under the train, which was burning fiercely. Though an attempt was made to pull the terrier away, he was burned to death.

SYNDICATE TO OPERATE A CHAIN OF SEADROMES

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—The Sun says today that a syndicate to construct and operate a chain of seadromes across the Atlantic to provide 36 hour air service between America and Europe has reached the final stage of organization.

The agreement for financing management, operation and other details is expected to be signed on Friday and within 10 months the first ocean landing field is due to be anchored 500 miles off New York as the initial link in the Atlantic airway.

The project is the work of E. R. Armstrong, Du Pont engineer, and Jarvis Lamson, who "sold" Armstrong's idea to a group of financiers said to have put up initial capital of $2,500,000. It is planned to use this money for construction of the first seadrome and to lay the foundation for the proposed permanent organization, a $50,000,000 corporation.

It is planned to have eight landing islands at intervals of about 350 miles across the ocean, each one equipped with radio station, weather bureau, hangars, repair and supply shops, rescue boats and hotel accommodations for passengers.

Armstrong said that the company would be under American control but that cooperation of other nations would be welcomed. He said Capt. Rene Fonck was now in France for the purpose of interesting his country in the project and that the British government officials are aware of the plan but as yet have shown no eagerness to participate.

MAYOR THOMPSON, CHICAGO, REBUKED IN HIS OWN WARD

Lost the Post of Ward Committeeman By Upwards of 1,000 Votes—Emerson Defeated Gov. Small by Nearly 400,000 Votes—Smith, Twice Denied a Seat in the U. S. Senate, Lost in Senatorial Contest By More Than 200,000 Votes—Mrs. McCormick is Leading in the Contest For One of the Two Nominations For Representative at Large.

CHICAGO, April 11—(AP)—While tired tabulators still struggled tonight with completion of the record of the vast majority for the republican faction led by Senator Charles S. Deneen which in yesterday's state-wide primary swept into the political discard the republicans of the Small and Thompson faction which for seven years have dominated Chicago and Illinois, the winners began consideration of plans to correct what they term misrule of Chicago if they be elected next fall over their democratic opponents.

Senator Deneen, who sponsored the victorious republican ticket in a primary election which found the democrats without major contests, gathered several advisers about him today and gave the movement its initial impetus.

There was no announcement, but it was indicated that the spotlight immediately would be turned on the "higher ups" said to be responsible for gang domination and illicit liquor running and internecine warfare in Chicago.

Senator Deneen telephoned to Oscar E. Caristrom, renominated yesterday for state attorney general, and then took a train for Washington. It was indicated Caristrom immediately would come to Chicago from his home at Aledo and start the campaign without awaiting the November election.

Over long distance telephone, Caristrom declined to forecast his actions. Speculation dealt chiefly with the possibility that the state attorney general would exercise his legal right to come into Cook county and impanel a special grand jury in disregard of Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, whose third term aspirations were halted yesterday by Judge John A. Swanson by an indicated 125,000 majority.

It became known that for six weeks Mr. Carlstrom has had investigators at work in Chicago seeking to substantiate the allegation that crime and politics worked together here.

Meanwhile with 1,100 of the state's 6,634 precincts missing, the majority by which Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state, buried Gov. Len Small, who sought a third term as governor, crept nearer the 400,000 mark, and reports from approximately the same number of precincts showed that the U. S. senatorial aspirations of Col. Frank L. Smith had been blighted for a third time by more than 200,000 votes.

Twice Colonel Smith was denied his seat after appointment and election to the senate, this time a comparatively obscure downstate attorney, Otis F. Glenn, thwarted his ambition.

The figures were:

For governor, 5,530 precincts, Small, 501,726; Emmerson, 8,887,787.

For U. S. senator, 5,256 precincts, Smith, 486,135; Glenn, 689,219.

The personal defeat of Mayor William Hale Thompson, until yesterday co-leader with Small and Crowe of the dominant Illinois republican faction, became more convincing today when new figures indicated he had lost the local comparatively important post of ward committeeman by upward of 1,000 votes.

Mayor Thompson was selected as a delegate to the republican national convention in Kansas City, however, and said he found additional solace in the fact that the Crowe-Thompson county ticket won seven of 11 possible places.

Thompson has listed himself as ardently opposed to the presidential aspirations of Col. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois' war governor, but Lowden yesterday won assurance of 38 of the state's 50 delegates.

Mrs. Ruth Haan McCormick, widow of the late U. S. Senator Medill McCormick and daughter of Mark Hanna, held leadership in the contest for one of the two nominations for republican representative-at-large in an eight-sided fight.

Her nomination, ousting the lower house veteran, Richard Yates, was assured, with John R. Rathbone, another congressional veteran, her running mate.

Upon the basis of the vote recorded in the gubernatorial contest, it was figured that a total of 1,667,000 republicans voted.

Justice Floyd Thompson of the state supreme court was unopposed for the gubernatorial nomination, and in 3,335 precincts Anton Cermak of Chicago had a lead of 132,465 to 25,773 over James Monroe of Chicago, but on that basis it was calculated that 320,000 democrats voted.

Governor Small, whose political career was halted after two terms marked by legal battles and many attacks upon him, issued a statement tonight asserting he had no regrets over the turn of the primary.

He called the race between Emmerson and him not a man-to-man contest but a contest between a Chicago newspaper and "its vicious, profiteering allies on the one hand and the people of Illinois on the other hand."

"The confidence shown me by the people who know me best and especially my home county where I was born and lived my whole life, and which has always given me an overwhelming majority, means more to me than the holding of any office," the governor concluded.

MAYOR THOMPSON HAS NO INTENTION OF RESIGNING

CHICAGO, April 11—(AP)—Although most of the candidates he had backed were defeated in yesterday's primary, Mayor William Hale Thompson will stay on as the city's chief executive for the next three years. He declared today that he had no intention of resigning the post he was elected to last year.

"We captured the ward committeeships, and we also got the sanitary district, so there's no reason for me to resign," he said.

During the campaign, the mayor had announced that if his favorite candidate, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, co-leader in the republican faction, was defeated he would seriously consider resigning.

Crowe was defeated by Judge John A. Swanson, Deneen candidate, by more than 200,000 votes.

HOW LONDON VIEWS THE CHICAGO ELECTION

LONDON, April 11—(AP)—The Chicago elections and "Big Bill" Thompson's carcious hat and ample smile enjoyed immense popularity in the London afternoon papers, which prominently displayed the defeat of "King George's book burning foe."

The front page reports bristled with announcements of "violence," "terrorism," "death," in the Chicago primaries, while one paper proclaims the existence of "a reign of terror throughout the state."

"Only one murder!" exclaims the Evening News, which, extending its irony to its editorial leader, pleads with Londoners to learn to conduct their political battle "with the Chicago enthusiasm."

Bewailing apathy, the news say that if the British voter knew that the pathway to the polls was beset with sandbags and that he was likely to be mowed down with a machine gun, nothing could keep him away from the voting place.

ICE JAM, THREE MILES LONG FILLS THE AROOSTOOK RIVER

CARIBOU, Me., April 11—(AP)—An ice jam, three miles long and still growing despite the efforts of men and dynamite, filled the Aroostook river above the Caribou dam tonight, threatening heavy damage to two railroads as well as the light and water supply of this city.

Half a mile of the Canadian-Pacific railway tracks lay submerged under water backed up by the jam. The rails of the Bangor and Aroostook railroad were free of water, but fear was expressed that they would be buried under tons of ice when the jam lets go.

A Canadian-Pacific dynamite crew of 12 men had used two tons of explosive up to this evening in unsuccessful attempts to start the ice down river, while eight men were patrolling the B and A. right of way.

The work of the dynamiters 800 feet upstream has caused trouble in the power house of the Caribou Water, Light and Power company, where refuse loosened by the explosions has seeped into racks and pumps. Power company officials said tonight that unless the trouble abates they would order the dynamiting halted through fear that the power house would be put out of commission.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS VICTORIOUS IN NEBRASKA

OMAHA, Neb., April 11—(AP)—The progressive wing of the republican party fared well at the hands of Nebraska voters in yesterday's state wide primaries.

Topping all races was the contest between United States Senator R. B. Howell and Attorney General O. S. Spillman for the republican senatorial nomination. Senator Howell, for whom Senator George W. Norris came from Washington, D. C., to aid, carried the state by nearly 13,000 votes, reports from 1,079 precincts out of 1,988 showed. Howell supporters predicted that his majority would run to 25,000 or 30,000.

The senator, however, lost his home county, Douglas, (Omaha) by nearly 1,000 votes.

The same progressive group, aligned with Senator Norris, won five out of seven positions for delegates to the republican national convention, and about half of the district delegates.

THREE DEATHS PROBABLY DUE TO DRINKING BOUT

PITTSFIELD, Mass., April 11—(AP)—Three persons whose bodies were found in a house on Dewey avenue, met their deaths when two gas cocks on a kitchen range were turned on accidentally during a drinking bout, the police decided tonight after an investigation. The victims were Joseph Pepin and his wife, tenants of the house and James Canfield, a former inmate of the city farm.

The bodies of Pepin and his wife were identified early in the day, but it was not until tonight that that of Canfield was recognized. The man, who was 65 years old, left the city farm on Sunday. He arrived at the Pepin home Monday afternoon. Neighbors said they heard Pepin and his wife quarrelling Monday night.

When the house was entered today a number of empty bottles which apparently had contained liquor were found strewn about.

In order to get her floated 250,000 feet of lumber was thrown into the sea, the fishermen were singing "Lumber to the right of us and to the left!" Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt selects OLD GOLD

MRS. REGINALD C. VANDERBILT

"'I wonder if one can really tell the difference, when blindfolded,' was my first thought when invited to make this test.

"After smoking the four brands, as they were handed to me one after another, I discovered there was one that was noticeably smoother than the others and richer in taste.

"This proved to be an OLD GOLD. I hope I shall be able to buy them in Paris . . . they are surprisingly free from any trace of throat irritation and have a delightful aroma which to me is very important."

Gloria W. Vanderbilt

Blind Test Was Made

Mrs. Vanderbilt was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke . . . To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette . . . Mrs. Vanderbilt was unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test . . . After smoking the four cigarettes, Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked to designate by number her choice . . . She immediately replied: "Number 3" . . . which was OLD GOLD.

SMOOTHER AND BETTER — NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

"How does she keep her hands so LOVELY?"

"Those few whispered words made me flush with pleasure"

"'—the most beautiful hands, yet she does all her own work—'

"As I looked up from pouring tea, I realized with a thrill they were talking about me! I felt such a happy glow of pride . . . for my hands USED to be my despair!

"Now I find it easy to have soft, pretty hands, in spite of dishes to do three times a day. I discovered that by using Lux for all my dishwashing, my hands never became rough or red or chapped-looking. With Lux, they are even WHITER and softer after washing dishes than before!"

Millions of women who do their own work now have hands as flawless, as lovely, as if they never touched the dishpan! Because they wash dishes with delicate, sparkling Lux suds!

For these instant, magical suds are SOOTHING to even the most sensitive skin.* Lux is made by a marvelous special process—made whiter and thinner and purer than anything else. There is no trace of harmful alkali in Lux, nothing to dry up, to coarsen the skin, as there is in ordinary soaps—whether flakes, chips or cakes.

And Lux costs so LITTLE! In one of the big packages there is enough Lux for 6 weeks' dishes! So little to pay for beautiful hands!

*Many beauty parlors use Lux suds in manicuring the nails to soften and whiten the fingers

BOROUGH COMMITTEES TO BE SAME AS LAST YEAR

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 11—Following the annual election Monday, borough officials met last evening and organized for the ensuing year. The committee appointments are the same as last year: Building, Gaston A. Maindon, Charles E. Austin; fire, Richard D. Banigan, Louis E. Young; light, Pierre Boulaine, Charles E. Austin; park, Richard D. Banigan, Pierre Boulaine; police, Docithe E. Jette, Gaston A. Maindon; sewer, Docithe E. Jette, Louis E. Young; sidewalks, Gaston A. Maindon, Richard D. Banigan; boxing, Docithe E. Jette, Charles E. Austin, Pierre Boulaine; auditors, D. E. Jette, C. E. Austin; board of relief, R. D. Banigan, G. A. Maindon, L. E. Young.

Suffering a heart attack while engaged in putting coal into the basement of All Hallows church at Moosup this morning, Paul Credit collapsed and died within a few minutes. He was employed by a Moosup firm of coal dealers. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker L. E. Kennedy. Mr. Credit was 51 years of age and was born in Baltic and had lived practically all of his life in eastern Connecticut. He leaves his wife.

The real estate market is particularly active in Danielson this spring. Recent purchasers of dwellings in the Morin avenue and North street section are Stanley Keech, Ovila Bernier, Earle F. Winslow, Bernard Casey, Ralph Soule, Leo Viens, Everett Pellett and Harry Evergates. J. C. Witter reported sales of three dwellings in that section in the past ten days and six within the past few weeks. This is particularly significant in demonstrating the faith of the people in the future of Danielson and also of the fact that there are many prospective additional home owners in the community, where there continues to be a shortage of rents.

After checking through his fire records for years back today, Chief A. P. Woodward said that the four alarms that came in during the daylight hours of Tuesday constitute a record for Danielson. There have been several occasions when three alarms have come in during a single day, but no other four-alarm-day. Incidentally, following his reappointment by the warden and court of burgesses last evening Chief Woodward is starting on his 27th year as head of the local fire department. Incidentally, Chief Woodward has been a member of the department for 40 years, starting in his early youth, and he recalls helping the firemen even before he was a member and when he was so small he had to stand on tiptoe to reach the handles on the old "tub."

From the minute this noon hour when several people listening to radio sets heard the broadcast of the apprehension in Worcester of the two young men believed to be responsible for the death of State Officer Irving H. Nelson in Pomfret last Friday night there was a constant clamor here for more details of the arrests and universal satisfaction that the law will be able to deal finally with the alleged killers. News of the arests spread like wildfire through all the towns hereabouts and newspapermen were besieged for further information throughout the afternoon.

Oiling of state highways in this section of the state is now underway and will continue through a period of several weeks until all of the highways hereabouts have been treated. The highway department is taking particular precautions this season against the possibility of accidents occurring during the oiling period, and warning signs are in place where the work is underway.

John Robinson, arrested near South Killingly last Sunday as a suspect in the State Officer Irving H. Nelson case, was today turned over to Lawrence, Mass., police who took him to that city in a police automobile. Robinson is wanted there to answer for stealing automobiles.

There were reports today of automobile radiators freezing during the early hours of this morning, when the temperature dropped well below the freezing point.

A committee of the chamber of commerce appointed to ascertain the attitude of manufactures on the adoption of daylight saving here this year expects to have the canvass well advanced by the wek end. A forecast is that it will be daylight saving again, beginning, probably on Sunday, April 28.

A re-draft of the by-laws of the borough of Danielson, as authorized some time since, is practically completed. The proposed by-laws are to be presented to a borough meeting for consideration in the not distant future. Obsolete by-laws, it is understood, have been eliminated and a code drawn up suited to present day needs.

Some brush fires, evidently of a minor nature, were reported east of here today.

JEWETT CITY

ELIMINATION DANGERS NEAR THE LEONARD HOUSE

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 11—"Citizen," who is deeply interested in the elimination project, has this to say about the issue:

Although I was not at the hearing in Hartford in relation to the elimination of the railroad crossing I was impressed by some of the facts brought forward.

The one that impressed me most was that presented by Mr. Durphy and Mr. Buckingham in regard to the entrance to the new road near Mr. Leonard's home.

The danger here is very great, for the following reasons. A stranger coming from the south, when he enters the roadway at a level above the adjacent land, reasons that there will be no cross roads, for there will be no chance to cross, he immediately accelerates his machine and if a car or truck is coming from South Main street, he will not see it until directly upon it. If he passes this junction he will keep up his high rate of speed until he reaches Dearnley's corner, where he will run into cross-currents of traffic.

But the stranger from the south is in danger to a very much less degree than the machine from the north. The reason for this is that most of the traffic from South Main street will turn north and will have to cross the direct path of the speeding car and I think there will be more accidents here than ever occurred at the R. R. crossing.

Mr. McDonald is trying to make the roads safe, yet this place looks like a very dangerous spot to me.

The accidents in Connecticut last year, according to R. B. Stoeckel, commissioner of motor vehicles were 28,832, killed 356, persons injured 11,979, property damage $2,763,341.

The change to the viaduct will have an effect on the merchants or business of the town that will be far reaching.

The representatives of the Fisk Rubber company did not want the new road to encroach on their property for if they wished to expand they might not have room to do so.

The Fisk Rubber Co. will grow and if they cannot build in Jewett City they will build in some other place.

We want all the successful mills and factories possible but if we handicap them we will lose them, which means the merchants will suffer.

The value of the homes on South Main street will depreciate, they will be situated on switch backs and the noise from the traffic will be greater as it will be above the level of the present street and will vibrate against the windows.

I do not know that the state will reimburse the householders, yet there are two gas stations that will be seriously affected and it seems to me that if their business falls off, and it could be readily proved, the state will and should deal with them justly. There is an equity that is held many times above the law.

If anyone is injured in their business it affects the whole vicinity.

I understand that the Partridge property was bought at a good value and was bought to make a business that would pay on the investment and if the state injures this business it deprives the owner of what is rightly his and the state should pay.

Put yourself in Mr. Wolf's place and try to realize what it means to him.

REV. T. B. POWELL TO BE MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 11—A meeting of the Memorial Day observance committee composed of members of veterans of wars societies and other patriotic organizations held in the chamber of commerce rooms Tuesday evening evidenced that May 30 will be fittingly observed in Putnam this year. The meeting was largely attended and the advance reports of the chairmen of the appointed committees showed that much work has already been accomplished. Rev. James F. English pastor of the Second Congregational church reported that he had engaged Rev. Thomas B. Powell of Patterson, N. Y., who is soon to become pastor of the Woodstock Congregational church, to deliver the Memorial Day address at the exercises. Mr. English's recommendation of Rev. Mr. Powell showed that he is a man of high ability and widely known in New York as a speaker. Joseph Hughes was appointed to secure a band for the parade that is to be held in the forenoon. Arthur C. Keith chairman of the flog and decoration committee stated that he had completed the duties required of him. The plans for the line of march are to be made and reported on at the next meeting. A publicity committee was appointed, consisting of Edward F. Perry, chairman; Niel J. Bulger, Arthur S. MacDonald, and Walter N. King. The Boy Scouts of St. Mary's church and Troop 1 were enlisted to make wreaths to be placed upon the bridges and soldiers monument on Grove street. It was voted by those present to hold another meeting of the Memorial Day committee on May 9, to discuss further plans. The meeting was opened by Commander Martin B. Robertson of the American Legion with George W. Baker acting secretary.

The early interest in the proper observance of this greatest of holidays indicates that the spirit that has slowly faded will be revived again this year.

The Putnam firm alarm system went Wednesday without striking an alarm. Wednesday was the first day in over ten that the fire department had not been called out to answer an alarm. Members of the different companies have been kept busy keeping the city apparatus in condition to answer the numerous fires. The No. 1 hose company at the central fire station was placed back into condition after a bearing had been burned out while it was pumping water from a stream at the Howard Carpenter fire on Monday. During the time that mechanics were engaged in repairing the apparatus an auxiliary Ford truck that is kept in the central fire house for emergency uses was placed into condition for use. Fire Chief R. E. Thurston was away on business Tuesday.

Sophia Etancia of North Grosvenor-dale died at the Wallan sanitorium in Pascoag Wednesday. Mrs. Etancia was a native of Albania and has been living in the United States only a short while previous to her death. She is survived by her husband who lives in North Grosverndale.

Local baseball fans crowded the newstands to get the latest editions of the sport papers Tuesday in hopes of obtaining the results of the first baseball game in the American league that opened in Washington yesterday. When it was learned that the Boston team had won the first major league victory, local fans rejoiced as the Boston team is termed as a local nine in Putnam and stands high in the opinion of the local fans.

The decreased amount of town tax levied on property has pleased many of the Putnam tax payers, as much approval and an expression of surprise has been shown by the taxpayers when the amount of their tax this year has been compared with that of last. The tax rate this year is exactly half of the levied amount for 1927, made possible by the increased valuation. Collector of Taxes Irving H. Miron stated Tuesday that the decreased amount has also aided many in prompt payment.

Putnam police were warned Tues-day to be on the lookout for two runaway youths from Newton Center, Mass., who had probably read the adventures of Robinson Cruso and had become inspired by the success of that great hero of boys, and followed his habits. It was thought that the boys were headed for Bridgeport where other relatives were living. Superintendent of the Putnam plant of the Eastern Connecticut Power company reported the missing boys to the local police, but no trace of them was seen in Putnam up until late Wednesday afternoon.

The regular noon day luncheon of the Putnam Rotary club was held at the Putnam Inn Wednesday. The meeting was called to order by president Karl T. Phillips. After the luncheon was business meeting was over President Phillips introduced Mr. Doake of the gas department of the Eastern Connecticut Power company as the afterdinner speaker. Mr. Doake chose as his subject the manufacture and commercial uses of gas. He closely followed the methods used by the Putnam gas plant which is very large and complete and equipped to supply Putnam and Danielson with the burning product. Mr. Doake is an eloquent speaker and his wide knowledge of his subject made him very interesting to the Rotarians.

The first dance given in the new armory was held last evening by the members of the Headquarters company of the 43rd., division, military company which is housed in the new building. Many attended the military post Lenten affair and were highly pleased with the dancing floor of the company's drill shed. Excellent music for the occasion was furnished by Bennie Conn and his orchestra of Worcester. Sergeant James J. Charron, chairman of the committee for the dance, reported that it was a big financial success. Proceeds will be used for the company's annual outing when they go into their fifteen days active field training in August.

PUTNAM PEOPLE EAGER FOR NEWS OF SLAYERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 11—The mad rush to the newstores started Wednesday afternoon by Putnam people to get the first hand stories of the catch of the "Ice Box" bandits wanted in Connecticut for the murder of State Policeman Irving H. Nelson in Pomfret Friday evening, when it was announced over the radio that the much wanted slayers had been captured in Worcester Wednesday noon.

The "Evening Record" came through with the most complete and up to date story of the catch and copies of the edition were unavailable last night.

Putnam people, anxious to have their popular state officer's death avenged, showed their enthusiasm by gathering at places where the latest news of the catch could be obtained.

This new law will go into effect at the beginning of the next school year.

MONROE CHILD DIES AT WINDHAM TEMPORARYHOME

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 11—DeForrest Monroe, 10, an inmate of the Windham County Temporary home hero died at the institution today of heart failure. The boy had been ill at the time of his committal a few weeks ago and continued to grow steadily worse until physicians had given up hope for his life.

The boy is a native of Willimantic and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monroe of that city. He was committed to the county institution with three sisters after family relations between the mother and father had broken. Monroe took the four children with him to New York where he deserted them. The boy and three girls were returned to Willimantic where they were sent to the children's home in Putnam for county care. The matron of the home, Mrs. William Parks, stated today that the boy contracted the disease when with his father in New York, and was in a sickly condition when he was placed in her care. Mrs. Parks further stated that the best of medical attention failed to restore the boy to health. For fear of the boy's sisters contracting the disease they will be not allowed to attend the funeral of their brother that is to be held Thursday in Willimantic.

Mrs. Park has been in charge of the orphanage since 1914 and during that time she has only had one other child, Miss Mary Cooper, who died in her care. Miss Cooper was a victim of the measles epidermic that spread through the home a few years ago.

Over the Uniontown Hill

with a long, long lead

1929 Performance that you can have Today

Thirty miles south of Pittsburgh, the old National Highway climbs up over the backbone of the Alleghenys—the famous Uniontown Hill.

It's a heartbreaker—this Uniontown Hill. And it's the hill of hills to which all motordom goes for the final proof of a car's fitness after the easier tests on private proving grounds have been completed.

To this hill, Reo engineers went recently to test the new Flying Cloud. With the Flying Cloud went a number of the country's best known automobiles—a six, the greatest seller in its class, another which has won a unique record for increasing popularity, a third of recognized great engine power, and still another considerably higher in price than the others.

Here are the results of the Uniontown tests:

1 The Flying Cloud swept over the crest at a speed 22 per cent greater than that of its nearest rival, and sixty per cent faster than the most expensive of the cars tested.

2 The Flying Cloud made the entire climb of 1000 feet in 2.1 miles in from 14 per cent to 28.5 per cent less time than any of the others.

3 The Flying Cloud's maximum speed attained during the climb was 14 per cent greater than that of the next fastest car.

Speed Too!

Here assuredly is proof of greater power—and power that gives great speed on the straightaway. In speed trials, the Flying Cloud showed a clean pair of heels to all of the other cars tested. The car that came the closest to the Flying Cloud in the hill-climbing tests was the slowest on the level, while the car that was second to the Flying Cloud in top speed had been the slowest in hill climbing.... The new Reo Flying Cloud thus proves itself in both speed and hill-climbing. Others may achieve such efficiency in another year, but for today only the Flying Cloud gives you such demonstrated brilliance, such proved power. Try the new Flying Cloud for yourself. It will prove to you how far in advance it is.

NORWICH PROGRESS EXPOSITION

There is no chance that the people of Norwich and this end of the state will ever know too much about the industries of Norwich and their products. It hasn't been so in the past and it isn't believed possible now.

Whenever an industrial exhibit has been held it has brought about a valuable awakening. Many people know that there is a mill here and a factory where many persons are employed over there but only a few of them have the slightest idea of what they produce. They are ignorant of the fact that they are making many of the things which are needed in every day life, they have no conception of the variety of goods manufactured and they have never thought to ask for certain of these Norwich made goods because they had never been told they were made by Norwich labor.

At the Norwich Progress exposition, which is to be held May 10, 11 and 12 at the armory, there is reason to look forward to a display of products, modern labor saving devices and mercantile displays which should prove an eye opener. It might seem a bit strange that we should have so much in our midst about which we know so little, but that has been the experience in the past.

While we are interested in progress and advancement elsewhere we ought to be first of all concerned about that at home, and not until there is an opportunity to grasp the real extent of industrial Norwich can the city of today picture and appreciate that what Norwich produces the world uses.

The interest which is being displayed by exhibitors furnishes evidence of the right kind, for with a large and general participation, with Norwich products assembled for the education of residents and visitors, the community is going to have greater knowledge of and greater pride and greater concern in the activities which are of such importance to the progress of the city.

The opportunity to get acquainted with what we are and what we do is always relished by a community really interested in itself and its future.

THE FLEXIBLE TARIFF

If it was necessary to carry the flexible provision of the tariff law to the highest court in the land to determine whether it is constitutional, it is well that it has been done, that the decision has been rendered and that it is once and for all settled.

This addition to the law was made for the purpose of meeting changing conditions to which it would be impossible for congress to give its attention every time it was demanded. Congress therefore delegated certain authority to the president to change rates when after investigation and report by the federal tariff commission he was presented with facts and figures which called for changes. This permits the raising or lowering of duties without requiring congress to undertake a remodeling of the tariff measure every little while and makes such a change possible even though congress isn't in session.

The flexible tariff provision is upheld by the United States supreme court in an opinion handed down by Chief Justice Taft, in which he sets forth that it is within the power of congress to leave such work to administrative officials for the purpose of aiding the law, as was the object in this case. Furthermore it is maintained that this flexible provision is for the purpose of obtaining revenue quite the same as any of the other provisions, but it permits of such adjustments as will eliminate injustices when such have been found to exist. Likewise it is possible under it to give the country the benefit of changing conditions which might otherwise require a delay of many months and the reopening of the whole tariff question.

The law is one which has much to commend it. It makes possible a careful study of the conditions surrounding changes instead of a hit or miss practice of trying to apply corrections after long delays. The adjustments are made possible in much the same manner as rates are established for the railroads by the federal commission empowered to do so. It would be quite as unwise for congress to think of handling the many details of the one as the other. Congress did well when it enacted the flexible tariff provision and there will probably be little surprise that it is sustained by the supreme court.

THE MEXICAN NAVY

All the big navy men are not to be found in this country. There are those who live under the Mexican flag and who have been urging upon President Calles of that country the desirability of floating an internal loan of $25,000,000 for the purpose of reviving the navy of the republic to the south of the Rio Grande.

Mexico has certain needs for a navy and if conditions there were different than they are there might be good reason for urging the devotion of more money for the maintenance of a better navy. But there are the chances that the putting of more money into such a channel would simply mean the issuing of invitations for more trouble. Mexico has been doing pretty well for the past few years as far as revolutionary tactics are concerned but it cannot be said that the time has passed when such methods of overthrowing the government will not be employed. And for the same reason that most of the revolutions start in the army it can be appreciated that a bigger and better navy would simply open up the field for the revolutionary spirit. It can be readily understood that millions employed in such a manner would simply be making it easier for those who seek to strike at the government to obtain effective weapons.

When President Calles indicated that Mexico could not undertake anything of the kind because it could not afford it, and set forth that it must practice economy, there is no doubting the fact that he was justified. Mexico has plenty of ways in which it can and should employ the millions which the president has been urged to put into a greater navy.

The evident intention of President Calles is to let well enough alone. Everything may not be a bed of roses in that republic but the idea of establishing a stronger navy, with the always present possibility that it would fall into the hands of the government's opponents, calls for a careful second thought and from the manner in which the plea has been rejected it would appear that the president took it. His desire at the present time is to decrease rather than increase his troubles.

THE ILLINOIS RESULT

It is inevitable that the country at large will receive with gratification the news from the state of Illinois which shows by the primary results that the voters of that commonwealth have at last risen to assert their demands for the replacement of the past conditions with something better.

Perhaps it was figured that the disgraceful advertising which Chicago has been receiving from its murders, holdups and bombings would so please a certain number and so frighten the rest that those in control would remain there. Such wasn't the case. The type of government which has been given to the state and the metropolis of the midwest has reacted to its undoing.

Those who are inclined to leave their responsibilities to others are disposed to be tolerant up to a certain limit. There comes a time, however, when they are driven out of sheer desperation to insist upon different conditions. By their votes they have called for that political housecleaning which has been so greatly needed. The Small, Thompson, Crowe combination has gone down to defeat. Thompson escapes the fury at this time because he is not up for reelection but his machine suffers with the rest.

Looking the situation squarely in the face it must be admitted that the fault lies squarely upon the shoulders of those who have been turned down. They have been tried and found wanting. Their conduct has been their undoing. There was need for just such a change as has been called for by the primary action and those who participated in bringing it about are to be congratulated for their wise decision, even thought it seems to have been too long delayed.

Having set forth their demands the voters of Illinois and Chicago should stand back of them and see that their wishes in behalf of good government are carried out.

IMPROVING LEGAL MACHINERY

After having been before the country for a long time there cannot fail to be approval of the action taken by the judge presiding over the Sinclair trial in Washington in endeavoring to speed up the case.

Surprising at it might seem the jury was obtained in a remarkably short time because of the refusal of the judge to permit otherwise, and there is no probability that the interests of either side has been injured in any way. The case has actually gotten underway, where in too many of the strongly fought cases it would still be floundering around and waiting for the selection of a jury.

This is a case where the jury is being locked up from the start instead of waiting until some one discovers that efforts of a suspicious character are being brought to bear upon the members. This is, of course, the direct result of the tactics that were employed in the previous trial, but it should eliminate all possibility of any underhanded methods being used or the subjection of the jurors to unjustified charges after the case has been disposed of.

What is wanted is the handing out of justice. If the evidence to be presented is such as to call for conviction it is to be expected that the verdict will be in keeping therewith. If the defense can show taht such a verdict is not justified the jury is to be expected to so declare. It is the evidence on which the decision should be reached and not outside influence and the speeding up of the case and the locking up of the jury contribute to such a result.

THE BOY TAKES THE COUNT

"Lady," said The Boy, appearing suddenly over the rim of my typewriter, "I've gone and done it."

"Done what?" said I, taking my hands off the keyboard.

"Asked to be transferred to the Portland branch. And they are going to do it."

"Take your hundred and fifty-four off my typewriter carriage and come round here and tell me about it," I commanded. The Boy pulled up the waste basket, upholstered it with last season's general catalogue and began:

"Last night it happened all over again. I came home late—after 7. I told her it was the rush season—a fellow just can't leave till things are cleared up. But she just cried and said I didn't. Oh, you know what women say. She had promised her folks we would be over there for dinner. I said—well—lots of things I shouldn't, and finally she went off to dinner alone. I stayed home and—sulked, I suppose. But I did a lot of thinking, too. She will never belong to me as long as we live right around the corner from her folks. So this morning I went to Sibley and asked for the Portland job."

"Have you told her?" He avoided my eyes.

"I will tonight."

"And if she won't let you do it?"

He flashed suddenly into spirit. "I am going. If she cares more for her folks than she does for me she can stay with them. I am not going to be a mere annex to her family any longer. That's wrapped."

"Bravo," said I, and patted his shoulder, which is, I suppose, one of the compensations for being the kindly spinster who trains young copywriters in the way they should go in a big mail-order house.

There were many little things that bothered him. But mostly it was her people. They thought he should be earning more and kept her nagging at him for better clothes, a bigger apartment, more expensive pleasures. And when he couldn't finance them her people bought them for her and reminded him of their beneficence.

"You will have to take her away from her people—so far away that they can't come and see her," I told him.

For a fortnight I scarcely saw him. Then one day he burst in and asked me if I would mind having lunch with him down at Tony's, where we could talk. In the twilight of a dingy booth his mask of bravado dropped from him.

"Lady, we have had a session every night. She won't go. And her father and mother shout that I am a brute to even ask it; that she can come right home to them, and that they love her better than I do." His voice broke and suddenly his head dropped on his arms on the table and he gulped back plain, old-fashioned sobs. I longed to take that girl and wring her gentle white neck.

"When do you leave?" I asked.

"Friday. I got the tickets this noon."

"Two of 'em?"

"Yes, two." He raised his head, his face all drawn and gray. "Lady, it is no use. If she doesn't go I can't go and leave her."

"Hang on, Boy. It's three days till Friday. Weaken now and you will be a lap dog for life."

"Don't I know it?" he cried out desperately.

Friday came. The fellows were slapping him on the back and wishing him godspeed. At dusk he stole into my office.

"It's no use. I as beaten," he said, and turned on his heel.

"Wait, Boy, I will drive you home." I called and reached for my hat.

As we drew up before the trim little apartment court he clutched my hand suddenly.

"It's dark—our apartment," he said thickly. "Lady—come up with me. I just can't face it alone."

Together we climbed the three flights. With shaking fingers he fitted the key into the lock and pushed the door open. He gasped. The place was dismantled. Every familiar rug, picture, chair—gone! The Boy covered his face with his hands. I reached past him and punched the light switch. In the middle of the living room floor stood a trunk. Sitting on it, hatted and gloved, was The Girl.

"Bill, you great, big, beautiful brute," she hailed gayly; "you couldn't bluff me. I am going to Port——" Then she saw his face. Like a swift bird she darted from her perch and throwing her arms about his neck pressed his face against her cheek.

"My dear; oh, my dear," she crooned. "Whatever made you think, even for a moment, that I could let you go away without me?"—Exchange.

YOUR HEALTH

The Heart of Middle Life.

By William S. Sadler, M. D., Chicago, Member Gorgas Memorial.

Heart disease is responsible for twice as many deaths as any other disease. In 1926 the death rate from heart disorders increased from 186 to 199 per 100,000 population in the United States. Practically one person out of every 500 dies of some form of heart disease. No other cause of death is mounting with comparable rapidity. Since very few persons under 40 years of age die with heart disease, and since both the heavy death rates and the larger populations are in the younger years, the heavy heart disease rate means that the chance is very great that any man over 40 will pass away from this disease.

Important among the causes of heart trouble are the after-effects of the infectious diseases. Most of the ground-work for heart disease is laid down in childhood, and in our efforts at prevention we must concentrate on the children of school age and guard against the more common infectious diseases.

When young adults are systematically examined, as is now done on entrance to college, it is found that a large proportion have heart murmurs. These subjects deny that they have ever had heart trouble or that they have any symptoms of it at the time of the examination. When closely questioned they tell of having had rheumatism, St. Vitus' dance, or some eruptive disease, but they thought recovery had been complete.

Any of the following symptoms should call for a medical examination, but it does not necessarily follow that you have heart disease because you have these symptoms,

Shortness of breath—inability to get one's second wind as rapidly as the average person.

Swelling of the ankles—particularly if the ankle "pits" on pressure. This swelling is more prone to appear in the evening.

Rapid, palpitating, or thumping heart. These symptoms may or may not be an evidence of heart trouble—they may arise from nervousness or indigestion, but they should be investigated.

Pain in the region of the heart—especially if it is severe and "vice-like." In persons over 50 years of age this may indicate the coming on of angina pectoris.

The periodic medical examination is an essential in the campaign to lessen the death rate from heart disease. The early detection of the conditions causing heart trouble would prevent the later appearance of the disorder. A carefully planned regime for those already afflicted will add to their efficiency and prolong life—in fact, with reasonable care people with heart disease can live just about as long as those with sound hearts. Then, too, there are many people who are miserable, unhappy, and inefficent through fear of heart trouble, when an examination would disclose the fact that the heart is sound.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Herod's Easter

Mr. Editor: Having just emerged from a most remarkable observance of Lent and Easter, is it not well for us to take into consideration what is to be the aftermath.

Having heard a variety of discourses—some highly apropos and stimulating, others seemingly far-fetched and diffusive, rather than religiously instructive, our mind, seeking a new trail, came across a text not observed by the rest, but which gives us a pertinent hint in regard to what was the "After Easter" thought of a New Testament character not to be emulated.

My text is found in the 12th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, 1 to 4 verses, and reads:

"Now about that time Herod the king stretched forth his hand to vex certain of the church and he killed James, the brother of John, with the sword. And because he saw it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further to take Peter also. (Then were the days of unleavened bread). And when he had apprehended Peter he put him in prison and delivered him to four quarternions of soldiers to keep him; intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people."

Now this Herod was not a king at all—only a procurator of the Roman government under Caesar, but as he pleased the people by persecuting the Christians, the people pleased him by calling him "king." Such is the depravity of our human pride that we are flattered by the attachment of noble titles to our names; even while we know down deep in our hearts that they mean nothing, and add nothing to our dignity. Examples are innumerable, and in all our clubs and lodges we foster the tendency. I suppose Satan would rather be called by the name, "Lucifer, Son of the Morning," than by plain Beelzebub.

We glean from the text that like some of our moderns, although Herod was a pagan, he was keeping himself in restraint until after Easter. It is sad to think that our civilization furnishes so many whose conduct amounts to the same thing.

If there is any one prominent thing in our Christianity that distinguishes its radical principles from any other, and every other religion, it is that it enforces sincerity and exemplifies itself in this rather than in the observance of forms. The Master said to the Samaritan woman, "The time now is when neither place nor form will count for worship, for God is a Spirit and they who worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

It is too bad if the lessons of Easter only have force with us during its hours of passage. It is too bad, if its solemnity does not sink into our souls and consciences with an enduring sense of obligation. It is too bad, if only, like Herod, we are waiting for it to be over, so that we may like Herod return to perform some evil purpose or to former neglect of duty, or to indulgences that mar our characters with unlikeness to Him whose reappearing we commemorate on Easter morn. It might be better for us that we had not known of Easter than that we shall fail of retaining its permanent refreshing in our After Easter.

Upholding Prohibition

Mr. Editor: In your paper of March 8, 1928, I noticed an article in which Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Beverly, Mass., ridicules as "Silly Drivel" the talk about the prohibition law being nullified, and she declares "That women must do the things that men don't do well enough." If you will permit an answer through your paper, I'd like to tell Mrs. Henry Peabody that it is such a statement as these times need, as you will understand more specifically if you will read the article on last page of The Bulletin of March 23, headed: "Episcopal Clergymen See Prohibition Failing."

And this is not all they think they see. No doubt you now are thinking of the sentence He spoke: "If the blind lead the blind," etc. And this should show to the people of the U. S. that many of their ministers whom they are supporting are as blind as a bat and if their teaching is accepted, the ditch is open to receive all who follow it.

For instance, a minister from New York city standing on a pulpit in Yonkers one Sunday, said these words: "I am here today in Yonkers as a representative of the Anti-Saloon league. We desire your help and cooperation to assist us in getting a bill passed in the legislature, at Albany, to change a saloon of ten rooms to one of 20 rooms and make it respectable" . . . "We do not expect to get prohibition this year . . . ."

He passed the dish for a collection and the congregation shelled out very liberally and you may rest assured that there were more women than men in the church. Now Mrs. Peabody says "That women must do the things that men don't do well enough."

There was one man in that church that very morning who took offense at such talk and would have taken that preacher by the collar of his coat and the seat of his pants and thrown him from the pulpit into the street gutter or into a garbage can if there had been one in sight. But not one woman in that congregation made an objection, but instead gave a good collection. Now you will understand perhaps better, why the devil wires himself into so many pulpits after he once gets his feet inside the door. You will see by this article in The Bulletin that just about one-half these Episcopal men of the cloth have what Abe Lincoln called, "horse sense." Then what can you expect of one-half the hearers? Motto: Get after these shilly shally, weak backbone preachers. Get a broom or a pail of water or both and shoo them out of the churches and put them to hoeing corn and raising potatoes and picking off the bugs. Here they will be doing a real service for humanity and will be a help instead of a hindrance.

However, if you insist, you women, on going ahead and doing it, well, no doubt the men will step one side and "Stand still and see the salvation of the Lord."

Yours, for His Kingdom to come on earth as it is in Heaven,

HENRY L. HUNTINGTON.

Are you a 'Telephone Borrower'?

Do you 'get along' without a telephone because your neighbor doesn't care how often you use hers?

Even if that is really true, it's only half the story. How about the people who want to call you? Those who know how to reach you may hesitate to ask your neighbor to call you to the telephone. Those who look for you in the telephone directory and don't find you listed, give you up. Either way, you are the loser.

And a telephone costs so little!

Your name in the directory is an asset. A telephone in your home is a protection—a convenience. If you are a telephone borrower, be independent. Stop imposing on neighbors.

You can have a telephone in your home for a monthly charge of as little as $2.25

Don't deny yourself and your family the benefits that a telephone in your home can bring. Put your home within calling distance of anyone, anywhere, any time. Get a telephone now.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME LAST SUNDAY IN APRIL

Although this state has not ratified daylight saving, this city and most of the other cities of the state will probably join with the rest of the east in observing the daylight schedule, which goes into effect on April 29. While under the law, clocks in public places may display nothing but eastern standard time, time clocks in the various stores, factories and offices will be advanced one hour and the entire city will be virtually observing daylight time throughout the summer.

Train schedules on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad will be changed to conform with daylight saving time commencing at 2 a. m. on Sunday, April 29, and continuing through the summer to 2 a. m. on Sunday, Sept. 30, according to an announcement from the president of the road.

During the period of daylight saving all offices, including freight offices, shops, storehouses and other departments will open and close one hour earlier. For example, offices now opening at 8:30 a. m. and closing at 5:30 p. m. will open at 7:30 a. m. and close at 4:30 p. m., eastern standard time.

Under the federal law, standard time wil govern the movement of all trains, but schedules wil be re-arranged so as to conform with daylight saving time.

Y. M. C. A. ANNUAL REPORTS SHOW HIGH MARK PERIOD IN ASSOCIATION

Annual department reports which showed the year at the Norwich Young Men's Christian association to have been the most successful in activity and interest were presented Wednesday night at the annual meeting held at 8 o'clock, following a board meeting which was held at 6.15 with a supper. For the 23rd year in succession it was shown that all bills for current expenses have been paid and there is a treasury balance of $480.

Herbert B. Cary, who has been acting president for the larger part of the year, due to the regretted illness of President James C. Macpherson, made a brief report as acting president, and B. P. Bishop offered the prayer with which the meeting opened.

HERBERT B. CARY
Elected President

The following list of officers was elected as presented by the nominating committee: President, Herbert B. Cary; vice presidents, Judge Allyn L. Brown, B. P. Bishop, George H. Loring, James L. Case, Shepard B. Palmer, William G. Park, William Henry Allen, James C. Macpherson; directors, Archibald Mitchell, 4th, N. Eugene Smith, Walter E. Gilbert, Earle W. Stamm; trustees, Frank L. Woodard, Walter F Lester; recording secretary, E. Arnold Smith; treasurer, Arthur F. Wyman.

The nominating committee consisted of James M. Morton, Herbert W. Gallup, Harold S. Burt, C. Edward Smith, and A. F. Wyman.

President Cary has been a member of the association since a boy, when his uncle, the late N. L. Bishop, was president of the association, 1890-1900, and he has always been one of the most enthusiastic and earnest workers in the association activities.

General Secretary's Report.

General Secretary Edwin Hill presented his annual report as follows:

We have come again to the close of the old and the opening of the new year in the history of our association, and verily, we have never had greater cause for gratitude than we have at the present moment; first of all, of course, we are grateful to our Heavenly Father for His constant guidance, though we realize we have at times failed to follow this unfailing guide, and to the extent of our failure to do so our service has been incomplete. The second place in our gratitude rightfully belongs to the faithful men who constitute the board of directors of the association. They have shown uniform kindness and their patience with us is very deeply appreciated. They have nobly "stood by the ship," and have kept it steady by consistent heart interest.

We are also conscious of the fact that every individual who has contributed money, or time, or both, has had a real share in the effort of the institution to build and maintain noble character, for this is and must always be the fundamental aim of all of the efforts that we put forth. When we cease to aim for this high purpose, we cease to be a real Young Men's Christian association.

I want to express my personal gratitude to my co-workers on the paid staff for all they have done to make possible the degree of success that has attended the work of the past year.

Our new assistant secretary, P. Leslie Conklin, who came with us last October, has proven a very consistent and faithful member of the staff, and we are glad indeed to commend his work.

I am sure we all join in expressing gratitude to our faithful Women's auxiliary, for their labor of love and practical helpfulness.

Recognition of Faithful Service

This report would certainly be incomplete without the mention of the long and faithful services of our former president, Mr. James C. Macpherson, who, during the past year felt obliged to lay down his duties on account of ill health. Mr. Macpherson's services as director, vice-president and as president needs no commendation of mine, (though I highly commend them), for the record of the association's success during the years of his leadership is the story of real achievement. Let us hope, that in due time, the health of our brother may be restored.

Gone, But Not Forgotten

The ranks of the employed staff was broken into by death last August, when our faithful co-worker, friend and brother, Mr. Lewis R. Church, left us to join the ranks of the redeemed "in the other country."

Through my many years of service in the Y. M. C. A. I have had linked with me on the employed staff a number of rare men, but among them all I have never known one more faithful to duty, more sacrificial in spirit nor more true in genuine Christian friendship. Brethren, I am lonely for him still, and we all will continue to miss him, because of what he was and what he did for the Norwich association.

Brief Summary of the Work

As we go back in thought through the year just closed, and compare it with the years preceding, I believe we can justly state that we have had none better; in fact, in many ways this has been the banner year in our history. Never have so many boys and men enjoyed our privileges, and never, since I have known this association, has there been quite so much enthusiasm manifested in the various departments.

The Physical Work

While the various classes have had a good attendance, basketball has had a great run. Often our large gymnasium has been crowded to capacity by patrons of this popular game. The use of the gymnasium by the Academy athletes, the senior and junior church leagues and other groups indicate the pleasing fact that more and more our Y. M. C. A. is becoming a center of physical activities.

The interest in the work for girls and women each Wednesday afternoon and evening has been splendid, and these privileges are much appreciated by the opposite sex.

The shower baths and the attractive Osgood Memorial swimming pool have attracted large numbers of boys and girls and men and women, and these privileges are still a great asset to the association, and will continue to be.

It can justly be stated that the past year has been a banner year, if not the banner year in this very important and vital department of our work. The membership of boys has increased in numbers and the use of the privileges likewise has proportionately increased. At times the boys' department has appeared like the proverbial "bee hive."

This is as it should be, and forecasts good things for the future, for a healthy boys' work in the "Y" is essential to the growth of the whole institution. A perusal of the report of the boys' work committee will prove interesting and profitable. I refrain from going into detail as this will be found in the department report.

The Religious Work

Here, again, we cannot refrain from expressing gratitude once more for the endowment that has made the soul ministry possible.

The Sunday services have been largely attended by both sexes, and on several occasions we have had capacity audiences. The moving pictures were freely used, and the messages were definitely spiritual.

The larger aspect of our religious work deserves more than a passing mention. On two occasions the noted lecturer and writer, Margaret Slattery, has spent Sunday in Norwich under the "Y" auspices, and on the occasion of each visit she has spoken to a large audience of young people and to a second audience of adults. Dr. Henry Crane and Dr. Henry Howard have each delivered a series of sermons which have meant much to the spiritual interests of the city and surrounding territory. The churches have united with the association in these fine series, the "Y" taking care of all the expenses.

One of the finest phases of our religious work for the past five years has been the Friday lenten noon services, which have been attended largely by business men. This season, Dr. B. T. Marshall was the speaker at five of the seven services, his general topic being, "Taking Jesus Christ Seriously." Dr. S. H. Howe and Dr. David A. Pitt each delivered an address in this series. Many of us will long remember the spiritual inspiration derived from these meetings.

The noonday shop meetings addressed by Rev. C. H. Ricketts were enjoyed and greatly appreciated by the employes at the Radiator plant.

The men's Bible class interested a goodly group of men.

The Social Work

More and more we are finding out that unless there is plenty of sociability within the association buildings, the "Y" is a rather cold proposition, and therefore we aim not only to arrange special social occasions, but we endeavor to create and maintain a daily social atmosphere, so that the fellows will feel at ease and at home; indeed, a well-regulated Y. M. C. A. should really be the "down town" home for men and boys, and more and more our association is becoming just that to many. The game tables were never used more than the past year.

The Dormitory

An average of 18 men have occupied the sleeping rooms during the year, and while these rooms are not as attractive as those in a building specially built for a dormitory, yet the men find much comfort and pleasure in their Y. M. C. A. home. The committee expects to make the rooms more attractive during the coming year.

Appreciated Co-operation

We recognize the value of the ministers of the city to an institution such as ours, and we appreciate greatly all they have done in rendering service whenever called upon. More and more we must recognize that after all, the Y. M. C. A. is a child of the church, and recognize this, it has been a pleasure to co-operate with the church, the greatest institution in the world, whenever possible.

The daily newspapers have been splendid in their helpfulness, their liberal co-operation in opening their columns to the interests of our work means more than we can ever know. We thank the management for their practical help.

For every kind word of encouragement spoken, and for every bit of service rendered we are profoundly grateful.

Our Special Needs

We need to greatly reduce our mortgage indebtedness.

We need the help of friends to complete our new building.

We need a larger amount in contributions for expansion.

We need a larger endowment for the growing work.

Finally

We approach the new year's work with a keen sense of the responsibility that rests upon us; a responsibility that calls for genuine consecration. Problems are bound to appear; difficulties will doubtless arise, but we are not alone in this service. If we seek God's guidance, and finding it follow it, victory is certain, and we can confidently expect to enjoy the smile of God upon this, His work, through the entire year to come. Let us move forward in the spirit of cooperation with the gracious Father, and with each other, with the high aim of leading men and boys, more and more to Christ's way of life, which is the highway to noble living.

STONINGTON MAN FATALLY INJURED; HIT BY TROLLEY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 11—John Johnson, 35, of Stonington, died in the Westerly hospital shortly after midnight from injuries received about 8 o'clock when he was struck by a one-man trolley of the Groton and Stonington Traction Co., near Grand View park, just east of Stonington borough. Johnson had his left leg and arm so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate the members in an effort to save his life.

The rain and high wind are the contributing causes to the accident. John Montague, motorman of the one-man car, in his report of the accident to Superintendent Hobart said that when he approached Linden lane near Grand View he suddenly came upon a man and woman walking on the track toward the car. They had an umbrella which was held before them to shield them from the driving rain. Montague made every effort to stop his car but was unable to do so before it was upon the couple. The woman jumped clear of the track but Johnson was knocked down and under the car. Montague with the assistance of passing motorists pulled Johnson from under the car and calls were sent for the ambulances, both responding. However, Dr. Dennis E. G. Taylor arrived and the man was taken in his machine to the Westerly hospital.

The woman after stopping a few minutes at the scene got into an automobile and was driven away without her name being learned. Johnson was employed at the American Velvet Co. plant in Stonington.

MONEY GAVE CLEW FOR ARREST OF TWO SUSPECTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WORCESTER, April 11.—Boastful display of a huge roll of bills led to the arrests of two alleged Worcester bandits now held also on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Connecticut State Patrolman Irving H. Nelson at Pomfret, Friday night.

The youths arrested here were Roland Lalone, 21, an automobile mechanic, and his pal, Albert Raymond, 20, a painter. Both were taken to Springfield where the police believe that they are members of the "ice box" bandit gang. Before they left here for Springfield Motorcycle Officer Raymond Gallagher of that city claimed to positively identified them as the gunmen with whom he engaged in a pistol duel Friday on State street, Springfield, before the hour of the murder in Pomfret.

The two youths charged with assault with intent to kill Gallagher and now in the shadow of more serious charges, would still be at liberty had it not been for the tip regarding the roll of bills.

Lalone was alleged to have displayed them to a friend Saturday morning. When the police received this information today Lalone was at once picked up and his alibi that he was at a theater with Raymond Friday night resulted in the arrest of the second man.

ARRESTED IN MANVILLE FOR DUNHAM ST. BURGLARY

Ovila DesRochers, 37, of this city, is held at police headquarters on a charge of burglarizing the home of Mrs. Peter Peraldo, No. 88 Dunham street. DesRochers was arrested in Manville, R. I., Wednesday and was brought to Norwich early Wednesday evening by Sergeant Albright of the state police barracks at Groton. He is being held in bonds of $2,000, and will be presented in the city court this (Thursday) morning.

DesRochers is charged with breaking and entering the Peraldo house sometime Monday and with taking three watches, a diamond ring and about $100 in cash. The jewelry and all but $35 of the money has been recovered, it is understood. Mrs. Peraldo made a report of the burglary Monday afternoon. She stated to the police that the burglar got into her bedroom through a window, the pane of which had been smashed. She is employed during the day and stated that the break was probably made sometime Monday morning.

The trouble lasted about three months.

YANKS WALLOP A'S; BROWNS, NATS AND INDIANS ARE OTHER WINNERS

PHILADELPHIA, April 11—(AP)—Lefty Grove could not stop the New York Yankees in the opening of the American league season today and the world's champions won from the Athletics, 8 to 3.

About 20,000 shivering spectators saws the Athletics' crack southpaw fill the bases on three passes in the second and permit his rival lefthander, Herb Pennock to drive two runs in with a single. In the next inning the Yankees bunched hits to score three more. That finished Grove and two recruits, Shores and Powers, pitched the remainder of the game.

Babe Ruth scored three runs without the aid of a homer. He walked twice and hit a triple. Ty Cobb, starting his 24th year in the major leagues, singled on his first appearance at bat and drew two passes. Tris Speaker in his debut as a Philadelphia player failed to hit safely. Bing Miller, playing left field in place of the sick Al Simmons, had a perfect day at bat with two singles and a double.

Herb Pennock pitched the whole game for the winners and was not threatened.

Ernest S. Barnard, president of the American league, watched the game.

Indians 8; White Sox 2.

CHICAGO, April 11—(AP)—Cleveland walloped the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 2 in the opening game of the fore a crowd of 30,000. The weather was chilly but a warm sun from the cloudless sky beamed down on the playing field.

The Cleveland sluggers tagged Ted Lyons and Connally who relieved him in the eighth for 13 hits, while Geo. Uhle although touched for nine safeties, was seldom in danger due to faultless support.

The White Sox played a ragged game in the field, committing four errors which helped Cleveland in their run getting. Cissell, Chicago's new $135,000 shortstop contributed three hits, including a double, but was guilty of two errors.

Eddie Morgan, Cleveland's new outfielder attempting to fill Tris Speaker's shoes, wrenched his shoulder in the fifth inning and had to retire. Score.

DETROIT, April 11—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns invaded the Tiger lair in the inaugural game of the American league season for the two teams here today to defeat the Detroit team 4 to 1. Haskell "Josh" Billings, former Brown university pitching star, was relieved by Stoner in the eighth after the revamped St. Louis team led by former Tiger players had pounded out six hits for a total of four runs aided by two costly Detroit errors. Phillies 4, Brooklyn 3

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 11—(AP)—Jimmy Ring twirled a consistently good game today and was given great infield support in Philadelphia's 4 to 3 opening day victory over Brooklyn. The recruit Philly infielders, Kelley and Whitney, not only fielded sensationally but figured in the run-scoring off Jess Petty, crack southpaw, who gave way to a pinch-hitter. Brooklyn's first tally was a homer by Hendrick and the other two runs were the result of Pinch-Hitter Bressler's double with the bases full. Cold weather kept the crowd down to 12,000.

JACK DEMPSEY BACK IN NEW YORK DENYING COME-BACK

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—Jack Dempsey came back to New York today to dispel any lingering idea that he will change his mind and agree to fight Gene Tunney for the third time.

The old Manassa Mauler is through, he declared flatly, and all the gold in the vaults of Tex Rickard's six hundred millionaires couldn't lure him back into the ring.

"Everyone laughs," said Dempsey, "when I tell them I'll never pull on the padded mittens again. But I know when I've come to the end of my rope. Money no longer is an object with me. I have all I need. I can still walk around, I know what time of day it is—and I want to stay that way."

For the purpose of battling Jack Kearns, his former manager, in a legal ring for a purse of over $700,000, Dempsey came back today to the spot where he knocked out Jack Sharkey last summer and inaugurated a comeback campaign that ended in failure against Gene Tunney on the shores of Lake Michigan in September. He expects to stay here a month while the trial is on and in the course of his visit will see Tex Rickard, the man who gave him the chance to win the heavyweight title from Jess Willard at Toledo and the millions that went with the crown.

"Rickard is my pal," Dempsey said, "and I'd do anything in the world for him because I owe so much of my success to him. But because he is my pal, Tex would be the first to agree that my ring days are over. But I'll say this: If I ever have to fight again, for any reason, it will be for Tex."

Jack believes that Tom Heeney will give Tunney an argument but he hasn't much confidence in the Anzac's ability to win the title. A puncher, he believes, and not a boxer, will be the man ultimately to take the crown from the scholar of Greenwich Village.

"Jack Sharkey would have been my logical choice as the next champion," the old Manassa Mauler said. "He certainly gave me plenty of trouble and the right hands he threw into my chin in the first round didn't do me any good. But from what I hear he's gone way back and I'm sorry. He was a great prospect."

ROOKIES HAVE BIG TIME ON COLD OPENING DAY

(By the Associated Press)

Rookies held a big share of the opening major league spotlight as cold weather chilled the enthusiasm of the veterans.

Newcomers such as Andy Cohen of the Giants, Whitney of the Phillies, Cissell of the White Sox and Purdy of the Reds were stars at bat while Heilmann, Cobb, Cuyler and Hornsby found trouble getting the range.

Paul Waner, National league batting king, got off to a flying start with three hits, including a double, off Cardinal twirling. Babe Ruth didn't collect a homer but banked out a triple, walked twice and scored three runs.

Here's what the 'Big Six" of 1928 did on opening day

DETROIT WITH 40,000 HAD LARGEST OPENER CROWD

(By the Associated Press)

The smallest attendance in six years marked the opening of the major league baseball season. Unusually cold weather, especially in the east, cut heavily into the figures, which totalled 198,517 for the eight games as compared with pre-game expectations of 250,000.

This was nearly 30,000 short of last year's aggregate of 227,660 for opening day, when only seven games were played.

The biggest crowd of the day, 40,000, turned out at Detroit to see the Browns whip the Tigers. At the Polo grounds 35,000, the National league high mark, saw the Giants trounce the Braves. The totals:

NEW COAST GUARD TEAM AT PASTIME SHOW

"Pop" Connelly, boxing mentor of the Coast Guard amateurs, brings an entirely new team of boxers to the Pastime show on Friday evening which is reputed to be a fast one. It was disappointing news to know that LaBarra, the Coast Guard sensation along with Tauff and several others had been transferred to the Brooklyn base. "Pop" Connelly assures the management of the Pastime show that he will bring in a team of seven boxers that is as good as the other boys that he has put on.

The Sub Base team including Dinty Moore, Fraser and Young LaValle, will be present and if possible the base boys will be matched against the Coast Guard team which will insure some real fighting. As everyone knows there is no love lost between these two branches of the U. S service.

The native sons, headed by the human windmill, Vic Darr, will be matched against suitable boys from the surrounding towns. Johnny Dosh, clever little boxer, returns to the ring after a month's layoff, and will be matched wit ha Westerly boy. Other local boys will be Mush Moriarty, Billy Hogan Johnny Foster and Young Mara, all favorites with the Norwich audience.

From Montville comes four heavy boys led by Harold Talbot, the trolley house champion, who only yesterday split a pair of perfectly good boxing gloves wide open with his terrific punching. His team includes Earl Gardner, Big Boy Hewitt and Young Kellor, all who weigh around the 160 pound class.

Capt. McLean and Bill Jackson will bring down a snappy team from the Thread City headed by Young McLean, protege of the fighting policeman. Others on the team will be Young Carpenter who is matched with Talbot as the feature bout of the evening. Young Bicknell and Kid LaValle. The captain says that he will bring down a 220 pound mystery boy if a suitable opponent can be found.

Jimmy Metcalf of Westerly, who is slated to meet Vic Darr, leads a strong team from the Rhode Island city. This team includes Young Comfort, Young Reta, and two other little boys from the Rossi stable.

All in all there are between 20 and 30 boys entered from various sections of eastern Connecticut and some fast bouts are expected. It is planned to have Bobby Mays do the refereeing again.

HIGH SCHOOL PROSPECTS

Wilby High (Waterbury)

Wilby high is a team hard to figure. Last year with a couple of players that were far above the average in high school ball they were easy victims for other teams that had no outstanding players. It was reported that internal dissension robbed Wilby's chances of getting anywhere in the Yale basketball tourney and probably that had something to do with her poor showing in 1927.

Roy Murphy, third baseman, is said to have received offers from at least three Eastern league teams and from his work against the Academy here last year he was deserving of them. However, the majority of the team seemed to falter once headed and after that they were easy victims.

Coach Jimmy Lee has a number of last year's men available and it may be that with the experience gained during the past campaigns that they will be able to make a real showing throughout the state this year. Wilby's chief rival is Crosby, these two tangling twice in the city series that draws large crowds.

A fairly heavy schedule has been arranged although it cannot be termed awfully difficult. Wilby plays the Academy here Thursday, May 3.

Tomorrow—New Haven Hillhouse

'BOUT SPORTS

Baseball is now on in full swing. The majors have started on their journey and so have the high schools, or at least, their season has been broken open. Local baseball gets on its way Saturday, and, incidentally, a lot of interest is being shown in the Academy-Alumni tilt.

KENT AND HARVARD 150 CREW IN DEAD HEAT

KENT, Conn., April 11—(AP)—Kent school's eight-oared crew held the Harvard 150 pound crew to a dead heat on the Housatonic river course this afternoon in the opener of Kent's rowing schedule. Last June a Kent crew went to England and rowed in the Henley regatta. The entire school has hopes that its crew this spring will be up to the skill and finish of its 1927 eight and the dead heat this afternoon gave Kent delight.

Kent was without the regular stroke-oar, Davidson, but in spite of what it considered a handicap it led the greater part of the distance of one mile and five-sixteenths. Harvard came up even in the final hard pull. The time was six minutes, 44 seconds.

BOXING JABS

Pastimes tomorrow night.

Jim Maloney, Boston heavyweight, started his come-back at Fall River Monday night with a technical knockout victory over Clem Johnson. It was a slow fight.

Al Koziol, local amateur lightweight and champ in Rhode Island in that division, will fight at the International bouts in Providence Friday night.

Phil Scott and Roberto Roberti meet at Madison Square Garden, Friday, May 11, in a heavyweight encounter. Rudy Wagner and Big Boy Peterson meet in the semi-final.

Bruce Flowers and Joey Kaufman tangle Monday night at the New Haven Arena.

The Duwells will run their next amateur show a week from Friday at the state armory.

The state title bouts will be held in New Haven tonight and tomorrow instead of next Thursday and Friday.

The Duwell team will compete, probably having six or seven men, while Jimmy Quinn, crack local featherweight, is also entered.

Kid Kaplan and Georgie Day have now been matched for a bout at the New Haven Arena on Friday, April 27.

ANDY COHEN LEADS GIANTS TO WIN; REDS, CARDS AND PHILS ALSO VICTORS

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—Andy Cohen outplayed the famous veteran he succeeded, Rogers Hornsby, today as the New York Giants walloped the Boston Braves, 5 to 2, before a shivering crowd of 35,000 fans.

While Hornsby was held to a solitary single Cohen sparkled around second base and led the Giants attack with his sensational hitting, scoring two runs and driving in two others. The young Jewish star was given an ovation and carried from the field by a crowd of admirers.

Benton carried off the pitching honors but his rival, Bob Smith, accounted for the only Boston runs with a homer with Burrus on base. Eddie Roush roamed the outfield far and wide to make eight putouts.

Cards 14, Pirates 7

ST. LOUIS, April 11—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals got off to a flying start in the 1928 National league pennant race by walloping the Pittsburgh Pirates, last year's flag winners, 14 to 7 here day.

The opening day of the league's fifty-third season was perfect. Mayor Miller tossed the first ball after Manager McKechnie was presented with a bouquet of flowers by admirers. John A. Heydler, president of the National league was here to add to the impressiveness of the opener. He made the journey from his office in New York to attend.

The weather was fine and a crowd estimated at 21,000 attended. The game was a rout for the Pirates. Their star pitcher, Ray Kremer was knocked out of the box, and two of their second string hurlers were badly pounded by McKechnie's men who got a total of sixteen hits, including two home runs and five doubles.

Everybody on the Cardinal team took a hand in the slugging, each player pulling up with at least one hit. Frankie Frisch and Jim Bottomley led with three hits apiece. Frisch had a home run and two doubles and Bottomley had a home run, a double and a single.

Jess Haines, Cardinal pitcher, was also hit freely by the Pirates and they piled up 15 safeties off the right hander, but for the greater part of the game Haines was working behind a lead which enabled him to take it easy.

While Pittsburgh was still in the game their hitters were a constant threat, Grantham and Smith bunching singles with a base on balls to Barnhart in the second for their first run and the Waner boys got singles to score their second run in the third.

Reds 5, Cubs 1

CINCINNATI, O., April 11—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds inaugurated the race for the National league pennant by trimming the Chicago Cubs 5 to 1 today. Hargrave and Dressen started the action in the fifth and both scored when Gabby Hartnett overthrew third base while trying to frustrate a double steal.

The two unearned markers gave the Reds a margin for victory for the only Cub score was tallied on Maguire's circuit drive into the left field bleachers in the sixth.

Among those attending the opening game were Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, William Wrigley, owner, and President Veeck of the Cubs, Governor Vic Donahey and his party from Columbus.

Senators 8, Boston 4

BOSTON, April 11—(AP)—A crowd of 10,000 braved the cold to watch Washington defeat Boston, 8 to 4, in the first major league game here this season. Marberry pitched well for Washington but the Red Sox' four hurlers were wild and erratic, walking eight. Ken Williams gave the home fans something to cheer about in the sixth when he crashed a homer into the right field stands with a man on base. The game was delayed until the arrival of Governor Alvan T. Fuller, who hurled out the first ball.

BILL RINGLAND PLAYING GREAT GAME AT WM. AND MARY

Bill Ringland, local boy, is playing a fine game at third base for William and Mary college at Williamsburg, Va. Against All Fons of Holy Cross, Monday, Ringland collected two of his team's five hits, getting a triple and a home run in five trips to the plate. He also played a nice game in the field, having three assists and three putouts with one error. His team lost, however, to the Crusaders, 8 to 3. Last Friday, Ringland scintillated in his club's victory over Yale.

Home runs come in bunches to eastern Connecticut's representatives, it seems, for on the same day, Monday, Eddie Mansfield, ex-Bulkeley athlete, hit one for Catholic university against Boston college.

JIMMY TROLAND TO PILOT TAFTVILLE A. A. THIS YEAR

James H. Troland, the composite McGraw and Connie Mack of Taftville baseball, will be at the helm of the Taftville A. A. baseball club this season, according to a vote taken at the meeting of the association held in Ponemah hall last night. Archie Mueller was elected president of the association with George Weller as treasurer, Henry Pepin, financial secretary, J. H. Troland, recording secretary, Patrick Fogarty, Henry Pepin, Ernest Phaneuf, Richard Nafie and Henry Roy, directors. The meeting adjourned until next Wednesday night when plans for the playing season will be mapped out.

Manager Toraind stated last night that it was intended to open the season about the middle of May and that work on a schedule would begin as soon as certain difficulties could be cleared up. New uniforms will be ordered within the next few days and Taftville will be represented by one of the best dressed outfits in the state.

CLARENCE DEMAR ENTERS BOSTON MARATHON AGAIN

BOSTON, April 11—(AP)—Clarence H. DeMar, of Melrose, America's premier marathon runner, today entered the Boston marathon for the tenth time. The veteran has won the annual grind five times, in 1911, 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1927. He has never finished worse than third in the other four attempts.

To date 165 runners have entered the 26-mile, 385 yard race from Hopkinton to Boston, which, as usual, will be held on April 19th. This year the Boston classic will be the final Olympic marathon tryout.

DeMar, in former years one of the first runners to send in his entry, delayed until today to obtain a

Everyone can take advantage of this Trade-in Sale, no matter how much or little the tires are worn.

Every Make, Every Size, Old or New, Will Be Taken In

We'll buy your old tires and pay liberally for the miles left in them—the blowouts and road troubles in the old tires, too. Get rid of your doubtful tires before they go out. They're worth more to you off your wheels than on. You trade in the old tires for more than they're actually worth to you today and get in exchange new Dual Tread, "Proper Size" Generals that will run through several seasons in comfort, safety and style at the lowest cost you ever paid.

Never Before Has Top Quality Cost So Little—Never So Easy To Pay For

When the Trade-in Sale opens tomorrow morning, car owners who have thought Generals too high for the average pocketbook are going to be surprised.

We know that once they ride on GENERALS there will never be a question of the cost again, even if tire prices should go to the highest peak.

We want every car owner in the city and vicinity to know what it means to run on Generals—how little it costs to enjoy top quality mileage ANYTIME and particularly now with the special opportunity this Trade-in Sale offers for getting started.

The Fast Get-Away —the Quick Stop of Modern Motors Demand Modern Tire.

What OTHER tire has kept pace with the rapid development in motor cars, particularly in the past two years—their higher speed, extra power, quicker get-away, sudden stopping—punishment that tears down the ordinary carcass and grinds off the tread of any tire not built to meet the new driving conditions.

Built bigger and better through and through. Not merely thicker in tread—not merely more rubber on the surface. Even some of the cheaper tires can copy the thickness of the tread, but it isn't only the amount of rubber that counts with General—it's the kind. Not simply more rubber but more pure rubber, more per tire—and not only more in the tread but more inside.

Bigger, thicker tires and more quality in the rubber—that is the sort of tire foundation the modern motor car must have. It is the reason for car owners everywhere turning to top quality—

Protection That Cannot Be Duplicated By Any Other Tire

It's not only the second 10,000 miles that makes the big hit, but the uninterrupted service that carries through to the last mile—the protection that can be given only when it is built into the tire—

Not the protection that dodges the question of natural wear and insures against accidents by promising free repairs—

Not the sort of protection that you collect on only by having trouble—But the "top quality" protection that means avoidance of delay, of dirt, of soiled and sometimes spoiled clothing, of ruined tubes through going flat.

These are the real protections that car owners want today, particularly since reclaimed rubber in tires has proved such a troublesome experiment for millions of users by causing tires to go out prematurely.

During This Sale the Friends We Make Are More Important Than Profit

No other occasions in the rubber industry have so stirred the wholesale response of the car owning public as have these annual spring trade-in events.

Created originally by General in 1926, it has been widely imitated, but after all, General's top quality is the one possible basis for success, for giving to the public the genuine values of the Trade-in Plan.

Without that feature of quality leadership which only General can give, the Trade-in Sale would not pay us. We can afford it only because of the assurance that customers taking advantage of this sale will "roll with us" for years to come.

Our one big object is new customers by the hundreds. We count upon the long term patronage that top quality wins.

The Used Tires Go On Sale As Fast As Taken In

You'll find rare bargains in almost every make—every size—many only slightly worn—others we will recondition—and many brand new tires will be turned in, too—all go on sale—select yours early.

GRAFLIN HOUSE AND BARN BURNED THROUGH GRASS FIRE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

MYSTIC, April 11—The residents on the west side of River road near Porter's rock had an exciting time this afternoon, when the deserted house and barn owned by Mr. Graflin, a non-resident, were burned. Men employed on the road and the neighbors noticed a grass fire near the house, which soon reached the building and it was quickly in flames. The blaze spread to the barn, burning that and the wind blowing hard at the time made it difficult for the people to help put out the fire. A still alarm to the fire company in Mystic was promptly responded to and with chemicals the firemen kept the nearest house and buildings, formerly the home of the late Amelia Mitchell, now closed, from getting on fire. Many men gathered and fought the blaze, preventing it from reaching the woods and endangering other nearby property. The rain later put all fear of its going further damage out of the question.

Auction Rooms

Odd sofas, antique brass, old mohair chairs
All brought their price. Now they are bidding on A baby's crib. Who here, I wonder, cared
About its history. See, they bid, One
One dollar! Gone! Ah, Buyer, do you know
That crib's first cost? A bride's young life . . . and then
A lover-husband's poignant double woe
As his too lonely babe went home again. . . .

And now you pay a pittance for this thing
Round which a woman's tender dreams all crowd
Like wistful ghosts forever hovering.
Yet surely her fair spirit must be proud
To know some other child is swinging there
And does not miss a mortal mother's care.

—Agnes MacCarthy Hickey, in Harper's Bazar.

Out of Every Day

In memory's quiet corner
I keep hidden away
The vivid snatches I like best
Cleaned out of every day.

Last night I put in bits of sky
As stars were coming through
And yesterday a scrap of cloud
Pinned to a piece of blue.

Today I listened to a song
Twine round a chimney top,
It flowed down from a swinging bird
Bleak rain could never stop.

And once I caught the laughter
Of a runaway brook;
Another time I netted
Affection's flashing look.

But oh! just now I heaped in
A thousand new-hung flags
That danced for me on a spring-glad tree
Like merrymaking wags.

—Agnes MacCarthy Hickey, in Christian Science Monitor.

There are as many things in pawn in Paris as there are families and the Credit Municipal, popularly called "The Nail," ranks with the big banks in its loan totals. There are at present 500,000 objects pledged for an average of $10 each and there is a constant turnover. Despite all the grumbling about hard times, there are more travelers to the Riviera this winter than a year ago. And they are making their trips in more luxurious and expensive style than ever before. Eight express trains leave Paris every night for Nice, Cannes, Monte Carlo and the other sunny resorts along the Cote d'Azur. Some of them are deluxe trains, composed entirely of compartment sleeping cars. On these the cost of travel a mile is higher than on any of the extra-fare deluxe trains in the United States. But they are crowded every night, more than half of the passengers being British.

For the twenty-sixth consecutive year, Frank S. Morse, 78, Nebraska City pioneer, journeyed to Wyuka cemetery near that city and placed a dozen and a half red carnations on the grave of Carl Morton. Twenty-seven years ago Morton and Morse, lifelong friends, shook hands and promised that the survivor would, on the anniversary of the first's death, place 18 carnations on his grave. Both were lovers of flowers, particularly red carnations. "I've never failed and as long as I live I never will fail in fulfilling this sacred trust," Morse said. "Carl Morton was a fine man." Morton, who was the son of the late J. Sterling Morton, originator of Arbor day and secretary of agriculture in President Cleveland's cabinet, died at Waukegan, Ill., less than a year after the pact had been cemented. His body was taken to Nebraska City for burial.

AVALANCHE OF BUYING ORDERS SENT STOCK PRICES SOARING YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—In one of the most startling reversals of price movement in recent stock exchange history, stock prices swept forward in sensational fashion today under an avalanche of buying orders for both investment and speculative issues. Net gains in the active shares ranged from 2 to 12 points while R. H. Macy soared 28 points on a few sales to a new high record at 150. So great was the volume of trading that the ticker fell 40 minutes behind the market at the close, the day's sales totaling 4,268,500 shares.

While the sensational rise was largely the result of influences set in motion by powerful speculative forces, the buying movement received considerable momentum from the lowering of the call money rate, reports that steel mill operations were being maintained at a high rate after a record-breaking first quarter output, higher denatured alcohol and flour prices, the publication of several favorable earnings reports by small industrial companies, and a brisk rise of 4 1-2 to nearly 6 cents a bushel in wheat prices.

The market showed considerable irregularity at the opening with a number of issues sagging 1 to 4 points on nervous liquidation inspired by the marking up of the call money rate to 6 per cent, yesterday and the renewal at the same figure today. Offerings were well absorbed, however, and the big pools quickly resumed buying operations in special stocks, a score of which were lifted to new high records before noon. The subsequent lowering of the call rate started a brisk covering movement by floor traders who had sold short yesterday in expectation of a sharp decline. The rally gained momentum as the session progressed with final quotations generally around the high levels of the day.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe soared 16 points to 277 and then slipped back to 270. Borden company, Brooklyn Edison, Continental Baking preferred, Lambert, Philadelphia company, Union Carbide, U. S. Tobacco and Western Dairy Products A moved up 7 to 11 points.

Bethlehem Steel assumed the leadership of the steel group by climbing 6 1-2 points to a new high record at 65. U. S. Steel common, after dipping to 145 1-8 in the early trading, rallied to 150 1-4 and closed just below that level for a net gain of 3 3-4 points. Crucible, Gulf States, Ludlum and Republic Steels showed net gains of 3 points or more.

General Motors resumed its old place as a market leader by soaring more than 8 points to 196 1-4, closing just below that level. Graham-Paige jumped more than 7 points to a new high at 39 1-4 and then eased to 38. Striking gains also were recorded by some of the accessory shares. Electric Auto Lite soared more than 13 points to a new high at 162 and then slipped back to 159. Briggs and Murray Bodies and Continental Motors also attained new high prices. Radio closed a point higher at 177 1-2 after having fluctuated between 173 1-8 and 181 1-2.

New York Central assumed the leadership of the railroad group by advancing 4 points to 181 1-2, a new high record for all time. Pere Marquette jumped more than 6 points to a new top at 146 but lost more than half of its gain. Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago & Eastern Illinois preferred, St. Paul preferred, Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific, Wabash and several others advanced 2 points or more.

The sharp rise in wheat, based on a radically low condition for the growing winter wheat crop, featured the commodity markets. Cotton futures advanced 50 cents to $1 a bale on buying influenced by reports of adverse weather. Coffee and sugar prices showed little change.

Call money renewed at 6 per cent and then dropped to 5 1-2 as funds flowed here from the interior. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges moved within rather narrow and irregular limits, with sterling cables quoted slightly higher around $4.88 9-32.

NEW LONDON COMPANY TO OVERHAUL SIX VESSELS FOR U. S. Q. DEPARTMENT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 11—The Thames Towboat company has been awarded contracts for repairing six vessels of the United States quartermaster's department, according to an announcement from officials of the company. The work will consist of a thorough overhauling of most of the boats. Three of the vessels that are to be worked on are expected to be in port sometime before the end of the month.

Six patients were dismissed from the Lawrence-Memorial hospital today: Edward Pierce, of New York; Mrs. Ernest Weise, Noank; Irene Dupuis, Groton; Rose May, of Moore court, and John Lounsbury, of North Stonington.

William C. Joye, a sailor, was before the police court this morning on a charge of intoxication. He was released after he had made arrangements to pay for a window which he smashed last night in one of the cabs owned by the Yellow Taxi company. The sailor, being well loaded with hooch, hired the cab and J. G. Fisher, the driver, started to his destination with Joye. Shortly afterward the sailor became boisterous and shattered one of the windows of the car. When he refused to pay damages, Fisher called Patrolman Cornelius Moriarty, who placed the disturber under arrest. Joye was arrested a few months ago on a similar charge, when he smashed a window of a Main street store.

Joseph L. Cascio, 50 Mountain avenue, was haled before the court this morning on a charge of reckless driving. The case was continued to May 12. Monday morning, Cascio was caught driving a car at a furious rate of speed down Montauk avenue. He failed to blow his horn or to slacken speed when making crossings. The wild drive was noticed by Patrolman Clarence Martin, who placed him under arrest.

James Mulgrue, arrested on North Bank street last Monday, by Patrolman Michael Dorsey on a charge of intoxication, was discharged this morning.

The continued case of Morris Greenblatt, of Waterbury, arrested on a charge of reckless driving last Saturday by Traffic Officer Frank Linehan, was nolled.

A telephone cable under the Hamilton street bridge was discovered down last night by Patrolman Braxton Hill. The telephone company was informed of the affair and repairs were made this afternoon.

The right to drive an automobile was denied Joseph Beaulin, sailor at the Sub base here, this morning, by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel.

A bill of sale has been filed in the town clerk's office by Stanley Leno, covering the sale of his meat and grocery store at 224 Main street to Boleslaw R. Sefick.

Allen T. Huxford, William Settara and Pearl B. Jones have incorporated the Ideal Linen Service in New London. The new corporation has a capital stock of $50,000; 2,500 shares of preferred stock at a par of $10 and 250 shares of common at $100 make up the authorization.

The funeral of Mrs. Assunta Giacomini, wife of Nazzarina Giacomini, formerly of New London, who died in Brooklyn, N. Y., was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. As a waiting hymn, Edward F. Murray sang "There's a Beautiful Land on High." The bearers were Attilo Oliveri, James McDonald, Frank Farina, Albert Ferro, Nicolo Bartolucci and Joseph Menghi. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Richard Smith, residing at 82 Tenth street, was painfully injured this afternoon when his foot was crushed between cars of the Central Vermont railroad. The boy was taken to Lawrence-Memorial hospital where an examination revealed that although the member was crushed and had received lacerations, no bones were fractured. The boy with several companions went to the East New London yard shortly after noon and engaged in play by climbing about freight cars. While the Smith boy was standing on the couplings of two of a string of cars, a switch engine attached itself to the first car. The bump caused the slack of the other cars to be taken up and the boy's foot was crushed between the couplings. Railroad employes went to the assistance of the youth, and after he had been given emergency treatment by a physician the boy was taken to the hospital.

Fire, which broke out last night at the Boys' clubhouse, 53 Granite street, owned by Frank S. Greene, did considerable damage. The building is used as a recreation center by the boys of Bulkeley school and it is thought that a carelessly tossed cigarette was the cause of the flames. The fire was extinguished by members of the Northwest Hose company, who responded to the alarm.

The annual Easter dance of Zeta Omega Delta fraternity was held last night in the ballrooms of the Hotel Mohican. About 100 attended. Dancing to the music of Fred Thumm's orchestra, Norwich, was enjoyed from 9 p. m. until 1. Patrons and patronesses of the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Beldon, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Edgar, Mrs. John Latham and Mr. and Mrs. Gurdon S. Allyn.

A card party for the benefit of the Goshen Fire company was held last night at the chapel at Pleasure Beach. Twenty tables of cards were played. The affair was under the management of Wilfred Mahoney.

A whist for the benefit of Hiawatha barnyard, No. 1, Dairymaids' association, was held last night at the home of Mrs. Sarah McCarthy, Orchard street. Eight tables were at play. The prize winners were: Mrs. George F. Hart, Mrs. Fred Goss, Mrs. Sarah McCarthy, Mrs. C. H. Thompson, Mrs. Nancy Noland, Clifford Sims, Franklin A. Thompson and G. F. Hart. A mystery prize was awarded Mrs. Louise A. Bishop.

Members of St. James' branch of the Girls' Friendly society held a very enjoyable dance last night at the Episcopal parish house. Sheps' orchestra furnished music. The dance was arranged by the following committee: Ida Pollard, Irene Jennings, Ethel Kjellander, Sarah Jordan and Lilian Myers. About 40 attended.

At a meeting of members of the Normal School Alumnae association, held last night at the home of Mrs. Helen White, of Prospect street, Mrs. William D. Harris was unanimously elected to succeed herself as president. Other officers elected are: Vice-president, Mrs. Leroy P. Gracey; treasurer, Mrs. Alfred A. Adams; secretary, Josephine Irland; member of executive board, Gertrude Fabricant. Following the business meeting those present enjoyed games until refreshments were served by the hostess.

Twenty-five tables of whist were at play last night at the hall of Aerie No. 394, Fraternal Order of Eagles, on Main street. The party was one in a series being run by this organization and before play began last night members voted to hold a whist party combined with an old-fashioned dance later in April. The prizes last night were $2.50 gold pieces and were won by Mrs. Louise Darrow, Mrs. P. J. Kane, Mrs. J. H. Higgenbotham, Mrs. G. Donahue, H. A. Kane, Louise Pelletier, John Grace and J. H. Shea.

Members of Connecticut College Alumnae association have voted the sum of $100 to the Frederick H. Sykes Memorial fund of the college. The vote was taken at a meeting held last night at the Y. W. C. A. The money will be turned over to the chairman of the fund. After business, refreshments were served during an informal social hour.

Miss Edith Keeney, of 80 Maple avenue, entertained Amoma circle, No. 16, of the First Baptist church at her home this week. After the business meeting, an evening of old-fashioned games was enjoyed. A feature of the program was an original poetical contest.

The new Charles B. Jennings school on Mercer street is crowded. While no overflow is expected for the balance of the present scholastic year, teachers fear that next September the enrollment will be so large that it will be necessary to house eighth grade pupils at the Nathan Hale grammar school.

Mrs. John Gormor entertained friends last night at bridge in her home, 49 Chappell street. Four tables were at play. The prizes were won by Mrs. Arthur M. Beckwith and Mrs. George F. Hanley.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

Our old friend, Adolphe Menjou, is back on the screen at the Palace theatre, this time without his dress suit—although he continues to exhibit his suaveness in the uniform of a French army officer seeing service in Algiers.

The picture, a Paramount production, is called, "A Night of Mystery" and is Ernest Vajda's adaptation of Victorien Sardou's stage play, "Captain Ferreol."

It is a new Menjou appearing on the local screen, for the story does not center about his heart-pirating; instead, he seeks to repulse the advances of a married woman. These advances bring him face to face with a murderer in the act of committing his crime, that murderer being a witness to one of his love trysts, so Menjou is unable to speak. Then when the brother of the girl Menjou really loves is charged with the crime he is faced with a serious problem.

"A Night of Mystery" is good entertainment all the way through, and the supporting cast that has been given the star is an unusual one, containing such names as Evelyn Brent, Nora Lane, William Collier Jr., Rauol Paoli, Claude King, Frank Leigh and Margaret Burt.

An exceptionally fine vaudeville bill has been booked for this week. The headliners are Bob Larry's Entertainers, one of the most pretentious jazz band revues on the vaudeville stage. It is in three scenes and combines some wonderful scenic effects with song, dance and comedy. Michael, the juvenile xylophonist is well worth hearing and his playing is without exception the equal of any xylophonist now appearing in vaudeville. Montagbo and Knapp present a comedy bit that is one continuous laugh.

Duval and Richardson present a splendid song and dance revue featuring an exceptionally daring dance number "The Caress of Sorrow."

Startman and Kane present a black face sketch that is a whirlwind of fun.

General Tire & Rubber Co.

General Tire & Rubber Co. announced today increases of 28 and 40 per cent in sales and tire production respectively, for the first three months of the fiscal year. Company officials declined to confirm reports printed in New York financial papers of sales for the three months totaling upwards of $26,000,000.

The company announcement, however, shows a substantial increase over average business last year, when The General factory led all other American rubber companies in sales gains with $24,000,000, according to annual statements of the various corporations.

Good business predicted generally throughout the country for 1928 should hold during the next four to six months is the opinion of General company officials. Volume orders and reasonably big production should be the rule for spring and most of the summer, they declare.

"Plant additions, new machinery and increased shipping facilities have made possible an orderly increase in production in our factories, without the necessity of taking on large numbers of new men," declared Charles Jahant, vice president and factory manager of the General. "Despite an apparent brisk spring business, it is our intention now, as in the past, to avoid over production.

"Selling our entire output, as we do, through our own dealers and not being dependent for normal operation upon uncertain orders from large automobile manufacturers, we are in position to sense fairly accurately the moods and buying capacities of tire consumers from season to season.

"Advantages accruing from this close knowledge of our market are reflected in smooth factory operation where we have steadily and carefully increased forces but on the other hand have not found it necessary to lay off a single employe for lack of work for more than six years," said Jahant.

Fortuny Fabrics at Textile Exposition

One of the interesting features of the textile exposition at Converse art gallery will be a collection of the prints of Mariano Fortuny, of Venice. By his unique process of printing on fine cloth, Mariano Fortuny has recreated, for real lovers of antique textiles, the rarely luminous quality and delicate shading of Renaissance brocades and damasks. In Fortuny Fabrics the richness of old Italian stuffs is obtainable at moderate prices.

This exhibition, held under the auspices of the Woman's City club and the Slater museum, will be open April 17 for the club members, and will be free to the public from April 18 to April 22, both dates inclusive. Hours on school days, 10:30 to 5:30; on Saturday, 2-5; on Sunday, 2-5.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

The real test of a pretty girl is to put her in styles of ten years ago.

How many girls of Norwich would look chic and charming in the styles of 1917?

Not many girls who might attract a second glance in modern flapper styles will show up to advantage in ancient clothes. This was demonstrated on the set during the production of First National's "The Patent Leather Kid," starring Richard Barthelmess, which is showing all this week at the Breed theatre, after a sensational Broadway run.

The set showed a flashy New York cabaret in 1917. More than fifty extra girls donned the old-fashioned cloth of that period.

Many who appeared natty in their street clothing were lost in the shuffle when they appeared in the tight coats and long skirts of the war days.

Others were even more attractive in the styles of that day than in those of the present. These were the really beautiful girls whose good looks were not ruined by a big hat perched high on a bundle of hair and other obsolete clothing of days gone by.

"The Patent Leather Kid," the great epic of the tank corps, is one of the big pictures of the decade. It is an Alfred Santell production, under the production management of Al Rockett.

Strand Theatre

"The Sporting Chance," a Tiffany super feature which is showing at the Strand tonight only is an interesting melodrama of modern life and has plenty of action combined with a good plot. The story centers around a beautiful girl, two men and a horse. Dorothy Phillips as charming as ever carries out her role to perfection and with the aid of Theo Von Eltz, George Fawcett and Lou Tellegan, the story progresses rapidly. There is an exciting horse race and also plenty of romance amid luxurious surroundings. The plot unfolds itself in an unusual and thrilling manner. If you enjoy a real good picture with plenty of variety entertainment in it, be sure to see The Sporting Chance at the Strand theatre.

"Rug Fiend" is an amusing Kartoon that will hand you some good laughs.

"The Honeymoon Hospital" is a delightfully funny Fox comedy with a clever cast of comedians who furnish plenty of action to a snappy story. It is one of those mirth provoking pictures that sends you home real happy.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, aspirant for the democratic presidential nomination, speaks tonight before the Democratic club of Harvard university

PLAINFIELD

About 12.15 Sunday night, Dennis Oulett's house, situated about a mill west of the village, burned to the ground. Practically nothing was saved but his automobile.

Mrs. N. Vaillant and daughter have returned home after spending the past week in Gilbertville, Mass. With Mrs. Vaillant's parents.

William Prentiss spent the week end at the home of his father, Rev. William C. Prentiss.

The Easter lilies and other flowers at the First Congregational church were distributed among the sick and shut-ins.

Miss Mary Burke entertained the Monday evening bridge club at the home of Mrs. Peltier, Pleasant street. The prizes were won by Miss Pauline Peltier and Miss Eva Higginbottom.

Curtis Phillips was a recent visitor in Boston.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Landry, of Packer road have been felicitating them on the visit of the stork to their home, April 10th as noted in the regular column of The Bulletin today (Thursday).

Miss Victoria Piche is entertaining guests from Hartford.

Mrs. Winifred Gardner has returned home after spending a few days in Westerly.

WESTMINISTER

Easter services at the Congregational church were conducted by Rev. J. P. Ayer, chaplain of the state senate. The children gave a special Easter program arranged by Miss Nellie Collum and Florence Jones. Mrs. Charles Phillips was at the organ and was assisted by Mr. Woodmansee on the cornet. Special Easter music, which included several solos and duets was rendered. A feature was the baptism of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pellett, by Rev. Mr. Ayers. George Engels and Miss Florence Jones were the sponsors.

Nine Easter lilies sent by Mrs. T. Edward Davies in memory of the late pastor, Ernest Douglas Macleod were grouped about the altar. The lilies came direct from Bermuda, the most beautiful ever seen here. Some stalks had nine blossoms. At the conclusion of the services the lilies were distributed to the aged and sick of the community and to the Westminster school.

Easter guests at Elm Orchard farm included Mrs. M. J. Johnson, Mrs. Martha Warren of Hartford and Harry Beers of South Norwalk.

From some undetermined cause a grass fire broke out just below Westminster hill Saturday afternoon. Howard Rix, fire warden responded quickly to the alarm an das plenty of help was available they made short work of the flames.

A novelty post card sent from Darien to Westminster has been the source of much merriment. The slightest pressure caused it to make a sound like a crying kitten. The R. F. D. man was at a loss to locate the sound for some time. The recipient of the card was equally sure that there was a kitten in the R. F. D. man's car.

GREGORY'S GETTING TO BE MORE POPULAR FOR ITS SUNDAY DINNERS

Gregory's Restaurant on Broadway has celebrated several birthdays as a part of Norwich's business and civic life. That eating place which started in this city several years ago has grown in popularity until the by-word "meet you at Gregory's for lunch" is as common among the business men and women as "I'll see you tomorrow."

Gregory's has builded its popularity on its good food at reasonable prices. It has become not only a meeting place for business men at luncheon but likewise for afternoon gatherings.

Gregory's just now is putting especial emphasis on its Sunday dinners. It's steak and chicken dinners are well known and they are getting more and more popular.

CONTRACTING DONE IN ALL ITS BRANCHES MERE JOB TO BIG WORK

In the day of specialization a contractor who tackles anything from a mere little job about the house to the construction of a modern apartment block, a business block or a factory is among the few to be had.

W. S. Spencer of the Disco Bldg. is a contractor on building of all descriptions. He will handle a job of repairs about your house, and the spring is an ideal time to have those little odd jobs done. He will build that driveway to your garage, paint up those walls before summer comes or he will build you a new garage.

Perhaps your floor needs refinishing. He has the sanding machines for the work and will do an ideal job.

Mr. Spencer says no job is too small nor none too large. He is always pleased to give estimates.

THIS NORWICH FIRM CAN HANDLE YOUR MOVING JOB

If you are planning to move in the near future perhaps it would be well for you to get in touch with John H. Ford, Phone 80, Norwich. This company makes a speciality of moving work, another large and modern moving van having only recently been added to the fleet. Whether it is a short haul or a long distance job the Ford company stands ready to quote you prices and also to guarantee that the moving job will be done in excellent manner, your goods handled with the utmost of care and delivered at your new home without the least sign of damage.

Besides light work, John H. Ford does machinery moving and crating. Why waste your time trying to crate things securely. It is the work of a practiced crater and moving man and can best be handled by them. Machinery runs into money fast and a poorly crated piece of machinery may be badly damaged because of poor crating. Crating by a Ford representative means real crating and it is a stamp of security on your machandise or machinery.

Local and long distance moving and light and heavy teaming are also carried on by this company and their word stands back of every moving contract. There are many people who have had Ford do their moving work for them and these people will be only too glad to recommend the John H. Ford company to you.

Before engaging anyone to move your goods why not call 80 and ask for prices. This company has all the equipment necessary for a safe moving job and the price is held at a minimum.

TAKE BROKEN UTENSILS TO THE NORWICH WELDING CO.

Oxcarts, cradles and flails were the main farm implements half a century ago. Today the tractor, mowing machine, binder, threshing machine and conveyor have replaced them. Stool, iron and other metals have taken the place o' wood.

In operating these machines, stones, stumps, furrows and hard usage often breaks a part of the machinery. Farmers therefore are compelled to spend many dollars each year replacing broken parts with new parts, often losing valuable time while waiting for the new parts to arrive from the factory.

Why spend money and loss time when you can save it? At 95 No. Main street, Norwich, is located the Norwich Welding company. This company makes a specialty of oxy-acetylene welding and this for you means savings in the bank.

All kinds of iron, steel, aluminum, brass and other metals can be repaired as good as new by the oxy-acetylene welding process. There is no delay while waiting for a part to come. The cost of welding is less than the cost of the new part. Large and heavy machinery often can be welded without dismantling the machine.

Large implements are not all that can be handled in this manner. Metal household utensils, often thrown away as useless, can be repaired by welding. Every thing from a skillet to a cream separator can be welded and made as good as new.

Broken and worn metal implements are no longer rusting on the scrap heap; they are back on duty again, repaired by welding.

How much have you paid out for new implements during the past year? Have you ever stopped to think of how much money you could have saved by visiting the Norwich Welding company and having them weld the broken utensils and make them as good as new?

No matter what you break, we assert that you are losing money if you purchase a new utensil before coming to us and seeing whether or not we can save the article by welding.

Perhaps you have cement work to do and need a good grade of sand for the work. This is the place where Mr. Main can serve your wants. Good sand and prices that are right will be furnished those who need the materials mentioned.

Before purchasing sand, gravel, stone or wood for your work why not put in a call to 2767 and secure his prices. You will save money by doing so and in the bargain you receive the best quality of materials with which to do your work.

GET YOUR ORDER IN NOW FOR DELIVERY ON FARM IMPLEMENTS

The farmer at this time of the year has but a short time in which to secure things needed for the farm. It is an ideal time for him to think about the machinery he will need to make his farm a better farm another year and to increase its profits.

The Eldredge Hardware Company of 85 Water street specializes in farming equipment and carries a full and complete stock on hand. Just this time of year they have the latest in all farm machinery that the farmer and the land and wood toiler may have ample opportunity to look them over.

SHOWS ROTARIANS WHAT STATE IS DOING FOR SPORTSMEN'S ADVANTAGE

John W. Titcomb, superintendent of the state board of fisheries and game, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Norwich Rotary club at noon Wednesday at the Wauregan hotel. The meeting was largely attended and the team captained by F. Russell Smith, losers in the recent attendance contest, was host to the winning team of which Dr. Hugh B. Campbell was the fortunate leader. The winners were served a luncheon of broiled chicken, which was greatly appreciated.

At the business session President Clarence A. Spear presided and matters of a routine nature were transacted. William G. Park was the song leader and many of the ladies' night songs were rehearsed.

Frank Davis, in charge of the program for April, introduced Supt. Titcomb to the members of the Rotary club and a number of guests, including William W. Ives and Dr. Harrison Gray, two enthusiastic fishermen.

Address by Supt. Titcomb

Superintendent Titcomb spoke in part as follows upon the subject "What Connecticut Is Doing for the Conservation of Fish and Game":

Concerning the activities of the commission, this is one of the busiest periods of the year. The commission is now distributing trout to the state-acquired waters and has approximately 200 truckloads to deliver.

Following the distribution of trout to state-leased waters the trucks will be busy all summer distributing fingerling trout ranging from 2 1-2 inches in June to five inches in October, to some 350 streams which will be stocked to their maximum capacity.

At the lobster hatchery in Noank we have in process of incubation some 75,000,000 eggs of the winter flounder or flatfish. The eggs were taken by the captains of four trawlers fishing out of Noank who had received instructions how to save and fertilize them. As these eggs would have gone to market to be discarded when the fish are dressed, their fertilization and hatching is the purest kind of conservation. Next year, with increased hatchery equipment, it is hoped to double the production of flatfish.

At two different points adjacent to Long Island sound we have been collecting smelt eggs from smelt caught by commercial fishermen. At Westport on the Saugatuck river, the hatchery equipment is full, some 80,000,000 eggs having been taken. At the hatchery in the town of Mystic we are still collecting eggs. This is the fourth year of this work. The progeny of eggs hatched go to sea and two years later return mature spawning fish. As a result of this work of the past three years a very remarkable increase in the number of smelt has been observed. It is producing sport for many anglers and maintaining a commercial fishery.

In a recent spawning season we gathered yellow perch eggs from the tops of willow trees to the number of about 40 million, and distributed and hatched them for stocking numerous lakes and ponds. This is not a fish story. I might explain that when the Connecticut river was 19 feet above its normal level, which happened to occur at the spawning season of the yellow perch, the temperature of the water dictated to the perch that it was the time to cast their eggs.

Perch hang their eggs near the surface on almost any material, dead or alive, in the shallows around the shores of streams and ponds. During the spring freshet to which I have referred their only alternative was to hang their eggs in the submerged tree tops. As the waters receded, we began by gathering eggs in the tree tops. By rowing around among the trees, using apple pickers with shortened handles for gathering the egg festoons below the water's surface, we save them from vast flocks of blackbirds which were ready to eat them as they became exposed. Thus by daily patrolling the spawning area, it was possible to conserve eggs deposited at various stages of water level from 19 feet above the grass land, down to about normal water level. By suspending these eggs in the water in wire cages, it is possible to incubate them at small expense. When about to hatch, they are transferred with the cages to the numerous waters to which they are adapted. They hatch a day or two later to replenish those waters with food for bass and pickerel and with pan fish for the anglers who enjoy catching a most delectable table fish.

I mentioned that water temperatures dictated the time for the perch to cast their eggs. Temperature dictates the movements of all fishes and especially their time for spawning. Sudden changes in temperature at the spawning season often result in serious interference with reproduction. There are poor breeding seasons for fishes just as there are for ruffed grouse and other game birds. This is one reason for fish culture. Water temperature has so much to do with the movement and feeding habits of fishes that eventually the angler will add a thermometer to his fishing kit.

Following the perch work we have the propagation of the Connecticut river shad, with an annual increase in hatchery output and with strong hopes of restoring a vanishing industry to the maximum capacity of the portion of the Connecticut which is now habitable by shad. In the early days shad penetrated as far north as Bellows Falls, Vermont, but are now limited to the Connecticut and its tributaries a few miles north of Hartford.

Another important activity is the netting of adult fish, consisting of bass, perch, pickerel and bull heads, from reservoirs used as municipal water supplies in which, as a sanitary measure, angling is prohibited, and the transferring of these fish to the lakes and ponds open to the public. In 1927 nearly 160,000 adult fish or about 50 tons were transferred to 44 ponds and lakes. Incidentally large numbers of bait fish are caught and transferred as food for the fishes of larger growth.

At present our nets are set in Lake Konomoc of the New London water system and quantities of adult fish are being moved to various waters open to the public situated in New London county.

All activities concerning wild life conservation are vested in the state board of fisheries and game. The commission consists of three members who serve without pay and confer monthly with the superintendent who has general supervision of the protection, propagation and distribution of game and fish, including fishes of the marine district, lobsters and crabs. Supplementing the work of this commission is the joint commission on forests and wild life which is made up of the fish and game commission and the park and forest commission. The function of this joint commission is to acquire wild lands for reforestation, game refuges and public shooting grounds. Lands thus acquired are under the supervision of the state forester with reference to reforestation, and the superintendent of fish and game for administration as to fish and game refuges and regulations pertaining to fishing and hunting. A third commission, not organized with reference to the conservation of wild life but of much importance to the sportsman, is the state water commission which has to do with the control of the pollution of waters and is accomplishing a great deal not only in the matter of preventing the spread of pollution conditions but in the purifying of many of our streams. The administrative and executive work connected with the state water commission is in the hands of two eminently well-known specialists.

I have tried to picture fish and game conditions in Connecticut as they are, but have at the same time called attention to the fact that our waters and covers are fished and hunted intensively. The more anglers and hunters within our limited area the less fish and game each man can expect to kill. To illustrate my point briefly, any person, resident or non-resident, by paying a nominal license fee can lawfully kill 15 cock pheasants and has 38 hunting days in which to do so. These pheasants have a market value at the time hunted of $4 to $5 each and those which are planted by the commission actually cost $3 at the place of purchase, plus cost of distribution. In other words, a skilled hunter with good dogs, can in eight days shoot his limit and have between $60 and $75 worth of pheasants. During the same open season a person has the right to kill three ruffed grouse per day and 21 during the season. He may take five woodcock per day or 36 in a season.

You will naturally wonder how this sort of thing can continue indefinitely unless the commission has more money for stocking with pheasants and funds for more rigid protection of game birds which have not as yet been successfully propagated. The primary object of the license is to raise the necessary revenue for conducting the work already described. The steady increase in the number of hunters and anglers is accompanied by a corresponding increase in the amount of lands and waters posted.

About 67 per cent. of all the hunters come from the cities and larger towns and probably 75 per cent. of the anglers live in cities and the larger towns. Very few of them own hunting and fishing rights. They are unavoidably the guests of the people on whose land they hunt and fish. The licenses merely give the privilege of hunting and fishing where so permitted by the landowners.

We have our troubles with poachers and a well organized warden system to enforce the laws. During the last fiscal year there were 546 arrests, resulting in the conviction of 94 per cent. of the cases and the payment of fines and costs of nearly $11,000. Among those prosecuted there were 53 aliens, who, under our laws, are not permitted to carry guns. Bootlegging in game birds and particularly the ruffed grouse, requires much attention. The man who has the means to pay a high price for grouse and other game birds, but who either lacks the inclination or is not physically able to hunt, is responsible for tempting a certain class of shiftless people to snare birds. These tempters should realize that unlike certain other prohibited commodities, birds cannot quickly be replaced. With the increasing number of game breeders it is always possible to buy game birds for the table and thus encourage a legitimate industry.

Bootlegging in short lobsters is another problem very difficult to control. Due to overfishing, lobsters are not increasing and those who buy immature lobsters should realize that they are threatening the extinction of a legitimate industry.

Were it not for strong sentiment in favor of law enforcement and the cooperation of numerous fish and game associations the conservation of our wild life resources would be impossible.

One of the serious calamities of the present day is the tendency to over-orderliness or misguided efforts in trimming up the fringes of trees in pastures and meadows along the banks of streams and along the walls and fences. Every person through whose land a trout stream flows, should consider not only his personal convenience but the value of the stream to the neighbors below him, and realize that if he deprives the stream of the natural fringe of shade—nothing more than alders—he is adversely affecting its productive value on his neighbors' land as well as reducing its normal volume of flow. The clearing up of swamp land at the head of or adjacent to a stream may result in the venting the spread of pollution conditions but in the purifying of many of our streams. The administrative and executive work connected with the state water commission is in the hands of two eminently well-known specialists.

TAFTVILLE

A gathering that completely filled the vestry and parlors of the Taftville Congregational church, witnessed the enjoyable comedy "Forty Miles an Hour" which was presented Tuesday evening under the auspices of the teachers of the church school for the benefit of the new boiler fund of the church. Over $40 was realized from the sale of tickets, and the affair was a most outstanding success in a social way. Those taking part deserved the liberal applause of the audience, and it is hoped that another such affair may be enjoyed in the near future.

The program opened with a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Troeger, followed by a tenor solo, The Song is Ended, by Richard Oat. Miss Flossie M. Meyer, soprano, and Miss Elsie Heap, contralto, sang the duet Whispering Hope. Harold Linderson, tenor pleased with the solo Dinna, and the musical program came to an end with another piano selection by Miss Troeger.

Those taking part in the comedy, Forty Miles an Hour, were as follows: Judge, Victor H. Davis; Mrs. Radly, Mrs. Harold E. Linderson; Mr. Radley, Harold E. Linderson, Grandma Radley, Miss Mary Greenhalgh; Peggy, Miss Gladys Thoma; Parker Doane, Richard Oat; Noonan, Robert B. Schmidt.

Standing makes back and legs ache

How ¾ of the workers in the Straus Silk Mills relieve tired muscles

". . . It's as good a job as any mill worker could ask—nice people to work with, good pay, fair conditions—but a factory job anywhere is bound to be hard work."

ONLY the mill workers themselves know how legs and feet can ache and how lame backs can be after a long day walking up and down a spinning frame.

Something they must have to take the ache out—to relieve the stiffness and fatigue which might otherwise make it necessary for them to miss many a day's work.

The workers in the Straus Silk Mills in Trenton are a particularly fresh, wholesome-looking lot of women. And so we asked them what they do to prevent aching and strain from standing at a spinning frame all day.

From three-quarters of them came promptly the answer, "I never use anything but Sloan's."

Everywhere the leading remedy for muscular pain

Everywhere you go you hear the same story from people whose work brings a strain on their muscles.

Read the experience of this New York woman—

"I had such a backache I didn't know what to do. I used Sloan's Liniment, and in half an hour I was better. Now, when anyone has a pain, I say, 'Use Sloan's.'"

Another woman writes—

"The pain in my back was like a knife stab and it left me helpless. Sloan's Liniment was given me to ease the pain and I am now able to do all my own work."

Sloan's Liniment is scientific—absolutely reliable because it works by the quickest, surest method known to relieve pain. It stirs up the circulation—brings new blood right to the spot where the pain is, sweeps away the cause of the trouble.

You can get it in any drug store. A bottle that will last you a long time for 35 cents. Use it for—

Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Lame muscles, Stiff neck, Colds and congestions, Sprains and bruises

A company doctor who cares for hundreds of workers every year says: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

FIFTEEN PERSONS WERE KILLED BY BOMB INTENDED FOR THE KING OF ITALY

Bomb Was Exploded by Terrorists on the Plaza Govilio Cesare, Milan, About the Time King Victor Emmanuel Was Due to Pass the Spot—Due to the Slowness of the Royal Procession the King Escaped Being in the Midst of the Disaster—At Least Forty Persons Were Injured—Public Opinion Demands That the Bomber, When Apprehended, Must Be Made Such an Example as Will Remove Danger of Repetition of the Crime.

MILAN, April 12—(AP)—Fifteen persons were killed and at least 40 injured this morning when a bomb placed by terrorists in the base of a lamp post lining the Plaza Giulio Cesare exploded about the time King Victor Emmanuel was due to pass the spot.

Thousands had gathered to salute the king, who was on his way to the fair grounds to inaugurate an exposition.

The king was delayed in proceeding to the fair grounds and it was due entirely to the slowness of the royal procession that the king escaped being in the very midst of the disaster. The first automobiles containing the sovereign, the members of his suite and accompanying municipal authorities, were still moving slowly along the Corso Vercelli, through enthusiastic crowds, before anything was known of the calamity, and then ambulances and litters were seen. Word of the explosion was kept from the king until he entered the fair grounds, a few minutes after 10 o'clock.

The base of the lamp post where the bomb had been placed had a circumference of about seven or eight feet. Therefore the explosive power of the bomb was increased many fold. When it burst, fragments of metal were scattered over a radius of an eighth of a mile. A huge hole was ripped in the pavement for a distance of a hundred or more feet, and great crevices were opened in the square.

A woman looking out of a window of a house nearby was struck by a flying metal splinter and killed instantly. A little girl, who was known to have been clinging to the lamp post to get a better view of the procession, was blown to pieces.

The courage and coolness of the soldiers of the Fifth Alpine regiment lining the route was highly praised by eye witnesses. Blinded by smoke and dust, and some of them wounded, their first thought was to aid the little children.

One of the Alpini was killed outright and at least six of them were badly injured and removed to a hospital. One of the latter is believed to have since died. It was reported that he was related to the pope.

Among the 13 civilian dead transported to the monumental cemetery, one was identified as Giuseppe Esposito, of the Public Security police. A brother and sister, Luigi and Rosina Ravera, age 5 and 3, respectively, were killed, as well as several other children.

In some official quarters the opinion was expressed that the attempt was not aimed against the king himself, but that terrorists took the occasion of the presence of the king at an immense gathering to commit a crime similar to that which on March 23, 1921, occurred in the Diana theatre in Milan through the explosion of a bomb which killed 21 persons and wounded 70.

But however the crime was committed and at whose instigation, whether anarchists, agents of the Third International or anti-Fascist exiles, as has been variously charged, public opinion here is unanimous that those responsible must be promptly brought to justice, affording such an example as will remove the danger of repetition of the crime.

Even extension of the provisions of the law passed in 1926, prescribing the death penalty for attacks on the king or the head of the government, should, in the opinion of many, be invoked in this case.

Having learned of the catastrophe, the king proceeded with the inauguration of the fair. He then hastened to the hospital where the wounded were taken and gave them his personal consolation, and when he returned he was given an ovation.

HOUSE TO GIVE THE FLOOD CONTROL BILL RIGHT OF WAY

WASHINGTON, April 12—(AP)—The $325,000,000 senate-Jones flood control bill was definitely assured today of the legislative right of way in the house next week but simultaneous with this decision by the rules committee republican leaders agreed to make a determined effort to modify some of the provisions of the measure.

Four of the republican leaders—Speaker Longworth, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority floor leader; Chairman Madden, of the appropriations committee and Chairman Snell of the rules body—at an informal conference tentatively agreed upon several amendments which they hope will be acceptable to the flood control committee which will be in charge of the bill.

Speaker Longworth said that the proposed amendments were designed to make the measure conform more closely to the original flood control plan submitted by army engineers, and also to meet the objections which have been set forth by President Coolidge.

Mr. Madden, who assisted in drafting the proposal, said broadly that they would give the president final powers of supervision over the flood control work; provided that states should furnish the lands needed for spillways and levee works; and, if the local contribution plan were eliminated completely, definitely state that the local contribution plan had been exempted specifically regarding the Mississippi project and not abandoned as a general policy.

Mr. Tilson explained that the revisions would be submitted to the flood control committee and that, if that body approved them, it would have the power to either reintroduce the bill to conform to the changes, or offer the amendments from the house floor. The leaders expressed hope that the amendments would be accepted, all declaring that they were anxious to get a measure that they could support.

TO CONFER ON AIR LINE FROM BANGOR TO BOSTON

PORTLAND, Me., April 12—(AP)—A two-day conference on the proposed air line from Boston to Bangor, will be held in Washington, D. C., next Monday and Tuesday by Governor Trumbull, of Connecticut, and representatives of the Colonial Air Transport Lines, it was announced here today. Governor Trumbull will fly to Washington Monday for the conference and will spend the night at the white house, returning home by airplane.

It is reported that progress is being made on this proposal. As the co-operation of state of Maine officials is necessary, Governor Ralph O. Brewster was interviewed and promised his full co-operation. An extension of the line to Bar Harbor is under consideration and is regarded as a possibility especially if President Coolidge decides to accept Governor Brewster's invitation to establish his summer white house at Bar Harbor.

The two-day conference in Washington is said to be directly linked with the aims of Maine to bring the president here, as the Connecticut governor has pledged to Governor Brewster his enthusiastic support of the Bar Harbor offer. Governor Trumbull will point out to the president that the proposed air line would make possible a one-day air service from Washington to Bar Harbor.

MAY NEED TITLE PLAY-OFF IN NATIONAL BILLIARDS

CHICAGO, April 12—(AP)—A play-off probably will be necessary to decide the national three-cushion billiard championship. With only five matches remaining in the tournament here, three players are tied for first place tonight with five victories and two defeats each. They are Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, the defending champion; Willie Hoppe, of New York, and John Layton, of St. Louis. The seven other contestants are considered eliminated.

All of the leaders have to meet each other before the tournament ends. Layton has the hardest schedule of the three as he must meet Reiselt and Hoppe.

Layton and Hoppe moved up to tie the champion in today's matches. Layton virtually eliminated Gus Copulos, of Detroit, 50 to 48, in 38 innings, one of the shortest matches of the tournament. With only one point to score to win the match, Layton missed an easy shot, pushing the match four more innings.

His attorneys immediately filed an appeal. The trial was the result of the discovery at Goshen some weeks ago of one of the largest illicit distilleries ever uncovered in the state.

The consolidation of the Penn-Ohio Edison company and the Northern Ohio Power company was approved by their respective boards of directors.

COUNTY COURT ACQUITS POWERS HAPGOOD AND WIFE

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 12—(AP)—Powers Hapgood and his wife, Mary Donovan Hapgood, formerly of New York, charged with inciting to riot in attempting to hold a forbidden mass meeting of miners in Pittston some time ago, were today acquitted by direction of the Luzerne county court.

Their acquittal was directed by Judge Benjamin R. Jones after Captain William A. Clark, commander of Troop B, state police, and Chief of Police McHale of Pittston, on cross examination said there was no semblance of rioting at the time the Hapgoods were arrested.

The arrests grew out of the feud among mine workers employed in the No. 6 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company which resulted in a series of shootings in which four men were killed.

Hapgood is employed in a mine here and has interested himself in the "save the union" movement. After a district organizer had been shot to death in the mine workers' office here, Mayor William H. Gillespie, of Pittston, fearing more trouble refused to sanction the holding of a mass meeting at which Hapgood was expected to speak. Hapgood and his wife were arrested in front of the Pittston state armory on a Sunday afternoon when Hapgood tried to make an address.

The Civil Liberties union interested itself in Hapgood's behalf. At the trial today he was represented by Arthur Garfield Hayes, of New York, who was assisted by Johnson Mulhern, of Wilkesbarre.

NEW STOCK TICKER CAN HANDLE 7,000,000 SHARES

NEW YORK, April 12—(AP)—A new and speedier stock ticker, capable of handling 7,000,000 share days on the stock market, is ready for the test of actual service, the New York Quotation company, announced today.

The new instrument, which in laboratory tests developed a speed of 900 characters per minute as compared with the 300 per minute speed of the present machine, has been demonstrated to the exchange's board of governors and now will be subjected to rigorous tests in service under the worst known conditions. The machine was developed and made by the Morkrum-Kleinschmidt corporation of Chicago for the quotation company, which is a subsidiary of the stock exchange which operates the ticker service.

For the present the company plans to put about 25 machines on a six months test. At the conclusion of the test, if the instrument is approved, installation will be begun in the entire territory of the company.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 12—(AP)—Lieut. Commander Joel T. Boone, of the white house medical staff announced today that Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who has been here visiting her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, ill at the Dickinson hospital, would leave tonight and return to Washington. A formal statement issued by the physician said:

At present the condition of her mother, Mrs. Goodhue, is such as to warrant the return of Mrs. Coolidge to Washington at this time. She plans to come back to Northampton again to visit her mother in the near future."

At the Dickinson hospital, it was said that Mrs. Goodhue remained comfortable and had been able to sit up in bed occasionally for brief periods during the last few days. She has been a patient at the hospital since December, when she suffered an attack of influenza.

Chief Justice George W. Wheeler's condition yesterday was reported as much improved, and it is anticipated that he will be about in a few days.

THREE MEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN A MINE

BOOMER, W. Va., April 12—(AP)—Three men were killed in an explosion in the mine of the Boomer Coal and Coke company here today. Eighty miners escaped. The blast was termed "a small local one" by R. M. Lambie, chief of the state mining department.

The bodies of the three victims were found in one room of the mine after rescue workers had labored for hours to reach them. Those killed were William Meleneric, engineer of the company; Rosco Withrow, his assistant and D. M. Hall, assistant mine foreman.

The explosion was the second in Southern West Virginia mines in April termed "the danger period" in mines because of the changing season. Earlier in the month eight miners met death in a blast in the Keystone mine at Keystone, McDowell county.

POLICE PRECAUTIONS ORDERED BY MUSSOLINI

ROME, April 12—(AP)—Premier Mussolini immediately ordered the severest police precautions taken at Milan and Rome and dispatched a special squad of inspectors to the former city with orders to leave no stone unturned to bring those responsible for today's bomb outrage to justice.

He sent the following message to King Victor Emmanuel at Milan:

"The startled soul of the entire nation entwines itself at this moment with ever and ever more intense affection about your majesty. The labor-loving rhythm of Milan and the nation's perfect discipline, will continue for the glory of the dynasty and the power of the fatherland. I beg your majesty to accept an expression of my profound devotion."

Mussolini ordered the podesta at Milan to take flowers to "the bodies of innocents struck down by the bestial criminality of impotent anti-fascism.

Senate Passes the McNary-Haugen Bill

Carries Features Which Caused President Coolidge to Veto It a Year Ago.

WASHINGTON, April 12—(AP)—The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, carrying features which caused President Coolidge to veto it a year ago, was passed tonight by the senate and sent to the house, where it is expected to approve it at an early date.

The vote was 47 to 23, as compared to the 47 votes cast for it at the last session. While the bill passed by more than the two-thirds majority which would be required to override a veto if it was regarded as doubtful that with the full membership present a two-thirds majority could be obtained.

President Coolidge has left no doubt in the minds of congressional leaders that the bill still carries features objectionable to him, principally the equalization fee by which it is proposed to raise funds to take care of the surplus crops so as to maintain prices of farm products at a higher level.

A direct showdown of senate sentiment on the equalization fee was provided by an amendment by Senator Sackett, republican, Kentucky, proposing elimination of that provision of the bill. The proposal was rejected, 46 to 31, after two hours of vigorous debate during which Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, in charge of the bill made an eloquent plea for enactment of the bill in the form the representatives of farmers' organizations had requested.

Before coming to the final vote on the bill itself, the senate rejected, 54 to 5, a substitute by Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, which would have provided for a direct government subsidy up to $600,000,000 to meet losses incurred by farmers in marketing their surplus crops.

The five supporting this measure, were Blaine, Borah and Brookhart, republicans, and Bayard and Blease, democrats. This vote came while a number of senators were absent from the chamber and as they came straggling in several voted for the Brookhart proposal only to change their votes later after they discovered their error. This caused laughter in the chamber and gallery and led Senator Borah to arise and announce that he did not change his vote.

Since congressional action on the McNarry-Haugen bill admittedly is playing its part in the pre-convention presidential campaigns, the chief point of interest for political observers was to see the presidential candidates lined up on the issue. The republican candidates split three and two, Curtis, of Kansas; Watson, of Indiana and Norris, of Nebraska, voting for the bill, and Borah, of Idaho, and Goff, of West Virginia, voting against it. That was the way they lined up a year ago.

Senator Fess, of Ohio, who is to sound the keynote at the Kansas City convention, and who has been prominent in the movement to draft Coolidge, voted against the bill. None of the democratic presidential candidates was present, but it was announced that Senator Walsh, of Montana, would have voted against it, and Senator George, of Georgia, for it. Senator Reed, of Missouri, who opposed the bill last session was absent on a speaking tour and there was no announcement as to how he would have voted.

Those who shifted positions since the vote a year ago were nine in number, with eight changing from opposition to suport of the bill. They were: Couzens, of Michigan, and Sackett, of Kentucky, republicans, and George, and Harris, of Georgia; Harrison and Stephens, of Mississippi; Heflin, of Alabama, and Overman, of North Carolina, democrats. Senator Gould, republican, Maine, was the only one for the bill last year who turned against it. He was absent, but paired.

ARGUMENTS ON NEW TRIAL FOR DR. MORRIS T. HORWITZ

BRIDGEPORT, April 12.—(AP)—Charges and denials of prejudicial argument to the jury in the thial of Dr. Morris T. Horwitz, of Bridgeport, upon a charge of performing an illegal operation, marked the arguments today before the supreme court of errors of an appeal entered by counsel for the doctor.

Dr. Horwitz was sentenced to state's prison for one to two years early this year after he was found guilty of having performed an operation, with fatal results, on Miss Dorothy May Reynolds, 18 year old cripple of this city.

Attorney Benjamin Slade, of New Haven, in his arguments for a new trial attacked the arguments presented in the trial court by State's Attorney William H. Comley as prejudicial, said they were made in an attempt to have the jury draw inferences regarding the character of Dr. Horwitz and as to his guilt.

These allegations were as promptly denied by the state's attorney as being "laughable" and not worthy of much merit.

Four Stowaway Girls Found on Naval Ships

Courts of Inquiry Have Been Ordered as a Result of the Discovery.

WASHINGTON, April 12—(AP)—Courts of inquiry have been ordered as a result of the discovery yesterday of four girl stowaways on board vessels of the South Atlantic fleet.

Naval authorities here declared they were informed that only four girls were found, but a report from Key West announced that four girls were landed there and St. Petersburg, Fla., police said they had information that Alberta Pool, a fifteen year old high school girl of St. Petersburg, had been put off the destroyer Billingsley at Mayport, Fla.

The names of the four girls landed at Key West were given in the report from that place, as Billy Lacer, Rose McGuire, Flossie Rice and Ramilde Avary. Navy authorities said the girls landed in Key West were from New Orleans.

A telegram to Rear Admiral Frank K. Clark, commanding the scouting fleet destroyer force, that a St. Petersburg girl was aboard the destroyer Billingsley, led to a search of that ship. Miss Pool was found, the Billingsley was ordered to put into Mayport and the rest of the fleet was searched. Advices reaching the navy department were that a girl was found on each of three ships, the light cruiser Concord, the destroyer Sands and the destroyer repair ship Dobbins. These vessels were ordered to St. Petersburg.

Naval officers of long experience could today recall but one other stowaway case in the navy. A girl completed the journey on board the battleship, Arizona, from New York to Panama in 1923. Twelve enlisted men received prison sentences as a result.

Secretary Wilbur said today that the courts of inquiry have been ordered held at the ports where the vessels put the girls ashore.

HOW FAR WILL SIX BOTTLES GO AMONG LEGISLATORS?

WASHINGTON, April 12—(AP)—The federal trade commission delved today into the publicity methods of Illinois public utility power concerns and diverted for a moment to consider how far six bottles of whiskey would go among 25 legislators.

The whiskey incident came at the close of the second day of the commission's renewed public hearings on the financial structure of the power industry, and went into the record in the form of a copy of a letter, admittedly written by Robert E. Prather, of Chicago, an official of the National Electric Light association.

It said that a "stormy session" of the Illinois legislature was in progress and that he could "use a little Johnny Walker to good advantage". It was addressed to H. M. Aylesworth, then the manager of the National Electric Light association. Prather asked that he "call on a friend of mine and bring me six bottles."

A trade commission investigator presented the copy as part of a memorandum, and Prather identified it as a copy of his letter and said the original had been destroyed.

He denied vigorously that he had given liquor to any members of the Illinois legislature, and declared the whiskey was for his personal use.

"How far," he asked the commission "do you think six bottles of whiskey would go among 25 legislators? I never gave a legislator a bottle of whiskey in my life."

INVESTIGATING THE DEATH OF MRS. ELEANOR K. GUTHRIE

MIAMI, Fla., April 12—(AP)—The death of Mrs. Eleanor K. Guthrie of New York, in a Miami Beach hospital last Tuesday was made the subject today of an investigation by the state's attorney and resulted in the detention of two men who had been seen often with her here since early February and one of whom posed as a relative.

The men, J. Tunstall and Edward Durant were arrested by federal narcotic agents after officers said Mrs. Guthrie's nurse told them she had admitted that she formerly was addicted to a drug and that white powder had been seen on her lips shortly after Tunstall visited her at the hospital.

YOUNG MOTHER'S HASTE CAUSED DEATH OF INFANT

NEW HAVEN, April 12—(AP)—A young mother's haste to prepare food for her three weeks' old son, resulted in the death of the child here today from scalding. The mother, Mrs. Edward Riley placed the baby in a deep chair after his bath while she went about warming milk for him and in some manner, tipped over a kettle in which she had placed the bottle containing the milk. The scalding water poured all over the child's body and although Mrs. Riley rushed him to St. Raphael's hospital, he lived only a few hours.

BOTH RAYMOND AND LELONE ARE HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR HEARING APRIL 23

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., —(AP)—While Albert G. Raymond and Rolande Lalone, of Worcester, were being held without bail in jail here tonight, on a Connecticut complaint, charging them with being "fugitives from justice for the crime of murder," local police announced they were satisfied they had forged the last link in a chain of identifications accounting for the suspects from the time they engaged in a gun battle here last Friday afternoon to the time they abandoned their machine in Dudley shortly after the fatal shooting of Trooper Irving H. Nelson in Pomfret, Conn., Friday night.

The police announcement followed the identification of Lalone by Russell G. Skinner, who said he witnessed the running gun battle with Motorcycle Officer Gallagher, and by Edward C. Mason, of Webster, who positively identified Lalone as the man he saw hail a taxicab driven by Frank Spinney in Webster the night Trooper Nelson was killed. The taxicab link in the chain, the police added, carries the men into Worcester, where they were arrested yesterday and identified by Officer Gallagher. They were identified later by Springfield victims of the "ice box" bandit holdup series and further by the son of a Willimantic gasoline station attendant as the men who stopped at his father's station before the murder of Trooper Nelson.

Following their arraignment this afternoon on local charges of assault with intent to rob while armed and assault with intent to murder, the pair were held without bail for a hearing on April 23 when all complaints against them will be taken up. The youths, after pleading not guilty, maintained the same stolid silence that has characterized them since their arrest.

Following his arrest by state troopers in Washington, in 1926, Lalone escaped but was captured after a long chase over the highway.

GALE IS BLOWING TOWARD THE PATH OF THE JUNKERS

Yesterday Passed Without Word of Any Ship Having Sighted the Plane—That Fact is Causing No Anxiety as Planes Which Made Successful Flights in the Other Direction Last Summer Were Seen But Rarely—Barring Mishap the Junkers Should Fly Over the Northern American Coast Early This Morning and Arrive at Mitchel Field at 6:30 P. M. (New York Time) Today.

By the Associated Press

With a rainy gale blowing toward its path from the east the Junkers monoplane Bremen, which left Ireland early yesterday morning with a three man German-Irish crew, was due, barring mishap to fly over the North American coast in the hours before dawn today.

After waiting two weeks in Ireland for favorable weather the Bremen took off at 12:38 o'clock eastern Standard time yesterday morning and headed for New York undaunted by the fate that has befallen every previous attempt to fly the north Atlantic from east to west in an airplane. Three other planes have made the attempt, but none succeeded.

The Bremen flew across Ireland at 90 miles an hour, and was seen to head westward toward its distant goal. The day passed without word of any ship having sighted the plane, but this caused no anxiety as it was remembered that the planes which made successful flights in the other direction last summer were seen but rarely after they left land behind them.

The weather was reported excellent over the first part of the ocean journey but the Bremen was expected to find the elements more unfavorable on this side. St. Johns, N. F., reported last night that although the weather there had been perfect all day an early gale with rain was forecast by the weather bureau.

There was a feeling in some quarters that the Bremen crew, although starting for New York, might very likely land in Newfoundland, content with having achieved the western passage. St. Johns reported, however, that even should the pilots wish to land they would have most difficult time doing so at night. No landing lights are installed on the field at Harbor Grace and the field itself is broken by frost.

Elaborate plans were made in New York to receive the airmen, Baron Ehrenfried Gunther Von Huenefeld, the sponsor and passenger-handyman, Captain Hermann Koehle and Colonel James Fitzmaurice, the pilots. As the plane was not expected until noon or later today the landing lights at Mitchel field were not burned during the night.

The flying field was to be policed today by large details of soldiers and delegations from New York fliers organizations and German and Irish societies made plans for a royal welcome. Mayor Walker appointed Grover Whalen, head of the mayor's committee for the reception of distinguished guests, to receive the fliers in the name of New York city.

The federal government took cognizance of the flight. Secretary of War Davis instructing the army corps commanders at New York, Boston and Philadelphia to prepare to offer every possible assistance and courtesy to the foreign fliers wherever they might land. Special telegraph wires were run right to the edge of the Mitchel Field landing zone last night to carry stories of the arrival to papers.

Naval officers in Washington estimated that by flying at 100 miles an hour of its own speed and taking advantage of a 15 mile tail wind across the ocean and a 30 mile following wind from Newfoundland to New York the Bremen would reach New York at 2:40 a. m. today, but this was generally believed to be many hours before the plane could reasonably be expected to reach its landing field.

The naval officers, plotting the Great Circle course, reported that the distance from Dublin to St. Johns, N. F., was 2,048 miles and that from St. Johns to New York 1,133, or an approximate total of 3,200 miles from Baldonnel to Mitchel Field.

PLANE DUE AT MITCHEL FIELD AT 6.30 P. M. TODAY

BALDONNEL, Irish Free State, April 12—(AP)—The Junker monoplane Bremen, which hopped off from this field at 5.38 a. m. today for New York, was supposedly 1400 miles west of Ireland and only 500 miles off Newfoundland at 10.30 p. m. tonight.

This was according to a special circulation made for The Associated Press by the Baldonnel air authorities.

They figured that Capt. Hermann Koehl, German ace, and Col. James Fitzmaurice, Irish aviator, co-pilots of the Bremen, should see the lights of Newfoundland at 5.30 a. m. Irish time, or 12.30 a. m. eastern American time, and they pictured these two in the cockpit giving the news to Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, promoter of the flight, who sits behind them in the cabin pumping oil for the motor.

The fact that the plane had not been heard of since it cleared the west coast of Ireland two hours after the start, caused no anxiety here. Baldonnel authorities were much pleased with weather conditions and were putting their faith in the powerful motor of the plane.

They said that if all goes well the flyers should reach Mitchel field on Long Island at 6.30 p. m. New York time on Friday. This, however, allows four hours for errors in navigation so the Bremen may land any time between 2.30 p. m. and 6.30 p. m.

The calculations were based upon an average speed of 95 miles an hour.

TO KEEP SHARP LOOKOUT FOR GERMAN AIRPLANE

BOSTON, April 12—(AP)—Acting on instructions received from the war department Major General Preston Brown, commanding the First Corps area today directed all army posts in New England to keep a sharp lookout today and tomorrow for the German plane Bremen, attempting the east-to-west crossing of the Atlantic.

Should the plane be sighted, the commanders of forts through the New England area were instructed to inform army headquarters here. In the event of a landing in this area the commanders were ordered to extend all possible aid and courtesy to the fliers.

Army radio officers will stand by all night at the first corps area headquarters on the chance of receiving reports from the Bremen.

SISTER AIRSHIP READY TO WELCOME THE BREMEN

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 12—(AP)—A sister ship of the German monoplane Bremen, headed across the Atlantic from Ireland, was tuned up tonight to take the air at a moment's notice to welcome the Bremen.

Fred Melchoir, chief pilot for the Junkers corporation, builders of the trans-Atlantic plane, was in charge of the ship. Miss Herta Junkers, eldest daughter of Hugo Junkers, head of the corporation, was with him, waiting to greet the three-man crew of the Bremen.

Officials at the field ordered the landing area cleared at 8 a. m. tomorrow and kept clear all day.

W. C. T. U. ISSUES WARNING TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

CHICAGO, April 12—(AP)—As a reprisal to the action of the national affairs committee of the national Republican club of New York yesterday in adopting a resolution calling for an anti-dry palnk in the G. O. P. platform, the National Women's Christian Temperance union today issued a statement saying the republicans would lose the fall election if the party followed the dictate of the resolution.

"If the national Republican club sends Nicholas Murray Butler to Kansas City to present its views, that outstanding anti-prohibitionist will be flanked by several million republican women who want the 18th amendment retained and enforced," the statement read.

"If the republican party adopts a prohibition repeal plank it will lose the next election along with several million women voters. Political leaders will pay more attention to the advice of this vast army of women voters than to the whimsical demands of a small coterie of New York club men."

HOUSE WILL FIGHT FOR $290,000,000 TAX REDUCTION

WASHINGTON, April 12—(AP)—With the tax reduction bill still at committee hearings stage in the senate, a move was made in the house today to strengthen its stand against any revision of its $290,000,000 measure which the senate might make in favor of the $201,000,000 plan o Secretary Mellon.

Representative Garner of Texas, the leader of the democratic forces in tax matters, obtained an agreement from Chairman Hawley of the ways and means committee on the floor of the house that he would have the house vite on any major change in the bill which the senate might make. This vote would be taken prior to acceptance by conferees of the senate and house of any major change in the house bill.

A statement by Representative Treadway, of Massachusetts, one of the administration stalwarts who would be one of the house conferees on the tax bill, that he would endorse a $200,000,000 reduction plan brought forth Garner's request.

Meanwhile, the tax bill was still buried deep in hearings before the senat finance committee with representatives of real estate and various business interests petitioning today for changes in the administrative provisions. Tomorrow the committee will hear the plea of the chamber of commerce of the United States for a heavier cut in the corporation tax than is proposed by the administration and after that Chairman Smoot plans to close the hearings and resume work on the bill.

JUNIOR FROLIC CHECKS NORMALITES' SPRING FEVER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 12—The Junior Frolic, dramatized by the members of the class of '29, was presented for the entertainment of the students and faculty in the Little Theatre of the Willimantic State Normal school Wednesday evening. The program, which was divided into four acts, was arranged by the different sections of the junior class. The activities of each group had been kept a secret until the final performance. The frolic is an established custom of the juniors to give vent annually to their sentiments and manifest a true school spirit in a jovial and entertaining manner.

The first act was introduced by a comically-dressed individual with a high-pitched voice, and opened with a scene of the club room of the Eat-a-Bite-o'-Pie club. A clever demonstration of initiation of members into the club was given, several humorous stunts being brought into play before the incoming members were declared qualified. This act put on by Division 3 of the class, was in charge of a committee comprising Margaret McCarthy, of New London, Jessie Marnicki, of Suffield, and Alvida Lewis, of Stonington.

In the next act the members of Division 1 offered "The Evolution of Love," the first feature being a caveman romance evolving in novel manner to 20th century love-making and matrimony. The second feature was a brilliant and mirth-provoking interpretation of Love as It is Not in England. This act was planned by the following committee: Ethel Bakos of Rockville, Marion Browning, of Norwich, and Ruth Borges, of New London.

The third act consisted of a series of posters announcing the several scenes under the title, "Coming Attractions," featuring a sketch, Mistaken Identity, with Miss Collins as the "hero." The committee for this act consisted of Florence Gadbois, of New London, Rose Goldblatt, of Baltic, and Dorothy Hale, of Rockville.

Junior 4 act opened with Announcer Scott broadcasting an introduction from Station CLAM and included sketches done in pantomime to singing backstage. A human puppet brought forth peals of laughter as the strings with which it was manipulated suddenly snapped. Song hits acted out proved another delightful number and the courtship of the fat lady struck a quick response from the audience. The Junior 4 committee members were Laura St. John, of Willimantic, Adelaide Stanley, of Coventry, Mary Wendheiser, of Rockville, Audrey Remmert, of New London, and Ethel Wraight, of Willington.

Among those who took prominent parts in the acts were the Misses McCarthy, McNiff, Amelia Palmer, Burch, Case, Anderson, Buckley, Cammarano, Collins, Scott, Wells and Schrader, Miss Olive Boulais, of Danielson, president of the junior class, and Miss Harriet E. Stone, of the faculty, comprised the executive committee. The entertainment was followed by dancing.

Secretary Arnold of the chamber of commerce has learned that all of the cities in this section are planning to adopt daylight-saving again this year. NOANK

WORLD-ROUND TOURIST GIVEN LOBSTER SUPPER

Dave Davidson has returned to the village after a trip around the world going to China, England, Cuba and many other places. He was gone about 10 months, making the trip on a steamer from Philadelphia. He met a fellow from Portland, Conn., named Jim Terry, in Germany and was some pleased to see a Connecticut fellow. Old times was talked over about their college days at Pennsylvania where Terry said that they were in the same class. It was ten minutes before Dave knew he was talking to Lightning James, a fast boy on the gridiron whose speed won many games for his college. He also asked if Governor Smith would be our next president. Davidson told him it would be a close race and he hoped that Smith would lose out. Terry said it will be several years before I will step my foot on the soil of America again. Dave is a cousin of Flash McDonald and will spend several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McDonald. He has made many friends in the village during his stay in the summer. He will leave again at the end of the week for the West Indies. "That is one place I have not been to and always wanted to see," he says. A lobster supper was given in his honor on his return from the trip around the world; fifteen of his friends gathered to enjoy his talk of his trip. Mr. Davidson has samples of money from every place he has visited and it was shown to the guests.

The fire company pinochle team left their rooms in charge of Capt. Jack Ellis Wednesday night bound for the Mechanics hall to play the pinochle sharps of the Mechanics lodge. Capt. John Bentley led his men and four tables were in play. It was not a good night for the match but a crowd gathered around the tables to see the players in action. Over at No. 1 table was Capt. Jack Ellis and Earl Foster for the smoke eaters and Roy Scapin with his side kick Eddie Morgan for the Mechanics. Theirs was a close game and the fire company stars were using all the tricks that are in a pack of cards. Scapian almost gave his mate Morgan heart trouble by going in the hole for a sleigh of 200, but fighting back hard, the Mechanics pulled that game out of the fire without getting burned. The score was Scapian-Morgan 5,000, Ellis-Foster 4970 points; No 2, table found Blond Eddie Schoonmaker and Go-Get-Um Fitzpatrick for the fire fighters with 9-Spot W. Palmre and Afraid-to-Bid Stretch Morrison for the Mechanics. The hosemen were going strong, trying to give Palmer and Morrison the heavy oil, but weekly as the hands on the town clock. Walter and Stretch were not saying a word, but fighting a good battle next to the last hand the Mechanics played were left them in the near and the score was Palmer and Morrison 5,000 while Schoonmaker and Morgan had 4860. No. 1 was the hard luck table for the lodgemen Capt. Bentley and Quick Sam Carson were for the Mechanics while Blacksmith Deveau and Smiling R. Rathbun represented the smoke eaters the game starting off good and looked like a runaway for the Mechanics while Blacksmith Deveau said that is nothing watch our smoke. The score, said to tell, was Carson and Bentley 5950 but Deveau and Rathbun put down 5 600 points. The last table No. 4 had three fishermen and one mason playing. M. Ashcraft and O. W. Beebe for the Mechanics and Mason M Pass with Sea Going R. Brocks. It turned out to be a real battle. The sea captain had the laddermen guessing for a while, but Mason Pass caught a forward pass with almost a 500 hand, holding 9 aces. The Mechanics stars went down fighting hard. Score Pass and Brocks 5000 Ashcraft and Beebe 4260. Total points for the fire company 19540; for the Mechanics 18210 a margin of 1130. The next match will be at the fire company. Doughnuts and coffee were the lunch. The contest is for the championship of the village.

On Pearl street branches were strewn on the road. Then the hard rain came, making it a wild night. The fishermen had to put out extra lines on their boats to keep them from being dashed to pieces. In the afternoon at Groton Long Point a real sand-storm prevailed at the board wal, whirling at about 60 miles an hour. Several carpenters had to quit work on account of the wind and sand.

DANIELSON

DIES ON HIS 84TH ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 12—At 6 o'clock this morning on the 84th anniversary of his birth Patrick McLaughlin died at his home in Hampton. Born in Ireland and emigrating to the United States as a young man, he had been a resident in Brooklyn and Hampton for the past sixty years, his upon his active years as a farmer and was one of the best known of Hampton's citizens. Mr. McLaughlin leaves a daughter, Catherine, who made her home with him, and two sons, Thomas, a retired police officer, and Patrick, a member of the police force of New York city, where both sons are resident.

A death in Wauregan during last night was that of Antoine Antaya, 83, at the home of his son, Stanislas Antaya, a native of Canada, had been a resident of Wauregan for the past 40 years. In addition to his son, Stanislas, he leaves two other sons, Joseph of Moosup and Elpear of Stafford Springs, and three daughters, Mrs. Joseph Brodeur, Mrs. George Bousquet and Mrs. Clara J ette, all of Woonsocket.

This morning the funeral of Mrs. Josephine Despathie was held from the home in Wauregan with services at the Sacred Heart church in that place at 9 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Quinn was celebrant of the high mass of requiem and there were many relatives and friends in the congregation. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery. The bearers were Leon Brodeur, Alexander Desrosault, Delphis Despathi, Stanislas Tervais, Frederick Reynolds and Romeo Gauthier. Attending the service as representatives of the Ste. Anne society were Mrs. Joseph Couture, Mrs. A. Pellerin, Mrs. William Chilton and Mrs. Mary Alex. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Coroner Arthur G. Bill was in Putnam this morning and opened the inquest during which witnesses will review for him facts pertaining to the murder of State Officer Irving H. Nelson in Pomfret last Friday evening. Eight persons were questioned by the coroner this morning, all of them eye witnesses of some feature or other of the killing and incidents immediately following it. The hearing brought out the fact that Officer Nelson had written close up to the Nelson had ridden close up to the car near its left rear wheel when the bandits opened fire on him. Coroner Bill said that the taking of further testimony in the inquest will be deferred until some witnesses that are to be heard are available for appearance.

State officers from the Danielson barracks continued today to work on the case that involves Albert G. Raymond and Roland G. Lalone in the killing of State Officer Irving H. Nelson. This work involves checking up for additional evidence against the men and their movements from the time of the occurrence at Pomfret up to the time of their arrests. Much information, it is anticipated, will be obtained from the taxi driver who drove them from Webster, just after they abandoned the murder car, to Worcester. There is also the possibility that a Dudley resident who was solicited by two young men to leave a car in his garage last Friday night, and refused them, may be able to identify Raymond and Lalone. The car was abandoned only a short distance from the home where the request was made.

This afternoon Raymond and Lalone were to be arraigned in Springfield to answer to charges that have been preferred against them for shooting at Traffic Officer Ray Gallagher last Friday afternoon and on other charges involving holdups in which they engaged.

There was uncertainty this afternoon in Danielson as to just when the men will be brought into Connecticut and formally charged with murder in the town of Pomfret, but it probably will be within a few days. There is vast interest all through this section in the case against these young bandits and grim satisfaction over the fact that they have been captured.

George F. Pierce, Sr., 74, died this morning at his home at Sterling Center. Mr. Pierce was born in Sterling and was a life long resident of that town. For years he was engaged as a mason. He was a son of Robert and Lois Kettle Pierce and was born August 26, 1853. Mr. Pierce leaves his wife, a son, George F. Pierce, Jr., first selectman of the town of Sterling, three daughters, Mrs. Frederick Brooks of Providence, Miss Gussie Pierce of Boston, Mrs. Arthur Salisbury of West Greenwich, R. I., and two sisters, Mrs. George M. Pilling of Danielson and Mrs. James Rawlinson, resident in Florida.

Friday evening members of Brooklyn grange are to neighbor with Highland grange at South Killingly and are to furnish the program.

Trout season just ahead! Full stocks of fishermen's supplies and low prices at Blumenthal's.—Adv.

Danielson's Rotarians feasted on trout tonight at their weekly meeting at the Attawaugan hotel. Landlord Brown obtained the trout from a hatchery, so it was an entirely legally feast just ahead of the opening of the trout season.

Friday the 13th—first of such days of alleged evil omen during the year 1928, but no great shakes as a bugaboo these later days.

State Officer Holman Bell, who has been stationed at the Danielson barracks about a year, has resigned from the department. He has returned to his home in the town of Thompson.

A water pipe line supplying water on the Chester Codding property on Stearns street is being moved to a new location to get it away from the layout for the new state highway to run through the fields on the codding place. A garage building owned by Benjamin B. Banks and located in the point between Stearns and Reynolds street is to be torn down because it is on the line of the new road.

Indications now are that there will be a great exodus of fishermen early Sunday, the first day of the opening season. Snake Meadow, which is a heavily stocked state-leased stream will be the objective of scores of fishermen.

One minor case constituted all the business claiming the attention of the town court this morning, Judge W. Tyrner Woodward presiding.

This week end Miss Marion D. Chollar goes to Washington, D. C., as the delegate from Sarah Williams Danielson chapter to the Continental congress of the D. A. R.

Miss Frances W. Danielson will speak in Putnam next Tuesday evening on the subject the Little Child at a conference of officers committee members and teachers in the Sunday school of the Second Congregational church.

The coming week James R. Walsh will begin collection of the town taxes, and during the course of his work is to visit various communities of the town.

Throughout this territory a very considerable amount of plowing is being done in fields that have sufficiently dried out.

Mrs. William Morrison has returned to Dayville after having been a patient at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam.

There is another epidemic of cars being about at night in this territory with only one headlight burning.

It is regarded as likely that the name of the contractor who is to build the new Brooklyn Savings bank building will be announced following a meeting of the architects and the trustees of the institution next Monday afternoon.

CORONER INTERVIEWS EYE WITNESSES TO MURDER

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 12—Eye witnesses concerned in the death of State Policeman Irving H. Nelson who was murdered in Pomfret last Friday evening were present at the inquest in the officers death held at the office of Edgar M. Warner, clerk of the superior court in Putnam Thursday morning. Various questions were asked the witnesses by Coroner A. G. Bill of Danielson who presided at the hearing. Albert Day of Pomfret and Arthur S. Hale of Pomfret who saw the officer shot and who assisted in carrying him to the office of Dr. S. B. Overlock are main witnesses in the case.

Harriet M. McLean, a lifelong resident of Pomfret, died at her home in that town on Wednesday at the age of 80 years. Mrs. McLean was born in Pomfret on February 3, 1848, and has lived there all her life. Her husband, Clarence T. McLean died in Pomfret a few years ago. The cause of Mrs. McLean's death was given as heart failure.

No trace of the two missing youths from Newton Center, Mass., who were reported Monday evening to the Putnam police has been seen by the Putnam officers. Both boys left their home on Monday and were thought to be headed for Bridgeport where other relatives are living. The description of the runaways was given as boys about sixteen years of age.

It was evident that the boys "hitch hiked" from their home town for their assumed destination. Any trace should be reported to the Putnam police or to R. E. Thurston of the Putnam Light and Power company at Putnam.

Members of the card teams of the Knights of Columbus and the Odd Fellows gathered last evening in Odd Fellows hall at the chicken supper served by the defeated Odd Fellows. The Odd Fellows served the supper to the Kaceys as their penalty for the recent defeat in their winter card tournament that ended last week. Many members of both fraternal orders gathered at the table to eat of the Odd Fellows penalty.

Miss Ada Maynard of Bullock street was a Milford visitor Tuesday. Mrs. Maynard spent the day with her sister Mrs. N. A. Lareau formerly of Putnam.

Interest in the Citizen's military training camps of the government is being taken by local boys. Each year the quota enlists boys of the country into the regular army camps where they are given military training for thirty days, with all expenses paid. Last year many boys from Putnam were among the 3,000 youths of New England in the camps. Both Jerome W. Andrews and Harold L. Arpold of Putnam have completed the four summers course at these camps and have been commissioned as second lieutenants in the O. R. C. Rev. James F. English of the Second Congregational church of Putnam, a lieutenant in the O. R. C. recently addressed the boys of Putnam high school on the subject of the training camps. Mr. English very highly recommended governments month free training period and urged the attendance of every boy of age.

Officers of the Danielson barracks of the state police force have been working on clues and points that will give state's evidence in the trial of bandits who shot and killed State Policeman Nelson last Friday. Sergeant Gardner and Officer Nolan of Danielson have made a thorough investigation of the scene of the fatal shooting and other traveled routes of the bandits, during their get-away Friday night.

Thursday the officers were at the coroner's formal inquest held at Putnam, where they questioned a few of the eye witnesses of the shooting of Officer Nelson.

The picking of many of Windham county's beautiful residences has been the manner of one of the nationally known paint manufacturing concerns to use in their advertisements in a large weekly magazine. The company this week displayed the beautiful home of John M. Reardon, agent of the Grosvenordale company, in North Grosvenordale.

Mr. Reardon's home is of a colonial design and attracts the attention of many motorists on their way through the quaint little village of North Grosvenordale.

The luncheon, the "bridge widows" that was to be held today at the Russian Bear in Thompson was postponed owing to the sudden illness of Mrs. Eben Holden who was one of the weekly hostesses at the bridge games held during the winter season. No further date for the gathering has been set by the committee. The ladies bridge club closed their season last Monday at the home of Mrs. Leonard H. Mellor on Grove street.

Mrs. Malia Pepin, 65, of Church street died at her home Thursday. Mrs. Pepin had been ill only a short time and the news of her death came as a shock to residents of her community. She was born in Canada but has lived in Putnam nearly all of her life. She is survived by her husband Thomas Pepin of Putnam.

Final arrangements for the annual promenade of the junior class of Putnam high school have been completed. The school post Lenten affair will be held this evening in the new state armory on Harris street, and a large attendance is expected as many invitations have been given out by the members of the class. Music will be furnished by Dick Newcomb and his well known team of musicians from Northampton, Mass. The affair is strictly private and to gain admittance strictly private and to gain admittance from a member of the class of 1929.

Not much time is now left before Matt Kroll, former Thompson farmer and cattle dealer, will be brought to trial for his life in the criminal session of the superior court at Worcester, charged with the murder of his wife. Kroll will be tried on May 14. During the time attorneys for the defense have been preparing the case for the court, it has been learned that the plea of insanity will be used to free the alleged murderer. Kroll is said to have committed the murder on May 13, 1925. He made his escape to his native country in Poland and was traced there. Officers of the Worcester police department made the longest trip in police history when they went to that country to bring the prisoner back to stand trial for his life.

JEWETT CITY

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS WITH MRS. BUCKINGHAM

Mrs. L. G. Buckingham entertained the Woman's Missionary society of the Congregational church on Thursday afternoon. Buckingham and Mrs. E. H. Slocum. After the business meeting led by the president, Mrs. F. E. Robinson, Mrs. Buckingham, assisted by Mrs. Soule, served refreshments.

People on Main street held their breath in terror Thursday afternoon, when they saw a drunken man staggering all over the sidewalk, get into an automobile, take the wheel, and drive away down the line. The number of the machine was taken. If he drove no straighter than he walked, everybody on the road including himself, was lucky to get home alive.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

WINTER'S OVER CHANGE YOUR OIL TODAY

"IS your crankcase ready for spring?" That is the question every Socony man is asking the motorists at his station.

It is a vital question, for winter driving means diluted, dirty oil. Diluted, because the use of the choke in cold weather lets excess gasoline seep down into the crankcase. Dirty, because dust from the air gets into the oil through the air intake.

Let the Socony man drain the crankcase now. Let him flush it out with Socony Flushing Oil, and refill with Socony Motor Oil. It takes only a few minutes and costs only two or three dollars, depending on the amount of oil you need. No charge for the service; you pay only for the oils.

Important. Your car represents an investment of hundreds of dollars. Poor gasoline or motor oil can ruin that investment. Standardize on Socony, backed by fifty-four years of refining experience.

Socony Motor Oil and Gasoline must pass 13 rigid tests before they reach your car.

PUBLIC PICNIC PLACES

In connection with the plans of the state highway department to create picnic places at scenic places along the highways in connection with the work of beautification, the South Norwalk Sentinel expresses some concern as to whether such a move will be appreciated by the public to the extent of getting proper respect from those who use them.

This uncertainty is prompted by the knowledge of what has occurred in the past, for it is no secret that too many of those who appreciate the pleasure of going to some attractive spot in the country for a picnic are inclined to leave the place so littered up with all kinds of rubbish that they have outworn their welcome.

Many of the places along the highways where the public has been in the habit of stopping to look, rest and eat have been posted against such treatment because of the way in which the privileges have been abused. Frequently it is the case that picnickers will complain against the practices of some who have preceded them. They recognize the effect upon others and yet when they get ready to leave they invariably leave their refuse in much the same manner as those who aroused their criticism.

It cannot be expected that owners of property are going to tolerate such annoying practices, or devote a certain amount of time every few days just for the sake of catering to the pleasure of those who care nothing except for their own immediate enjoyment. It is possible that the state highway department will provide receptacles for such rubbish as may accumulate at those picnic spots, but we are not so sure that the heedless public would even then lend the cooperation that is expected.

Many an attractive picnic spot along the shores and in the country has been barred until it is difficult to find private grounds which can be used. That in itself ought to convey a sufficient warning to the picnickers that they should reform their conduct and endeavor to redeem themselves. Perhaps it will, but it is too often the experience that just because it is known to be public grounds there is an inclination to even greater disrespect for its condition. Warning signs and frequent inspections might help some.

DEALING WITH CRIME

Because of the large amount of crime and the tendency to an increase in spite of all that is being done to correct such conditions, the feeling is frequently expressed that different tactics should be employed in the treatment of criminals. Instead of providing a path of roses for them the minute they get into trouble and setting in motion machinery that will strive for release without punishment regardless of the facts, there is a strong conviction that better enforcement of laws, stiffer punishment and less leniency would do much to improve the situation. Much that is being done is giving encouragement to the criminal, while the conditions that prevail call for prevention of crime through discouragement.

As a remedy for the situation a speaker before the Indiana Bar association advocated the removal of policemen from politics, making bail harder to obtain, greater care in the selection of prosecutors, less prolixity and technical language in affidavits and indictments, a quicker method of obtaining juries, a majority verdict of juries except in murder cases and the right of the state to appeal from a verdict of acquittal.

There is no doubt that there is a willingness to indulge in crime because there is little respect for the law. It has been learned from the experience of others that there is little to fear from violations. There are so many loopholes that it is easy to believe that an escape can be made through some of them, and too often that is the case.

There is a certain amount of crime to be expected even when it is known that punishment will be sure and severe, but under such conditions crime is at a minimum. There is some fear of the application of the law when it is known that leniency cannot be expected, or when it is impossible to resort to all kinds of pleas and dodges for delays in order to get rid of witnesses and cover up testimony. The tendency to build up excuses, raise doubts and believe all kinds of cooked up stories is responsible for much complaint but about which too little is being done.

TOO MANY ARE NEEDLESS

Hundreds of men have been fighting a brush and forest fire in Rhode Island this week. There was enough damage done but for the services rendered by these men it would have been much greater. One house was destroyed, a barn was partly destroyed, much timber was burned and two men who were hurrying to assist in the fire-fighting were injured when their machine overturned. This is only one of many that will probably cause much trouble in the state to the cost this spring.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by the sparks from a steam roller. Thus there doesn't appear to have been as great an element of carelessness as prevails in too many instances but it goes to demonstrate the care that needs to be exerted in all instances where firebrands are involved.

If such sparks could cause a fire of that character it simply shows how easy it is to prevent those woodland fires where the discarding of smoking material or a lighted match may be the cause. There is a certain percentage of such fires kindled each year by locomotives or by lightning, but the great majority can be charged up to man. Too often it is the case that those responsible know nothing about it. They are unaware of what they have done because by the time the fire gets underway they are completely out of the neighborhood.

Picture the man who tosses a lighted cigarette out of the automobile as he is speeding along. It lands in the leaves at the side of the road and if it lands right that is all that is needed to start a blaze. By that time the one responsible is miles away unaware of what he has done and it may be some time before others discover the fire. If there is a wind it is bound to mean much waste and yet all of it, including such work as may follow in trying to stop its progress, could have been prevented if the smoker had crushed out the fire in the cigarette before discarding it.

Connecticut has already had numerous woodland fires this year. Fortunately they have been small ones, but with proper thought the small as well as the large are subjected to prevention.

THE ICEBOX GANG

Much satisfaction will be felt over the fact that the two young men who were suspected of causing the death of State Policeman Nelson at Pomfret have been captured, that they have been identified as participants in a long series of crimes in Massachusetts and that from all indications they will be called upon to answer without delay to the serious charges preferred against them.

The impression is gained that these young men had been so successful in their operations that they had gotten the impression that there was no stopping them. They labored under the delusion that they were superior to the authorities, that the law amounted to nothing and that they could steal and run, or kill and run, and stand an excellent chance of getting away.

Their trip into Connecticut appears to have been their undoing. Activities as gun men branded them as dangerous characters and through the close checking up on their movements their period of liberty was short following the killing. The authorities of the two states have worked well together in getting the accused and getting evidence connecting them with the series of crimes. Whether they represent the whole of the gang, they have indicated that for the protection of the law abiding public they deserve to receive the full penalty of the law upon conviction.

It is invariably the case that persons arrested under such circumstances are regarded as responsible for most anything that happened recently within the region where they operated. Whether that is the case or not, there appears to be little question but what they have been connected with enough to cause them plenty of worry as to the future.

SMITH LOSES TEST

When Colonel Smith of Illinois decided to submit his case to the people of Illinois again he knew it would be at the time of deciding other matters but he did not anticipate the manner in which the people of that state were going to deal with the political conditions which have too long prevailed there.

It doesn't appear that Smith figured conspicuously in the vote on Tuesday. At least the voters were not so much concerned with whether congress was disregarding the rights of the people of Illinois as they were with voicing their demands for a cleaning up of conditions in that state and in Chicago. The Smith case got little consideration as such.

It was a situation where Colonel Smith was aligned with those who were scheduled to go and he felt the effect of the balloting just like the rest. There was no favoritism. The voters were not dealing with the Smith case as they would have had it come before them alone. It was in fact so involved with other and more pressing matters that it was carried along by the landslide, and the result is that the action of the man who was elected to the United States senate and twice refused his seat there has been told by those he supposed were his friends and supporters that they desire someone else in his place.

However much this may be looked upon in the senate as a ratification of senate action such can hardly be conceded. There were other circumstances which operated to bring about the result without there being a clear cut decision by Illinois upon the Smith contention or the senate action. He brought the test at a bad time and he suffered from being in discredited company.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Harry Sinclair isn't saying that he was never in a court room prior to this week.

Till the cool days are over, the popular seats will be in the sun on the bleachers.

The man on the corner says: Of course you are aware that it is Friday and the 13th?

Of course if you are interested in baseball, and it is a good game, your enthusiasm should keep you warm.

Now that Obregon wants prohibition for Mexico perhaps he sees where he can make more money bootlegging than by doing anything else.

The predictions of so many presidential vetoes are enough to cause congress to do some thinking before making such a great waste of time.

THE DAY OF TRIUMPH

Alix Norton awoke to a drumming noise overhead; to the water-spout's drip, drip outside her window.

"Another rainy day!" she thought in disgust, as she crawled out of bed in the dark chill of the train-driven commuter's early rising hour.

Then as she hurriedly dressed, suddenly she remembered.

Today was the day!

The electric-bulb by her bureau—seed pearl size—gave only a glow-worm light; her mirror dingy, yet as she stood briskly brushing her auburn hair into glints-of-gold glossiness a positively radiant being beamed out at her from the looking glass.

So confident was she of the triumph the day held in store for her.

"It's more than a hunch!" she exulted. "It's a conviction!"

Resignedly treated of rebelliously she put on her rainy day suit and the turban with the draggled dab of feathers once smart looking but now suggestive only of wet hen and out on the rainy street pattered and splashed as gleefully as a child dabbling in puddles the three blocks to the cafeteria where she got her breakfast because it was both cheap and convenient to the interurban.

She hated the cafeteria—the bare tables, the paper napkins, the common trays. But that morning she resented nothing and ate with relish. Perhaps because everything had a day dream flavor.

For with every mouthful Alix spent another $25 or $50.

First of all, being a woman, she bought clothes—everything her so it had longed for from a Paris hat to patent leather pumps. Then she started to entertain, having first this friend, then that to lunch at one of the swagger city restaurants; a little party for an evening concert, the theatre, the opera. And as she gave up her attic room—renounced cafeterias forever—and moved to a pleasant family boarding-house.

How wonderful it would be to live like a human being!

She had to run for her train and as she got her breath and the last vacant seat she began to make up the telegram that she would send home telling her glorious news.

And suddenly she was ashamed. Selfish little beast to spend all that money for her own pleasure! She would do without the fur-trimmed coat that headed her shopping list and buy something for Minty, the family saint-on-earth, who on their mothers death had given up all her own girlish plans to big-sister the rest of them. Instead of theatre and opera parties, her little sister Julie would go on living as she was a while longer and fit up a laboratory for her budding-Edison brother.

No sooner had the train rumbled into the station than Alix dashed to the waiting room news stand.

"This week's Sunrise Magazine please."

She actually held it in her hand! The number she had been waiting for during hectic weeks. The number that was to announce the prize winners in the short-story contest.

As Alix turned the magazine's pages with eager fingers she recalled the day when on her way home on the train from the office she had first read of the contest. A day of discouragement and defeat when she had decided she was "a born failure." But the incentive of the contest, the lure of the big prizes, had goaded her to new effort. And not only did she feel that the story she sent in was a real masterpiece, but stimulated by a new hope of success, a new self-confidence, during the waiting weeks that followed had come a new zest for even her routine work on the weekly magazine where her position, measured by her ambition, was inconsequential.

She found it at last—the page of fate. What had the moving finger written upon it for her? First, second, third prize?

Alix was shaking so she had to sit down before reading the prize winners names.

Her name was not there.

She had not won even one of the ten small $25 prizes.

All the light, all the life, went from her, and again a surging, submerging tidal wave of despair swept over her soul.

She had been a fool even to have hoped! Like a silly child expecting the impossible because wished for on a star!

Traffic held up by a stalled motor truck, she had to walk to the office in the pouring rain.

She reached it drenched and fifteen minutes late.

"I'd concluded you'd missed your train," the business manager snapped at her. "The chief wishes to see you. He's sent in after you twice."

Alix's face whitened to the lips. She had thought that nothing worse could happen to her, but her chief's summons threw her into a panic. If she should lose her position in the Mercury what would she do?

Like a wooden image she sat in the chief's inner sanctum listening to his ideas of what the Mercury Weekly ought to be, and his disappointment in the last number's general makeup.

"So as much as I dislike giving anybody the sack," he said in his dry way, "I feel it a necessity to make one or two changes on the staff the first of the month. It was in this connection that I sent for you."

"Y-e-s," faltered Alix, bracing herself for the blow or dismissal.

The pen in the chief's hand poked inky jabs into the edger of his desk blotter, a characteristic gesture when he had an important announcement to make.

"During the last few weeks, Miss Norton, your work has shown such improvement," he continued, "been so much the real stuff with punch, that I've decided it will be for the magazine's best interest to let my present assistant editor go and offer the position to you."—Detroit News.

YOUR HEALTH

The Irritable Child

By Charles E. Kiely, M. D., Cincinnati, Member Gorgas Memorial

Irritability in children is often due to physical ill health, tonsillar infection, eye strain and quite frequently an unsuitable diet—any physical condition producing continuous if only moderate discomfort. Every child presenting the problem of irritability should first of all have the most thorough physical examination.

The investigation stopping here, however, is only half complete, for mental situations are at least as likely to produce irritability. If a grown man is bad-tempered, would you stop after asking if he has a cavity in his tooth or would you be interested in the atmosphere of his home and work place? The same applies to the child, but it is surprising how many parents refuse to take any interest in an attempt to study this phase. The explanation may be that the investigation is so liable to step on their own toes. Irritability may be based on temperament and a given child may be more affected than another exposed to the same conditions because he has inherited a fault of temperament from his parent. In addition he is always under the charge of that parent, and there is nothing more irritating than such a superior. So the irritation grows like the proverbial snowball on the hill. When the problem comes up and the parents are put under question, mother usually accuses father, and father drops into the office next day to tell the doctor who the real offender is. Sometimes both parents unite to tongue-lash the child's teacher. When irritability is in question, father and mother need to be almost superhumanly honest and self-analytical.

The psychological causes of irritability are as varied as the physical and could not be covered short of writing a fairly thick book, but those most commonly appearing can be mentioned. Nagging is probably the most frequent. If a child is trained from the first to obey with reasonable promptness, nagging will not be necessary a few years later. Some psychologists have condemned saying "don't" to the child to an extravagant degree, losing sight of the fact that all civilization and law are one big "don't."

No doubt some children hear too many "don'ts." Their irritating effects can be diluted with an occasional "do." Before answering stop to consider how harmful consent may really be and as often as possible let some pleasure originate from you. The father who occasionally offers to take the boys to a ball game and the mother who organizes a picnic will meet with much less resistance to legitimate "don'ts." Explanation may take the sting out of a refusal, but it is not practical to stop and explain every prohibition. Many cannot be explained to infantile minds, for instance, why a boy should not pour glue into the gasoline tank.

One other source of irritability often uncovered is unsuitable placement in school. The child may be incapable of meeting the demands of his grade or, less often, may be so far ahead of it as to feel restrained. A psychometric test will settle this situation quickly and accurately.

If physical sources of discomfort are removed and mental conflicts not neglected, irritability should be con-

Pointers For Parents

The happier a child is, the better his behaviour will be.

A well-regulated, routine life for a child is essential to his physical and mental welfare.

Regular habits can be formed only if the child learns from experience that he is to do the same thing every day at the same hour.

It is only after the habit has become well established that we can afford to deviate from our charted course.

Even then it is with more or less danger that we introduce exceptions, for with each deviation from the routine come new interests and emotional satisfactions, which in themselves are the driving forces for every new habit. Thus we form the habit of irregularity.

Laziness is a symptom, not a disease. It may have a physical cause; it may have an intellectual basis; it may be an expression of emotional disturbance.

How much iron will be contained in a serving of vegetables depends to a large extent on the method of preparation. It will all be conserved if the vegetables can be served raw, steamed or baked, or cooked in a waterless cooker. Little will be lost if the vegetable is boiled in a small amount of water, and the juice used in soups or gravies. One-half to three-fourths of the iron content of vegetables may be lost if the vegetables are cooked in much water and the water discarded.—Children.

Now I get whiter washes
Without scrubbing or boiling

CLOTHES don't need to be scraped and scrubbed against a board to get the dirt out. Not a bit of it! Now I just soak and rinse—for the whitest week's wash you ever saw.

You see, I use Rinso—the famous granulated soap. It makes the water soft as rain, and gives thick, creamy suds that stand up until the wash is done.

Dirt, stains and grease float right off by themselves in these wonderful suds. Imagine—all I have to do is rinse! Even boiling isn't needed, clothes rinse so white and sweet.

This easy way saves the clothes; and saves my hands, too. I'm never without the BIG package of Rinso now. You can get it from your grocer.

Step into the Automobile

In Port Today

This day of April 1928, Reo announces the 1929 Flying Clouds.

Reo can give you 1929 automobiles in the heart of the 1928 season for a very, very simple reason.

Reo is an independent organization and a producer of only a moderate number of cars. Refinements, changes, new ideas can be put into and through production faster than in the huge immobile plants from which come most of America's automobiles.

Reo blue prints can materialize in Reo cars many, many months sooner than do those of other reputable automobiles.

As a result, the New Reo Flying Clouds give you today what other cars may try to give you one year from today—in 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today a new fleetness, for one mile or one hundred, that will still be the envy of many cars—in 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today the ability to sweep from zero miles per hour to what you will, faster than many cars will do even in 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today the agility in traffic, and steering ease that other cars will try to develop—for 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today distinctive new lines, sweepingly simple lines, that some other manufacturer may imitate—by 1929.

The new Flying Clouds give you today luxurious interiors that someone else may copy—for 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today the riding ease that many cars will strive to have—for 1929.

The new Flying Clouds give you today the four-wheel internal expanding (not external contracting) hydraulic brakes that safety demands may force many other cars to adopt—in 1929.

These things can be yours in March, 1928, in the New Flying Clouds, for the very simple reason that Reo blueprints become Reo automobiles many months sooner than do those of other reputable cars.

Step into the 1929 automobile—the New Flying Cloud—and try it out yourself

NEW HAVEN HAS NEW AUTOMATIC TRAFFIC SIGNAL

Demonstration of a new automatic traffic signal by means of lights was conducted in New Haven this week and was reported to have been very successful. Camera men were on the scene to take pictures for the movies and there were also present chiefs of police of several Connecticut cities, State Highway Commissioner John A. Added local interest in the new signal is obtained when it is known that Charles D. Geer, son of Mrs. C. D. Geer of Poquetanuck, is one of the officials of the Automatic Signal corporation, with Eugene F. Stirlen and Wallace G. Garland. All four men are graduates of Sheffield Scientific school at Yale and developed the light from Mr Haugh's original invention.

Barred From R. I. Highways

Katharine M. Holloway, of New London, was among those in the latest list of persons barred from the use of Rhode Island highways by the board of public roads of that state. Her suspension is because of improper use and operation. Edward N. Peloquin, of Thompson, has lost his right to operate in Rhode Island because of conviction for operating while intoxicated.

NORWICH MERCHANTS ENTHUSIASTIC FOR PUSHING PROGRESS EXPOSITION

Thirty-two exhibitors have already signed up for booths at the coming Norwich exposition, according to an announcement made Thursday evening at a meeting of the Merchants Bureau of the Norwich chamber of commerce, at the Wauregan hotel. Those present at the meeting displayed considerable enthusiasm over the plans for the exposition which, from present indications, will rival any show of its kind in Norwich and in fact in eastern Connecticut.

Abner W. Schwartz, chairman of the bureau, presided at the meeting which opened at 6:15 o'clock with a delicious luncheon menu. A report of progress on the plans for the Norwich Progress Exposition was made and accepted. A report o the spring opening by J. B. Caron, chairman of the committee in charge of this event, was made, as was also a report by the bureau treasurer. The matter of Suburban Day came up for discussion but no action was taken at the meeting, in view of the exposition activities. Chairman Schwartz introduced Mr. King, assistant to Sheldon H. Fairbanks, manager of the exposition and Mr. King spoke enthusiastically over the plans and possibilities of the proposed event.

When the question of the exposition was brought up for discussion, those present displayed an enthusiasm that hasn't been experienced in the chamber for years. William H. Cruickshank, of The Reid & Hughes Co., spoke of the Norwich exposition of about 20 years ago. He said that it is still the talk of some of the citizens. Mr. Cruickshank expressed the hope that the same enthusiasm will prevail in the coming show.

Mr. King, assistant to Manager Fairbanks, emphasized the fact that an exposition, given at a moderate admission price, will draw an extraordinary attendance. He said that at an exposition of this nature the regular price is a dollar and called attention to the fact that the admission rate for the Norwich exposition is only a fraction of the regular price.

Mr. King read a list of 32 firms and business houses which have already subscribed to one or more booths Secretary Walter H. Pilcher of the Norwich chamber of commerce spoke of a conversation with a prominent local man in which the suggestion was that if Norwich is to progress it is necessary to first sell the City of Norwich to the citizens. Out of this discussion was evolved the idea of holding the exposition. It was first proposed by the publicity committee of the chamber and was then taken up by the board of directors with the result that after careful consideration of several exposition directors Mr. Fairbanks was selected to manage the local exposition.

Max Hanover, chairman of the publicity committee, spoke of meeting Mr. Fairbanks and of finding him to be of the highest type of American gentlemen. Mr. Hanover said that he is confident that Mr. Fairbanks will put on an exposition that will prove of great benefit to the merchants and manufacturers of Norwich, not only from the standpoint of direct returns to the merchants and manufacturers, both in sales and prestige, but above all in the advertising value it will have in Norwich and the surrounding cities and communities.

A question was asked to what might be expected in the way of cooperation from the local newspapers. Secretary Pilcher, in answer, said that he had conferred with the business manager and editors of the local papers and was given assurance that the papers will cooperate.

John P. Lyston was among those who enthusiastically spoke in favor of the exposition plans. He told those present that the Lee & Osgood Co. think so much of the exposition idea that they have contracted for two booths. The question of direct returns was not even considered by the concern. The one thing they had in mind is to show the people of Norwich and surrounding cities and towns the products sold in this community.

Indications are that the exposition will be an event of which Norwich will be proud. Another item not to be forgotten in connection with the exposition is that there will be a style show. Norwich young ladies will display the beautiful wearing apparel sold in the Norwich stores. This show is expected to be staged on a much larger style than ever attempted before. No doubt it will draw a very large attendance.

John B. Caron spoke favorably of the plans for the exposition. He said he believed it is a progressive movement and the merchants should get behind it and put it over successfully.

During the meeting the members unanimously adopted a resolution presented by John J. O'Rourke to send a telegram to John M. Lee, now at a sanatorium in Rochester, Wis., as evidence that the chamber members wish him a speedy recovery. The meeting adjourned shortly before 8 o'clock.

STATE SECURES LAND FOR PUBLIC FORESTS

Nearly three times as much land for state forests has been purchased since July 1925, as was bought during the whole preceding 22-year period from 1903 when the state first undertook to acquire land for such purposes. July 1, 1925, the acreage of the state forests was 11,603 and today is more than 40,000. Of this, about 5,000 acres are bird and game sanctuaries.

Most recent transactions, completed through the efforts of Elliott B. Bronson of Winsted, field agent for the state commission on forests and wild life, has added nearly 100 acres to the Black Rock state park in Thomaston and have noticeably enlarged the Meshomasick state forest in Portland. Through his ability to discover desirable tracts, follow up the possibilities and obtain them at a price the state can pay, Mr. Bronson has been instrumental in this rapid expansion of the state forests in the last two years and a half. In the last three months he has acquired about 4,400 acres, mostly forest, although some have been bought by special request of the state park commissioners for park purposes.

Included in these most recent purchases is Sand Dam pond, in Watertown, one of the finest in the state for fishing, located between Thomaston and Watertown. The entire pond, the land under it and around it over 12 acres, has been acquired and will become a part of Black Rock state park.

Mr. Bronson has just closed the transaction for the purchase of 80 acres or more in East Hampton to be added to the Meshomasick state forest. A few days ago he bought approximately 90 acres more for Black Rock park, just north of the state land in Thomaston.

Peculiar names are attached to some of the places bought by the field agent in the last few months. Skunks' Misery is a spot on a tract acquired in Saybrook. Adjoining this location is Devil's Half Acre. In Voluntown is Hell Hollow, and in Thomaston Hell's Kitchen, both recently purchased. These places have always been known by these names, which even appear on some maps.

It is claimed that the removal of this property was done about March 1 either by the defendants or their agents.

PERUVIAN SUBMARINE TO BE LAUNCHED AT GROTON

Invitations to the launching of the Peruvian submarine R-3 on April 21 were mailed out Wednesday by officers of the Electric Boat company and the New London Ship and Engine company. The launching will mark the end of 15 months' work on the submarine and will be followed on May 4 by the launching of the R-4 which has been under construction at the Groton plant for the past 15 months, and which is also being built for the Peruvian government.

This Peruvian R-class of submarines has a length of 200 feet, a displacement of 800 tons, a surface speed of 14 1-2 knots, and a submerged speed of 10 knots. They are all equipped with six cylinder Nelseco Diesel engines built by the New London Ship and Engine company in its shops at Groton; and while submerged are propelled by electric motors designed and built by the Electro Dynamic company of Bayonne, N J., one of the other subsidiaries of the Electric Boat company.

Mrs. A. G. Howe, wife of Admiral A. G. Howe, chief of the United States naval mission to Peru, will act as sponsor for R-3.

Invitations to the launching have been issued to the Peruvian ambassador, the Peruvian consul-general in New York, the secretary of the navy, the house and senate naval committees, the governor of Connecticut, the mayor of New London, navy, army and coast guard officers and families attached to the local bases, and to many prominent citizens of Groton and New London.

MISS HARRIET MAY ALLYN MT. HOLYOKE SOCIAL DEAN

Miss Harriet May Allyn, of New London, daughter of Charles and Helen Starr Allyn, has won a signal distinction, having been elected academic dean at Mt. Holyoke college. Dean Florence Purington, Mt. Holyoke's first dean, recently asked to be relieved, after nearly 21 years of service.

Miss Alice Brown Frame was therefore appointed dean of residence and Miss Allyn social dean, the latter's appointment to take effect in the fall of 1929. Dean Purington has consented to remain as adviser to the two young women who will take up the duties which she carried on alone.

Miss Allyn is a cousin of Mrs. William H. Geer, of Washington street, Norwich. She is at present assistant professor of zoology at Vassar college, but received her first degree from Mt. Holyoke in 1905, and after serving as general secretary of Y. W. C. A. there for 1905-07, she returned in 1920 as instructor in zoology. She received her science degree from the University of Chicago in 1910 and her doctor's degree in 1912. From 1913 to 1923, with the exception of one year, Miss Allyn was associated with the Hackett Medical college in Canton, China. The Vassar trustees promoted her to the rank of associate professor of zoology in February, and she received a leave of absence for one year at that time. She will not report to Mt. Holyoke until she has devoted that year to the study of anthropology.

COUNTY AGENT CLARK SPEAKER FOR LIONS

A talk on agriculture by County Agent Walter T. Clark featured the weekly business and luncheon meeting of the Norwich Lions club, Thursday noon, at the Wauregan hotel. President William R. Frisbie presided at the meeting and musical numbers included solos by Michael Behwartz and Mrs. Josephine Stewart.

Edwin Hill, secretary of the Norwich Y. M. C. A., and F. S. Armstrong, president of the New London County Agricultural society, briefly addressed the meeting, outlining the activities of the organizations with which they are connected.

County Agent Clark, speaking on the subject of agriculture, said in his talk:

Too often we appreciate the other fellow's home, town or county more than we do our own. This may be true here as far as local agriculture is concerned here. We always appreciate the agriculture in the central west, but there is also some agriculture in New London county and southern New England. There always will be so long as the farmers in this area raise and market a high quality milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables. The following may be of interest to you, for it shows that there is still some agriculture in New London county:

There are 2,300 farms in New London county valued at $16,500,000 and containing 267,400 acres, 60,684 of which is tillable. The principal lines of business are dairying, poultry, raising fruit and vegetables. However, one important crop not often considered is forest products, to which greater attention is being paid each year.

There are 15,000 dairy cows in the county producing eight million gallons of milk each year.

The poultry business is of some size also. There are over 3,000,000 hens in the county which produce almost two million dozen eggs and so on down the line. There is still some farming going on here.

The farm bureau is interested in all of this for it is a means of getting new and progressive ideas in regard to production of animals and crops to the farmers from the experiment stations.

The farm bureau carries on three lines of work, agriculture, home economics and 4-H club work, so that the whole farm family is or should be interested in farm bureau work.

ESTIMATE $78,000 FOR TADPOLE BRIDGE CHANGE

HARTFORD, April 12—(AP)—Whether an allowance for a bridge built by a railroad company over its tracks will be granted when a new bridge is constructed by order of the public utilities commission, was brought up for the first time in the history of the commission today, according to Henry F. Billings, secretary of the commission.

The matter was discussed at a public hearing on the petition of State Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald, asking authority from the commission to eliminate dangerous conditions at Tadpole crossing on the Putnam to Norwich highway near Jewett City in the town of Griswold.

The plan of the highway commissioner calls for the relocation and construction of a new bridge over the tracks of the New Haven road, eliminating two curves on the state highway, the cost to be $78,000. No one appeared on behalf of the town of Griswold at the hearing at the state capitol today, and railroad officials were favorable to the plan.

The public utilities commission allowed the New Haven road until April 19 to file a brief on the question, and will allow another week for the highway commissioner to file a reply.

Following a public hearing today, the commission approved a petition of the New Haven road asking permission to move 2,300 feet of tracks in the town of Haddam. No opposition to the petition was expressed at the hearing.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH WINS C. E. BANNER

Despite the inclement weather there was a good sized gathering at the Handy evening when a meeting of the Christian Endeavor union was held. Russell Blair, field secretary of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine addressed the meeting.

A delicious banquet menu, consisting of scalloped potatoes, ham, pickles, rolls, cake and coffee was served at 6:30 o'clock by the Hanover C. E. society in the parish house, which was prettily decorated with C. E. monograms and carnations. Christian Endeavor yells and songs enlivened the gathering. Literature pertaining to Christian Endeavor activities was on sale before and after the session.

At 7:30 o'clock the Endeavorers assembled in the church where there was an inspiring song service led by William G. Park of Hanover. Rev. Dwight C. Stone, pastor of the church, led the devotional service. Guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kruse of Hartford, Mrs. Kruse is the state intermediate superintendent and a former field secretary of Kansas. She told of Christian Endeavor work in the state.

The roll call of societies showed members present from Lebanon, Taftville Congregational, First Baptist, Third Baptist, First Congregational, Norwich Town Methodist church, Bozrah, Preston City, Hanover, Ledyard and Franklin.

Two pennants were presented by Mr. Blair, one for the largest number present was given to Hanover, and the other for the largest percentage of its members present was presented to the First Baptist church of this city. The Norwich C. E. union banner was presented to the First Baptist church for a 100 per cent membership attendance.

Mr. Blair's subject was "What is Christian Endeavor?" He considered it from the viewpoint of three groups of young people. First, the group of young people who consider it the prayer meeting of the church. Second, the group of young people who have been to a state convention, hear about a new book and take it home to study in their meetings. This group consider Christian Endeavor the missionary society of the church.

Third, the group of young people who consider it the social agency of the church. All of these answers are correct, said Mr. Blair, but each is not complete in itself.

Mr. Blair gave the following answer to the question, What is Christian Endeavor? Christian Endeavor is the evangelistic agency of the church through which young people may have a closer relationship with Christ and the church. He said that Christian Endeavor not only seeks to win young people, but also seeks to hold young people, through its programme of service.

In the afternoon at 4 o'clock Mr. Blair had a session with the Junior societies of the union in the chapel at Norwich Town Congregational church.

SEVERAL NEW PUNCHERS SLATED FOR PASTIME CARD TONIGHT AT OLYMPIC

Norwich gets its boxing back again tonight after a layoff due to the recent occurrences in the amateur ranks. The Pastime A. C. will stage their amateur show tonight at Olympic hall with a promise of many newcomers for the ten bouts.

A brand new Coast Guard team will come from New London, including in it several boys who have been going like wildfire in other sections of the state. Other parts of eastern Connecticut will also be well represented with Willimantic and Westerly practically sure of sending teams of at least four men.

The Norwich boys will also return to the wars this evening with Vic Darr, Mush Moriarity, Young Hagen, and, last but not by any means least, Harold Talbert, featuring Talbert, more familiarly known as "The Fighting Motorman" will meet Al Carpenter of Willimantic, a boy reported as being worthy of battling the local favorite and making it a battle.

A large crowd is expected and preparations have been made for such. The first bout goes on at 8:15 sharp and from then on plenty of action is expected to prevail.

PLAINFIELD LOSES TO BULKELEY BY 12 TO 6 SCORE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 12—Bulkeley came strong in the late innings to beat Plainfield high here this afternoon at Mercer field by a 12 to 6 score. Plainfield jumped into a two-run lead in the third inning and added one more in the fourth before the locals scored five times. Carpenter, Plainfield pitcher, suddenly went wild and started issuing walks and hits. Bulkeley added one more in the fifth on an error an a hit and then closed in the sixth with six runs on three hits and four passes. Plainfield scored three runs in the seventh on two passes and three hits. The game was called in the seventh inning.

Plainfield's team is composed of many freshmen and it was considered that they did pretty well to battle Bulkeley so evenly, for over half the game. Silva, Plainfield third sacker, was the outstanding player of the game, his double in the third inning driving in two runs, while his work afield was also good.

The score by innings:

Plainfield	002	100	2—	6	9	4
Bulkeley	000	516	x—12	10	1

Carpenter, Carroll, Burdick and Shippee; Petrosky, Levine and Brennan.

SUSPENDED AMATEURS REINSTATED BUT TOO LATE

NEW HAVEN, April 12—(AP)—The 239 amateur boxers suspended by the Connecticut A. A. U. registration board two weeks ago on suspicion of professionalism, were restored to good standing tonight for the duration of the annual elimination contest which was already in progress when the announcement was made. In contrast to other years when as many as 200 amateurs have taken part in the eliminations, less than 50 showed up tonight, the others being under suspension. Announcement of the lifting of the suspension was made to officials of the Harriers A. C. which is handling the contest and was received in silence inasmuch as it came too late to benefit the amateurs who would have shown up for the eliminations had they known they could take part.

After the announcement, the registration board, consisting of Joseph Wirtz, of this city, Mark Dunn, of Middletown, and Louis McAvoy, of East Portchester, retired to meet informally with President William J. Kennedy, of the Connecticut A. A. U., who has interested himself in the charges and counter charges made by the amateur boxers, handlers, promoters and A. A. U. officials.

The original investigation into amateur boxing conditions in this state was precipitated by the death of Horace Aliff, of Meriden, which followed an amateur bout staged at a Bridgeport club. During the course of the coroner's investigation, witnesses charged that amateurs were being paid for their services in Bridgeport and the A. A. U. registration board almost immediately suspended the 239 boxers who had appeared on Bridgeport cards and ordered them to produce prizes as evidence that they had not been paid. At a session held here Saturday by the registration board, 12 of the 239 appeared and dumped watches, rings, clocks and other articles which they claimed to have won, on the table before the board. No further action was taken in the investigation until tonight when the announcement was made.

Following the meeting of the registration board tonight, Wirtz, who is its chairman, issued a statement denying published reports that he was aware that amateur boxers were being paid and also that he had held up registration cards which had been paid for and never delivered.

Explaining a payment of $135 to Bob Mele, handler, of this city, at Roseland park, Waterbury, last season, Wirtz declared that he was acting in the capacity of manager of the park when Mele brought 12 of his boxers up and that when Mele presented a bill of $135 for their transportation and meals, he objected to the amount but was over-ruled by the owner of the park, who had his secretary give Mele a check for the amount. He resigned as manager the following week, he said.

With regard to the alleged failure to deliver registration cards, Wirtz declared that there may have been "secretarial errors" and these errors can be easily rectified if the boxers who claim to have paid for their registration cards and never received them can show proof that they did pay their fee.

GAVUZZI DROPS BEHIND PAYNE IN "BUNION PARADE"

EL RENO, Okla., April 12—(AP)—Andrew Payne 20 year old Claremore Oklahoma youth, shook off the challenge of Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England, in today's 37 mile grind of the transcontinental foot race after running dead heats with the Englishman for two days.

Payne loped into El Reno from Bridgeport, Okla., in 6:26.24, slightly increasing his lead over Gavuzzi, who holds second place in elapsed time in the derby.

Gavuzzi's time today was six hours, 32 minutes, giving him an elapsed total of 248:19.50, as compared with the Oklahoman's 246:49.31 for the 1458 miles stretching back to the starting point at Los Angeles.

Cheered along the route by his fellow Oklahomans since he took the lead in the race upon entering the state Payne has not extended himself, saving his energy for the weary miles yet to be footed to New York. He has refused, however, to permit his advantage to be whittled away by those within striking distance of first place.

Nells Nellsen of Chicago turned in the best performance of the day, covering the 37 miles in 5:20.2 to take thirty-third position with an elapsed time of 347:57.36. Until ten days ago he was among the stragglers.

Olli Wanttinen, Finnish runner of New York finished behind the Chicagoan in 5:28.59, giving him an elapsed time of 281:04.48.

Other finishers included:

John Stone, Marion, Ind., 5:48.50—374:22.13.

Mike Joyce, Cleveland, Ohio, 5:56.16—288:04.04.

Ed Gardner, Seattle 6:04.29—281:-34.34.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 6:03.29—266:41.21.

Harry Abramowitz, New York 6:19.-14—303:03.41.

THERMOS HAS STRONG HOPE OF BEATING RIVERVIEW

When Manager Hastedt sends his charges onto the field against the Riverview club Saturday afternoon it will not only mark the opening of their season, but will also renew their athletic relations with this club.

In years past these two teams often hooked up in many a hard battle, and a game between these two teams was looked for by the baseball fan to be a hard fought game.

Riverview will use practically the same team as that which played against the scrubs last week, including Hamil, West, Normandin, Coughlin, Moore, Stan West, Burdsall, and a few new men.

Manager Hastedt will drive his men onto the field as follows: Eddie Paul, c, Big Boy Stanley of St. John's college p, Neil 1st, Pigeon 2nd, Bolton ss, Lemieux 3rd, Mullins lf, Dudeck cf, Peneault rf. Oney, Driscoll, Kane, McIntyre, Conaty, Roth, and Jarvis will round out his team.

PROFS WALLOP YALE IN OPENING GAME OF SERIES

NEW HAVEN, April 12—(AP)—The New Haven team of the Eastern league today defeated Yale 13 to 0, in the opening game of the annual Town and Gown series. The professionals were superior to the Elis in every department of the game and had the situation well in hand after the third inning when they scored the first run of the game. In the first two innings Sawyer held the Profs scoreless, but in the closing innings the professionals won with ease. Three Yale pitchers were hit hard, the winners getting 13 hits to four for Yale. Loftus and Hyman, pitching for New Haven, exhibited a fine brand of twirling, holding the Eli sluggers to four singles. Score by inning:

Yale	.....	000	000	000—	0	4	3

BASEBALL'S "BIG SIX" DID LITTLE YESTERDAY

(By the Associated Press)

Only one half of the "big six" of 1928 got into action yesterday as cold and wet weather in the east led to the postponement of four of the eight major league ball games.

Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb and Rogers Hornsby were idle and the other section of the half dozen almost might as well have been. Paul Waner got a single in three appearances at St. Louis and Kiki Cuyler did the same thing at Cincinnati. Harry Heilmann, Detroit slugger, went hitless.

DELANEY TO OPEN TRAINING FOR SHARKEY BOUT SUNDAY

BRIDGEPORT, April 12—(AP)—Jack Delaney will start training for his bout with Jack Sharkey, of Boston, at Madison Square Garden, April 30, at his gymnasium here next Sunday, his manager, Joe Jacobs, of New York, announced here today. Delaney will do all of his training here, Jacobs said, despite the urging of the New York boxing commission that principals of important fights train in New York a week prior to the fight.

Delaney returned from his camp at Lake Winnepesaukee a week ago and professed himself to be in good condition. Several sparring partners will be sent here by Jacobs for Delaney's workouts.

HOUSTON, Texas, April 12—(AP)—Two Texas league baseball players suffered broken legs in the same inning of the Waco-Houston game here today. They were Homer Peel, Houston left fielder and Felix Vigare, Waco third baseman. Peel broke his leg in the seventh inning when he ran into a fence in attempting to catch Vigare's fly. A few minutes later Vigare's leg was broken when he slid into home plate. Both were veterans and stars of their teams.

HIGH SCHOOL PROSPECTS

New Haven Hillhouse

Hillhouse high in New Haven is one of the best baseball schools in the state, year in and year out, and although the material for 1928 is not so promising there are hopes for another strong team.

It will be remembered that Hillhouse has been a strong contender for the state title for the past three years. In 1925, she claimed the honor jointly with Bulkeley of New London, in 1926 she seemed to have it all to herself, while in 1927 she put in a bid, although not a very strong one, for the title that the Academy owns. Hillhouse held the honor of being the only state team to win over the Red and White last season but after that game she dropped two or three games to other Nutmeg clubs.

Haynes, who beat the Academy, is gone and so is half the infield, including a catcher. The outfield is two-thirds intact. The loss of Haynes, star pitcher, should be one of the big reasons why Hillhouse should not be able to seriously menace hopes of other teams for the state title, although there are still enough veterans available to make Hillhouse dangerous.

Hillhouse has its usual strong schedule, with prep schools featured.

'BOUT SPORTS

Although the baseball season is but two days old, still there have been several mid-season happenings already. Of course, the results so far are not a very reliable criterion of what is to come, still a few things have occurred that make fans sort of wonder about their favorites poor work and others to rejoice in like manner. The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates have done little to warrant any gleefulness on the part of their rooters, the work of the former team especially being disappointing. But, once the hot weather hits arms and legs things may be different.

Boxing returns to Norwich tonight after a rather extended layoff and no doubt crowds will again jump back to the high level that was the case before "adjournment."

Interscholastic Sports

Academy-Alumni tomorrow.

Westerly plays LaSalle academy on the 17th at Providence for her next game.

Neither Westerly nor Bulkeley played well Wednesday but the weather can be blamed for some of this.

The Alumni looks to have a strong team for the game with the varsity tomorrow.

Windham's diamond candidates are shaping up fairly well and hopes for a successful year run high.

Plainfield plays West Warwick at the Mossup Carpet grounds this afternoon in her opening home game of the season.

FRENCH TEAM LEADS McNAMARA-WINTER IN RACE

PARIS, April 12—(AP)—The French team of Blanchonnet and Louet led the Paris six day bike race today at the end of 72 hours of riding. The pace was slow, with the plodders chalking up but 1001 miles of travel at the half-way point. The American team of Reggie McNamara and Charley Winter rode strongly in second place, two laps behind the leaders. McNamara dean of all six day bike racers and now competing in his 50th grind, declared that he "felt better now than I did at this stage of my first six day race."

Flynn-Tassi April 20

BOSTON, April 12—(AP)—Eddie Mack, matchmaker for the Argonne A. A. today signed Arthur Flynn, Lawrence lightweight, to meet Nando Tassi, of Boston, in a ten round bout here on April 20. Flynn, who has lately been fighting in New York, has won his last 12 battles. Mack has also matched Sammy Baker and Clyde Hull, of Fort Forth, Tex., for that show.

ACADEMY HAS FIVE HOUR WORKOUT; ALUMNI FAVORED FOR OPENING GAME

The Academy took advantage of the best baseball day of the week to hold a workout that lasted nearly five hours Thursday afternoon at the campus. Practically the entire squad took part in every minute of the drill which included all kinds of work, in final preparations for the opening game Saturday at the campus with the Alumni.

Batting practice as usual opened and lasted for about two and a half hours, after which the daily practice game continued for over two hours.

Coach Brigham had the team batting out a regular batting order, with the first team lining up in the following order: Cummings, rf; Hamil, 2b; Arico, 1b; Jarvis, cf; LaCroix, 3b; Tirrell, lf; Gibbs, ss; Pepin, c, and the many pitchers that worked. The second team had Johnny Greene in center field in order to sort of even up things. Their lineup was, Fontaine catching, Berghinzo at first, Buckley at second, Tombari shortstop, Fagan third with Marks in left, Greene in center and Pingree in right field.

Each team had three or four pitchers, and many of them looked pretty good.

Home runs were rather numerous, with Fontaine and Pepin, the rival catchers, and Lloyd Jarvis getting them. Jarvis hit one of the longest drives ever had up at the campus when he put it through the opening between the Manual Training and main building in deep right field and over the fence onto the Joseph Perkins road. Fontaine put it over the center field fence, while Pepin hit it into the woods in left field.

Alumni Strong

The Alumni intends to have a strong team, according to the lineup announced by Manager Bill McKnight. The infield will be first-class with Chick Stanley at first, Steffy Cimikoski at second, Pheno Tombari at short and Ray Yerrington at third, and the battery departments will be strong with Al Mish catching and Henry Couture and Pete Labenski on the mound, while the outfield—oh, well.

The Alumni will practice this afternoon at the campus but in a different section of the field than the varsity, which starts work as usual at noon, and another long session is expected.

Les Pingree, basketball star of the school, was in his baseball uniform for the first time yesterday and played right field for the seconds.

Young St. Germaine, the peppy mascot although, had his uniform on for the first time and is reported as being all ready for the opener Saturday.

The "Wildcat" sweaters were in evidence yesterday.

A large crowd is expected to greet the boys tomorrow and, with any kind of a weather break, it ought to be a good game.

The batting cage is once again ready for an active campaign.

Mickey Breen, the injured candidate for third base, expects to be back in uniform in about a week. He will probably be ready for the Deep River game.

Captain Goldblatt or Johnny Greene were not in lineup with what is expected to be the first team and they will probably be the only changes for the opening array on Saturday afternoon.

RANGERS EVEN STANLEY CUP SERIES AGAIN, WINNING 1-0

MONTREAL, Que., April 12—(AP)—The New York Rangers skated off with the fourth fray of the Stanley cup hockey series tonight, topping the Montreal Maroons by 1 goal to 0, thereby evening the competition count at two games apiece. GOLF CLUB OFFICIALLY OPENS SUNDAY FOR SEASON

Although there has been more or less playing at the Norwich Golf club during the past two weeks the club will officially open on Sunday April 15th. Work has been done on the fairways and greens and the course is in much better shape than might be expected at this time of year.

Massie B. Miller, begins his official duties at the club on Sunday, after a most successful winter spent at Indianapolis and in Florida. Mr. Miller carried the name of the Norwich Golf club through with honors in the LaGorce $15,000 tournament at Miami Beach last month. Massie finished tenth and took a $350 share of the purse, placing well ahead of many of the best known golfers in America. To see Massie play over the local course is a revelation in golf for the boy is certainly poking them straight and far. His approaching is the last word in art.

MASSIE B. MILLER

With his game going the way it is he intends to enter at least five of the large tournaments in the east this summer. He will enter the Metropolitan tourney, the New England Professional, the Long Island open, and will qualify for the National P. G. A. tourney and the National open.

Activities this year are expected to exceed those of other years and an extensive schedule of team matches is being arranged by Earl Mathewson chairman of the tournament committee. The local golf team will be under the direction of Dave Morton as captain, with Commissioner Mathewson as business manager. No dates have been set for the annual invitation tournament for the Noyes cup which is at present held by Johnny Sill. Sill will defend the cup according to the latest word from the holder.

Rovers Win

The Broad St. Rovers defeated the All Stars Wednesday in an interesting game, the score being 9 to 8. The winner's lineup: Shannon, c; Crandall, p; Riley, 1b; Kennedy, 2b; Hastings, ss; Cloutier, 3b; Smith, rf; Kennedy, cf and McKeag, lf.

YALE OPENED NEW STADIUM WITH PROF GAME YESTERDAY

NEW HAVEN, April 12—(AP)—Yale opened her new baseball stadium today with the New Haven team of the Eastern league as guests and incidentally, victors. The stadium will be formally dedicated at one of the big games, probably that with Harvard at commencement.

The new concrete and steel structure, erected at a cost of approximately $450,000 replaces the old rambling wood stands which for many years were "Yale field" to the baseball loving public.

Accommodations for 12,000 persons are provided in the stadium.

DAWSON ADVANCES TO FINALS AT PINEHURST

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12—(AP)—John Dawson, Chicago, conqueror in the quarter final rounds of Eddie Held, New York, medalist, won his way to the final in the men's North and South amateur golf championship by eliminating Donald Parson, Youngstown, Ohio, in the semi-finals.

Both the quarter and semi-finals were played today. Dawson beat Held by two up and in turn downed the Ohioan by the same margin.

The Chicagoan player tomorrow will attempt to wrest the tournament title from George Voight, Washington, D. C., defending champion.

LINDER ENTERS BOSTON MARATHON; FIELD NOW 180

BOSTON, April 12—(AP)—Another favorite entered the Boston marathon today in the person of Carl Linder, of Quincy, who won the April 19 classic in 1919. Linder is the fourth winner to enter this year's event, the others being Clarence H. DeMar, five times a victor; Frank Zuna, who led the field home in 1921, and Bill Kennedy, erstwhile bricklayer and now a prosperous contractor, who won in 1917. Linder finished fifth last year.

Fifteen entries today brought the field up to 180. Race officials were certain that the number of starters would exceed 200.

SPORT SLANTS

(By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 12—(AP)—They tell the story of the ultimatum once delivered to a promoter by the manager of a famous fighter.

"If there ain't no dough there ain't gonna be no fight."

So it seems with the New York Yankees. They didn't win many ball games in the south during the training season. In fact they lost with such consistent rapidity that many of the experts started picturing their downfall. But they were the same old murderers' row when the season opened in Philadelphia and the outcome of the game meant something in the standing of the clubs.

"If there ain't no dough we ain't gonna win no ball games."

There is little question that the Yankees are a great "money club." A team that is tough to beat when the big stakes are involved.

Ruth Snappy

The world's champions have a remarkable mixture of youthful enthusiasm and seasoned talent. Not all the enthusiasm is confined to the youngsters of the club, either. There isn't a snappier athlete on the field than Babe Ruth.

The Bambino not only is the club's greatest all-around star and the big gate attraction but he sets the pace for them all. Time hasn't curbed the big fellow's youthful spirit.

When the Yankees are in the midst of a rally or when they need to start one you can see Ruth slapping the men on the back or urging them on vocally in language that is as picturesque as the Babe himself.

In his book of diamond recollections Ruth tells the story of how this enthusiasm once got the better of him and enabled John McGraw to outsmart the big slugger.

The incident occurred in the 1923 world's series, the final game, when Ruth came to bat with the bases full in the eighth inning with the Yankees one run behind the Giants.

The Babe was so anxious to connect that with the count two and three he swung, and of course missed a ball that Ryan threw into the dirt.

McGraw, Ruth found out later, had sensed the Babe's wild desire to hit at any cost and deliberately ordered Ryan to throw a bad ball. It was good strategy but Bob Meusel destroyed the effect by knocking out the hit that won the game and the series.

WESTERLY

JOHNSON WAS J. D. JONES—IDENTIFIED THURSDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 12—The woman companion of John Johnson who was fatally injured on the Westerly-Stonington road near Linden lane Wednesday evening and who died at Westerly hospital Thursday morning, was found to be Miss Christine Carter.

Miss Carter's home is in Germany and she is on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Conrad Schmitz in Mystic. She came here to make a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wimmer. At the home of Mrs. Scholl, where she was taken after the accident, she was seen this morning and complained of much pain due to the bruises she sustained. Her left side is badly bruised and her back injured. She remembered that she and her escort were forced to walk on the trolley track, owing to the great number of cars on the highway, and that Mr. Johnson was directly in front of the trolley.

The man came here seven months ago and entered the employ of the American Velvet Co. He was born in Savannah, Ga., in 1898, was a veteran of the World war and a machinist by trade. A few years ago she built a new house at the head of Long Pond, and in this she resided until her death. There are only two children living now of the large family—Mrs. Joseph Holdridge and George H. Main. Burial was in the Peckham cemetery.

Charles S. Peckham whose funeral was held at Trinity Methodist church Tuesday afternoon was a Ledyard boy, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Peckham. He was born in this town and received his earlier education and in the district school. There were only two children in this family, himself and the late Mrs. Charles A. Gray who died about two years ago.

S. E. Holdridge, a local grower of strawberry plants has commenced shipping and expects a busy season, due to the large number of orders received.

All of the schools will open Monday after a spring vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Main Miss Hazel Main and James Main of Mystic were visiting relatives in town Sunday afternoon.

Even bundles of thousand franc banknotes are among the many unclaimed "lost" articles the Paris police department holds. About three-fourths of the hundred articles found in streets and cars every day are claimed by owners but the other quarter are given to the finders at the end of a year. "It will grow hair on a mummy," said the Rev. Carlton Park of Brooklyn, N. Y., in praise of sunlight. In refutation of skepticism, he displayed two mummies of Egyptian children which he said he found in a trunk once owned by Evart Johnson Wendell, philanthropist. One of the mummies had been kept in a glass case in the sunlight and now has a fine crop of red hair. Mr. Park says the mummy was perfectly bald when he took it from the trunk.

Almost $5,000 was the price which a Beethoven manuscript brought at a recent auction in Berlin. It was the original orchestra score to the march in the opera "Fidelio." Sharp bidding ensued and a record price of 19,250 marks was obtained. Other Beethoven manuscripts did not go so well. Thus the composer's first draft of his song "Adelaide" brought only 2,600 marks, and a letter to Zelter 2,050 marks. The Beethoven house at Bonn at the same auction acquired a letter by Richard Wagner concerning Beethoven's C sharp minor quartet for 72 marks.

The Upside Down Chap

Wrong side up to you may be
What is right side up to me.
—Silly the Sloth.

Prickly Porky is slow of wit. He takes a long time to think things over. That is because, being armed as he is with the thousand little spears that he carries in his coat, he never has to think quickly. And he is stubborn. He is seldom willing to agree with anybody. Boomer the Nighthawk had just been telling Prickly Porky about the latter's long-tailed cousin the Tropics, and Prickly Porky had stated flatly that he didn't believe he had a cousin with any such kind of a tail. Then Scrapper the Kingbird had come along and had said that it was true. You see, both Boomer and Scrapper go away down in that land where there is no winter.

Prickly Porky considered this for a few minutes. Finally Boomer said: "Don't you believe it now?"

"No," grunted Prickly Porky, and began chewing a piece of bark.

"There you are!" said Scrapper the Kingbird. "That is what comes of living in one little place all the time. If Prickly Porky had traveled as you and I have, he wouldn't be so set in his ways or so ignorant."

At that Prickly Porky bristled up and his thousand little spears all stood out of his fur coat. "Who says I'm ignorant?" he demanded.

"I do," retorted Scrapper the Kingbird. "You believe only what you have seen, and you refuse to believe what others have seen. Now, Bobby Coon has never seen any of those queer members of his family down there in the Tropics, but he believes they are there, because we have told him they are there. Isn't that so, Bobby?"

Bobby nodded. "Certainly," said he. "I have reached the point where I can believe almost anything if you should tell me that I have a relative down there who walks upside down I'd believe it."

Scrapper the Kingbird began to chuckle. His eyes twinkled. "Well," said he, "you haven't any relatives down there who walk upside down, but there's a chap down there who does travel upside down, just the same. He spends most of his life upside down."

Bobby Coon looked very hard at Scrapper. Then he looked very hard at Boomer the Nighthawk. "Is he telling the truth?" he asked of Boomer at last.
CUT HERE 7890$..

"Nothing else but," replied Boomer promptly. "It may be hard to believe, Bobby, but there is an upside down chap down there."

"Has he got legs?" demanded Bobby Coon.

"Certainly," replied Scrapper. "He has four legs and they are quite long legs, too."

"Then will you please explain to me how he can travel upside down? If he is upside down, he would be on his back, wouldn't he?" demanded Bobby.

"I told you those fellows were not telling the truth," grunted Prickly Porky.

"Oh, yes, we are," replied Scrapper blandly. "This upside down chap doesn't travel on the ground. When he moves about at all, it is in the treetops. He hangs from the underside of a limb. So, you see, it can be done, Bobby."

Bobby scratched his nose thoughtfully. "Perhaps," said he, "but I cannot for the life of me see how he can hang on that way. What is his name?"

"Silly," replied Scrapper promptly. "Silly the Sloth."

Scrapper the Kingbird is quite right about this. It is very difficult to believe that one with a silly face has any brains. Quite often this is true, but on the other hand, a silly face may be a mask. One cannot always tell.

"Silly the Sloth," said Bobby Coon. "Silly the Sloth! What a name! Why do you call this upside down chap Silly?"

Scrapper chuckled. "Because he has such a silly face," he replied promptly. "Never in all your born days, Bobby Coon, have you seen such a silly face as this queer fellow has. But then, he is queer in so many ways that I suppose it is to be expected."

"He certainly is queer if he travels around upside down," exclaimed Bobby. "But if there is any size to him, I don't see now how he can do it."

"Well," replied Scrapper, "to begin with, he has only three toes on each foot, and each toe is armed with a very long claw, like a hook."

"Three toes!" exclaimed Bobby. "Who ever heard of such a thing! The idea of an animal with only three toes!"

"Huh!" exclaimed Boomer. "There is one member of the Sloth family who has only two toes on each foot. Now, what do you think of that?"

"I think," replied Bobby, "that I'm mighty glad I'm not a Sloth. It must be most uncomfortable walking with those big hooklike claws."

"Who said anything about Silly walking?" demanded Scrapper. "I told you he spends all his time in the treetops. He certainly cannot walk on the ground. All he can do is to pull himself along. And he doesn't go down on the ground unless he absolutely has to. But he can get along in the treetops with no trouble at all. He simply can't be shaken loose. He just hooks those big claws of his over a branch and walks along, hanging from the under side. In other words, he is upside down almost all the time. Guess he isn't comfortable in any other position."

"Does he hang on with his tail, too?" inquired Bobby.

Scrapper laughed right out. "Not so that you would notice it," said he. "He may have a tail, but if he has I've never seen it."

"Has he good sharp teeth?" inquired Bobby.

Again Scrapper chuckled. "No," said he, "he hasn't. In fact, he hasn't."

"Now I know you haven't been telling the truth," declared Prickly Porky, who is so dependent on his own big teeth. "How can a fellow eat without teeth?"

"It all depends on the kind of food a fellow has to eat," replied Scrapper.

"Well," spoke up Bobby, "what kind of food does this Silly eat?"

"Leaves," replied Scrapper, "just leaves. That's why he is always up in a treetop. He eats tender leaves and he can bite off the edges of them without teeth. I've seen him many times."

"I suppose he can fight with those big claws of his?" said Bobby.

"He probably could if he could move about more quickly," declared Scrapper. "But he's so slow in his movements that he really cannot fight at all. He's the most helpless chap I ever saw. Yet, despite all this, he seems to be happy and to escape his enemies better than some of his friends who seem to be better fitted for life. There are few enemies who can touch him up there in the treetop, for he gets away out on the ends of the branches. And there he hangs upside down, filling his stomach, or sleeping. I have seen a lot of queer fellows in my time, but Silly the Sloth is one of the queerest."

"I should say so!" said Bobby Coon.

FARMERS NEED GUMPTION AND THRIFT.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

The McNary-Haugen bill for the ostensible relief of woe-begotten western farmers still holds the center of the stage. The demagogues both at home and in congress who seem to believe that throwing an imitation wooden bone to a snarling dog will pacify him are going to run it up to the presidential buzz-saw again. While there seems to be some doubt whether Mr. Coolidge will veto it or not, there is reported very little but that it will pass both houses of congress, in more or less objectionable shape.

While it might be libellous to intimate that the creatures we send to congress are damphools, it is a mere statement of self-evident fact that they are, most of them, arrant cowards. They are so durned afraid of offending some bloc of voters that they will, most of them, vote for any sort of measure they think such a bloc has set its heart on. They'll not only vote for it, they'll stand on their hind legs for hours in an empty house or senate chamber and howl themselves hoarse in their demands for the sop they think the bloc wants, relying upon the Congressional Record to report in full, for home consumption, speeches not even their own allies and co-pardeners have the stomach to sit and listen to.

Once in a while, however, there rises above the demagogic discord a clear note of truth. Some weeks ago I referred to the remark of Editor White of Emporia, Kansas, made before and loudly applauded by a meeting of Kansas stockmen, that the two men in that state whom he distrusted was the one who either asserted there was a farm problem or the one who said that he had a remedy for it. This was suggestive and provocative. But, after all, it was simply a newspaperman's opinion and the reaction of four or five hundred cattle growers to it.

The other day I ran against a real estate item in a Kansas City paper which seemed to rest on a more factual basis. It was a report of five farm sales within the last two or three months near the small hamlet of Whitecloud, Kan. Here is the list of farms, their acreages and cash prices at actual sales in the immediate neighborhood of this farming village:

80 acres sold for	$14,000
100 acres sold for	21,000
160 acres sold for	28,000
160 acres sold for	35,000
160 acres sold for	40,000

Here, according to my old-fashioned methods of "figgerin," were five farms in a distinctively farming community, totaling 720 acres in all and selling for $138,000. This is an average of over $191 an acre. The price paid for what seems to have been self the best one was at a flat rate of $250 an acre.

Now that very matter-of-fact and quite business-like real estate item seems to me to carry with it several rather interesting deductions.

In the first place, the five buyers of these five farms couldn't have been so doggonedpoor, so nearly bankrupt, but that they were able to scare up $138,000 in either cash or approved credit. There are mighty few exclusively farming communities in Connecticut, for example, where five working farmers could be found capable of digging $138,000 out of their overalls to buy more farm land with.

In the second place, not even Kansas farmers with oodles of money and unlimited bank credit are likely to have paid an average of $191 an acre for agricultural land, unless they believed they were going to be able to get fair returns on their investments, decent wages for their labor, and something in the way of profit from that land. I don't happen to know a single Kansas farmer but I know the farmer breed. And none of its members are likely to pay $191 an acre for land unless they think the land is worth it for what it will return to them.

Now, just compare the money and credit resources of those Kansas farm buyers with those of the average Connecticut farm buyer. Compare the prices per acre they paid with the prices per acre Connecticut farmlands will fetch. You know how such matters average in your respective neighborhoods.

Without myself knowing anything definite about the farmland values in the Nutmeg State, I am strongly inclined to believe that more of it can be bought for $19 an acre than can be sold for $191. Outside of some semi-suburban market gardens and some of the highly specialized tobacco land of the Connecticut valley, I doubt if there are many farms in the state which anybody could be found gullible enough to cash down $191 an acre for.

Quite a long time ago—so long that most of you have probably forgotten it—I remember repeating the tale of two neighboring Iowa farmers and corn-growers. When they harvested their crop both felt that the market price offered for corn was inadequate. So one cribbed his crop and hung on to it, waiting for an upward movement of the market. The other instead went to the bank and borrowed enough money to buy up a lot of pigs and "feeder" beefs, to whom he fed out his cheap corn.

The first farmer held on to his cribbed crop as the market steadily sank lower and lower, and finally had to sell it for little more than half what he could have got the day it was husked.

The second farmer brought his pork and beef to a high state of perfection and finally sold it for enough to enable him to repay the bank loan in full, with interest, and deposit a profit almost as big as the loan had amounted to.

My informant in the matter drily remarked that the first farmer was a violent advocate of "farm relief," while all the second one asked was to be let alone and allowed to work out his own salvation in his own way.

It was in that same state of Iowa that a joint debate was recently scheduled between Brookhart, "farm bloc" leader, and an opponent of the McNary-Haugen bill. Being what he is and having the admiration for the sound of his own voice which most demagogues have, Brookhart not only used up all his own half of the debate time assigned him, but all save two short minutes of that allotted to his opponent. Even the farmers who followed Brookhart and made up a considerable proportion of the big crowd which had gathered to hear the debate showed evident signs of restiveness as the bellowing rolled and roared on and on. At last he sat down.

The other debater, remarking that he had only two minutes left, in which he couldn't be expected to refute or even meet the woeful wailings of his long-winded antagonist, pointed to the thousands of automobiles parked inside the fair-grounds fence and said he thought he still might offer them a grain of comfort. "If things are ence, many of the difficulties which told us," he said, in effect, "and we are all bound to bring up in the poorhouse, we have this consolation that, judging from those I see parked over yonder, we can most of us go to that poorhouse in our own cars!"

Which was, perhaps, as effective an answer as he could have made had he been given his fair and full hour to dilate upon it.

I cannot imagine that any one of you who has done me the honor to read these discursive "Talks" doubts my full sympathy with the working farmer. I not only live in a distinctively farming community, but for 30 years averaged from 12 to 15 hours a day, during the open seasons, digging my own living out of the farm soil. I know, from personal experience, many of the difficulties which confront the working farmer. Not only the difficulties inherent in his trade, but those bitterly unnecessary handicaps imposed upon him by the cumbersome and costly methods of distribution in which "Big Business" has been able to enmesh him.

I also know that, no matter how bad the hole he may find himself in, there is almost always some way out, if he will only use his gumption to find it and his grit to work his way to it.

On this particular ranch which is now mine, the old-fashioned methods of farming became unprofitable more than a generation ago, and had to be abandoned. We found there was a big demand for honey. So we went into bees, having at one time more than a hundred hives and selling the honey, both in comb and strained, by the ton. Then California competition struck that business and it went bloogey.

Experience with potato and hay production showed that the land was not suitable for either crop. So we gave up the rest of the farm to pasture and concentrated all our work and all our fertilizer and all our planning on 10 acres of truck garden, which for 20 years paid better than even the bee business had done at its best.

I'm not telling this bit of personal experience as a brag, but simply to illustrate my contention that, as there is more than one way to skin a cat, so there are different ways in which to make farming at least bring in something "over and above."

Consider those two Iowa neighbors. If the one who cribbed his corn and held it till too late had only possessed and used the gumption of the one who turned his into profitable pork and beef, he wouldn't have been howling at the doors of congress for relief.

Consider those Kansas stockmen who cheered loudly Editor White's satiric fling at the "problem" propagandists. They must have felt that he was right, or they wouldn't have applauded his flat-footed assertion.

Consider those other Kansas farmers who are buying up farms at from $191 to $250 an acre. As hard-headed sons of the soil, they aren't paying such prices without what they regard as reasonable guarantees that the farms will pay them back, with interest.

You can't make farming a paying proposition by any juggling with "equalization fees" or "debenture bonds" or any similar tricks of legislation or finance.

It's an admittedly hard row the farmer has to hoe. But he must hoe it himself.

Gumption and thrift make a better team for him than any that congress can provide.

Spring Song.

Sing a song of Spring-time! Balmy is the air—
That is, it is sometimes, when the day is fair.
Sometimes it is freezing, and the cold winds blow,
And the gray sky darkens, and it looks like snow.

Sing a song of Spring-time! Hear the robin's call!
Are you going to let the blooming robin do it all?
See that tender leaflet burst its swelling bud!
Look out, there! You're losing your rubber in the mud!

Sing a song of Spring-time! The grass is growing green;
Soon the cheery blossoms of the crocus will be seen.
All the joys of Spring-time never have been told.
Daylight saving's coming! Tell us, how's your cold?

PROFIT-TAKING SALES CHECKED A PROMISING RALLY IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—Heavy profit-taking sales, induced in part by fears of another huge increase in brokers' loans, checked a promising rally in prices in today's stock market. Final quotations were irregularly lower, a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 9 points being offset by a smaller number of gains running from 1 to 6 points. Trading was conducted at such a terrific pace in the early trading that the ticker fell 45 minutes behind the market at one time. Total sales crossed the 4,000,000 share mark for the fourth consecutive full session.

The weekly report of Federal Reserve brok's' loans, issued after the close of the market, showed a gain of $19,163,000, bringing the total to a new high record at $3,994,470,000. Wall street generally had expected a much larger increase, and there was also considerable uneasiness over predictions of an increase in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate, which is announced after the close as unchanged at 4 per cent.

Except for the publication of a number of favorable earnings reports, a prediction that first quarter earnings of General Motors would approximate $70,000,000, or about $4 a share on the common, and a lowering of the call money rate from 5 1-2 to 5 per cent. There was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement.

The market opened with such an outburst of strength that it looked for a time, as though prices would go "through the roof." The first sale of U. S. Steel common was a block of 35,000 shares at 153 1-2-154, the top price representing an overnight gain of 4 points and a new high record, but it slipped back to 149 5-8 later and rebounded to 151 at the close. General Motors opened with a block of 18,000 shares at 193-197 1-2, touched 198 1-4, slumped to 194 and rallied to 195 3-4, off 1-4 net.

A block of 20,000 shares of National Power & Light changed hands at 29, after which the stock moved up to a new high at 29 1-2, and a block of 10,000 shares of Consolidated Gas changed hands at 150, followed by a further rise to a new high at 151 and then a recession to 149 3-4, up 2 1-2 net at the close.

Nearly three score individual issues attained new high levels, the list including representatives of the steel, motor, oil merchandising, public utility, traction, food, railroad, motor accessory and copper groups.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe dropped from an opening price of 279 to 261 1-2, off 8 1-2 net, and Radio broke from 176 7-8 to 168 1-8 and then rebounded to 170, off 7 1-2 net. Among the many issues to show net recessions of 3 points or more were American Zinc & Lead preferred, Greene Cananea Copper, Johns Manville, Lambert, Midland Steel Products preferred, and Warren Bros.

Rails yielded even more than the industrials with Pere Marquette breaking 4 points and Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Pittsburgh & West Virginia and several others 2 points or more.

The call loan rate renewed at 5 1-2 per cent, after which it dropped to 5, with money reported available on the outside as low as 4 3-4. Time money, commercial paper and bankers acceptance rates were unchanged.

The principal commodity markets showing mixed changes were featured by an advance of about a cent a bushel in wheat futures, May making the best showing. Cotton, coffee and sugar prices were quoted slightly higher, but corn and oats were easy.

Only minor changes were recorded in the foreign exchange market, except for a 5-point drop to 47.73 cents in Japanese yen. Sterling Cables ruled slightly higher around $4.88 5-16, but French francs were unchanged at 3.93 1-2 cents.

That many million men can't be wrong

FIGURES show that more Prince Albert is smoked by experienced jimmy-pipers than any other brand. You might give any of a dozen reasons why they bought their first tin of P.A. But their tenth and their hundredth . . . only demonstrated quality can account for that! Wouldn't you say so?

The very fragrance of P.A. is an indication of the quality-taste still to come. The first fire-up makes good on the aromatic promise. Cool as a steeple-jack doing his stuff. Sweet as getting back to earth again safely. Mild and mellow and long-burning. Some tobacco, Men, and no mistake!

If you don't know the joys of a pipe packed with P.A., get busy and make up for lost time. No matter what your present set-up may be, try Prince Albert. It is not an experiment, but an experience — a little journey into a land of pipe-joy that you'll take many times every day.

The revenue stamp tells you—TWO full ounces in every tin.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!
